Under the Big

The Log staff took to clowning to put over their sales campaign.

Ways and means workers provided refreshments for hungry fans.

Top

The camera surprised these dreaming couples at the Prom.

At Christmas our halls echoed with old carols.

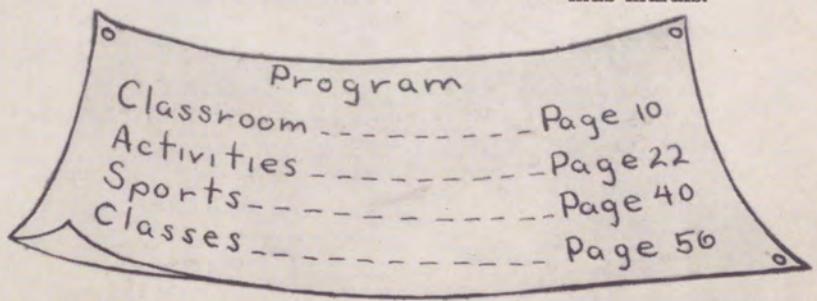

Step right up and get a sizzling hot dog that is strictly fresh.

Most popular place between 12:00 and 1:00 was the cafeteria.

Master artists decorate the lobby with gay Christmas murals.

SCHOOL BOARD

FRONT: Mr. Elmer S. Stanier, Treasurer; Miss Miriam Headley, Secretary; Mr. A. C. Millan, President; Mrs. Donald C. Lewis; Mr. Otis C. Hogsett, Vice President. BACK: C. F. Mellinger; Mr. R. M. Gill; Miss Esther Whinnie, Secretary; Mr. Beckley Smith; Mr. Raymond B. Hecht; Mr. Edward H. Buck; Miss Bertha Walp, Secretary; Mr. R. D. Horsman; Mr. Samuel A. Schreiner, Solicitor.

Mr. Mellinger, Asst. Supt. (Administration), Mr. Horsman, Supt., Mr. Gill, Asst. Supt. (Instruction) discuss building plans.

Mr. Horsman and faculty seem to be enjoying the mid-semester luncheon prepared for them by the mothers of the P.T.A.

of Many School Improvements

ADMINISTRATION

Our administration is the very brain of Mt. Lebanon's schools, for it is the controlling force of every part of our school system.

This year was building year, as far as our superintendents and the school board were concerned, for these administrators saw the results of their efforts when ten rooms and a gym were added to Howe and surfaced play areas graced both Howe and Lincoln. Foster received a new second floor and the plans for the new Moffitt Street School were finished.

In our own school we saw the stadium completed, a storage house built, a rifle range, new baseball field and quarter-mile track started, and the home economics suite given a complete face-lifting.

For our principal, Mr. Keifer, and for faculty alike, this was a red letter year as it marked another evaluation of our high school. As the last term sped steadily toward a close, it seemed one of accomplishment for us all, thanks to our diligent administrators.

A chat with Mr. Keifer between classes.

ADVISORY COUNCIL

Mrs. Cargill, Mr. Keifer, Miss Ion, Miss Rightmire, Ann Schietinger, Mr. Bromberick, Jim Bishop, Dave McSteen, Mr. Whipkey.

At the end of a perfect (?) day we find Mr. Keifer relaxing at home with the news.

Advisers Were Both

MISS ELLA ION, Vice Principal

(TOP) Line forms to the right for schedule changes.
(BOTTOM) Miss Ion offers a ride to weary students.

VICE PRINCIPAL

As vice principal, Miss Ion kept our school running smoothly and efficiently. In addition to her task of handling attendance, she made out the master schedule for teachers and students as well as college transcripts. At one time or another most students have been grateful for her valuable assistance in helping them choose a schedule that would prepare them for college, business school, or future careers. To round out a busy day, Miss Ion was also in charge of the achievement, class rank, attendance, and picture squads.

HOME AND SCHOOL VISITOR

Students who have obtained permits to work during school or in the summer or who have taken a little extra time off from school are already well acquainted with our home and school visitor, Miss Gordon. Among her many duties are: issuing work permits, checking on truancy, checking the census, and visiting the homes of new pupils. Aside from these duties, she also found time to teach English.

Ambitious Art is receiving a work permit from Miss Gordon.

Friendly and Helpful

GUIDANCE COUNSELOR

Mrs. Horne's appointment pad was always filled with conferences scheduled with students who wanted advice concerning their election blanks or with seniors trying to find the right college.

An aid in helping students choose a vocation was "Career Night", which gave everyone a chance to secure firsthand information about various professions. Additional aid was provided by the "Dutch Uncle" program, which enabled students to visit and talk to a person actively engaged in a certain profession.

Our guidance program was designed to help students realize their abilities and limitations and so plan more carefully for their future.

MRS. FERNE HORNE, Counselor

Social problems provided material for discussion in Mr. Burrows' classes.

Classes Awakened New Interests

If we ever tour South America, at least we'll know how to buy train tickets and check baggage, thanks to our "trips" in Spanish class.

The principles of the gyroscope were being explained in physics class. It made our heads whirl but we managed to pass physics anyway.

Records helped next year's seniors in their appreciation of poetry. "Disk Jockey" Corbett is spinning the platters for the class.

and Broadened Our Horizons

A stitch in time saves money. These home economics girls saved lots by making their own dresses—witness the results.

Learn French in three easy lessons? Not so simple, but the new linguaphone in the library was very helpful to French students.

Lettering was part of the art course. Knowing the alphabet was essential, but the main trick was to avoid spilling the ink.

We Strove for Higher Goals

Poor snake was part of a circus side show, but he abandoned his glamorous career to be exhibited in our biology lab.

This isn't home economics class; it's Carole giving a demonstration in public speaking. Can you operate a pressure cooker?

S.O.T., these are secretaries of tomorrow. Oops, a mistake? Well, start over. Practice makes perfect, you know.

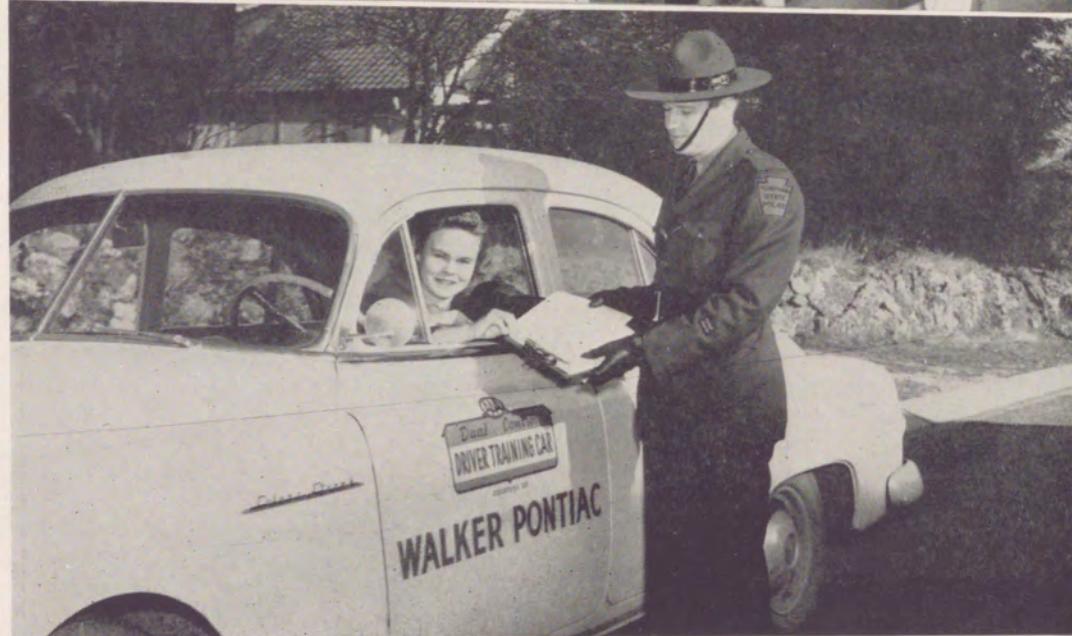

Welcome Addition to the 3 R's

Lab day was the best day of the chemistry week. The know-how of bending glass and making "rotten eggs" was discovered, under supervision, of course.

Just what constitutes our Constitution? This boy explained it to an American history class with the aid of a chart.

The worst is over—she's just passed her driver's test and will drive to school from now on IF she can get the family car.

We Waited Eagerly for Fridays

Algebra was just juggling the alphabet around to get numerical answers, but it surely could get complicated at times.

Who said there weren't some "big wheels" in the girls' gym class? To prove it the girls are making one.

Every detail counts. "Let's see, have I forgotten any?" Tom asks himself as he carefully studies his drawing.

Variety of Subjects Added Spice

Silas, Duncan, Eppie, and others were represented in this tenth grade English class dramatization of a scene from Silas Marner.

These boys are "sawing wood" (I don't mean sleeping) with the new radial saw donated last year by the Trading Post.

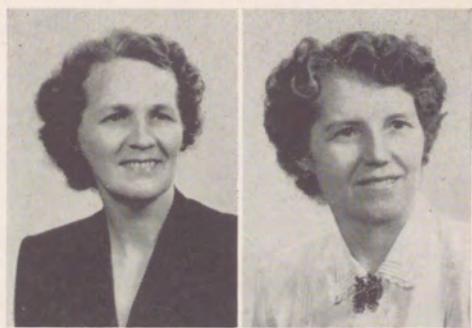

Ach d'lieber!! One of the activities of the German classes was to send Christmas presents to their German friends.

Miss Helen Zahniser—French

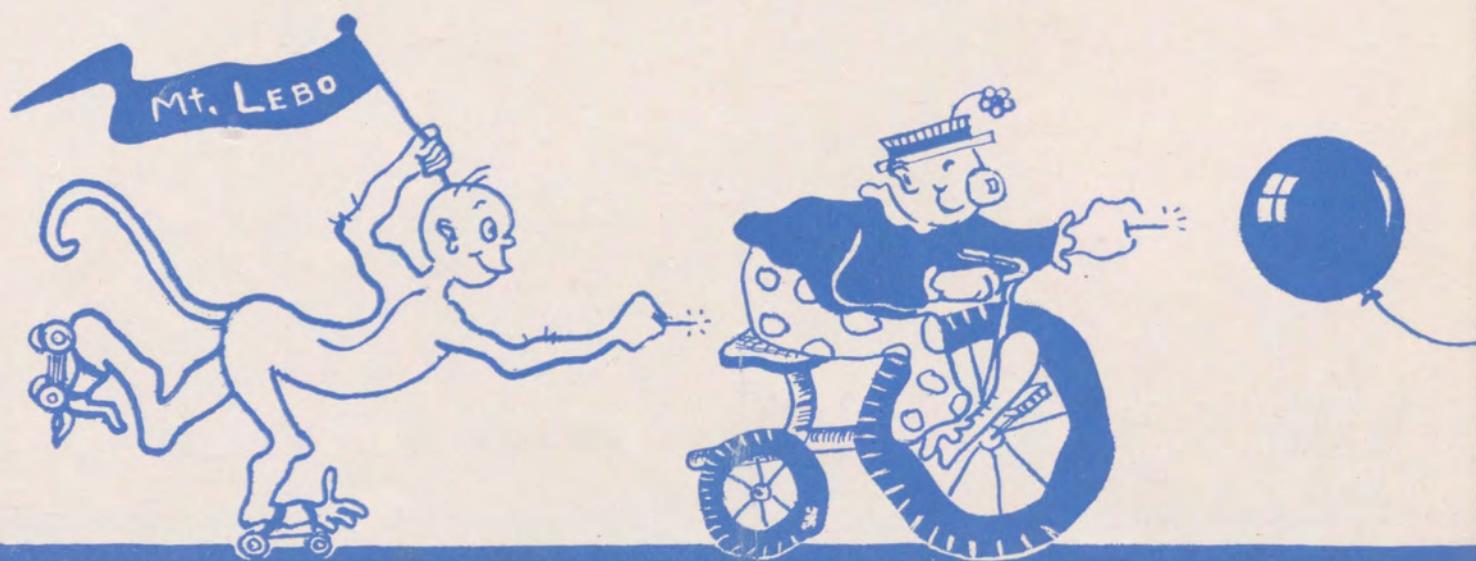

A bird?? A bee?? Tarzan?? No—they're some of our own Lebo High boys "climbing the ropes" in gym. Looks fun, doesn't it?

You thought you knew locus; but when you got to the blackboard in solid geometry class to explain it, you weren't so sure.

Merry carolers brought the spirit of Christmas to our halls.

Student Organizations Promoted

President Bernie Kelley presents an honorary gavel to his predecessor Dave McSteen.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

"Mr. President, I move we have our tests in the morning and go home in the afternoon," said one student.

"Why can't we have honor study halls?" asked another.

These and similar problems were discussed by both the Executive Board and the Advisory Council, which were important organizations in our government.

The Executive Board consists of the president of each homeroom, an additional representative from each senior homeroom, and the Executive Committee. The Advisory Council consists of six faculty members and a student from each class. Both of these organizations discuss and act on policies concerning school life.

Those unfortunate individuals who receive out-of-orders know that on Tuesday they must report to the Student Court. Here they find eight of their own classmates who listen to their stories and then act impartially.

The purpose of the organizations of our school government is to assure the student an opportunity to govern and discipline himself.

These Hard-Working Groups Were

ATTENDANCE—These girls kept track of the wandering members of our student body.

(TOP L.) TRAFFIC—Witness our human lamp posts who also made out those lovely tardy slips and directed the stampede for lunch.

(TOP R.) LIBRARY—Even if these girls did spell your name Joe Blftspk on those overdue book slips, they gave Miss Moore real help.

(BOTTOM L.) STAGE CREW—Laboring long hours after school, they worked wonders turning pieces of wood into professional looking sets.

(BOTTOM R.) SCENERY—Paint-spattered they may be, but these kids turned out all the swell scenery we've seen this year.

the Mainstay of All Activities

(TOP L.) HONOR AWARD—Careful how you count those precious activities points, girls. One may mean a key to success for some lucky person.

(TOP R.) CAFETERIA—Their familiar words were "Glasses go," accompanied with a thump of the brush.

(BOTTOM L.) WAYS & MEANS—These hard-working girls even dreamed about furnishing food and refreshments for Mt. Lebo's starving fans.

(BOTTOM R.) RED CROSS—Skeins of yarn went into room 106 and from this busy hive emerged an afghan for the veterans and dolls galore.

DEVOTIONS—We point with pride to the committee which helped us set our goals of Christian living.

There Was Music in the Air at Mt. L.

MUSIC

Yes, there was music in Mt. Lebanon's air. Whether it came from the brasses and drums in the stadium, from the woodwinds and strings in Mellon auditorium, or from the golden throats of our choristers in the studio, it was music of which we could well be proud.

Setting the pace for a top musical season marched the band, brilliant in new dazzling white uniforms. No fan in the football stands failed to swell with pride as he watched these musicians present their clever formations and skits at the half. On the more serious side were the selections played by the band and orchestra at the March concert. Here music for everyone from the "long hairs" to the "jive cuts" was the theme of a varied and entertaining program.

Once again at the Christmas season Mellon auditorium echoed to the inspiring strains of Handel's Messiah, which was presented in traditional fashion. In May the combined choruses offered a sharp musicalale of peppy songs, dances, and an original script.

Supplementing the main choral groups were our girls' Triple Trio and boys' Quartet. Their appearances at teas, luncheons, and assemblies were always greeted with favor. As good-will ambassadors of music, there were none better.

Babs thrilled spectators with her fiery baton.

Fun and Service

Y-TEENS

A covered dish dinner, Truth or Consequences program, discussions on everything from dating to vocations, movies, and, of course, knitting—where could you find any or all of these colorful activities going on simultaneously? Where else but at a meeting of that club of clubs—Y-Teens? Sophomores, juniors and seniors alike, although separated into four different clubs, worked together for the common purpose of getting to know themselves and others better. Each meeting meant work to be done, but the evening always seemed to end in a wave of confusion, as is usually the way when you get forty or fifty girls all talking at once. Dances were given, a Christmas tree trimmed, and before long the year was at an end; and for the Y-Teens it had been another full of accomplishments as well as fun.

HI-Y

Adding to the fine record made in years past, our Hi-Y clubs have had a successful year.

The Cedar Chapter, sponsored by Mr. Whipkey, was made up of senior boys, ably led by their officers and chaplain. Among their most worthwhile projects were their organization of the Community Chest Drive and the Safe Driving Campaign.

The juniors belonged to the Blue Chapter, with Mr. Raines as their sponsor. They, too, allied themselves with the Hi-Y purpose.

Sophomores joined Mr. Mitchell's Gold Chapter when they entered school last fall. After being organized and initiated, they started out with a rush of activity.

This spring our combined chapters sent three representatives to Harrisburg for the State Model Legislative Assembly.

Talented Players Gave

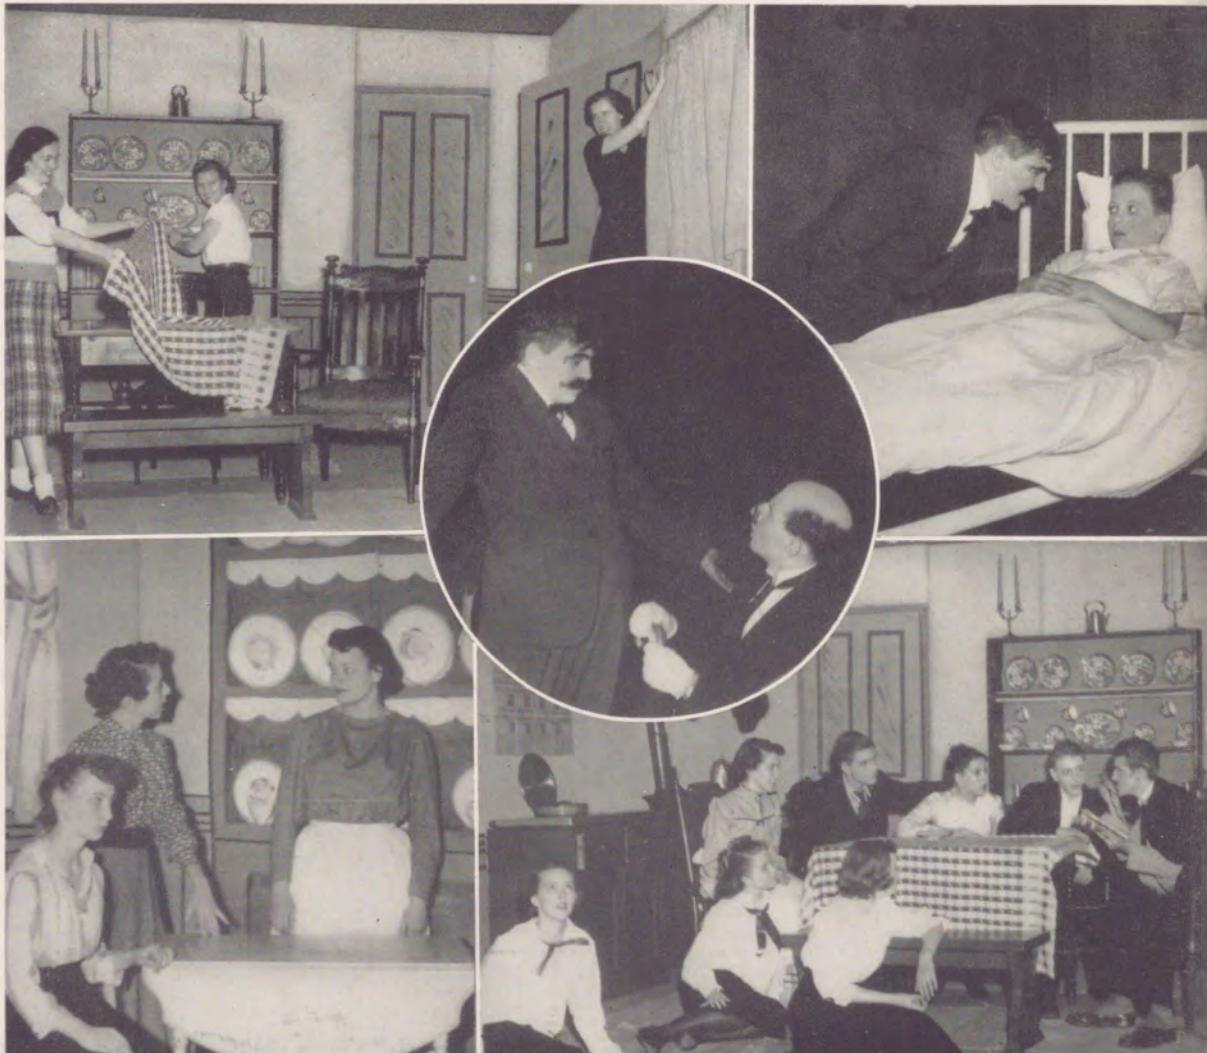

"You forgive me if I talk plain, but, Katrin, you are the dramatic one."

"I REMEMBER MAMMA"

For as long as the cast could remember they hadn't slept, and the stage in Mellon had been home. On the nights of the performance of the activities play they couldn't forget their feelings, the wonderful stage and the audience. And first and foremost, we'll never forget I Remember Mama.

The cast included Katrin, Joanne Graham, Bettie Murphy; Mama, Julie Maehling, Ann Clowes; Papa, Ronnie Spangler; Dagmar, Gerry Henry; Christine, Mary Rose Bassett, Nanette Nelson; Mr. Hyde, Paul Anderson; Nels, Harrison Shields; Aunt Trina, Miriam Little, Dolores Hasley; Aunt Sigrid, Louise Milligan, Doris Quinn; Aunt Jenny, Agnes Porter, Barbara Buerkle; Uncle Chris, Tom Rimer; Jesse, Joan Mehl; Mr. Thorkelson, Robert Mohr; Dr. Johnson, Loel Thompson, Arne, Jack Morgan; a Nurse, Beatrice Corcoran; another Nurse, Mary Ellen Timberlake; Madeline, Shirley Klapper; Dorothy, Carol Woodgate; Florence Dana Moorhead, Carol Jones; Bell-Boy, Robert Gaw; Soda Clerk, William Kernahan.

TOP

The motto of the properties committee was "iss goot to vork."

"Uncle Chris would like to have been a doctor, but he helped cripplles in other ways."

CIRCLE

"Uncle Chris is so big and black, and Mr. Thorkelson is timid really."

BOTTOM

"But, Jenny, you and Trina must come. We girls have to stand together."

"And in the evenings Mr. Hyde would read us wonderful books."

Two Top Performances

"OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY"

Take a case of the measles, add the capture of a stowaway, plus a phoney French actor and some bed bugs—mix well,—and the result was Our Hearts Were Young and Gay.

Although the audience left with aching sides, the cast had just as much fun rehearsing the senior class play.

"We may hit an iceberg!" says ever ready Emily.

TOP

Facial expressions seem to indicate, "Oh no! Not those things again."

"Cornelia, do you hear a drip?"

CIRCLE

Cornelia tries out her acting ability on the steward.

BOTTOM

"Say ahh, Cornelia, so the doctor can diagnose your case."

Emily seems to be doing some fast talking in a tight spot.

LOG

The 1950 Log gave us ringside seats to the most stupendous show ever presented. Act one found us watching clowns merrily wave subscription blanks as they pursued everything on two feet. With bated breath we watched act two display our skillful business staff, garbed as tightrope walkers, balancing the budget. In act three the spotlight fell on our editors, impersonating acrobats, no less, gaily swinging from trapeze to trapeze ever aiming higher to produce a better yearbook. Amid these breath-taking scenes, photographers with ladders and flash bulbs strove to catch this gay panorama of events of an exciting year. Now as tent flaps close and weary performers trudge off to their bunks, another year has been recorded in the pages of this Log.

of an Outstanding School Year

LANTERN

Whenever a student or faculty member wanted to read the latest school news, he looked to the Lantern. Room 208 was a beehive of activity and confusion just before the paper went to press. Reporters, editors, and photographers rushed madly to meet the deadline set by Miss McLaughlin, able faculty sponsor.

Assuming much of the responsibility for the paper were Jean Hulse and Nancy Meyers, feature and managing editors, who did everything from copy-reading to reporting.

The Devilette, an inserted feature of the Lantern, was mimeographed in the school. Full of hot tips and humorous notes, it sizzled with the latest gossip.

When students heard the welcome words, "The Lantern Shines Tonight," the decks were cleared for action as they rushed to their home-rooms for the latest copy.

MOUNTY

Miss Elliott has a step-child who demands much of her attention; it is the Mounty, literary magazine of the school. In it you find the literary efforts of students who are proud of their short stories, essays, and poems. Any night after school you might find a Mounty writer or typist trying to patch up a story or typing a yellow stencil. "Mounty Day" came almost once a month this year, and it kept the entire staff bustling to get the magazine stapled before the dead-line. Their mascot, the Mounty Mole, was the clown of the troupe, and his corny capers and zany acrobatics enlivened many a staff meeting.

HONOR AWARDS

The Activities Assembly held February third brought honors to many deserving students. There were the lucky few who received the little gold pins that symbolized National Honor Society. Membership in this organization is the highest honor that a high school student can achieve. Activities keys were awarded to those who, after months of hard work on a committee or squad, scraped together the last two points to make ninety. A few ambitious people even managed to earn the two hundred points necessary for a guard. Next came our brawny football and cross-country stars, as they paraded in front of the footlights to receive their letters and numerals. For outstanding work on publications a few had their names recorded on the rolls of Quill and Scroll, which is a notable literary honor for high school students.

(TOP) Deserving seniors who received guards at the end of the first semester were: Uhrich, Miller, Divine, Rimer, Treherne. (BOTTOM) There was a continual parade across stage as students received awards.

FOOTBALL

Our Blue and Gold gridders pulled a few surprising tricks out of the hat this year, bettering last year's record and turning what promised to be a poor season into one of the best in our gridiron history. Overcoming a lack of experience with lots of spirit, the Lebo lads won all their league games and became the dark horse in the race for the AA crown. However, because of the point system, they lost out to McKeesport in the play-off with New Castle.

Underdog Mounties Surprised Fans

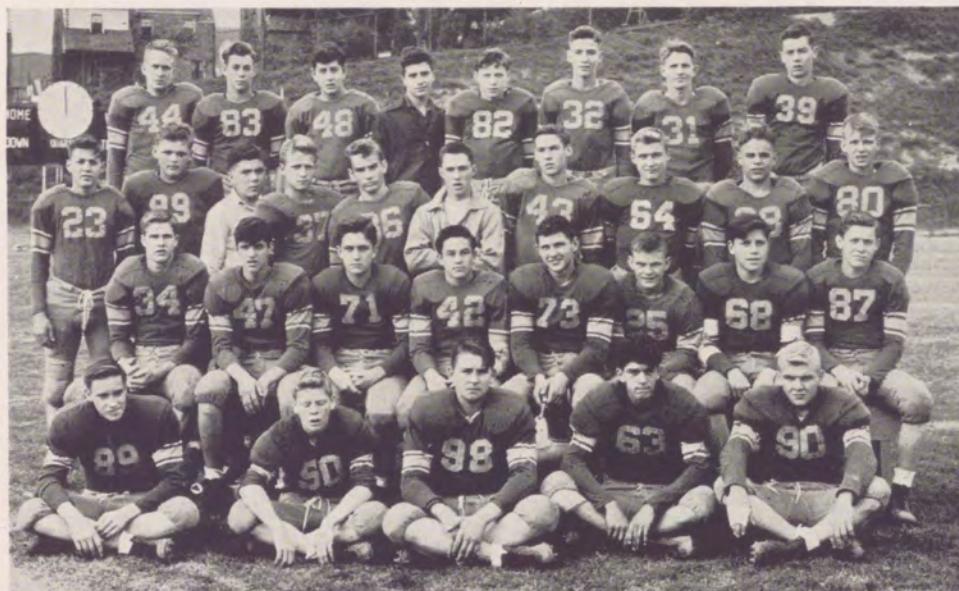

The only blot on the perfect record was the loss of the opener to Waynesburg, which seems to defy explanation by fans, players, and even coaches. Fortunately, however, the Blue Devils bounced back the next week by trouncing Perry and then South Hills the following week in exhibitions.

The AA games were sprinkled with thrillers. In the first one the Mounties had a tough time downing a Penn team as the score see-sawed 6-0

Penn, 7-6 Mounties, 13-12 Mounties, and finally 19-12 Mt. Lebanon over Penn.

The Wilkinsburg game featured two spectacular runs, Gorr's 90 yard pass interception and Billingsley's 60 yard end run as the Blue Devils squeaked by 12-7.

The last tribute paid the team was by their never satisfied Mr. Beckert, who said he had never coached a finer bunch of boys or been more satisfied with a football season.

TRACK 1949

Experiencing one of the best seasons in the high school's history, Coach Don Mollenauer's thinclads displayed fine form by remaining undefeated in every meet. Climaxing their string of victories, the Mounties reclaimed the W.P.I.A.L. crown lost to Wilkinsburg the previous year.

Giving local track fans a preview of what was to come, Mt. Lebanon copped a quadrangular meet at Schoonmaker Hall and then went on to dominate the large field of contenders entered in the Tri-State Coaches Association Meet.

In their initial meet of the outdoor season, the trackmen defeated Carrick for their first of six wins in dual and triangular contests. The Blue Devils proved that they were the team to beat when they won the W.P.I.A.L. Relays Carnival for the eighth consecutive year by more than doubling the points of their nearest opponent.

Mounty sprinters fail in close 220 yd. dash.

The high jumping trio of Billingsley, Buck, and Denman totaled 17 ft. 1 in. to establish a new record for the Relay ledger. Then came the Washington Invitational Meet, followed by the Independent Districts and two more championships were added to the squad's impressive record. Completing the grand slam, the Mounties collected 33 1/4 points to dethrone Wilkinsburg and recapture the W.P.I.A.L. championship.

Qualifying for the P.I.A.A. Championship at Penn State were Luterancik, Denman, McSteen, and Minihan, who placed first in their events in the W.P.I.A.L. meet.

The "49" season showed a well-rounded team of great ability. Coach Mollenauer depended upon Billingsley and Swanson in the sprints.

Outstanding quarter-milers were Denman, Tilbrook, Gorr, and Younkins. Luterancik, Shave, Craig, Murphy, McKee, Gilbert, and Sebring made up the all important distance squad. Adding points in every meet, Farquhar, McSteen, and Davis specialized in the hurdles. In the field events, the Mounties' weight men were Morian, Jones, Metzger, and Rosser. Millington and Kelley threw the javelin while Billingsley, Buck, and Denman "cleared the bar" in the high jump event. Perfectionists in the pole vault were Minihan and Blumfeldt.

Clocked at 4:35.4, Luterancik set a new school record for the mile that is slated to stand for quite some time. Dave McSteen also cracked a school record when he ran the 220 yard hurdles in 23.1 seconds.

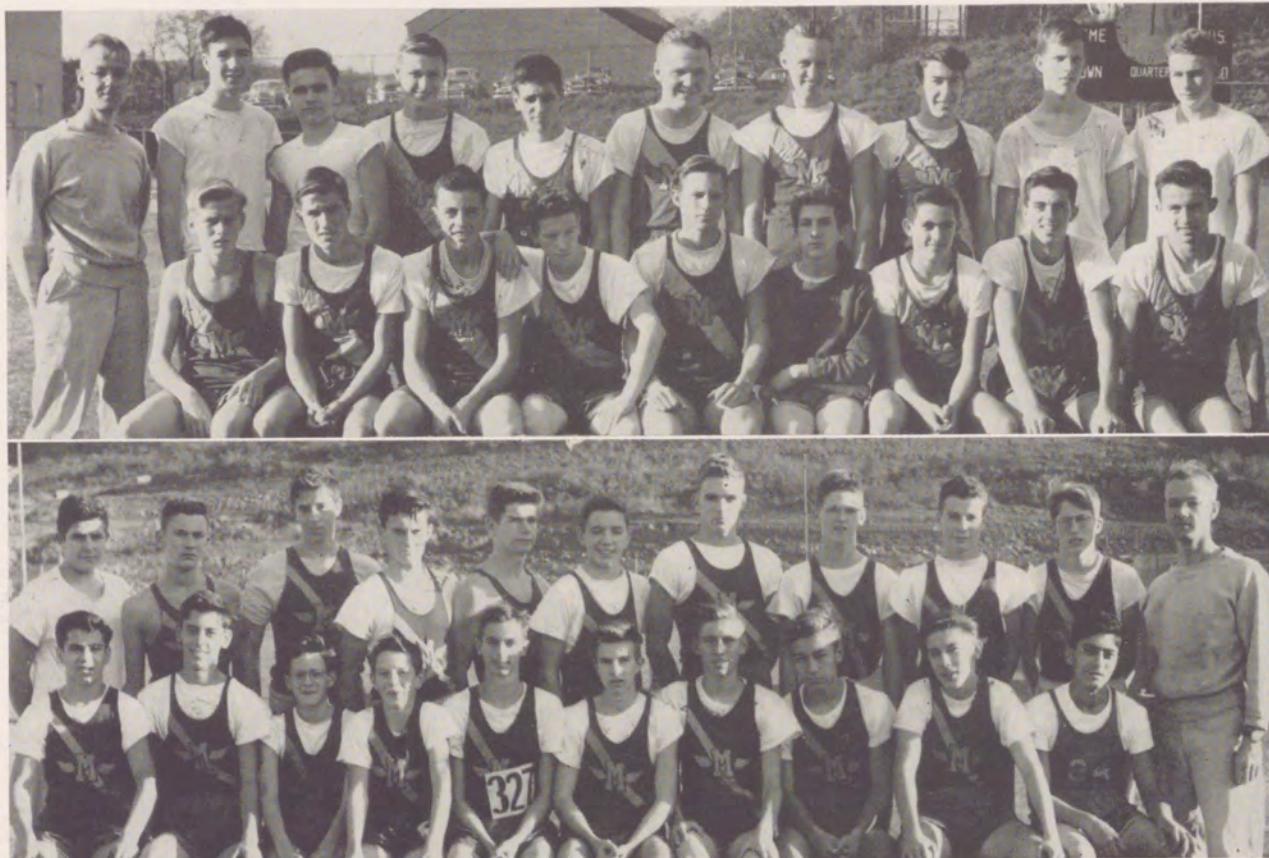

Luterancik carries baton in distance medley.

CROSS COUNTRY

The gradual decline in cross country running material hit its peak in '49 as the Mountie harriers fell victim to a 4-3 losing streak. Senior runners were overshadowed by such juniors as Giordano and Bowell, who represented Mt. Lebanon at State College. With the formation of an all sophomore junior varsity, Coach Mollenauer anticipates better teams in future seasons.

1949 SOCCER

Mt. Lebanon's first venture into soccer proved an exceptionally successful one, as the Mounties upset team after team. Coached by Mr. Davis and Mr. Malone, they won a shot at the championship in a play-off game with South Fayette and though they lost this, the season was still a success.

RIFLE

Matched with such teams as Oakmont, Munhall, and Coraopolis, the Mountie marksmen experienced another losing season by dropping ten matches and winning only three. In the second match with Oakmont, the visitors turned in a remarkable score of 500. Mr. Streams resumed his pre-war post as coach of the squad this year.

BASKETBALL

Although unimpressive in exhibition games, the Mountie hoopsters overcame an early season slump to finish second in W.P.I.A.L. Section V competition and set a new scoring record of 71 points in a non-scheduled game with Oliver.

The squad showed signs of having another mediocre season as they dropped five of their first seven contests, but local court fans were soon given encouragement as the Mountie quintet came through to defeat Baldwin in their first W.P.I.A.L. tilt. Coach "Speed" Clark's proteges continued to dominate their section foes by easily downing Dormont and Clark. Their first important loss was a heartbreaker as Brentwood erased a 7 point margin and pulled ahead in the final minutes to hand Mt. Lebanon a 47 to 44 defeat. Continuing their improved play, the Blue Devils again stopped Baldwin; but then Dormont took advantage of an off night and spoiled the Mounties' hopes of a section title by grinding out a 43 to 40 win.

Following an easy victory over Clark, Mt. Lebanon and Brentwood clashed in the final game of the year. Brentwood, with no losses, was assured of the section title but needed the victory to establish a school record. Playing their best game of the year, the Mounties turned the tables and in the last few minutes netted two foul shots to win by two points. The over-all season record showed 12 wins and 9 losses.

Sparking the team's fine play were such seniors as Jim Corbett, 6'2" pivot man and high scorer with 214 points; Bob Rungar, 6'4" center, work-horse under the boards, and runner-up in scoring with 208 markers; Dick Swanson, fourth in scoring and the squad's other front man; and Al Pankopf, fine play maker and ball handler. Juniors Witt, Keegan, Murphy, Smith, Bradway, and Slack proved to be bright prospects for next year's team.

Under the tutoring of Mr. Tallman the B squad dropped 13 contests while winning 8.

G.A.A. Games Meant Aches and Pains

A big moment was the G.A.A. Dessert where Mr. Rosser caught members in a hilarious mood.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Do you remember October, 1949, when G.A.A. deck-tennis began? The tennis tournament had started a few weeks before that, and everyone who didn't have a racket in her hand was dashing to the gym to see when she played deck-tennis. Lee Wilder's team finally emerged victorious after some hard-fought contests.

Another of the warm-weather sports was field hockey. The girls formed a team and their next stop was P.C.W. where they overcame Winchester Thurston's team.

Then the basketball season opened, and that was when most of the girls took their fling in the after-school sports. Almost everyone was on a team, but after the smoke of battle had cleared, it was determined that the team captained by Carol Woodgate had won the tournament.

The G.A.A. Dessert in February was another high spot. Weren't "A Dark and Stormy Night" and the other skits and songs a howl?

Bowling, badminton, and volleyball highlighted the rest of our sports year. Finally Play Day with its colored streamers and new games rounded out another successful year.
