WONDER

In planning the 2001 LOG, we were faced with a unique challenge. We were unsure how to create a yearbook which would measure up to a reality-based society that craves more and more outlandish entertainment. Could we capture the attention of our school with the same enthusiasm that makes you want to watch shows like Survivor and Real World? What would draw Lebo students in and keep them flipping through the pages of the LOG even after the cover was out of view?

And then we knew what would do it -- the memories themselves. After all, who could forget the wonderful stories tied to life at Lebo? For instance, remember when that quiet kid in your history class randomly asked you to the Homecoming dance and you unexpectedly had the time of your life? Or how about cheering our awesome sports teams on to WPIAL and State victories? Or maybe even staying up until three A.M. cramming for finals and surviving on caffeine? These were the events that came to mind when we searched for our theme; times with your friends and peers that made you laugh, made you cry, and made you reflect on your years here at Lebo.

Slowly we realized that Mt. Lebanon students weren't fooled by flash without substance. Although a high tech cover and outrageous theme might have made you buy the LOG, it was certainly the memories captured within the pages that made you cherish it. And after reading the 2001 LOG, we hope we made you proud.

Making the Most of Pledge Day, Katie Barr commands her pledge, Jordan Braver, to carry her to class. The Class of 2001 brought back the tradition of Senior Pledge Day.

Right: Keeping up with their busy schedules Alison Perlick and Lily Junker hurry to class.

With all of the demands of a rigorous academic schedule, not to mention the time required by sports teams and clubs, it's a wonder that students ever find time for friends and fun. Mt. Lebanon students, however, have their priorities in order and are never at a loss for memorable moments with fellow students outside the classroom and off the playing fields. Over the summer, a record number of six trips abroad were sponsored to offer students the opportunity to experience first-hand the cultures and languages about which they learned in class. Blue Devils also turned out in droves for mission trips, which provided them quality time with friends and a way to make a difference in their world. In addition, the Executive Council has made it their main focus to reinstate several dormant activities at the high school, most notably, Senior Pledge Day and Halloween Door Decorating. Through determination and teamwork, students in all grades have worked to keep tradition at Mt. Lebanon alive. And in this monumental year of presidential elections, students also got involved in many aspects of political life, including attending party rallies and conducting presidential debates. So whether it's hanging out with friends on the weekend, shopping for the latest trends, dancing the night away or maybe something a little more earth shattering, Lebo students know that there is life outside the halls of the high school. And moreover, they know how to make the most of it!

GROW

School's Out for SUMMER!

The bell rings, signaling that finally summer has begun. With that last bell of the year and a few frantic signatures in our yearbooks, we race to the door! Outside kids are already planning what they will do that first summer evening, while Seniors bid farewell to good ol' Mt. Lebo High School. Everyone feels older now in a sense, but who has time to think about school because the fun has yet to begin. Summer is students' time to let loose, kick back and have fun! Parties, cookouts and Dave Matthews' music blaring from car windows are all familiar images of summer. Everyone though has their own plans for summer. Many escape for a week or two on vacation, while others head to camp, foreign countries or simply just enjoying summer days in Mt. Lebanon. Junior Frank Caputo expressed summer being his "time to chill with my dogs" while Barry Johnson felt that "summer was a good time to try new things!" Looking forward to summer is always everyone's motive to make it through the school year, but when the summer sadly ends, we all know that the next school year can only be better.

—Julie Brunner and Stephanie Bunton

"The BEST part of summer was hangin' wit' my boyz!"

-Ryan Carrozzi

"Will the Real Slim Shady Please Stand Up?" Using the Eminem Tour Bus as a backdrop, Seniors Andrea Proie and Amy Pachuta tell rap singer Eminem "We'll beat up Britney Spears for you." The "Up in Smoke" Tour held at Mellon Arena, as well as other concerts were a popular attraction for Lebo Students during the summer months.

SUMMER 2000

Lending A Helping Hand, Lebo students Kathryn Brown and Andrew Whalen paint a house, while on a Mission trip in West Virginia.

The Royal Guard Cracks A Smile, as Junior Ben Wertheim attempts to lick his gun. "Europe was all about seeing things that you don't see every day," states Senior Keith Sheppard. On the trip to Europe students visited sights such as the Eiffel Tower, The Coliseum and Big Ben.

Climbing to the Top of the Swiss Alps, Senior girls Beth Patton, Laura Miller, Melissa Howard and Kay Yelton use the mountain tops as a beautiful backdrop for a photo. Students that went on the German trip said that one of the most interesting parts was the Volkswagen Museum.

Students Abroad

Around the World in 90 Days

"Make New Friends, But Keep The Old!" French Students Deanna Kitlowski, Tori Zelt, Mari Dumbaugh and Karlyn Gold meet an Indian friend in the city of Quebec. Karlyn comments, "Because the majority of students on the trip were younger, Quebec allowed the high school students to introduce the French program to the incoming freshman."

Island Overlook! Taking a break from their classes in Costa Rica, Drew Navikas, Meredith Mechenbier, Ellen Rains, Katherine Peters and Mr. Senerius over look the beautiful scenery of Costa Rica. While in Costa Rica, these students attended classes in Spanish, as well as traveling about the island.

Stopping at an Exotic site, Seniors Caitlin Carey, Alison Cercone, Aubrey Bukovan, Lauren Hediger, Justin Ketchel, Mike Brant, Tom Davidson and Mike Wright enjoy the waterfalls of Spain. "Looking forward to the Spain trip was half the fun, while actually going was well... eight million more times fun," commented Junior Rose Ehler.

The Perfect "Arena" for a group photo was on the steps of the Coliseum. Gorgeous weather and delicious food were two of the favorite aspects of those who traveled to Italy. Students were also in awe of the beautiful art and architecture which Italy had to offer.

SENIORS ONLY!!

"I don't have a date," cried Jamie Berkowitz. This is a usual worry of a high school student going to a dance. None needed for the Senior Boatride. Friends enjoy the pre-dance fun with each other.

On September 17th the Seniors let loose for a night of dancing and fun on the Gateway Clipper Fleet. It sure was a great way to kick off the Senior year. Hot and excited students crammed together in the confined dance floor to boogie down. Mike Brant and Sam Mathews said, "It was the perfect opportunity to shake our booties and show off our dancing skills." Overall, it was a great bonding experience for the Senior class of 2001 to become closer for their last year in high school.

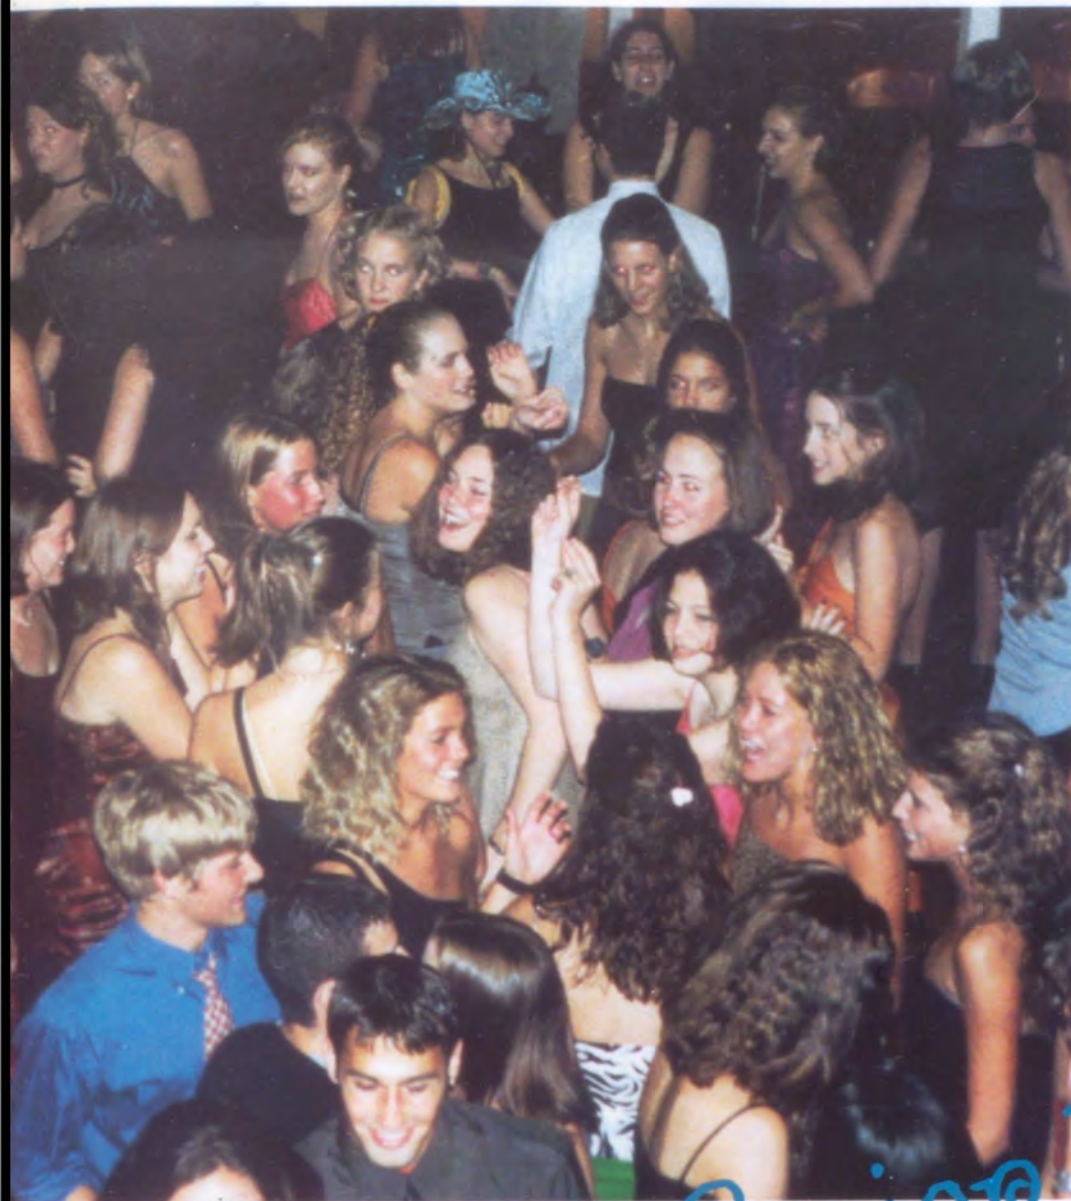

—Lauren Evans and Lauren Hediger

The Beautiful Pittsburgh Scenery entices Glen Cready and Chandler Ketchum as they take a break from dancing to get fresh air.

Twisting and Twirling, Seniors Kauleen Cloutier and Andrew Clautice show off their swing dancing moves as their crowd of friends creates a circle around them.

Chaos on the Dance Floor!

Seniors dance the night away on the Three Rivers. The dance floor was the place to be, as about 350 Seniors squished on the tiny floor, dancing and belting out song lyrics. DJ Chuck Webb played popular hits as well as oldies. Favorites of the night included, "Jumpin, Jumpin", "Number One Stunna", "Who Let The Dogs Out?" and the Senior Song, "I Get By With A Little Help From My Friends."

Senior Boatride

Get Your Groove On! Dancing from the balcony level, Senior Joel Yakovac looks to the dance floor for support while Chris Hathy and Tony Griffith laugh from the side.

"Watch Your Step" Jennifer Boss and Shannon Crow walk up to the top of the boat for a view of Pittsburgh as Jeni Love and Nick Prezioso stay behind to overlook the water

TRADITION Never Graduates!

Let the festivities begin! Triple Trio members Hayley Goldstein, Becky Kaczowski, Jamie Berkowitz, Cate Murray, Beth Bleil and Rosemary Keenan begin Homecoming night with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and Mt. Lebanon's "Alma Mater" The Triple Trio has been a singing tradition at the parade for over 20 years.

The "Tradition" of the annual Homecoming Parade was continued this year on the night of October 6th, 2000. Although rain was forecasted, the school community crossed their fingers in hopes for the perfect night. The perfect night hoped for did arrive as the Senior class focused on the 2000-01 school theme of "Tradition Never Graduates." As in previous years each class made a unique banner in which members of each class marched behind during the parade. The tradition of Homecoming Court announcement and the crowning of the King and Queen were also continued. Convertibles, balloons and flowers were also essential in creating the perfect atmosphere. As organizer, Mrs. Betsy Henderson, put it, "The Class of 2001 has so much spirit! It showed in their dedication and enthusiasm about the parade."

—Blair Kurtz, Tristan Wood and Kristin Cullen

Center Stage! Lindsey Grant and Matt Coleman gracefully walk down the 50 yard line with flowers in hand and smiles on their faces. Participants in the parade walked down the center of the field between band members playing and holding flags.

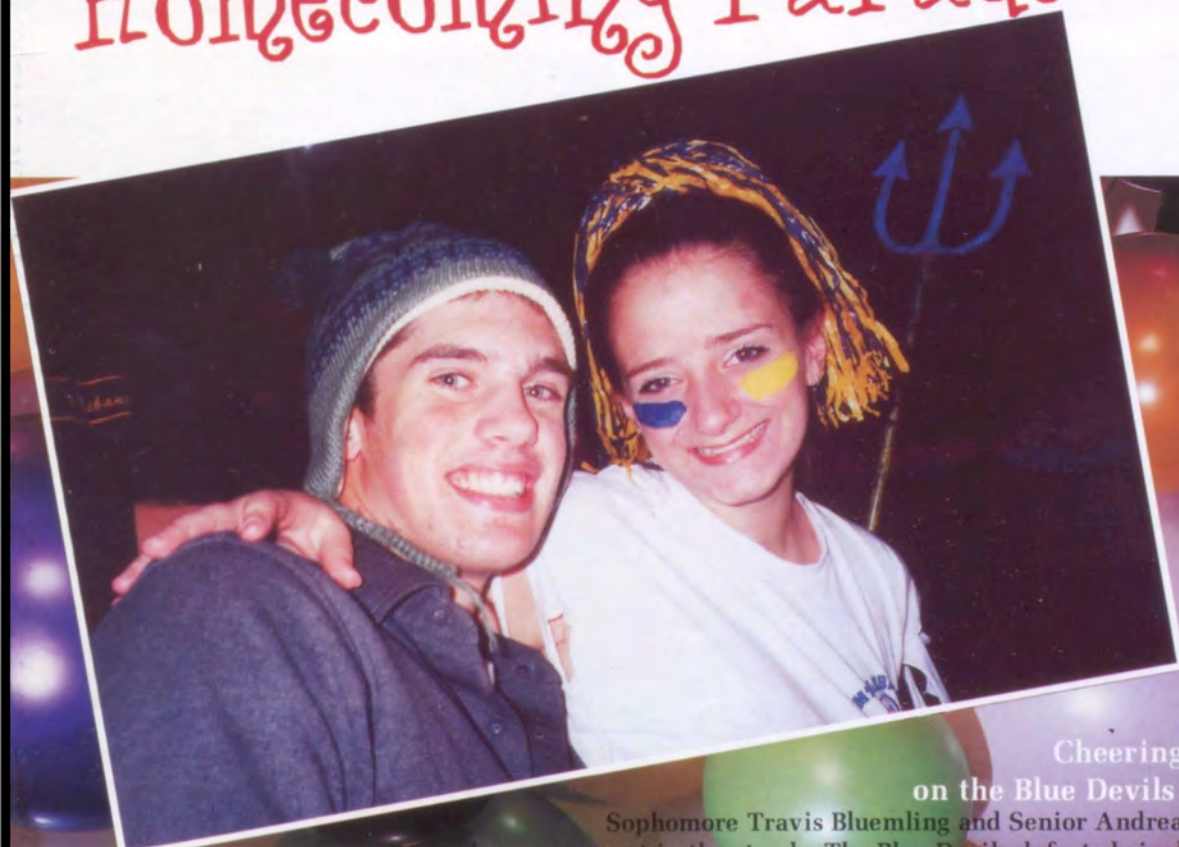

Parade of Smiles! Smiling as they ride in the back of the "Lark", Homecoming Court members, Kristen Finsness and Hall Carlough enjoy a ride around the track, while Mr. Sheppard carefully steers the wheel. Six convertibles were driven in this years parade, bringing back a tradition that had disappeared over the past years.

"The 2000 Homecoming King and Queen Are?"

Dr. Sullivan places the wreath of flowers on Queen Beth Kravec as Lee Robinson smiles after being crowned King. Although the Homecoming Court is announced earlier in the week, the King and Queen remain a secret until Homecoming Game Night. Homecoming Court is voted on by secret ballot in homeroom.

Homecoming Parade

Cheering on the Blue Devils
Sophomore Travis Bluemling and Senior Andrea Froie share a moment in the stands. The Blue Devils defeated rival Upper St. Clair by a landslide in the Homecoming game.

"The Class of 2001 has so much spirit! It showed in their dedication and enthusiasm about the parade"

-Mrs. Henderson

"And the Oscar goes to...?" Placing Oscars for each couple attending the dance on the windows in Center Court, Kasey Holloway, Casey Depasquale, Faith Colley and Jessica Morell help contribute to the "Homecoming in Hollywood" theme.

Decorations at Homecoming featured a red carpet as you entered, Hollywood Hand prints of the Executive Council and silhouettes lining the windows of the fourth floor.

Taking time off from filming "Austin Powers 2" actress Heather Graham finds Dimitri Pankas on the dance floor. The cardboard cutouts were a hit decoration of the night and many posed for a picture with the "Hollywood Stars."

What's so fun about FORMALS?

French manicures, bouncy curls, glittering makeup, primping all day long, gelling the hair, adjusting the tie and at the last minute grabbing the corsage from the refrigerator....sound familiar? Well, it should! It is what formal dances are all about. But just what is so fun about formals? Junior Laura German comments, "I was looking forward to the dance for so long, that it was definitely worth going." This must have been the common thought because on October 7th, over 1000 Mt. Lebanon Students attended the annual Homecoming Formal. On the long awaited day, Center Court was transformed into the flashy, glitzy land of Hollywood. As the students walked into the dance with red velvet at their feet, many were in awe of the "Lights, Camera... Action" theme. In the form of cardboard cutouts, celebrities such as Heather Graham, Marilyn Monroe and Sarah Michelle Gellar made a special appearance at the dance. Dancing, admiring the dresses and finding friends caused the night to fly by, but the memories will remain of this special evening spent in "Hollywood"

—Julie Brunner and Jenna Sunseri

Lining up for the Traditional Pose, Brad Rodgers, Jessie Geisler, Pat Bucci, Ann Cassidy, Dan Illson, Kelsey Nee, C.J. Hicks and Courtney Reed flash huge smiles for family and friends' cameras. Most student follow the traditional night of pictures, dinner and dancing.

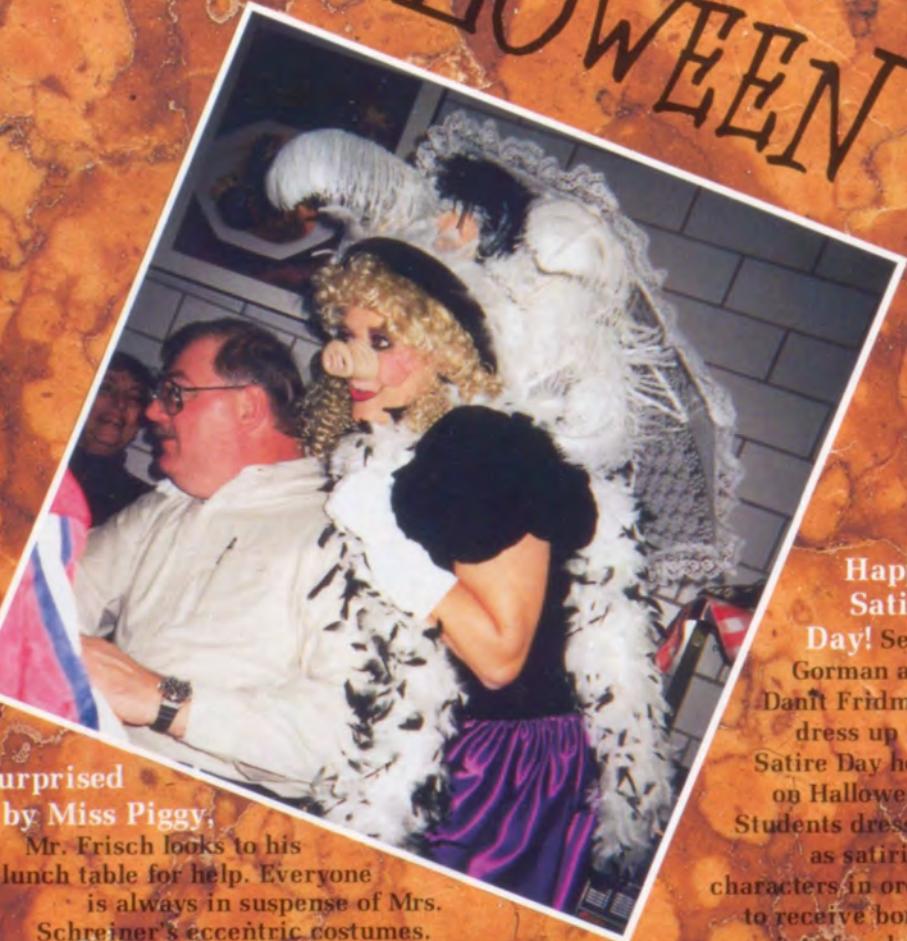

The Perfect Night! Katie Cooper and Tom Rieck enjoy a scenic visit to Mt. Washington before the dance. Mt. Washington is a popular place for Lebo students to enjoy their pre-dance festivities.

Spooky Science experiments capture the interest of Chemistry students Courtney Kisl, Mandy Lewis, Nicole Pruss and Kelly Barcic on Halloween. Mrs. Meer's costume and "cool" dry ice demonstrations were a big hit.

Concentrating on creating the perfect Halloween door, Chris Beck and Nadine Boiano tape up brown paper to follow their door decorating theme. Homeroom door decorating gives students a chance to show school spirit and be competitive with classmates.

HALLOWEEN

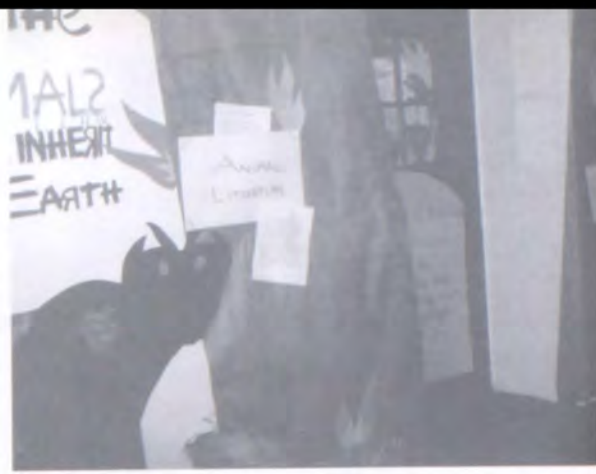

Surprised by Miss Piggy, Mr. Frisch looks to his lunch table for help. Everyone is always in suspense of Mrs. Schreiner's eccentric costumes.

Happy Satire Day! Sean Gorman and Danit Fridman dress up for Satire Day held on Halloween. Students dressed as satirical characters in order to receive bonus points for class.

THE WINNER IS. . . ?

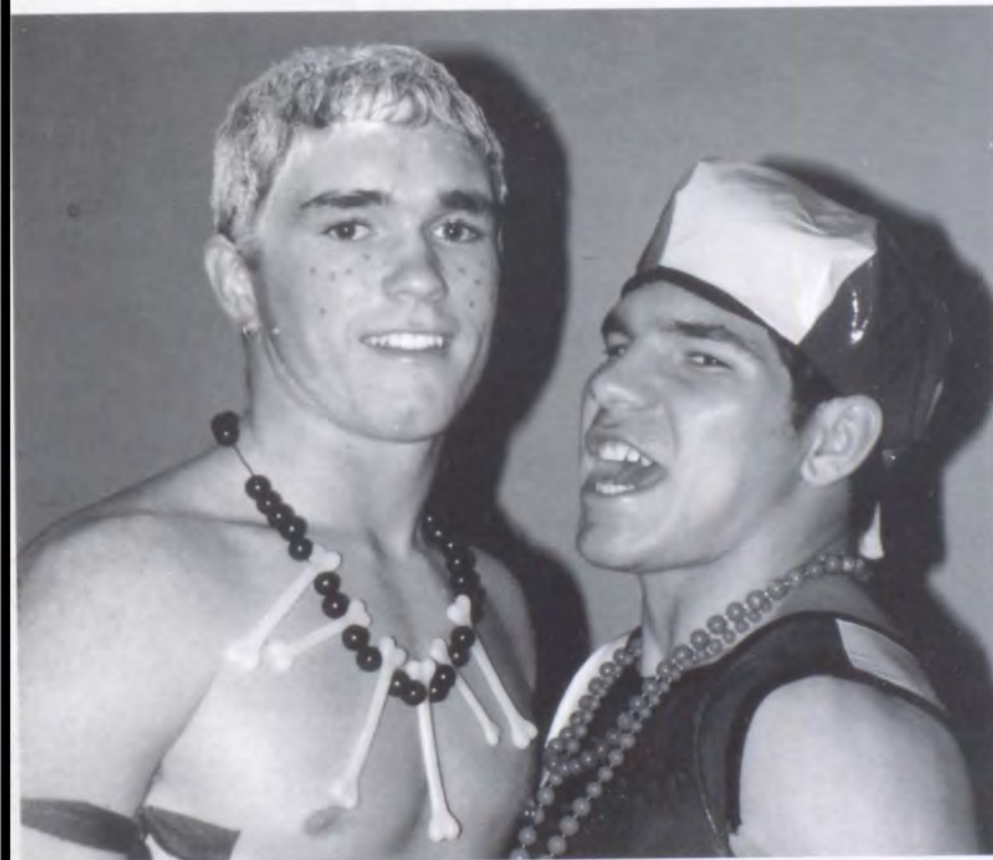

This past Halloween, the halls of our high school were filled with dozens of decorations around each homeroom. Students stayed after school for several hours on October 30th decorating their doors with vibrantly colored paper, pumpkins, candy, baby photos and in one case, haystacks. All homerooms strived to win a pizza party or donuts, but the awards only went to one first place winner from each grade. In addition, there were three runners-up per grade. Despite everyone's hard efforts, there was just one grand prize winner. Out of a 80 homerooms, a staggering 71 participated in the door decorating, "Which was a record high," according to Mrs. Henderson, director of the Activities Office.

On October 31, 2000, Mr. Petrich's homeroom, 12-202, captured the grand prize for the second year in a row. Their theme was Animal Farm meets the movie Halloween and included haystacks surrounding the entrance to "Petrich's House of Pain." An Animal Manifesto described the animals' overthrow of "Farmer Petrich" and his family, while warning others of the many animal revolts to come. "For centuries mankind has ruled the world with a whip and harness. But now the time has come for animals to inherit their rightful position."

The seniors of 12-202 were very proud of their original theme. Contests such as this one give students throughout the school the chance to display their creativity while increasing involvement in after-school activities.

— Michelle Santoro

Whipping late students into shape, the Attendance Office nuns display their newfound defense. On Halloween any students walking through the attendance office were bound to see Mrs. Vadino, Mrs. Unger, Mrs. Kirkpatrick or Mrs. Clark reciting scenes from the popular movie, Sister Act.

Making a guest appearance at a Mt. Lebanon Halloween Party, a 70's Go-Go girl (Rob Truesdell) greets Flintstone cartoon character, Bam-Bam (Drew McMinn). This past Halloween, students proved that "Trick-or-Treating" is not only for kids!

Bringing It Back!

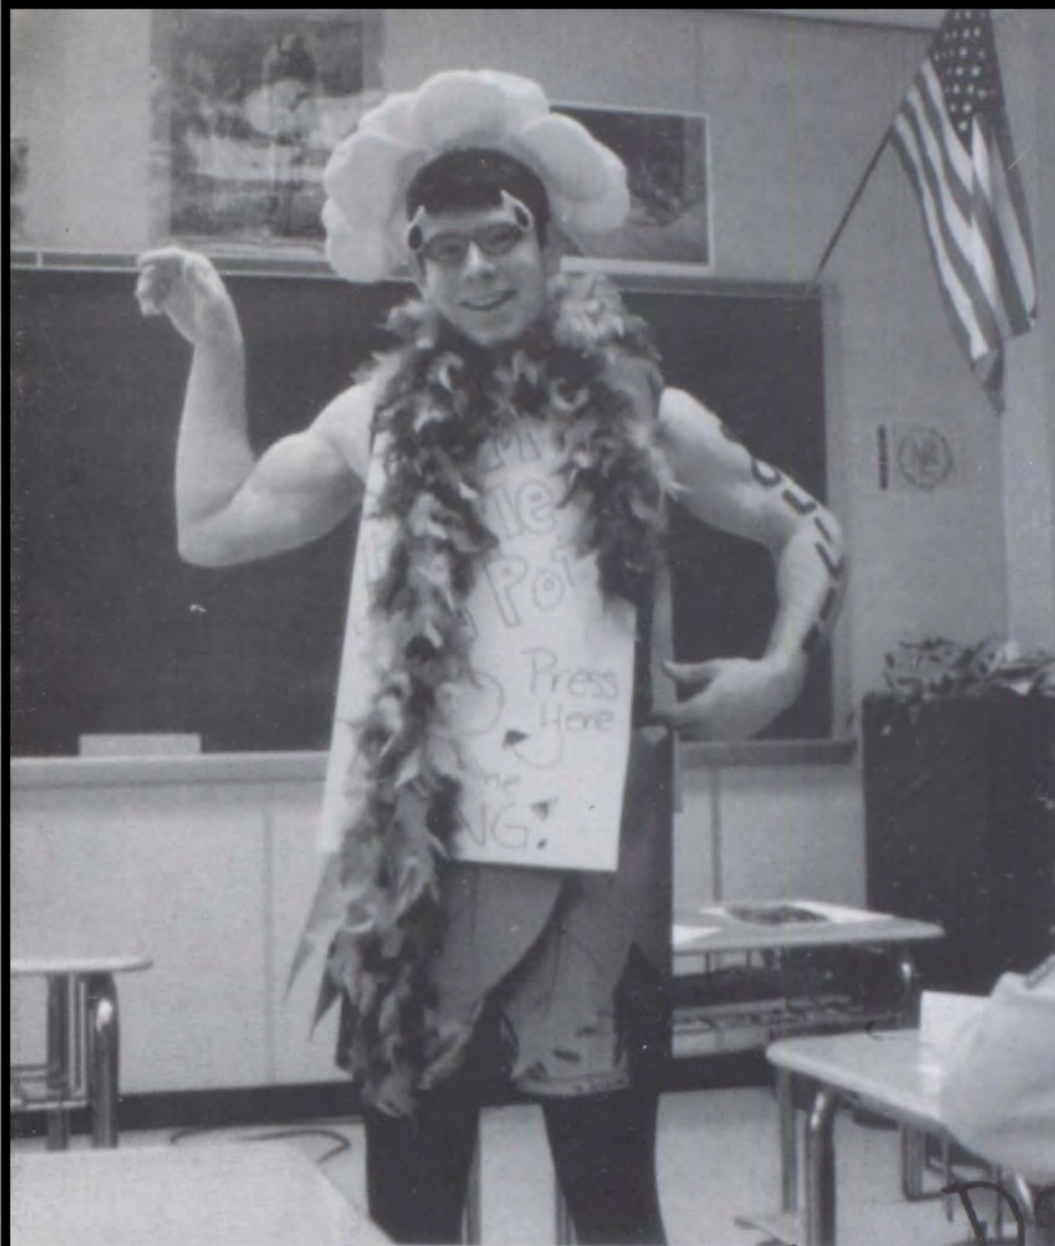

Each year the Senior Executive Council chooses a theme to set the tone of the year. This year's theme was "Tradition Never Graduates." Going along with that theme, the Seniors decided to try to bring back an old tradition called "Senior Serf Day." Before the school year even began, Senior Executive Council members created a Proposal for the administration to reinstate this tradition. Secretaries Cate Murray and Kim Lackner then took the proposal to Dr. Sullivan. "The administration was really helpful. They wanted the tradition back, but both ends realized that new rules needed to be set up," commented Cate. New rules were instilled, the proposal was passed and Pledge Day was planned for November 9th. Seniors signed up to be Pledges and raffled themselves off for $1. It was planned that the names would be drawn at the a Bonfire, but rain canceled the event. The winner of each Senior could command him or her to dress up in costume, carry books, sing and dance, or even take them to breakfast. The event was a major success in terms of fundraising, promoting school spirit and creating memories.

Clowning around during lunch, Brett Gerson is put in a garbage can by Pledger Erik Johnson. Lunch periods were a time for students to appreciate Pledge Day.

"The Great Pumpkin" During lunch, Tanecia Nagy is told to pose as a pumpkin while in line for lunch.

Pledge Day 2000

Dressed as a princess, Mickey Kramer bows to her Pledger Liz Curcio.

"Your Wish is my Command..." responds Hall Carlough to his Pledger Molly Beachler. Pledge Day required a meeting in the AO to approve costumes beforehand.

Lebo Students encounter Chinese Theatre

"Being involved with the 'Yellow Jacket' was one of the most memorable experiences of high school. It was celestially august!"
-Hillary Pierpoint

Encountering new things can be difficult for anyone and always offers a learning experience. This is what the Fine Arts Department was hoping to give Mt. Lebanon students through the production of a Chinese play, "The Yellow Jacket." The play ran from November 15-18, 2000 and was held in the Fine Arts Little Theatre. With the help of the Technical Crew, the actors performed a play in which Chinese Theatre was brought to Mt. Lebanon and presented with meaning, imagination and flair. Symbolism, gestures and Asian costumes were used by the students to tell the story of Woo Ho Git and his journey to find truth, love and himself while overcoming obstacles, temptation and enemies. Directed by Mrs. Cynthia Schreiner and Student Directors Kristen Dreger and Richard Dibella, "The Yellow Jacket" will be a play remembered by all for it's uniqueness.

—Julie Plake

Voices of "The Yellow Jacket" Cate Murray, Sara Loughran and Amy Barron move with graceful and traditional gestures to narrate the play. These gestures are traditional to Chinese theatre and every movement has a symbolic and specific meaning.

Deeply troubled by his marital life, Wu Sin Yin (Max Louik) questions his second wife, Due Jang Fah (Kristen Dreger) and father, Tai Fah Min (Kaileen Cloutier) about his options. The governor is troubled because his first wife bore him a child who is believed to be deformed.

GETTING INVOLVED

Lebo Students Participate in Millennium Events

Listening Intently,

Christina Palascack and Maggie McClintock participate in the lunch period debates. During these debates, students could voice opinions, discuss issues and defend positions in an open forum.

With the ending of 1999, a new year as well as a new millennium began. The year 2000 proved to be not only a monumental year with regards to the turn of the century, but also a year where our country experienced an unprecedented controversy as a result of the closest Presidential election in recent American history. Where history is being made, Lebo students are not far behind. By becoming involved in many of the events of 2000, students took a personal stake in the world around them. In celebration of the United States National Constitution Center, students gave up lunch hours to supervise the signing of a replica of our country's Constitution. The signed Constitution from our high school will be framed and placed in the National Center. In preparation for the 2000 Elections, students campaigned for candidates, as well as held debates. In days preceding the presidential election, Mr. Bullick led organized debates during the lunch periods for any student interested. In addition, Lebo students held a mock election in which the Political Science classes counted and tallied the votes.

Determining the Winner of the Mock Election, Sarah Mullen and Drew Navikas use their math and political science skills to tally votes.

"In My Opinion..."

Liz Kwak and Mr. Bullick lead the 4th Period Student Presidential Debate.

What is Your Opinion of the 2000 Presidential Election?

"We feel that the elections weren't fair. It should have been handled better."

-Sara Small & Maureen Rees

"The elections were quite boring and lasted way too long. I was going to run for president but as a result, I have ended my political quest."

-Greg Sloan

"It was a farce of politics because of hesitation to recount the votes and each politician playing the justice system."

-Elizabeth Krugh

"Even though I think that the American people elected Al Gore, we should give George W. Bush a chance to prove himself."

-Scott Brodbeck

"Should We Have a Recount?" Political Science students Richard Dibella, Jon Cavell and Lexi Houk count the Mock Election ballots for President. The winner in the High School was Al Gore.

Millennium Events

"I Signed The Constitution!"

Junior Rachel Schneider pins a Constitution button on Senior Dave Orner. With the Constitution posted behind the tables, students could admire the writing as well as sign the Mt. Lebanon version of the Constitution.

Months Of Hard Work

Walking down the fine arts hallway everyday, you would see LEBO students hard at work getting prepared for their special winter occasion. The talent and charm of the Mt. Lebanon students could be seen throughout the whole winter season. Junior Allison Unger commented that "the acoustics of the Orchestra concert were amazing and enhanced the quality of our performance." The Orchestra Concert as well as the Concert Band and Jazz Ensemble were held in the auditorium in December. Festive numbers were played to fit the holiday season. The Triple Trio and Chorus Concert was held in the Little Theatre and included a various number of holiday songs and solos. The annual dance daytime was held in January and showed the hard work of the dance class students throughout the whole semester. "It was not only an excuse to get out of class, but also a cool show that I really enjoyed," said Sophomore Katie Kestler.

—Liz Blasi

"It is a pleasure to be involved in activities, such as Triple Trio, where I can share my passion of singing with others."

—Beth Bleil

The auditorium fills with beautiful music, as the Orchestra plays selected pieces as well as holiday classics at their annual concert.

"Fruitcake..." The Triple Trio sings their popular round song, Fruitcake. Various members also sang at the other winter concerts.

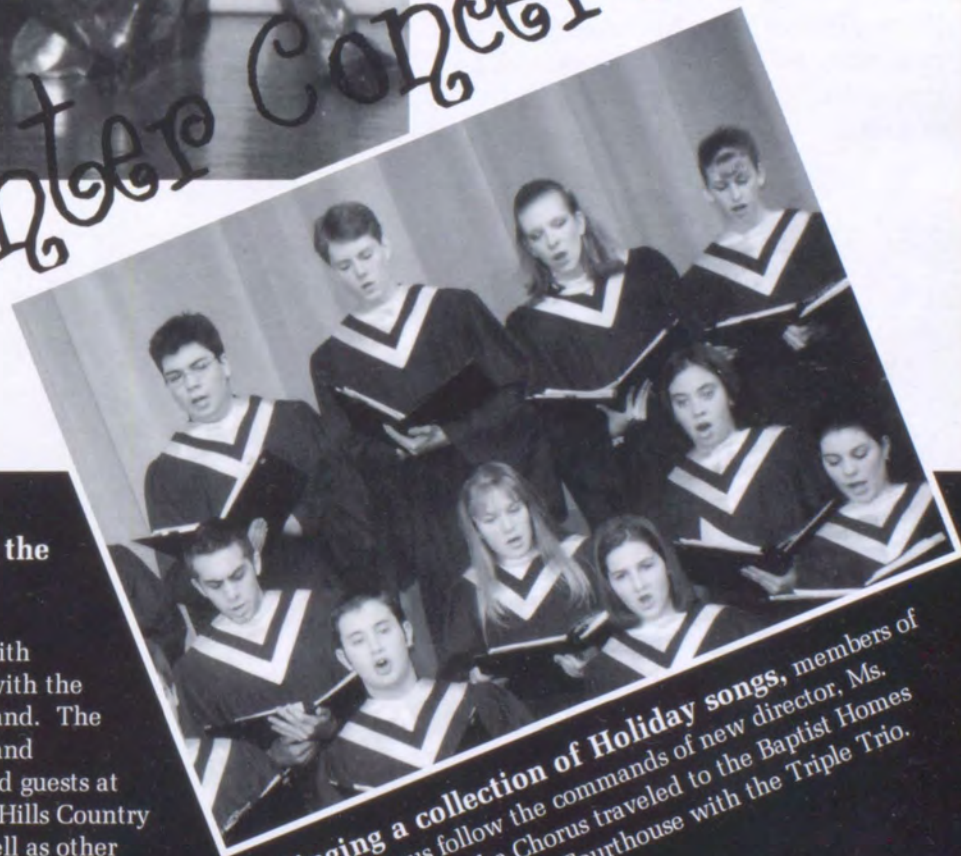

"Mission Impossible" Dance Company members Jen Wilen, Jess Learish, Katie Philson, Julie Brunner, Meghan Godish and Ali Harvey perform the opening Act of the Dance Company daytime.

Jazzing up the Holidays, Ross Freidman and Mark Schnieder play the saxophone. The Jazz Ensemble along with the Concert Band was under the new direction of Mr. Reichenfeld.

Winter Concerts

Keeping the Beat, Katie Klingensmith performs with the Concert Band. The Concert Band entertained guests at the South Hills Country Club as well as other places around the community.

Singing a collection of Holiday songs, members of the Chorus follow the commands of new director, Ms. Palumbo. The Chorus traveled to the Baptist Homes and County Courthouse with the Triple Trio.

Mondays Always Come Too Soon!

Friday! The day that everyone looks forward to and the day when coming to school isn't that painful. The day when students know that in a few short hours the weekend will begin and they will be free of books, teachers and homework. By first period, students are already planning what their Friday and Saturday nights will have in store for them. Sophomore Libby Linville comments, "Weekends give me time to get together with my friends, sleep in late and to put it simply, time to just forget about school." For many, weekends are a time to forget school, but some students still rise early to enter the workplace. Students at Lebo can be seen working at all different jobs, ranging from Panera Bread to Willi's Ski Shop. Friends, work, skiing, road trips, working out, etc..., are all things that Lebo students have to take up the few days that they are off school. It's funny how the week drags on, but the few days of the weekend just fly by. All students though will agree that when Sunday night comes along the thought is that "Mondays always come too soon!"

—Julie Brunner

With purple hair and fancy dance moves,

Jen Wilen, Jess Learish and the rest of the Dance Company Seniors let the crowd know that they're "stronger than yesterday!"

"Light-Up-Brett" Richard Dibella surprises the audience by lighting up Brett Gerson.

Holiday Show '00

"Imagine.. all the controversy" Barak Shpiez makes the yearbook by singing his version of "Imagine /Blister in the Sun."

"Most Likely to win a Grammy" Ian Glinka and Alice Tellers entertain the crowd with "My Favorite Game."

Get into the Holiday Spirit

"As one of the captains of the Varsity Interpretive Dance Squad, I am happy to say that the Holiday Show provided an opportunity for my teammates and me to make our dance debut. It was a beautiful thing to see, just beautiful."

-Emily Caffee

With record numbers of students trying out for the Holiday Show, everyone was sure it would be an outstanding show filled with talent. Yet no one could predict the controversy which would arise when an act was changed at the last minute. For this reason, students will always remember the great performances and the even greater uproar which resulted from the 2001 Holiday Show.

"ABC...It's as easy as 1..2..3.." Shelly Deemer, Jen Bilec and Kim Lackner perform their rendition of the "Jackson Five."

Opening Act 2, Senior Jake Bryant sings "Everything You Want". Helping him perform the popular song were Pat Shaw, Sean Gorman and Jeff Klukas.

Cell Phone Crazy

With Cell phones available in all shapes, sizes and colors, people are able to make a personal fashion statement as well as keep in touch with friends and family. Many of these portable, communication devices have thirty different tones, games and even Internet access. With so many styles, functions and calling plans to choose from, many prospective cell phone owners are left with a tough decision. But it seems as though some Lebo students are up to the challenge of choosing, as the growing number of cellular telephones indicates.

Never out of touch, Senior Melissa Howard uses her cell phone to order pizza for a late night working on the yearbook.

Cell phones, beepers, CD burners and computers seem to be part of the average day here at Mt. Lebanon. Without these technological advances, life as we know it would be quite different. Who hasn't become accustomed to emailing friends at all hours of the day and night, having access to a phone at the snap of a finger, looking up information using the Internet instead of making a trip to the library or downloading music instead of trekking to the music store and spending money? Yet, these conveniences also come with a price: Ringing cell phones during a movie or computers that crash are some of the downsides of modern technology. So before you get too attached to your cell phone or your lap top, remember that there are drawbacks, and that new technology is waiting just around the corner to replace your "modern" conveniences.

Using the Home Row Keys, Sophomore Moira Jones demonstrates proper typing technique during fourth period Keyboarding One. Because of a high student demand, Keyboarding Two was created as a new elective this past year.

Princess Lolli Rules at Snowball in Candyland due to the efforts of Kim Lackner and Meredith Mechenbier who woke up early to help decorate for the dance.

From Queen Frostine to Gloppy, the 2001 Snowball was truly a sweet success. With a lot of help from student artist Pablo de Palacios, volunteers in the Activities Office were able to provide decorative cutouts of Candyland characters. As the students entered the dance, they were each given a candy necklace as a favor. The DJ's video screen was a big hit as Senior Sean Gorman flawlessly pulled off several Michael Jackson moves. Students also enjoyed dancing atop the planters to their favorite hits. As always, the dance concluded with the Senior song, "With A Little Help From My Friends," bringing back memories from their past four years. The dance was a memorable time for everyone, thanks to the efforts of dedicated volunteers who showed up early Saturday morning to lend a hand and transform the Center Court into a scrumptious setting.

Seniors' Last Snowball ends with their Senior Class Song, "With a Little Help From My Friends." Center Court was filled with circles of friends dancing together to conclude the evening.

Bustin' Some Moves,

Sophomores Caitlin Gorman, Lauren Davis, and Alicia Keppler show off their Britney Spears dance moves. Back at the dance by popular demand, DJ Chuck Webb provided music that all students could enjoy. He also brought his video screen that featured the video of the song he was playing.

WHAT'S HOT

Lebo: A Year in Review

Teacher Contracts

Mt. Lebanon students knew the first day of school that the unsettled teacher contract controversy would be a hot issue throughout the 2000-2001 academic year. Even after multiple negotiations, the school board and the teachers' union could not come to an agreement on the issues: Salaries, health care, and a restructured work day. Following a more rigid work day, starting at 7:50 AM and ending at 3:35 PM, teachers eliminated morning tutorial sessions, college recommendations and even web sites created on personal time. As a result, the Blue Ribbon atmosphere of our school was missing, denying Lebo students the Mt. Lebanon they were accustomed to. Students hope that this controversy will become a Not in the 2002 LOG as compromises are made and our Blue Ribbon school is rebuilt.

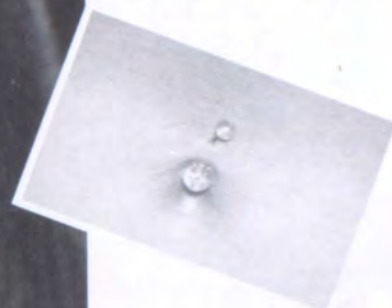

Representing the Senior Class

Senior exchange student Pablo de Palacios has left behind an indelible mark on Mt. Lebanon High School. As the student artist chosen to paint the 2001 Wall Mural, de Palacios has worked tirelessly after school to outline and then paint the four diverse devils representing different types of Mt. Lebanon students. With bold caricatures and color used to create the illusion of three dimensions, de Palacios has crafted a mural which will certainly stand out in "Blue Devil Hall" for years to come.

BODY ART!

Showing off her expression of body piercing, Tara Akins isn't shy about sticking out her tongue. Pierced tongues, belly-buttons, ears, noses, eyebrows and other body parts seem to be a growing trend across the nation. Below, students also show off a tattoo and belly-button ring.

No one wants their life to be boring. They want to get out, have fun, make a difference, learn something new, or do something they've always enjoyed. One way students at Mt. Lebanon fight the dull and boring bug is by participating in the various clubs and organizations here at the school. Whether it be to make a difference within the community, such as with Amnesty International, or to explore nature and its beauty, such as with the Outdoors Club, students feel their need for life and activity fulfilled by the clubs they join.

Clubs make it possible to take part in a variety of activities, from being a senior pledge for Executive Council to carving pumpkins in German Club to even performing an exciting play with Evening Theatre. With all these opportunities, however, most students just want to have fun and be with old friends. In Campus Wave, members say an opening prayer and then they talk and play games. They just want to be around students that have their same views on life and have fun.

No matter what motivates students to join clubs, students most always have memorable experiences and, perhaps, even a new perspective on life.

Junior Dan O'Hanlon practices the tympany for the Percussion Ensembles Holiday Concert. This year the Ensemble also included a small concert at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in their touring schedule.

Beth Bleil serenades the audience with "Someone to Watch Over Me" at the combined Concert Band and Jazz Band concert. Many girls from all musical backgrounds, including theater, orchestra and chorus, auditioned for the one solo part in the concert. This year was one of the first times the Jazz Band has invited soloists to sing the classic jazz tunes. Jazz band members play a variety of instruments, from the traditional saxophone to the not so traditional acoustic guitar, and are invited to play all around the area at malls and churches.

With over fifty percent of the student body involved in the Mt. Lebanon sports programs, competition raged this year just to be on a team. Athletes trained during preseason in the hopes of making the cut to work with teammates and challenge rival school districts. But no one knew at the start of the Fall sports season what incredible achievements could be reached for so many teams.

Two girls and two boys teams won WPIAL titles: Girls Volleyball, Girls Soccer, Boys Cross Country and Boys Football. In addition, the Girls Volleyball team went on to capture the PIAA title, beating Conestoga Valley in three games. Junior Shawn Cavanaugh ran to WPIAL victory in Cross Country for the second time, and took first place in the PIAA.

With so many outstanding finishes, Lebo sports have a lot to be proud of. And for those competing in Winter sports, the bar had been set precariously high, challenging Basketball, Swimming, Rifle, Wrestling and Hockey teams to live up to the standards set by Fall athletes. With high expectations and determination, Lebo teams made you strive and continued to give other schools a tough rival that never quit!

JUST BARS

Beginning in August and ending Memorial Day Weekend, the Marching Blue Devils' season does not simply encompass performing at high school football games. In August, the infamous Band Camp occurs and practices drag on in the late summer heat. This helps to prepare the band members for some of the season, including shows for several band festivals, parades and, the always enjoyable, half-time performances at Lebo football games. Furthermore, the band holds mandatory practices once a week in addition to separate ensemble rehearsals. Deborah Richardson, a sophomore flutist, comments, "Even though the practices are tedious and the uniforms are uncomfortable, the 'Reichenfeld-isms' are hilarious and make the experience worth it." After fundraising all year, the Band embarks on an annual trip. This year, the Marching Blue Devils will travel to Norfolk and Williamsburg, Virginia, where they will participate in a band competition. Finally, the season culminates in the Memorial Day Parade and members are rewarded with Varsity letters. Rain or shine, heat or snow, the band marches on. - Robyn Pearlstein

"We love the band. They're like our family; we have our differences at times, but, in the end, we pull through to perform at our best and we have a really good time in the process."

he Silks and Rockettes had a wonderful season. This year there were many changes, on and off the field for both squads. Off the field, we welcomed a new band director and two new sponsors. On the field, the Rockettes used scarves for the second show and the Silks had several flag changes. The most obvious change though was the new sequined uniforms. None of the changes would have been possible without the enthusiasm and leadership of Silk captains Meredith Mechenbier and Jill Schiffman and Rockette captains Megan Bedell and Kayla Villa. All worked hard to ensure that one aspect did not change, the tradition of excellence. To keep the high standard, both squads practiced throughout the summer, for two weeks in August and several practices during the week for the duration of the season. All the hard work has definitely paid off.

"Despite the many changes that took place in the marching band this year, the Rockettes worked very hard and had a great season. I was proud to be a captain of such a talented squad."
- Megan Bedell

"This year has been a huge transition for the silks. Everyone's hard work and dedication paid off. We had a awesome time and we were impressed by our success this season."

Lebo pride, let it show! Yell 'Devils' when we say 'Go!' Our school's cheerleaders prove their school pride beyond any expectations. With one of the longest seasons of the year, starting in late August and ending in March, the girls flip, dance, and cheer about four days a week. Supporting fall and winter girls and boys sports, the cheerleaders entice the crowd to recognize our teams through creative cheers and stunts. Demonstrated through dedication and motivation, Lebo's cheerleaders have earned their title as a reputable sport.

"Throughout our years cheerleading, we feel that we've all grown to become a really close squad, especially now that we're seniors. We've been able to see each individual's personality through our time cheering."
- Marcy Tischuk

The Varsity Cheerleaders show their enthusiasm and support as Lebo is about to score another touchdown at Three Rivers Stadium during the WPIAL Semifinals game. The following week they returned to cheer the boys onto the WPIAL championship victory.

The crew season is an all year-round sport. In the fall, the teams race against the clock but in the spring races are against other boats. The spring races are sprints, which are usually two thousand meters long. The fall races are usually two to three miles long.

This season the Mt. Lebanon Girls Crew team exceeded many expectations by taking home more gold medals than in previous years. This year there were five seniors on the team. Despite the delay caused by the downpour at the Head of the Cuyahoga Regatta, four boats came home with first place medals. One boat took home second place also. Many of the races at the Head of the Ohio had troubles because of heavy winds and waves. After three boats capsized, the race was cancelled. At the Head of the Speakmon, the Women's Four came in eighth place out of twenty-four boats.

attling Mother Nature and physical strain, the Boys Crew team successfully survived their fall season. Besides the time commitment, Crew required much physical effort and conditioning at early hours and after school. The team was lead and strengthened by the presence of seven seniors, including captains Drew Navikas and Tom Koester. A crew team motto was llewoapon, or determination, a cry used by the ancient Inca people before battle. This same drive and sincerity was present within all of our rowers this season, which, aside from extraordinary coaching by Brian Somer, made the season one to remember. Sophomore Mike Dunbar remembers the season fondly, stating, "It was great, except for the fact that nearly every regatta was less a race than it was a battle against hypothermia." After four successful regattas in the fall season, everyone's looking forward to an even better spring!

— Mike Dunbar

"Since the Cuyahoga wasn't on fire this year it turned out to be the best regatta of the fall season."

Then with their new coach, Joe Lemley, the girls worked intensely all the way into October finishing third in their section and ninth in the WPIALs. Despite the loss of Senior runner Lauren Evans, the team did a magnificent job. Kellie Costello explains, "Running Cross Country for 6 years taught me lessons I would never have learned anywhere else."

believe in the team and the team believes in me" cheered the Varsity Boys Cross Country team before each meet. "Another team motto this year was 'I run best when I run free'", Junior Mike Levy recalls. The team had an incredible season, winning every single meet during the regular season and qualifying for States. They dominated both home and away. They won every invitational, which consisted of about fifty teams competing, as well as all dual meets, when three teams competed against each other. The boys won WPIALs and came in seventh place at States. Shawn Cavanaugh came in first place at States. The boys team had two seniors this year: Noah Wolf and Joe Wildfire. Waking up early in the summer to run, paying close attention to their diets, and various other preparations for the season certainly paid off for our Lebo Cross Country boys.

his year's field hockey season let our Mt. Lebanon girls really show their stuff. The Mt. Lebanon team gave WPIAL teams such as Ellis, Winchester Thurston, Upper St. Clair, and Fox Chapel a run for their money. The girls tied with Upper St. Clair, went overtime with Winchester Thurston, and had numerous other close calls. Furthermore, everyone on the team made significant improvements to their stick handling skills and game strategies. They greatly improved their skills as a team for sure. Not only did they hone their skills, they had a great deal of fun as well. Activities such as the car wash and pizza fundraisers made the teammates bond. Everyone made wonderful friendships and had some good laughs." This season was a lot of fun and everyone on our team got a lot better," added Joanie Flake.

"We hope to become WPIAL contenders next season and will do everything we can to earn the status."

- Lindsey McDonough

Under head coach Dawn Begor, the Girls Volleyball team has been among the top in the state for the past five years. After placing second for two consecutive years, they set a high goal for this season and with determination they finished the regular season with a 13-1 record.

The highlight of the year, however, was placing first in the WPIAL and first in the State. By beating Conestoga Valley in two games, 15-8 and 15-10, the girls captured the second state title in four years. "The feeling of winning it all was great," exclaimed Junior Rebecca Gawronski. "We worked hard all season, and it was nice to end this way!"

Superstitions played a part in the victories. By doing the same things before each game, success seemed like a given. Zoomi-Zoomi and "The Pony Game" helped girls warm up and connect before each match.

- Kaleena Walters

"Winning WPIALs and States made all of us realize that our hard work and dedication paid off."

Uncredible is the first word which comes to mind when describing the Girls Soccer team. With an overall record of 27-0-1, the Lady Blue Devils proved that they indeed know how to dribble, pass, and not only shoot, but also SCORE!

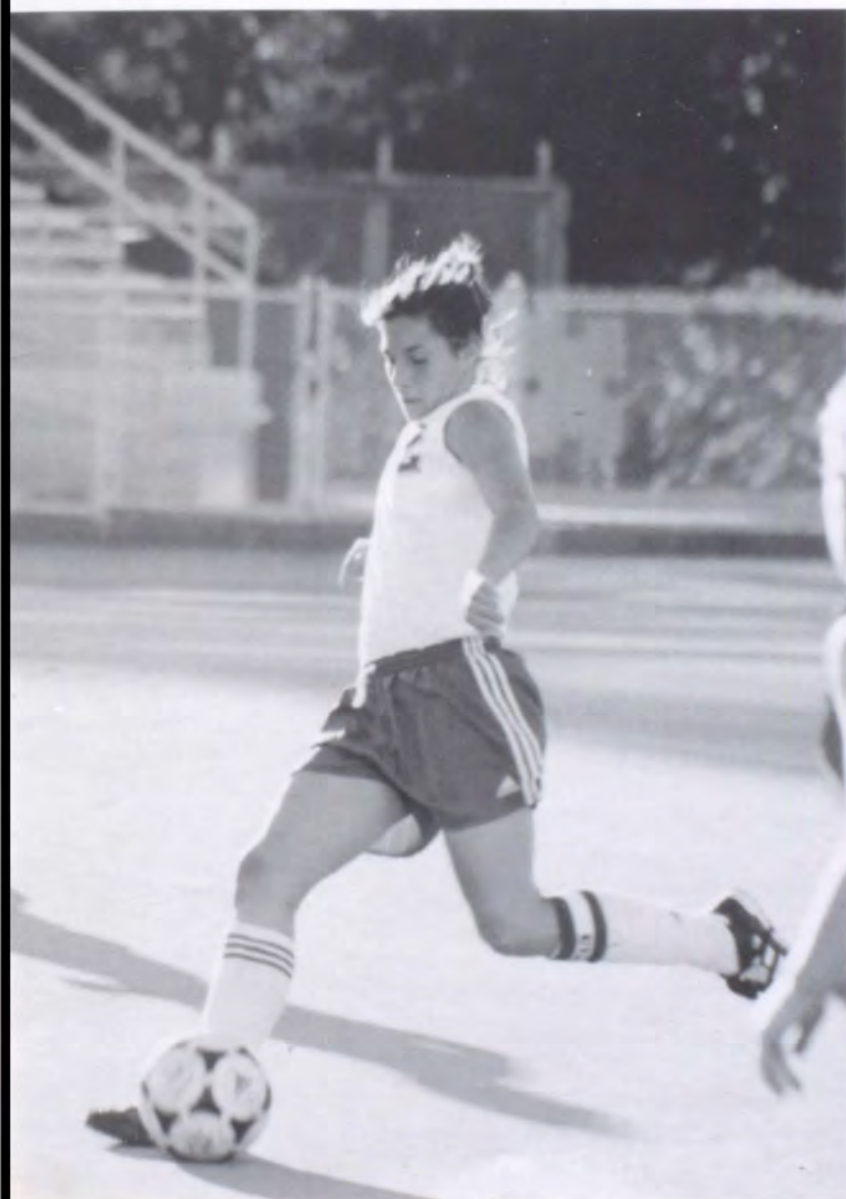

During the past two years, the girls have played in every possible soccer game available to teams in PA. And after last year's Cinderella season, the girls were determined to make a return to the State finals and reverse the results of last year. Taking each step of the way one game at a time, the girls persevered to knock off opponents and capture a WPIAL title and represent Western PA in the State finals.

"Everyone has worked so hard since preseason and finally this year our hard work and determination paid off with a WPIAL gold medal. All the girls have reached remarkable accomplishments this year, especially with an undefeated record!"

Coach Ron Wilcher led the talented boys team to a record of 12-6-2. The team also qualified for the State playoffs. The Junior Varsity squad also had an excellent year, finishing with an outstanding record of 14-1-2.

Girls Blue Devil Tennis dominated this year, making it all the way to WPIAL Finals against their long time rivals, Upper St.Clair. They had a great season, defeating teams such as Peters Township and Bethel Park. The team's success was due to the great instruction of coach Dave Shenefelt and the hard work of the players. A longer preseason enabled the team to prepare better for the competitive season. The tennis team is a combination of both singles and doubles matches. While singles requires a strong mental game, doubles requires good communication and trust between partners. The dynamic duo of Amy Schmidt and Michelle Santoro carried Mt. Lebanon to the WPIAL Doubles semi-finals. The girls' hard work paid off this year.

"Golf is very different from other sports because we really enjoy meeting and playing people from other teams", commented Senior Lara Minster. After every away match, they carry on the tradition of singing our Alma Mater.

My favorite part of the golf team was being able to get to know our competitors. We played them and were able to share stories and make friends from other schools.

MT. LEBANON

Another nail-biting Mt. Lebanon Boys Golf season had passed. The Blue Devils started the season strong with a big home win against the notoriously tough Bethel Park team. In addition to that win, they also tallied one of the all-time lowest Mt. Lebanon scores of 182 to defeat Keystone Oaks. Two tough losses to Upper St. Clair by four strokes and Baldwin by two strokes set the Blue Devils back. Senior Tim Geiger stated, "We played good golf, but we were devastated by the two losses to Upper St. Clair and Baldwin". Senior Colin Gray was able to advance to the WPIAL Finals and Junior Chad Kosanovic advanced to the WPIAL Semifinals. Next year our Blue Devils will lose six seniors, four of which were starters. The Blue Devils' average score was 197.8 and they finished the season with fifteen wins and only four losses.

Blue Devil Basketball became very familiar with the term "Nothin' But Net" this season. Senior captains Tyler Bluemling, Brad Kitlowski, and Tim Loughran led the team to numerous victories. To many Lebo students, the games against our arch rival, Upper St. Clair, were the highlight of the season. Both games were a matter of baskets made at the buzzer. During the home game, which was also Senior Recognition Night, Tyler Bluemling scored a three-point basket at the buzzer to lead the team into overtime. Tim Loughran scored another three-point basket at the overtime buzzer to win the memorable game.

t's Monday morning, 6 a.m., and while the majority of students are asleep and in bed for another hour, the Mt. Lebanon girls swimming and diving teams are beginning their warm up laps. The team had an undefeated season this year, including an upset to arch rival Bethel Park. The 2001 swim team truly gave meaning to the word teamwork, for swimmers from every grade qualified for WPIALs. The girls were under the strong leadership of senior captains Allie Fitz, Lauren Kmec, Hannah Kulic and Emily Schwing. These seniors played a tremendous role in team spirit. In swimming, it is very important to support your teammates during their races. Knowing that your team is behind you all the way can mean the difference between a first place and a second place. The girls are very excited to enter the championship season. They are predicted to win states after their extremely successful season.

With many new Freshmen and strong Senior leadership, the boys swim team had a spectacular season. This year, the captains were Seniors Matt Simone, John Valentine, Sebastian Hesse and Davoud Esmaili. In addition to these swimmers, Senior divers Hall Carlough and Giles Augustine, each qualified for the WPIAL diving meet and greatly helped the boys team this season. The boys are joined by many other WPIAL swimmers in a variety of events. Practicing three to four days a week before school and six afternoons per week, the success did not come without hard work. In addition, many of the swimmers and divers practice in the off-season with a club. As the boys head into the championship season, which consists of WPIALs and States, they are swimming fast and ready to win.

Hard practices that contained intense skill training and running proved to be the key to the Blue Devil's victories. Team unity and strict diets also shaped the season into one that placed them 6th in their section. Rob Truesdell is currently ranked fourth in the WPIAL. As well as team success, the individual victories allowed many wrestlers to achieve recognition. The team gained 2nd place in the Woodland Hills Tournament due much to the success of Senior captains Drew McMinn and Rob Truesdell, Sophomore Sam Carp and Junior Dan Isadore who all placed high in the tournament.

Social Studies instructor John Canning smiles proudly next to a sign at the CANNING TOWN Underground station in London, England. Sponsor of the annual trip to Europe, he is a regional and world historian who provides his students with firsthand experiences revolving around the curriculum.

With 176 different courses to choose from, Lebo students are faced with a mind-boggling dilemma. Students must meet graduation requirements including 43 credits in 8 specific areas: English, Mathematics, Science, Social Studies, Arts/Humanities, Health, Physical Education and Electives. In selecting courses, students must also consider which courses appeal to their specific interests. This becomes even more challenging when, due to the demands of industry and society, new courses are added to the Course Selection Guide. For the first time students are able to enroll in courses such as Japanese 1 and Media Literacy. In addition, courses such as Financial Accounting are revamped to incorporate new software and offer students college credit. The quest to earn college credits while still in high school is a motivating factor for many students when planning a schedule for the upcoming year. With 14 AP courses and numerous classes where college credit is granted upon successful completion of the course, students are provided with even more options. And if all of these considerations made you think before you even took the course, then just think what the course itself will make you do!

Satire Meets Lebo

The four satire teachers in the English Department sponsored a Satirical Costume Contest on Halloween. Students could earn bonus points for dressing up, but they were required to incorporate a satirical technique such as irony or exaggeration. Implied social criticism also was a plus. The students met in the cafeteria before school for judging and prizes. Some of the entrants included Laura Ely as a teacher in a fur coat carrying a sign that read "underpaid"; Katie Philson and Courney Barrett as a students in tattered clothes with $100 price tags attached; Michelle Meredith in a business suit wearing a sign that read, "Vote for me, I invented Satire"; Liz Blasi as an exaggerated soccer mom; Lindsay Michael as a human blue ribbon; and Greg Battaglia in a chicken costume wearing a sign that read, "Vote for me. I am more colorful than my opponent."

Senior Lee Robinson dresses as Moses to satirize The Ten Commandments as seen through the eyes of Modern America. Specific Commandments worthy of attention: thou shalt not worship other gods, only celebrities; keep the Sabbath Holy, except during Football Season; thou shalt not commit adultery and get caught while in office.

Stopping Extinction One Penny At A Time

For over a decade, Mrs. Zappa's anthropology students have collected money to be donated to the Diane Fossey Foundation. Their main goal is to help protect the African mountain gorillas from being poached by hunters for their meat, hands, and even their heads. Students therefore volunteer to raise money to be donated to this fund in an effort to educate the local people and stop the poaching expeditions. So, the next time an anthropology student approaches chiming the familiar phrase, "Would you like to help save the mountain gorillas?" empty the change from your pocket and smile at the realization that you will be helping to save a nonviolent, yet endangered species.

-Kathryn Cooperstein

After raising over $700, Mrs. Zappa's seventh period anthropology class is rewarded with a pizza party for collecting the most money.

Teachers Interesting Techniques

When students head to their world language classes, they can be sure of one thing: Their teachers always have some unique activity or gimmick to help them learn new vocabulary or grammar. The offbeat methods of the world language department are at times nothing short of crazy, yet students always look forward to them. "After being in class with M. McGov, I have become superstitious before taking a test. Without a good luck kiss from the chicken, I am always a little more nervous," states Sophomore Theresa Harvey.

At the start of a French exam, Monsieur McGovern walks la poulet de bonne chance (aka the chicken of good luck) around the room to give testing students un bisou (a kiss).

I really like this year in French because we gain a foundation for future years by understanding the language and not just translating from English to French.

-K.J. Steiner

What makes you stick with a world language?

I love the thrill of becoming fluent in a foreign language and learning about a different culture.

Sophomore Art Student Designs Stadium Tile

With the opening of a new football stadium in Pittsburgh, Mt. Lebanon students has something more to cheer about than football. Lebo sophomore Quyen Nguyen was chosen out of all of her fellow 2-D art students to create one of only sixty ceramic tile murals that will be displayed in the new football stadium. Mt. Lebanon High School was selected to participate in the competition because it had won a WPIAL Conference Title. When choosing her mural, Quyen incorporated our Mount Lebanon football team, the Steelers and the city of Pittsburgh. The final, winning design slated for completion in March features a Pittsburgh skyline, a Blue Devil helmet and the Steeler logo.

-Amy Pivak

Sophomore Quyen Nguyen works on her mosaic during Mr. Pelusi's 7th period art class. Her design, made up of multiple tiles, can be viewed by all art lovers during the first Steeler game held in the new stadium in 2001. Three Rivers Stadium, home to the Steelers and the Pirates from 1970 - 2000, was imploded on Sunday, February 11, 2001.

MOLE DAY

Students Celebrate Chemistry

Is it devotion or desperation that drags chemistry students to school at 6:02 am to compete in the molelympics and eat Tootsie Moles in the cold, dark morning hours of October 23rd? Maybe a little of both. Offering bonus points as incentives, chemistry teachers encourage students to attend the annual celebration of Amadeo Avogadro's creation of the mole concept. In 1811, the college science professor determined that a mole is equal to 6.02×10^{23} atoms. In the early 1980s, a high school chemistry instructor wrote an article to The Science Teacher magazine telling other teachers how she thought creating a chemistry - oriented holiday could increase interest in science. Eight years later on May 15, 1991, the National Mole Day Foundation was born. Mole Day, which starts on October 23 at 6:02 am and lasts until 6:02 pm, is primarily celebrated in the U.S, Canada and Australia.

Learning the Business

Today's Students, Tomorrow's Entrepreneurs

Though relatively new to Mt. Lebanon curriculum, Entrepreneurship is growing in popularity among students. Unlike traditional math classes, Entrepreneurship builds a basic foundation of economics and financial procedures for those who may want to major in business and eventually start their own business. In Mrs. Roger's class, she stresses the importance in persistence, self-confidence and planning goals in order to build a successful business.

Baby Think It Over

Students Learn To Appreciate Parenting

Picture relentless screaming, dirty diapers, and no help to be found, all on a saturday night. Sounds like fun, right? This is what teenage parents deal with every day. New programs to discourage teenage pregnancy have been springing up in schools all across the nation. At Mt. Lebanon, Mrs. Silver's Child Development 1 students are given the opportunity to take care of a baby doll for a weekend. Now, you may think, "Oh, it's just a doll, no big deal." However, these are high-tech dolls! The first type, Baby Think It Over, has a computer chip that causes the baby to cry at any time, day or night. To soothe it, a key must be placed in the baby's back until the crying stops. The second doll, the Real Care Baby, simulates crying, hunger, wetness or fussiness. In order to quiet this baby, you need to learn the cries and cater to each need. Caring for the baby is an extremely positive learning experience because it lets students know how stressful, time-consuming, and socially inhibiting parenting is.

Before the start of the 2000-2001 school year, each Lebo student's household received a student handbook with an attached notice specifying new Phys. Ed. procedures. The most surprising change was the elimination of the two sit-out allowance per semester. Some students really miss their sit-outs while others didn't know they existed. How do you feel about the new Phys. Ed. policies?

We were told sit-outs are supposedly too much paper work for teachers, but now kids are failing for forgetting their gym clothes two times. If teachers are here for summer gym, then it can't save them much work.

Welcome Back Olympic Gold Medalist Kurt Angle Returns to Lebo

It is not everyday that an Olympic Gold Medalist comes from your state, let alone your community high school! But here at Mt. Lebanon, we are honored to call Olympic Gold Medalist Kurt Angle a Mt. Lebanon Alumnus. In order to dedicate a "Wall of Champions" Showcase to Angle, he visited the high school on the evening of January 31st at the Varsity Wrestling Match. He was presented with an award by Athletic Director John Grogan and Wrestling Coordinator John Hnath and spoke to Lebo fans and parents. He stayed for the match, signed autographs and took pictures with the fans. While signing autographs, his Olympic Gold Medal and WWF Champion Belt were on display. His showcase features highlights of his WPIAL, State, College, World and Olympic career.

Health Aides Offer Comfort

In the course of a normal day students have little spare time outside of lunch. It's even more surprising then that some students choose to sacrifice those precious 47 minutes to help Mrs. Joseph in the Health Office. Students get ice for sprains, take temperatures, pull medical cards and file necessary documents. In rare cases health office aides have even demonstrated how to use the eye wash. Junior Jenna White finds volunteering "worthwhile, because you get to talk to different people." To be chosen as an aid, students in all four grades are required to be trustworthy, calm during emergencies and not afraid of blood.

Congratulations to the Class of 2001. With the yearbook theme being "Made You Look," I believe that the Class of 2001 has potential to make many people "Look" at the accomplishments you will achieve during your lifetime. As we enter this new millennium, I trust that the skills you have gained through your educational ventures taught by an outstanding staff with support from your family will pay great dividends in the future. I wish you well in all your future endeavors.

Mt. Lebanon students always make people look. Again this year, you made people look at your superior academic performance, your outstanding athletic accomplishments, your superb musical and literary talents, your generosity and your service to others and your excellence in every arena you enter. I hope that the experiences and people you encountered at Mt. Lebanon High School made you look also. I hope we made you look into yourself to discover new goals and the strength to achieve them. I hope we made you look at and respect the diverse qualities of all people around you. Finally, I hope we made you look at the wonder of the world and the unique contribution you can make to our future.

The People section of the LOG is solely devoted to the heart of Mt. Lebanon High School; the students. Despite the massive student body totaling 1885, Mt. Lebanon is home to friendly smiles, helping hands and a never-ending schedule of bonding social events. Throughout the school year, each class develops its own personality with fundraisers, performances and community service projects.

Unlike others in the past, the Freshman Class is the first in many years to have to learn a new building on their first day of school. The upperclassmen, though, do not overly intimidate the Freshman as they expected, but offer them advice on how to get around. The Sophomore Class, known for their Penny Wars fundraiser, continue to mesh determination with the Lebo Spirit to create a unique personality for the Class of 2003. With only one more year at Mt. Lebanon, the Juniors maintain their caring spirit with increased community service. The Senior Class of 2001 successfully keeps tradition alive by reviving the Halloween Door Decorating contest and Senior Pledge Day.

As the first class to have never attended the high school prior to ninth grade, the Freshmen have the unenviable position of trying to find their way around, follow new rules and face intimidating upperclassmen. And along with all of that, ninth graders also tackle new academic challenges and increased opportunities for clubs and sports. With all of this going on, Freshmen still find time to smile and enjoy their first steps into their high school career.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore year is viewed by many as the least stressful high school year. Tenth graders are thankful to no longer be the "little freshmen" at the high school, but at the same time they do not face the academic pressures of their upper-class peers. Sophomores also gain new freedom with driving privileges and increased social opportunities.

JUNIORS

Junior year is one of extreme pressure and long hours. The greatest time commitment of all grades is given by eleventh graders, who are required to test during numerous mornings when other students are allowed to sleep in. In addition, Juniors are faced with more standardized tests than any others. Yet Juniors are resilient when it comes to dealing with stress. For example, when facing the rising costs of formal dances, Junior girls have found a solution: By holding a dress swap, ladies were able to attend formals in "new" gowns while keeping costs down.

Stuffed with pillows, Junior girls Lela Dewey, Jess Barson, Shannon Bodamer, Casey Gray, Caitlin Adams, Amanda Mitchell and Lauren Moore dress as sumo-wrestlers.

Weekend plans keep Juniors Ty Matragas, Erika Steckmeyer, Jenna Sunseri, Kiersten Rosenberg and Jeff Friedrich busy. Juniors find that weekends give them a break from school work and stress.

Taking a break from her Broadway debut, Liz Polk gets ready to take notes in Pre-Calculus class. Halloween gave students in all grades a chance to dress up and make the school day more interesting.

Juniors On The Run!

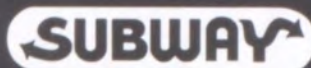

53%

Busy Junior students never have time to sit down and have a "healthy, well-balanced meal." Instead they often eat on the run. What food places are Juniors favorites? Surveying 80 students we found out that Wendy's was the place that you would find most Juniors on the run!

made you remember

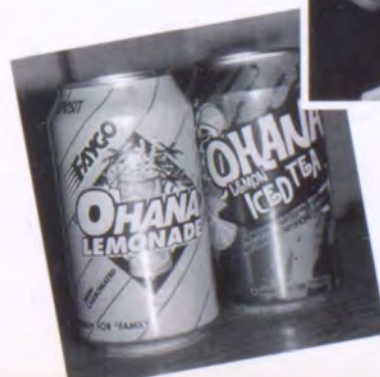

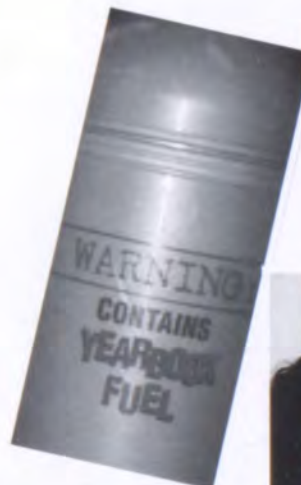

Throughout the past two semesters, we have tried to capture the most exciting, hilarious and meaningful memories of the 2000 - 2001 school year. The pictures, stories, quotes and surveys which grace these pages were compiled and displayed with a conscious intent to make this volume of the LOG more personal for all students at Mt. Lebanon. In switching to new publishing software, we were able to create modern, polished layouts which reflect professional publication spreads seen in popular magazines. In addition, the new software allowed for sharper processing of our pictures, evident in the crisp photographs despite low light or high action. We also tried to incorporate more human interest features and student opinions through pages devoted to outstanding Blue Devils and polls about fast food preferences. And if in doing so, we made you look, then we achieved our goal and produced a better yearbook in the process.

Acknowledgments

Creating the 2001 LOG was a long journey full of challenges and required much time and dedication from everyone who helped. I WOULD LIKE TO THANK... First and foremost, our Taylor Yearbook Representative Dorothy Albright for her enthusiasm and expertise, which helped us to perfect every page of the book; Ms. Grasso for always providing us with Ohana iced tea, for always dealing with the honkin' stooges and for getting pictures of German polka day. Thanks for everything: Karlyn for knowing everyone in the school and being able to spell their names, for the refrigerator and for her dedication almost everyday after school; Katie for getting new people involved and her communication with school athletes to make the sports section unique; Diane for her eye-catching layouts and knowing everyone in the her grade; Shelly for always being there to help and always having a quote about everything; Scott for all his sharp action photos and for cleaning up the photography table by taking back all his pictures; Amy for using her organizational skills and creativity to piece together miscellaneous pages and jobs; Drew for bringing a serious side to the yearbook; Gina for creating clever body copies and captions; Mrs. Rogers for setting up our data base and organizing our finances; Robyn & Ellyse for all their help; Custodians and Maintenance for dealing with out messy office; Michael Good for Academic pictures; Mr. Batchelor for team pictures; Athletic Office Staff for always providing us with stats and coach info; Bill Miller for photocopying our proofs; everyone else on LOG staff and those who submitted photos.

Colophon

The 71st Edition of the Lebanon LOG was printed and bound by Taylor Publishing Company in Malvern, Pennsylvania. New Taylor software, Elite Vision, allowed for greater flexibility in design and font selection, including X-Files and Angelica in the Student Life section, Youngstar in the Sports section, Ballardvale for captions and Jester for quotes. Enhanced photo quality was achieved through Ultra digital picture-perfect processing and the incredible shots captured by student photographers. Layouts became less traditional as they contained more feature stories, lead-ins and specially-designed pages, while still adhering to journalistic publication standards. Four color was used in 32 pages of the Senior section and in 16 pages of the Student Life section. The Sports section was highlighted with the spot colors Sapphire Blue14 and Gold90. Inserted after the last page, 232, is the Yearzine of current events from 2000-2001, followed by an eight page autograph section. The book is bound in 3/4 matte over gold and 1/4 sapphire blue with mylar laminate over four color photographs.

Letter from the Editors:

The publication of the Mt. Lebanon LOG truly would not have been possible for the past two years without our advisor, Ms. Peg Grasso. Her unrelenting dedication and encouragement have been the driving forces in the production and success of the LOG. Coming into the LOG office in the 1999 school year as a brand new adviser, a huge task was placed in front of her. This task, though, seemed to be completed with ease, as she guided the production of a PSPA First Place yearbook in her first year as adviser. Every day, Ms. Grasso is faced with numerous, often recurring tribulations that she overcomes to help make our yearbook memorable. Her keen communication skills, creativity and intelligence work hand in hand with Taylor Publishing Company, so that we can shape a yearbook that captures Mt. Lebanon High School. She commits countless hours of her time to perfect each and every page of the LOG. It is this dedication that has allowed this 2001 LOG to be selected by Taylor Publishing Company as a "Sample Yearbook" across the country. Between working over the summer and coming into the school on both weekends and holidays, Ms. Grasso has truly sacrificed so much for our yearbook. We wanted to take this opportunity to acknowledge and appreciate the vast amounts of time, work and energy that Ms. Grasso has invested into the LOG. Most importantly, though, we wanted to thank her for not only being our adviser, but also our friend. Her constant humor and caring friendship have made being part of the Yearbook Staff a memorable and unparalleled experience that we will always remember. Thank You.

What a golden year for sports.

Michael Johnson won two gold medals in the 400 meter and 4 x 400 meter relay in the Sydney Olympics.
(Must have been the shoes.)

Multiple medals also went to Maurice Green and to Marion Jones, who took home three gold and two bronze.

She's the first woman to win five medals in one Olympics.

Tiger Woods did it again.
And again.
And again.

As the PGA Tour Player of the year, he placed first in tournament after tournament, including the U.S. Open, the British Open and the PGA Championship.

The golden girls of soccer settled for silver in Sydney.

Under a Shaq attack.

Shaquille O'Neal, with Kobe Bryant, shot the Lakers to victory against the Indiana Pacers in the NBA finals.

GAME SET MATCH

Lance rules. Armstrong

conquered the Alps and silenced cynics, winning his second consecutive Tour de France.

His comeback from cancer makes him a double role model, to athletes and cancer patients alike.

The "Subway Series" made baseball big news.

For the first time in 44 years the New York Yankees and the New York Mets went head to head at the World Series.

New York came out on top.
(As in Yankees.)

The Williams sisters

continued to take the tennis world by storm. Rivals on opposite sides of the net, they're unstoppable as partners.

Venus topped a stellar year with wins at Wimbledon and the U.S. Open.

She took the gold at the Sydney Olympics in singles, and paired with Serena to take the gold in doubles as well.

It wasn't in the stars.
The New Jersey Devils took the Stanley Cup back from the Dallas Stars after their nail-biting double overtime victory in game six.

D-FENSE!

The Baltimore Ravens extraordinary defense gave them the edge and a 34-7 win over the New York Giants in Super Bowl XXXV.

What goes around comes around.

Look behind the technology hype and you're sure to find recycled trends.

Oh, the irony.

It's the 70s all over again.

Large tinted lenses make for look-at-me sunglasses and disco-era hairstyles return with "wings" and feathered bangs reminiscent of Farrah Fawcett's famous locks.

A new twist is the bright burst of hair color, maybe a leftover from the punk and glam rock resurgence last year.

STATE OF COOL REFRESH

A rhinestone belt holds up your denims? Glittery studs on your faded jeans?

Totally.

England's Prince William took a "gap year" before college, following his mother's example of service and humanitarianism.

His volunteer and environmental work in Chile shows that the man who will be king is a true prince of hearts.

For the guys, the mop top is back with the "shag" hairstyle.

The bed-head hairstyles of Ricky Martin and Kevin of the Backstreet Boys is typical of the macho look many stars like.

Leather whatever.

Leather is everywhere. Leather pants. Leather boots.

Everything else sparkles and shines.

We heard lots of wedding bells.

Two Backstreet Boys got hitched, Madonna married her Guy.

Catherine Zeta-Jones wed Michael Douglas, and Jennifer and Brad tied the knot.

Caution. Heavy traffic ahead.

As in new millennium traffic. It seems like the more info there is, the harder it is to be informed. Technology promises a bright new age but it's still hard to communicate.

Some things never change.

The Pope journeyed to the Holy Land and prayed for peace, while conflicts between Israelis and Palestinians raged.

Allegedly linked to the unrest, the USS Cole was bombed off the coast of Yemen. This year we remember with honors entertainer Steve Allen, actors Walter Matthau, Jason Robards, and Alec Guinness.

SO WHERE ARE WE?

WHAT'S NEW?

And the nation waited 36 days for the drama of the 43rd presidential election to unfold.

Another first. After court battles and recounts,

Florida's 25 electoral votes were finally awarded to Texas governor George W. Bush in the closest presidential race in history. In another dramatic sequence of events, tensions between U.S. and Cuba rose over the custody battle of 6-year-old Elian Gonzalez who was finally reunited with his father and sent back to Cuba amid anti-Castro protests.

Crash. Technology and music went head to head, as 19-year-old

Napster co-founder Shawn Fanning battled the music industry over copyright usage of downloaded music.

Firestone tires exploded on highways across the nation forcing one of the largest recalls in history.

Hillary Clinton stepped out of the White House and into the U.S. Senate, a first.

Television gives a crash course in life lessons.

The nation tuned in to see who would be voted out in this summer's biggest smash "Survivor".

The ultimate Survivor, Richard Hatch, beat all odds in order to outlast his island mates.

ANYTHING 'ON'?

In shows like "Roswell" and "Angel," to survive means getting rid of the bad guys.

They showed that we all experience feelings of alienation, but we are not alone.

In fact, putting up with siblings, family issues and struggling to "find ourselves" are common denominators for us all.

This year, we saw cable lines not only enhance television but surfing speed and e-commerce as well.
