Losing only the Class AA Championship, the 1967 Mt. Lebanon Blue Devils again demonstrated the excellence in sports at Mt. Lebanon. Impressive victories in crucial games against Uniontown and Canon-McMillan climaxed a season perfect except for the Thanksgiving Day loss to New Castle. In his first season of coaching at the high school, Mr. Art Walker molded individual, outstanding stars into a fine team. Vince Russo, high school All-American, and most Valuable Player in Class AA football, led the Blue Devils to an undefeated record in the Western Conference. Winning recognition as an outstanding lineman was Jack Howard at right tackle. Quarterback Steve Vidmer directed the winning backfield of Terry Phillips, Don Porter, and Vince Russo. Coach Walker expects returning players Rex Bennett and Alan Walker to help lead the Blue Devils to another championship game.

LEBO

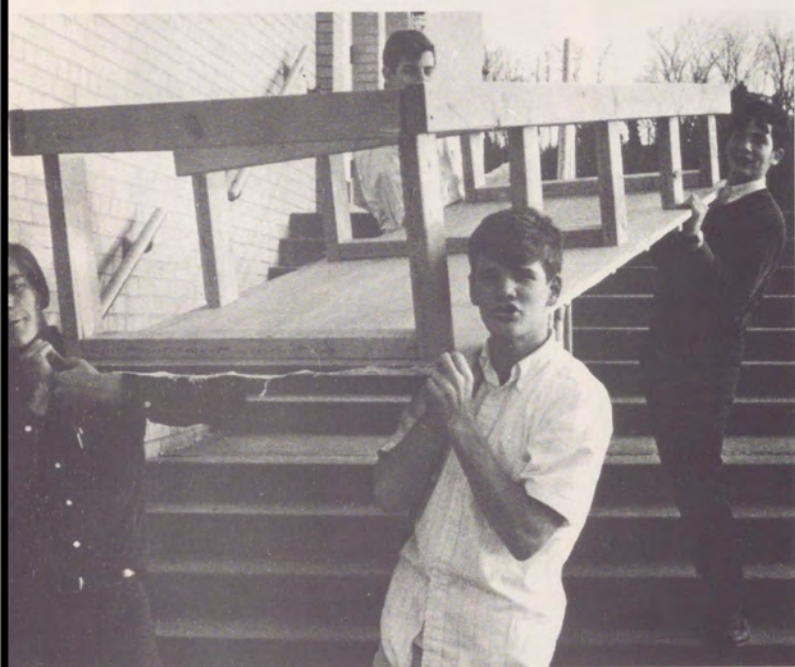

Senior stars Bill Rugh, Bill Martin, Dave Helwig, and Dale Frazer led the 1967 Harriers to great success in dual competition. Although no Mt. Lebanon runners went to the state cross country finals, the team finished fifth in W.P.I.A.L. competition. Coach Donley Molleaur led the team to a sweep of the Mountaineers Invitational to highlight the fall cross country season.

Enacting the humor and intrigue of Peter Ustinov's Romanoff and Juliet, the 1968 senior class presented a modern development of the Romeo-and-Juliet theme. Leads Jack Moore as Romanoff, and Molly Youngling as Juliet, play the young lovers caught in the diplomatic intrigue of an eastern European country. The idyllic atmosphere converts spy George Kincheloe into a monk and calms the political tempest for a happy ending.

WINTER

The Blue Devil basketball team won Coach Dick Black his eighth consecutive section championship by charging through Section 9-A undefeated. With an overall record of 22-0 in regular season play, Mt. Lebanon again entered the W.P.I.A.L. Championship Tournament. Stars Frank DeWitt, Tom Marshall, Don Porter, John Bates, and Steve Hein led Mt. Lebanon to impressive showings with victory margins of up to seventy points. The triumph in our own Holiday Tournament and victories over Uniontown, Washington, and Bethel marked another successful season. Coach Ashburner's J.V.'s again ran up a fine record in season competition.

BASKETBALL

Students from such places as Sweden, Japan, France, Greece, and Iran add an international dimension to Mt. Lebanon High School. With a warm friendliness and a willingness to answer all manner of questions about their homeland, they help achieve a greater international understanding.

Despite a vigorous aversion to any temperature below sixty degrees, Shahla Farivar (RIGHT), our Iranian exchange student, finds Mt. Lebanon a wonderful place. She is having a great time and enjoys working and being at Mt. Lebanon's toboggan run. She is also going on a ski trip, a real endeavor for such a warm-climate girl.

Monica and Peter Otterland (BELOW), who have moved around a lot before coming to Mt. Lebanon, call the United States the "Country of Opportunity." Despite a little homesickness for Sweden, their native land, and some trouble with English, both have come to like it here and have made many close friends.

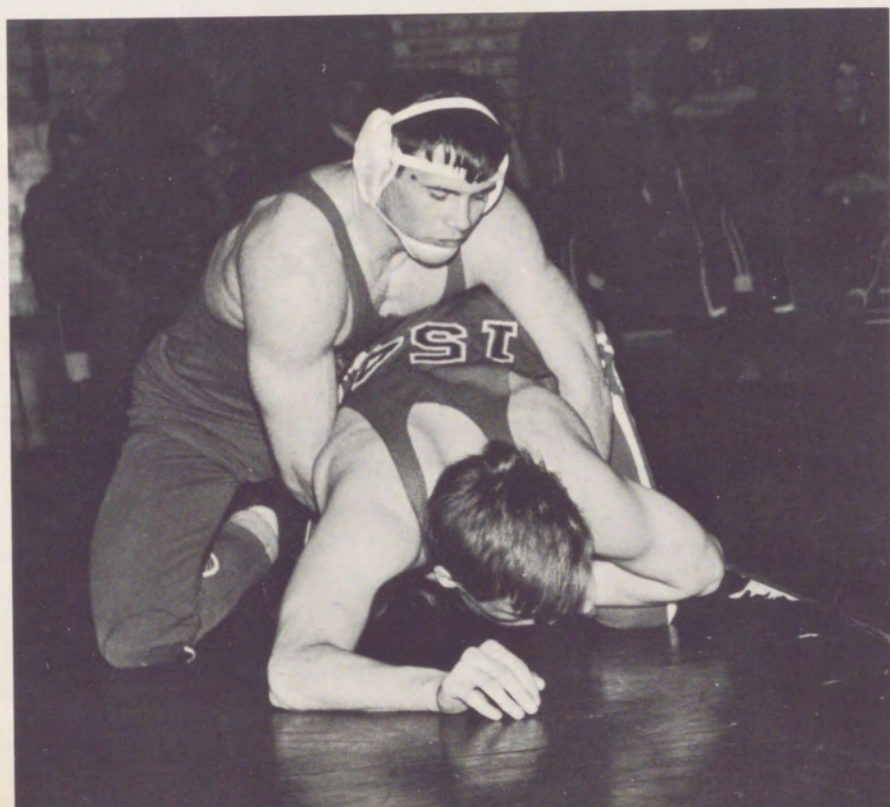

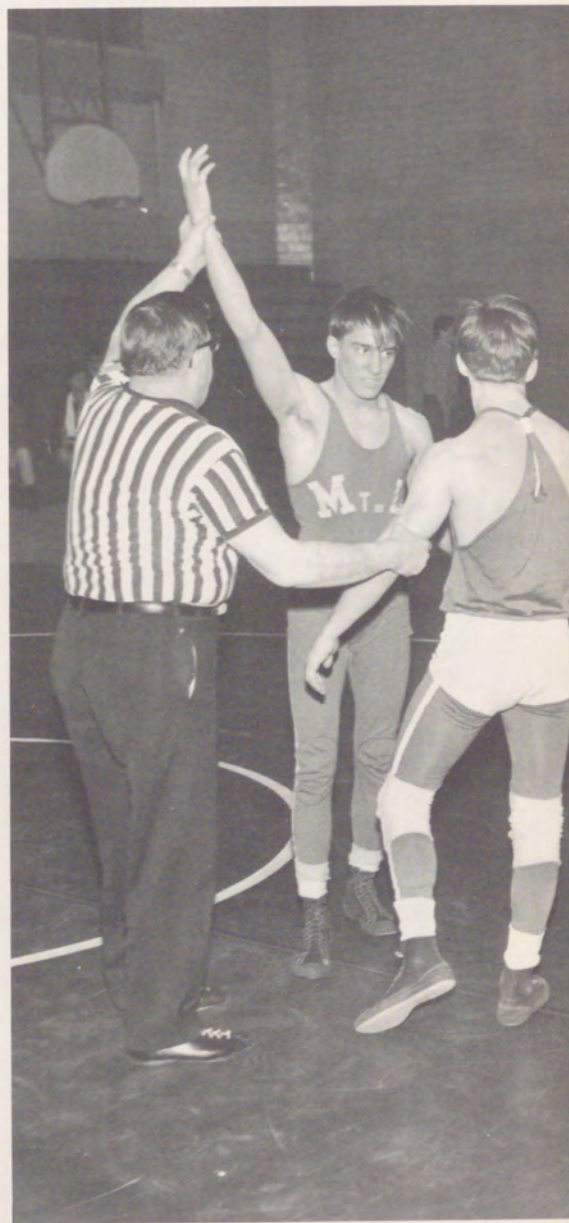

Cathy and Cally Xanthoudakis (ABOVE LEFT) call the island of Chios, Greece, their home. With their parents, however, they have come to America and have found many different experiences. Their favorite subject is English, while reading is their main hobby. When they leave Mt. Lebanon, they will regret having to leave their numerous, new friends.

Gigi Pré-Horn (LEFT), who came to this country from France, has resided in Monaco and Belgium before coming to America. She is active in the Make-up Squad and works as a secretary in the guidance office. She likes the freedom we have here best of all and enjoys attending our basketball and football games.

"Mas" Yukimoto (ABOVE RIGHT), our exchange student from Japan, has won a large place in the heart of Mt. Lebanon High School. Active in Judo Club, he was also named honorary Vice-President of our Student Congress.

Wrestling

The Ski Club, headed by Mr. Robert Meyers, sponsors trips to nearby ski areas. This year's agenda included an outing to Bear Rocks. Here the beginners enthusiastically, even if somewhat awkwardly, learned and practiced skills, while the more advanced skiers swept down slopes and enjoyed a chance to enter racing events.

The rifle team also shot its way to a successful season. In winning its first six matches, the team reached the perfect total of 500 three times. Senior girls Kathy Valentour, Gloria Yorke, Bobbi Richards, and Sharon Burroughs set the pace for precision sharpshooting. State finals in rifle were held at Penn State on April 6.

Led by Lynn Housner, Jim Fleming, and Alan Walker, Mt. Lebanon's wrestlers lost only one match in regular section competition. Again dominating Section 1 of W.P.I.A.L. wrestling, the Lebo grapplers fought their toughest match against Trinity, losing 23-18. The more crucial of the thirteen victories were over wrestling powers Waynesburg and Canon-McMillan. Following the end of section competition, Lebo matmen advanced through sectional qualifying rounds February 23 and 24 at West Mifflin North and February 28 at Washington. The W.P.I.A.L. Championship matches were held at the Pitt Field House, and the winners moved on to the P.I.A.A. State Finals at Penn State.

With interscholastic competition in tennis, volleyball, and golf, Mt. Lebanon's girls' athletic program expanded to include seven sports. The swimming team won all its dual meet competition, including the difficult Bethel meet, and then went on to win the W.P.I.A.L. Championship. Also having successful seasons were the gymnastics and the track teams. The girls' basketball team played a competitive and exciting brand of basketball, defeating several tough rivals. Although the girls suffered some tough setbacks, they beat rival Baldwin and downed Sewickley Academy 35-20. Capping the girls' sports season was the Girls' Sports Banquet on May 23, when outstanding competitors were awarded emblems and letters.

The outstanding achievements of five Lebo swimmers at the Grove City Relays highlighted the 1967 swimming season. Driving Mt. Lebanon to a second place finish, Dick Rydze overcame all competition in the diving events, while the four-some of Andy Weisbrod, Nick Douglass, Bill Bruegmann, and Wally Coles finished second in the Medley Relay. With the return of talented swimmers Wes Conner, Cliff Rowe, Chris Douglass, and Bill Bruegmann from last year's team, Coach Will Saunders expects a fine 1968 season.

Would not we shatter it to bits—and then
Re-mould it nearer to the Heart's Desire!"

TRACK

Featuring the individual accomplishments of several W.P.I.A.L. champions, the 1967 track team enjoyed a successful spring. Steve Hein in the discus throw, Mike Nolan in the two-mile run, and the team of Jack Brownlee, Don Carlson, Tom Stechshulte, and Rick Schnure in the mile relay all won W.P.I.A.L. championships, with Mike and the relay team setting W.P.I.A.L. records. The exciting season which featured crucial meets with Penn Hills, Bethel, and Baldwin, was capped by Mt. Lebanon's third place finish in the W.P.I.A.L. Championships.

BROADWAY

Presenting popular tunes from Broadway shows for last year's Spring Musicale, the Mixed Chorus, Triple Trio, Orchestra, and Girls' Ensemble produced A Bit of Broadway on May 13. Lead performers Ted Kubiak, Paul Franke, Judy Troan, and Debby Fitzgibbons featured songs from musicals such as "Gypsy," "West Side Story," "Music Man," and "My Fair Lady."

A double-header sweep of Upper St. Clair, 2-1 and 13-1, climaxed an exciting season for the 1967 baseball team. Led by seniors Al Dean, Bob Seiforth, Pete Sorg, and Graham Carter, the team placed second to Thomas Jefferson in its section, finishing with a nine and three record. Coaches Mercer Clark and Dick Pitcock expect returning juniors Don Porter, Tom Marshall, and Jack Howard to lead the 1968 baseball team to a victorious record.

Giving boys an opportunity to have some fun on the courts or release some frustration on a soccer ball (or an opponent's shins), intramural sports highlights spirited competition. Varsity coaches and gym teachers, hopeful of developing some talent, devote time to organizing intramural programs, which presently include five sports, ranging from tennis to touch football.

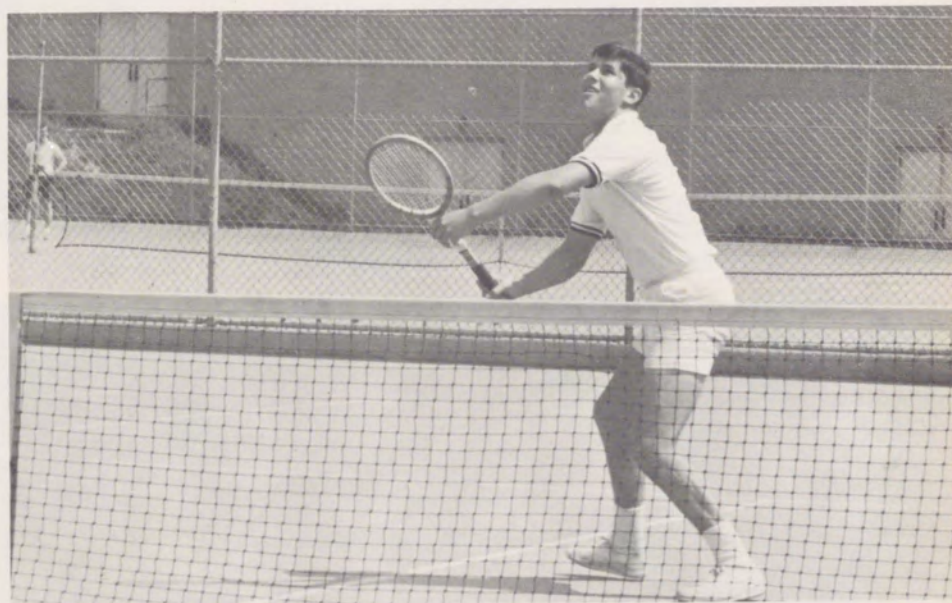

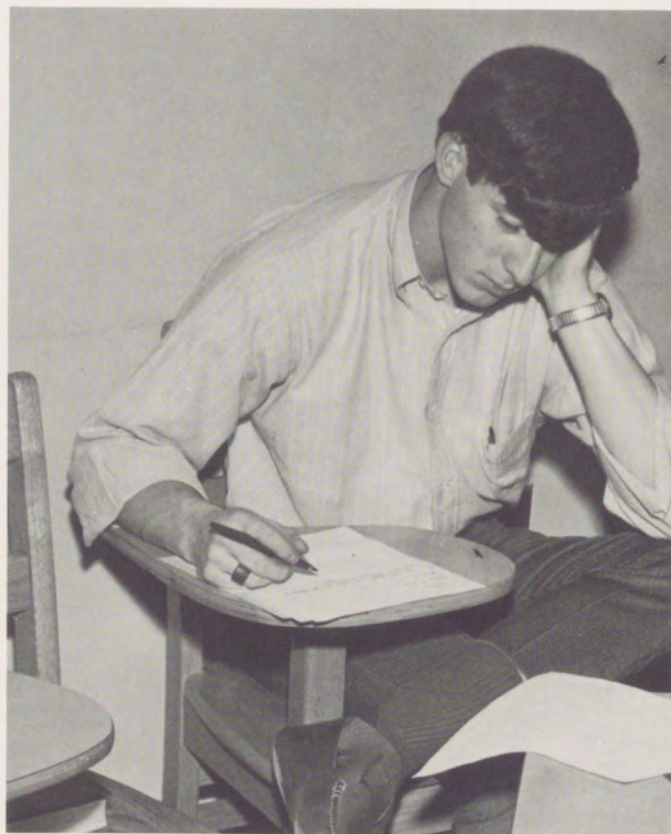

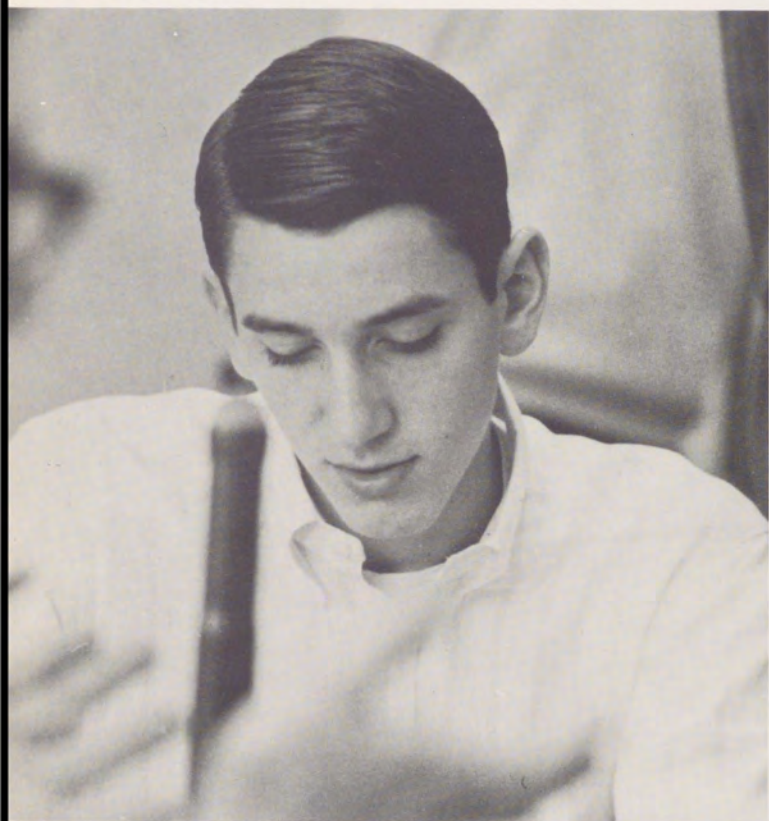

Coach Dan Capanna expects an excellent 1968 golf team. Last year's team won every one of its regularly scheduled matches before losing in the W.P.I.A.L. semi-finals. Juniors returning to this year's squad include Jim Read, Joe Perry, and Rick Ban and Steve Vidmer, two of the three golfers who represented Mt. Lebanon last spring in the W.P.I.A.L. individual championship matches.

Coached by Mr. Victor Doak, the 1967 Mt. Lebanon tennis team had a very successful season. Dominating its opponents, the tennis team compiled a ten and four record in working its way through a tough section. Although losing to Beaver in the W.P.I.A.L. playoffs, the 1967 team still gave an indication during the season of the high quality of play expected of the 1968 team. Led by senior Les Dundics, John Schweinsburg, and Jeff Dietrich, the 1967 team included juniors Bob Bennett and Bill Sagan, who contributed to a winning season.

Correlating the many facets of the educational process in Mt. Lebanon, the administration directs a progressive and effective school system. Dr. Ralph P. Horsman, superintendent of schools, administers school policy, which is determined by monthly meetings of the school board. The assistant superintendent of schools, Dr. Joseph C. Keifer, co-ordinates the functions of the administrators of the various schools in the system, while Dr. Floy L. Penn, director of instruction, applies new educational theory in progressive curriculum changes. Dr. Nelson Mills directs the total educational process at Mt. Lebanon High School, in cooperation with the vice-principals Mr. Ralph McDermot and Miss Elizabeth A. Evans. Mr. McDermot handles student scheduling as one of his duties and Miss Evans, vice-principal in charge of curriculum, also supervises independent study students.

By reading Greek plays or attending readings at the International Poetry Forum, English students are exposed to various means of expression, and to ideas common from Aeschylus to Robert Lowell. Through the English program, students learn techniques to communicate their ideas. Readings from Mark Twain for oral interpretation, editorials composed for journalism, and a poem written for English submitted to the Mounty are all examples of the English student's creative expression.

The social studies teacher tries to reveal to his students the underlying economic, political, and cultural forces that govern the operation of a society. The confusing myriad of dates and revolutions examined in history and the important cities and rivers studied in world cultures form the necessary basis for an understanding of these forces. Complementing a study of past events is the emphasis on current affairs as expressed in a classroom discussion on the effectiveness of the United Nations or in an informal conversation between a group of students and a Vietnam war correspondent.

Giving the student the practical skill of effectively communicating in another language and broadening his range of understanding are the objectives of the language teacher. Language study emphasizes oral communication in the response to a taped dialogue or in the conjugation of a verb in the subjunctive. But for the student to assimilate the culture of a country is also essential, whether through reading its contemporary literature or by daydreaming while staring at a travel poster.

From congruency theorems to matrices and derivatives, the math sequence is a program designed to enable the student to work practical problems and to understand complex scientific theory. Math students find special ways for challenging their ability—difficult problems met in recreational math, or intramural WFF 'N PROOF competition. Tedious inductive and deductive proofs and Fortran programming are both methods by which the student develops his reasoning ability, and both offer theoretical areas for the interested student to explore.

The custodians and cafeteria workers perform daily services necessary to the effective functioning of the school. Arriving early to open the building and staying into the evening to clean up the halls and the classrooms, the custodians keep the school in good condition for special functions as well as for classes. The cafeteria workers accept the daily challenge of preparing varied and interesting menus.

ACTIVITIES

In 1968, Mount Lebanon student government constructively approached solutions to school problems. Conferring with Dr. Mills, the Advisory Council worked on policies affecting the study hall system and student smoking. Ruling on out-of-orders, the Student Court gave students the chance to express the other side of the story. To aid students in choosing a profession, the Guidance Council and Guidance Counselors planned a career night for spring.

Pat Wood and Beverly James both were recipients of important awards. Seniors selected Pat Wood to receive the D.A.R. award. The National Council of Teachers of English cited Beverly as an outstanding student of high school English.

Many students are recognized for outstanding achievements at Activities Assemblies in January or June. Student Congress officers award Activities Keys to students who have records of outstanding contribution in school activities. Several students who had been awarded keys last spring received their guards. The twenty National Merit Semifinalists from Mt. Lebanon represented the largest number from any high school in the Pittsburgh area. Members of the editorial staffs of the Log, Lantern, and Mounty were inducted into Quill and Scroll, the national society honoring excellence in student publication. Having built a high record of high school academic accomplishment, many seniors became members of Cum Laude.

Mt. Lebanon S.U.N. club members presented the views of Lebanon, Gabon, and Zambia to the General Assembly of the Student U.N. by proposing and debating resolutions. In formalized debates or in lively Student Congresses, National Forensic League members argued over contemporary questions. February 15-17, the Mount Lebanon Thespian troupe presented The Glass Menagerie as theater-in-the-round before an audience seated on the stage. Modern Music Masters, or Tri-M members, performed at several recitals and held a Christmas program for a retirement home.

Selected as "Outstanding Teenagers" by the students, seniors Jim Roberts and Rick Schnure were honored at the January Activities Assembly.

Enjoying the thrill of studying abroad this year were Masaharu Yukimoto and Shahla Farivar, our AFS exchange students. Not only did "Mas" and Shahla broaden their experiences through AFS, but also our own Pat Wood was able to spend the summer in Germany.

Students working on squads contribute their time to performing helpful services for students and faculty. Members of the Hospitality Squad extend their friendly service to new students and visitors to the high school. Another student group, the Honor Award Committee makes possible the recognition of students who have participated widely in school activities. Making Miss Wass's job easier are members of the Attendance Squad, who aid in distributing attendance sheets. The Student Art Committee and the Bulletin Board Squad brighten up the halls with exhibits of student and faculty art and with colorful bulletin board displays.

Interviews with pop recording stars and pictures from the W.P.I.A.L. championship game are typical highlights of the monthly LANTERN issue. Covering all aspects of school life, the LANTERN regularly includes select news articles, accurate sports reporting, and entertaining features. Faculty sponsor Miss Judith Calgaro worked with editors Molly Youngling, Marty Stern, Jim Schlotter, and Dave Ferguson to publish a newspaper that satisfies students' wide interests. Accompanying each LANTERN are the "Scholastic Roto," with articles on subjects from Vietnam to the new car models to LSD, and the "Devillette," the monthly supplement featuring students' humorous articles.

MOUNTY Editors: John Nicklas, Mary Lynne Maddex, Beverly James, Sue Quinn, Clark Frame.

Providing an enjoyable sample of student writing talent, the MOUNTY includes student creative writing ranging from serious anti-war poetry to humorous informal essays. Highlighting the activities of this year's staff was the light-hearted advertising campaign, during which flower-decked MOUNTY salesmen gave M&M's for each subscription to the MOD 1968 MOUNTY. Editors Beverly James, John Nicklas, and Sue Quinn worked with Miss Janice Mellinger in producing an enjoyable literary magazine.

Amidst the deadline confusion of un-numbered layouts, unsized pictures, and unchecked copy, the 1968 Log staff focused on the expression of the uniqueness of the 1968 school year. The editors, counceled by faculty adviser Miss Jean Piroth, worked out the complexities of their sections with their staffs, and trained the editorial assistants, the "little ones," for next year's editorial positions. The 1968 Log, with a new publisher and a new look, tried to capture verbally and pictorially the essence of a new year.

Students use their free time creatively through participation in various school clubs. Spanish Club members explore Spanish culture and improve their speaking, while J.C.L. members learn about an ancient civilization by transporting it to the present through club programs and plays. The Chess Club provides its members with the chance to improve their skills and to meet the challenge of interscholastic competition. Members of F.N.A., F.T.A., or F.H.A. acquire both new skills and interesting experiences by helping the nurses with physicals, by teaching in the junior highs, or by organizing a bake sale.

By signing up for work on a squad, students commit their special talents toward getting an important job done. Chemistry Lab squad members prepare jugs of standard solutions for experimental work in the labs and set up apparatus for the chemistry teachers. Senior Barb Baird compiles and types up in the Achievement Bulletin all the honors won by Mt. Lebanon students. Working with Miss MacKinney and Mrs. Kehoe, the Library squad helps card the hundreds of new books the library acquires each year.

Boys on the Projection squad distribute projectors and thread the movies for teachers using visual aids in the classroom. The Ways and Means squad members sell candy after school and man the vending stands at home football games to help finance Student Congress activities. Assisting Miss High and Miss Croke in the medical office, girls on the Medical squad aid in vision and hearing tests. Thus, these students take the responsibility to provide helpful assistance to the faculty and to other students.

Practicing Monday through Thursday sixth period in the band room, the orchestra prepared for feature performances scheduled for the spring. Directed by Mr. Arthur Yagello, it perfected such pieces as Schubert's "Rosamunde Overture," Kobalevsky's "The Comedians," and Siennicki's "Park Avenue Hoe Down." Playing for an assembly on March 5, and again in the Spring Orchestra Festival with the Mellon and Jefferson Junior High Orchestras on April 5, the orchestra had a heavy schedule. Another highlight of the season was the orchestra's performance before a conference of Mid-East music educators on April 6.

Under the direction of Mr. Louis Scarci, Mt. Lebanon's nationally recognized marching band continued to provide first class musical entertainment. Accompanying Rockette drills during the halftime presentations last fall, the band played popular tunes including "Georgy Girl," "Born Free," and "The Girl Watchers' Theme." Also on the band's schedule were the traditional appearance in the Memorial Day Parade and a spring band concert. The chorus, led by Miss May K. Sneary, presented a choral concert in December, featuring the girls' ensemble, the mixed chorus, the Triple Trio, and, new this year, a madrigal group.

The Band includes: D. Andrews, S. Andrews, P. Bonello, D. Brown, S. Champion, N. Charlier, M. Carr, C. Cicchino, J. Collins, B. D'Andries, A. DiFiore, D. Eisenbeis, B. Fischer, L. Grant, J. Behind the scenes at school plays, assemblies, or community programs in the auditorium, these students are essential to the overall success of the production. Stage crew members operate lighting and design and build scenery and backdrops for plays and musicals. Getting together props and improvising when necessary, properties committee members try to create a realistic setting for thespian productions. Costume committee members obtain costumes for roles varying from Sir Thomas More in A Man For All Seasons to the Trapp children in A Sound of Music. By powdering hair, or by adding lines to a face, make-up committee members transform the players into people of all ages and races. The boys' usher squad serves for school guidance programs, assemblies, and occasionally at a public meeting in the evening. The checkroom squad mans the coatroom for the public.

Members of the Parking and Scoreboard Squads and the Ticket-takers serve students as well as adult members of the community at home athletic games. The Parking Squad directs cars entering the parking lot and facilitates an easy flow of traffic after the games. Ticket-takers work at the entrance gates, and members of the Scoreboard Squad work the scoreboard at home football and basketball games. This year's sportscasters, John Nicklas and Bill Bruegmann, broadcasting from the press box, identify the players involved in each play, give halftime statistics, and introduce band selections. Also working at the Friday night games are the Boys' and Girls' Ways and Means Squads. By selling popcorn and soft drinks at home athletic contests, these students earn money to help finance Student Congress activities.

Tennis Team. FRONT ROW: D. Aderholt, L. Dundics, B. Harrison, J. Hall, B. Bennett. ROW 2: J. Schweinsberg, B. Sagan, B. Rosen, C. Colver, J. Gorin, Mr. Doak.

G.A.A. Volleyball Team. FRONT ROW: P. Hunt, K. Peters, P. Lee, G. Stephens. ROW 2: Miss Sabolewski, R. Kane, C. Freeburg, K. Marlen, S. Danforth, K. Ross.

From touch football in September to girls' track in June, Girls' Athletic Association members compete on an informal level. Holding competition in many sports after school, the G.A.A. provides competition, exercise, and fun. Leaders' Club members, who officiate and organize tournaments, are selected from girls who have made outstanding contributions to G.A.A. The 1968 Girls' Gymnastic Team, strengthened by the return of many girls from last year's team, looks forward to far surpassing their 1967 record.

Girls' Gymnastics Team. FRONT ROW: J. Bodkin, D. Snefsky, S. Hildabrand, M. Cosgrove, B. Moore. ROW 2: Mrs. Cunningham, D. Fitzgibbons, M. Miller, M. Junker, M. Younkins, H. Hull, N. Bell, N. Drummonds. ROW 3: G. Woodhouse, A. Deering, K. Wichmann, J. Coles, M. Maxwell, V. Sorg.

Girls' Volleyball Team. FRONT ROW: N. Alcorn, S. Rosecrans, A. Meadows, K. Morland, P. Phares, P. Neely. ROW 2: L. Gingrow, G. Stephens, K. James, V. Lupean, K. Ronksley, L. Whitford.

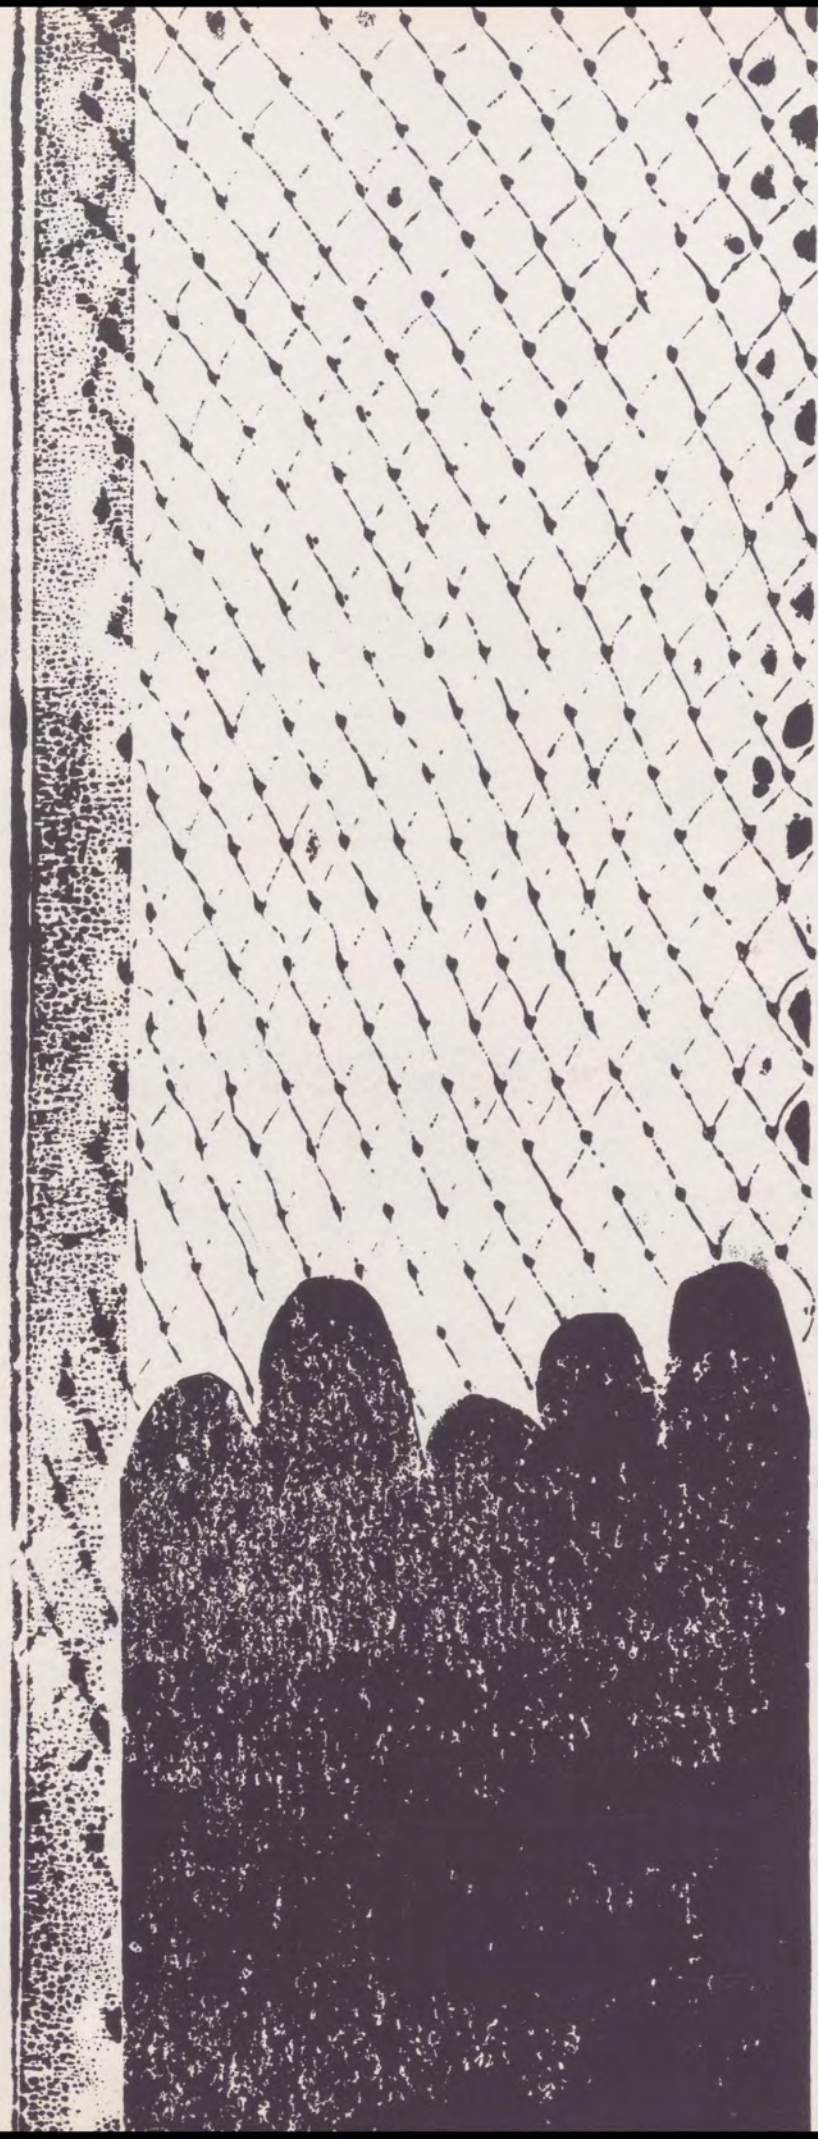

With the goal of providing athletic opportunities for girls, Miss Donna Shaver and the Girls' Athletic Association sponsor a diverse program of sports for girls. The members of the G.A.A. participate enthusiastically in such sports as tennis, basketball, volleyball, golf, track and field, and swimming. The swimming team began the season by winning the Girls' Western Pennsylvania Swimming Championship. Judy Beachler, a member of the team, received The Kathleen Ritz Memorial Trophy. This award is given to the club letter-holder who most exemplifies the values of good sportsmanship. The volleyball team completed its season with a 7-6 record, a fifty-percent improvement over last year. In the same spirit of achievement, the basketball team anticipates a good year.

High school to the sophomore means an entirely new set of experiences. The chlorine-reddened eyes after a swimming class, the free (but unused) Tuesday morning study hall, and the excitement of an impromptu pep rally Friday morning in the hall all represent a departure from what he has seen and felt before. With the added responsibilities of high school life, the sophomore accepts the opportunity to begin determining his future now.

The junior year is one of impatience. Having been through one year of high school, the junior has a better understanding of the purpose of his education and has a clearer idea of what he would like to do in life. He becomes impatient that he has still one more year to go. Things like report cards and class rank assume almost equal importance with the junior's class ring as graduation and college approach.

ALMA MATER

'Neath cedars
stately, midst
hills so bold,
Stands our Mt.
Lebanon, realm of
Blue and Gold, Radiant with splendor, valor,
virtue, and truth,
Moulder of our destiny, guardian of our youth.
Ever our praises
shall ring, Alma Mater, for thee.
—Charles Ruch, '32
