We come so many days out of the year and we let ourselves just sit in chairs, take notes, memorize facts. But there's got to be more to school than that.

It must be finding our own creative talents or looking for answers on our own terms.

Or

learning to relate to others. And questioning what we ourselves are.

ADMINISTRATION

When during your interview at an Iowa teachers college, the admissions director nods approval at the mention of Mount Lebanon High School, it's because the name stands for excellence in education. Contributing to Mount Lebanon's stature, Dr. Joseph C. Keifer, assistant superintendent of schools, keeps our school system organized and functioning. Dr. Floy L. Penn, director of instruction, adds new ideas, courses, and techniques into curriculum.

This spring, with the commencement of the seniors, Dr. Ralph D. Horsman will present his 12,000th diploma. In June, after 40 years as an educator, he will retire.

Dr. Horsman graduated from Slippery Rock, his hometown college, and came to Mt. Lebanon in 1929 as a math teacher. Two years later he moved on to become principal of Washington and Howe elementary schools. In 1939, he stepped up as Mellon Junior High's first principal. From 1941-1945 Dr. Horsman served as Mt. Lebanon High's principal and later in '45 assumed the position of Assistant Superintendent of schools. 1946 saw his installation as Superintendent of Mt. Lebanon schools.

In this position Dr. Horsman has been a sensitive observer of human nature, significantly aware of the pressures on youth. He misses the personal contact he had with young people as a principal, and on school days at dismissal time, he can be seen standing by the windows of his office, enjoying the attitudes and expressions of children on their way home from school.

Dr. Horsman has given a great deal of his time, his effort, and his ability to Mt. Lebanon and to education in general. His philosophy can be summed up in what Mt. Lebanon schools are noted for — excellence and progress.

There's a point to all the scheduling, rescheduling, filing, and organizing. Though you may never realize it, an entire team of administrators stands behind you throughout every year of your education. They gear your courses to suit your personal need, and because they care, you're more than a digit in a computer.

SPECIAL SERVICES

If you're lost, injured, curious, ambitious, or disturbed, there's always somewhere to turn. While classroom doors are neatly shut, the various offices welcome anyone who seek their aid. The nurses supply bandaids and sympathy when needed, and the secretaries create a bit of order out of the chaos of memos, circulars, files, and forms. A few steps down the hall, the activities directors can suggest numerous squads, committees, clubs, and projects (redeemable for valuable activities points). When all the pressures of growing up and mapping out a future become bewildering, the guidance counselors steer you in the right direction and help you on your way.

First it was "New Math." Now it's "New English." Well, not really. The name is actually linguistics. This means no more groaning and gulping over grammar, no more hunting for verbs and verbals, no more pages and pages of grammar exercises. You get a chance to discuss more and give your opinions. And what better subject to discuss than Literature of the Oppressed, which is also something new in the English courses. You get to know the thoughts and dreams and frustrations of people outside your own little "cake-eating" world.

It's easy to memorize nouns and verbs; it's not too hard to learn rules for agreement and it's almost fun to try to converse in a foreign language. Reading Chinese downwards, though, is almost as hard as reading Russian forwards, which sounds like English backwards. But foreign languages aren't bad, if you just let yourself enjoy and absorb them. And when the course turns from conjugation to culture, you can read and enjoy L'ETRANGER, with idioms actually working for you rather than against you.

Science—It's "how" and "why" and "what's inside." It's homework and quizzes, just like every other course, but it's also seeing to believe as you dissect a frog, or mix sulfur and iron filings. Messing around with chemicals, instruments, and machines gives you such a feeling of power . . . till you break something expensive. But if you're careful and don't get carried away too much by the freedom to experiment, your lab exercises actually work . . . sometimes.

MATHEMATICS

You've got to think of yourself as a computer to survive in math. You must stick values in variables where your teacher tells you to put them. You memorize, memorize, and memorize formulas. Symbols, signs, terms, and tables are imprinted indelibly in your mind, and at a given moment you must be able to feed back all the theorems, facts, and figures in proper sequence.

But computers know only "how to" never "why," and besides you're only an unreasonable facsimile. Fortunately, becoming a computer is just the first step. It opens your mind and prepares you for learning why the formulas hold true.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Life insurance—that's social studies. In a few years you'll be the one making the decisions. Think about it. Your best friend has flown to Europe in only four hours and Apollo went around the world in 80 minutes. Vietnam looms, and Czechoslovakia has been invaded, and you suddenly follow the newspapers. The Paris Peace Talks . . . Bratislava . . . Houston Space Control. It's kind of spooky when you realize that you, who can never decide which shoes to wear and what to do on Saturday afternoon, will be helping to guide the world. Then social studies—what it's all about—become very important.

The interest that was sparked in junior high becomes talent and skill as you continue electing special technique courses. Suddenly you can take an entire letter in shorthand and actually transcribe every word correctly. And you type it with your fingers on the right keys! A semester of "Signal Thirty," the Smith System, and hair-raising experiences earns you a senior driver's license at 17. After just nine weeks of snipping and stitching, a new Easter dress hangs in your closet. You've enough book ends to fill a library, and every wall in your house is plastered with water color paintings and linoleum prints. But more important than the items you can hold in your hand is the experience you hold for the future.

CAFETERIA AND MAINTENANCE

Who can you turn to when it's 6:30 pm and your chemistry book sits in your locker, and there's a unit test the next day, B period? To make matters worse, you just know you left that gym suit in Room 308, but where is it now? Who'll help when there's only a fifty cent piece in your pocket and you've got to make a phone call? The custodians not only maintain a clean school, they offer their help to anyone who needs it.

Although nearly being trampled by stampeding students, the cafeteria workers manage to serve nourishing lunches, accept and give change, refill catsup dishes, and sweep and wipe during each 35 minute period of gorging and gabbing. And yet, through all the running and rushing, they smile.

HONORS

If you've ever begged, pleaded, and kissed feet for half an hour in order to sell one Log subscription for one tenth of an activities point, you can imagine the effort it must take to accumulate one hundred activities points. Yet fifty-three Lebo students did earn over one hundred points and received Activities Keys. Sally Schreiner and Sandy Rosecrans went one step further and earned Activities Guards for totals of one hundred and eighty points. (One way to do it is to sell 1800 Log subscriptions.)

Through the year a large number of students won honors on the basis of their achievements in many areas. The honors included membership to Modern Music Masters, membership to Cum Laude Society, the D.A.R. Award, the Outstanding Teenagers Award plus many others. These students deserve to be recognized not only for their own personal achievement, but also for the honor which they have contributed to the school.

A.F.S. STUDENTS

The magic of the American Field Service suddenly transports two teenage girls thousands of miles across the Atlantic. Results — their lives, as well as their attitudes and opinions, undergo vast and interesting changes.

Lynn Zimmerman, Lebo's representative to Greece, found herself warmly welcomed by her new family, following an exciting ocean liner training cruise. The new experiences which filled her daily life ranged from serenades to marriage proposals; from oily foods to Greek misconceptions of America as a land of cowboys, Indians, gangsters, and rich society matrons.

Warm, mini-skirted, and good-natured Annabelle Harrison, living with her American sister Anne Copeland, has blended with American life until only her British accent gives away her foreign origin. Annabelle rapidly erased her impressions of the flowered sport-shirted tourist, laden with cameras, as she met her new family and made her new friends at the high school. According to the Copelands, it's a pleasure having her as part of the family, and, according to Annabelle, it's a pleasure and a thrill joining them.

If the magic of A.F.S. has made both girls alert to different cultures, it has moreover made them aware of the basic goodness and sameness of all people.

CLUBS

You don't join a club just to earn activities points. Or even if that is why you join, you soon get so caught up in the experiences of the club's activities that you forget all about the points.

Throughout the year, F.T.A. has busily scheduled student opportunities for its members at the various elementary schools and junior highs in the district. The programs brought in for the enlightenment of teachers and students alike included a panel of college, secondary, and elementary educators who compared their jobs. F.N.A.'s trips to various hospitals gave future nurses a glimpse of what's in store for them, while the goodies at each of F.H.A.'s bake sales lasted only about fifteen minutes as hungry students gobbled them up. The competition was stiff at Chess Club tournaments sponsored by the Pittsburgh Interscholastic Chess League. Thespian members of Mt. Lebanon's Troupe 1605 met throughout the year and planned as their major project a Children's Theater presentation in the various elementary school classrooms, encouraging audience participation. Obviously, clubs provide diversion, recreation and education.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

J.V. CHEERLEADERS

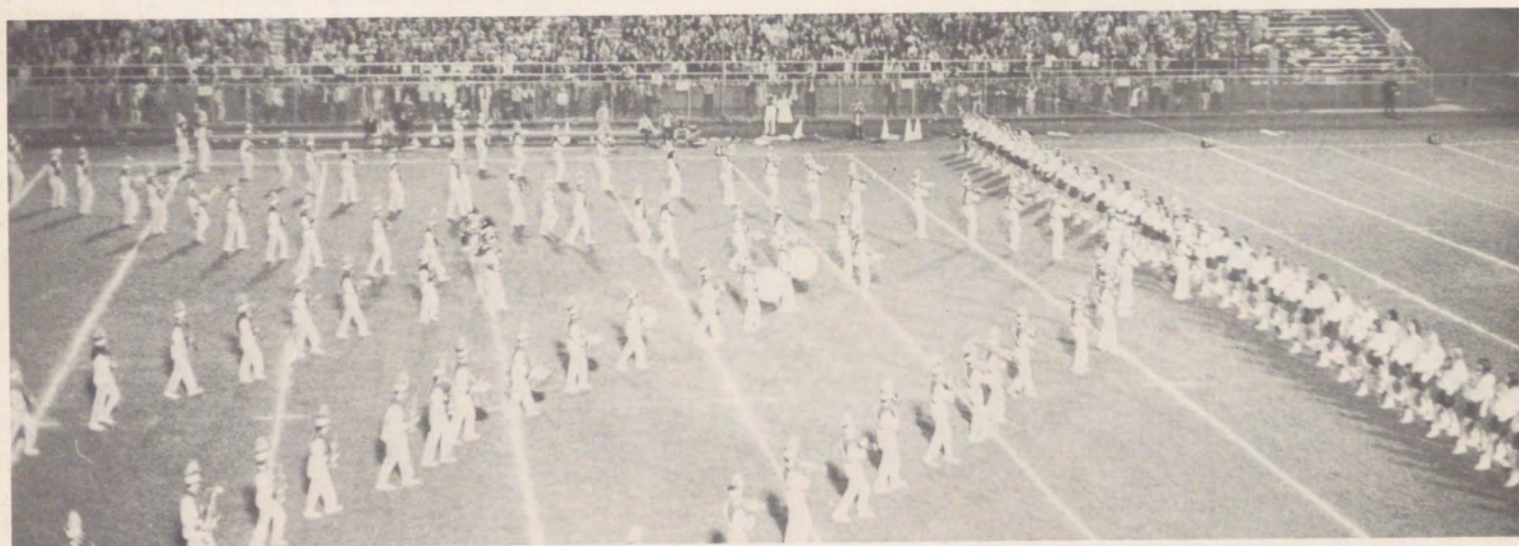

"I am a sparkling, bouncy, spirit-booster, a shouter of cheers, a poster maker. I lead the spectators in yells and songs. I jump up and down and clap my hands a lot. I smile, even when my stomach aches. I stand out in a crowd, even when I'm not in my gold costume. I'm proud to be a cheerleader. I'm a cheerleader, because I'm proud of Lebo."

"I am a stomper, a dancer, a waving blue and white flash of movement at half-time. From the stands, I'm only seen as a tiny part of the gaiety, precision, and spirit of the Rockettes. I spend hot August days, and foggy fall mornings drilling . . . stick, stick, stick . . . routine after routine. But it's worth the effort because I care about my school."

"I'm a Blue Devil, a clowning, capering portion of the spectacle. Or I'm a pep club booster, sign waver, poster designer, an excited spreader of infectious school spirit. Or maybe I'm a spectator in the stands, watching, screaming, cheering and hoping for my school, my team to win. Pride is contagious." "ONE, TWO, TELL ME WHO ARE YOU?" "LEBO!!!"

"Introducing the Mt. Lebanon High School Marching Band . . ." and out you come, the brass of your instruments catching the bright lights as you step to the music in your blue and gold uniforms.

But the band is more than a half-time performance; it means a lot to you. You remember the August marching and water balloon battles . . . the parties . . . the long bus trips that were over before you knew it. At the games you played a musical cheer with every touchdown and in between times, you yelled your support. You'll never forget the thrill of playing for Nixon's reception at the airport, the rush and rehearsals of concert season . . . the hot stage . . . the eyes of the audience as you performed. You'll remember forever the hard work and the fun.

ORCHESTRA. I Violin: R. Levin, Concertmaster, C. Brown, E. Longini, M. Vater, S. Vetter, E. Jacobson, P. Hyzer, M. Miller, L. Clayton, D. Beley, S. Jennings, M. Johnston. II Violin: S. Cafferty, principal, L. Sapienza, D. Sparls, L. Gilmore, D. Colker, J. Burkhouse, L. McGill, J. Prine, S. Miller. Viola: K. McGeeney, principal, W. Duda, B. Ditrovati, B. Kennon. Cello: F. Benedicty, principal, L. Rouvalis, V. Jackson, M. Yest, C. Brungraber, E. Putnam, H. Chizeck, J. Rich, C. Bern. Bass: B. Heston, principal, W. Simonds. I Oboe: S. Macoy.

Remember the first orchestra assembly you ever attended? As you filed into the auditorium and took your seat near the front, you may have been a little apprehensive. (You'd never been much for concerts.) Suddenly, the lights dimmed; the strange tuning noises on stage stopped, and the whole auditorium filled with sound. Just then all of the talent, skill, music appreciation, and years of practice of the young musicians on stage were apparent. You noted how the mood of the assembly changed with the Overture in D Major by Shubert to Park Avenue Hoe Down by Siennicki. And watching the faces of the students on stage, you caught their obvious enjoyment. Whoever said concerts are dull was wrong. And for someone who had never cared much for music, you sure went readily to the next assembly and Spring Concert.

II Oboe: J. Andrews, I Clarinet: R. Conroy, C. Cusack, J. Fisher. II Clarinet: S. Street, B. McHale, J. Shaw. I Flute: P. Bell, K. Yorke, J. Benson. II Flute: P. Shaw, D. Schnure. I Trumpet: B. Rosenthal, K. Wilson. II Trumpet: J. Milnor. I Trombone: L. Saul. II Trombone: S. Delano. III Trombone: W. Gustavson. Tuba: D. Anthony. Percussion: D. Michel. Timpani: J. Hirschfield. Piano: J. McGhee, P. Standfest.

CHORAL GROUPS

You sing in the shower, the bathtub, the kitchen. You hum during class, whistle on the way home from school, and trill, "la, la, la" while you rake leaves. You vocally accompany the radio and record player and secretly tape record your voice. Chances are, you're a member of one of the high school's varied choral groups. And if you're not, perhaps you should be, because your interest and devotion automatically fill the first prerequisites.

Mixed Chorus and Girl's Ensemble offer you a chance to perform at school assemblies and public functions. A carefully selected group of nine poised and talented girls, making up the acclaimed Triple Trio, entertain throughout the city and gain the valuable experience necessary for possible singing careers. Vocalists with a specialized interest, the members of Baroque Choir, join in singing of pieces from the Post-Renaissance period. For the eager singer, but the singer whose warblings are mainly suitable for the shower, activities chorus provides a pleasant outlet and unpressured enjoyment of singing.

MOUNTY

For the first time the Mounty includes works by teachers as well as by students. The contribution may be a simple seventeen syllable Haiku, an informal essay, a "to-be-continued" serial, or a nonsense poem; but it is outward expression of inward reaction which makes the Mounty worth reading. Including illustrations and photography, each issue contains carefully selected pieces, which the editors spend hours reading and choosing.

Despite the clutter of posters, lunch bags, books, and paper in the Mounty office, a fine literary magazine is produced twice a year, under the guidance of Miss Janice Mellinger.

MOUNTY EDITORS. D. Schlamb, M. Meyer, M. Maddex, B. Stein, C. Schade.

Working for the Lebanon Lantern includes searching for answers all over the community. Whether trying to question an elusive T.A.A.C. member, interviewing Senator Clark, or writing an editorial about the mock election, the Lantern people gather information and work hard to present it to the readers. Few people believe the behind-the-scenes work that goes into publishing a school newspaper: selling subscriptions, taking pictures, thinking up possible stories, typing, proof reading, waiting eagerly for the new issues to arrive, and finally stuffing and distributing. Oh, and, of course, those make-up sessions, which sometimes run till 12:00 midnight, are a part of all the rush. What satisfaction when everything is done, only to start all over again for next month's issue!

This is the year 1968-69 as we saw it. Read the copy . . . look at the photos . . . and THINK about it. We overcame deadlines . . . made decisions . . . made lots of mistakes . . . but managed somehow to survive. Outside the cramped office (If you only knew how crowded it was!) we really got to know each other at all the great parties. We stood in the sub-zero temperatures of a January Sunday on a golf course while Jim found the right super-telephotoc lens for our picture; entertained only by a black dog, a "Noxin" sign and ourselves. In between all this, we contemplated that small piece of life we have met at the high school this year and tried to express it here for you. So think of this as more than JUST a yearbook!

THE SOUND OF MUSIC

The Sound of Music played to a "full-house" on three consecutive nights as audiences thundered their applause for the Mt. Lebanon High School choral production. The use of a double cast, one starring Molly Youngling, the other led by Mary Jolly, as Maria Von Trapp, only doubled the excitement and effort which went into the presentation of the lively musical. Everything about the play rated: the scenery (ranging from the Austrian Alps to a terrace view and ballroom), the choreography, the orchestral accompaniment, the costuming, and the publicity. The efforts of everyone concerned with any facet of the production made the play memorable and outstanding.

CASTS. Maria Rainier; M. Jolly, M. Youngling, Mother Abess; L. Cheney, K. Johnston, Captain Georg von Trapp; J. Liebman, R. Nicklaus, Liesl;

P. Close, P. Scoggins, Rolf Grubee; F. Capelli, D. Waltz, Elsa Schraeder; B. Wheeler, D. Fitzgibbons, Max Detweiler; P. Jacobson, M. Leatham.

SEE HOW THEY RUN

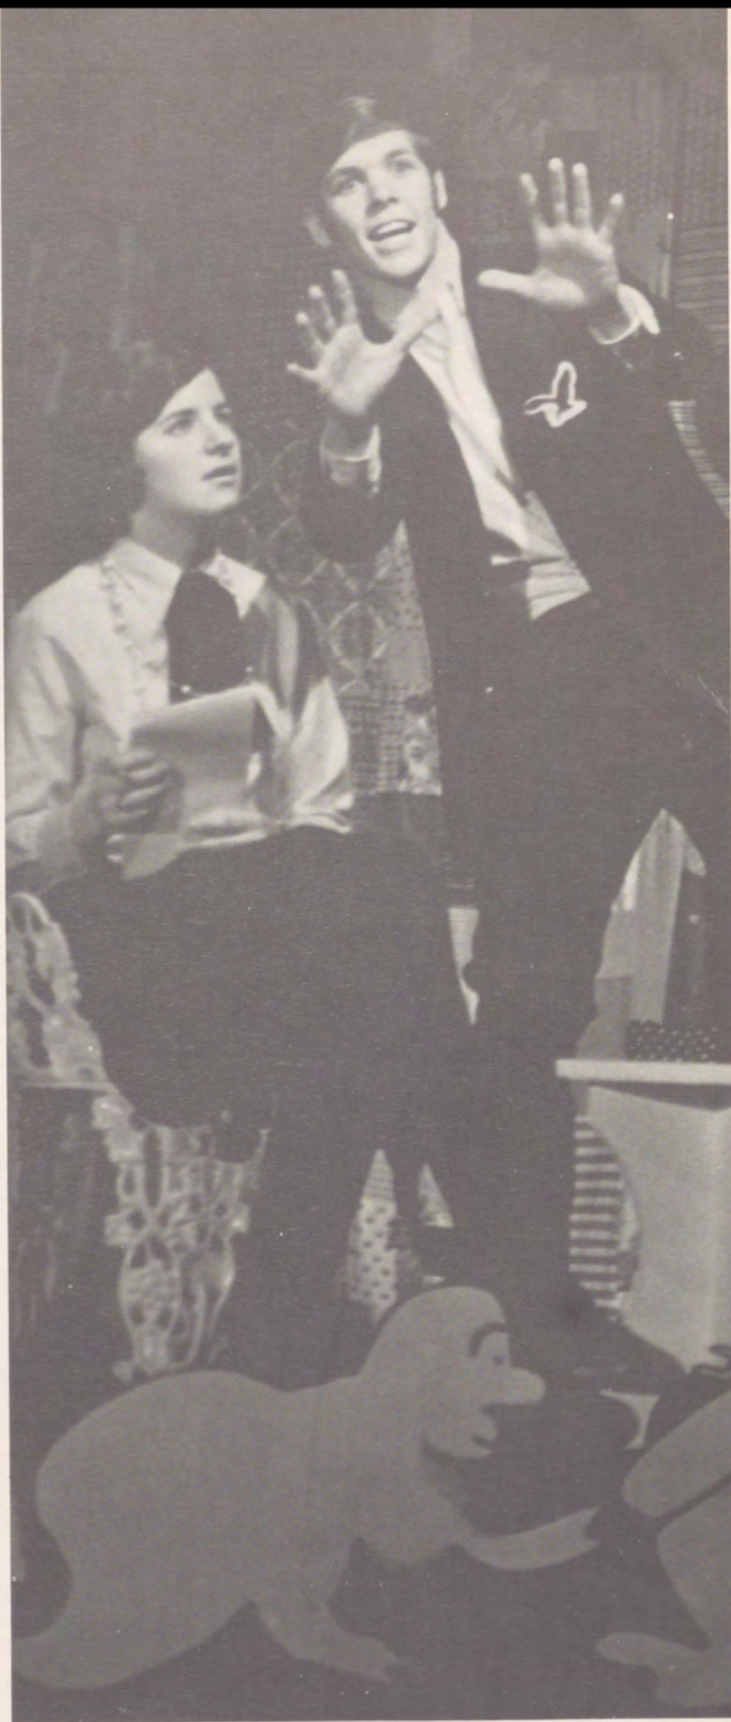

CAST MEMBERS. Ida, K. Jenkins; Miss Skillon, L. Cheney; Reverend Lionel Toop, J. Murrell; Penelope Toop, B. McGahey; Corporal Clive Winton, R. Keller; The Intruder, T. Sgro; Bishop of Lax, E. Josephson; Reverend Arthur Humphrey, D. Faulkner; Sergeant Towers, S. MacDonald.

The news breaks over the P.A.: the senior class play will be See How They Run. "You gonna try out?" "I dunno, are you?" "I dunno." Tryouts: sign-up . . . readings . . . first elimination: the crazy things Mr. Myers makes you do. The boys have to drag the girls across the stage and the girls have to throw their arms around the boys. A little embarrassing, but fun. Final eliminations: reading for parts . . . waiting, hoping, praying! "I just know I didn't make it." But you do! Next comes the memorizations, repetitions, and the rehearsals plus blocking, learning through correction, and trying to master a British accent with the help of an authentic English exchange student. Homework suffers as play rehearsals last far into the night. Behind the scenes, costume committee, make-up committee, stage crew, scenery squad — all work to perfect props and techniques. Then more rehearsals and more blocking. Putting yourself into the part, pulling yourself out. In . . . out. Dress rehearsal. Opening night. And finally presentation. Once . . . twice . . . cast party . . . and it's over. The scenery comes down. The costumes are packed and shipped; the special effects, removed. The stain of the make-up finally wears off. It's over and the stage looks barren, but you still hear the thunderous applause, the yelling, the congratulations. For you, opening night will last forever.

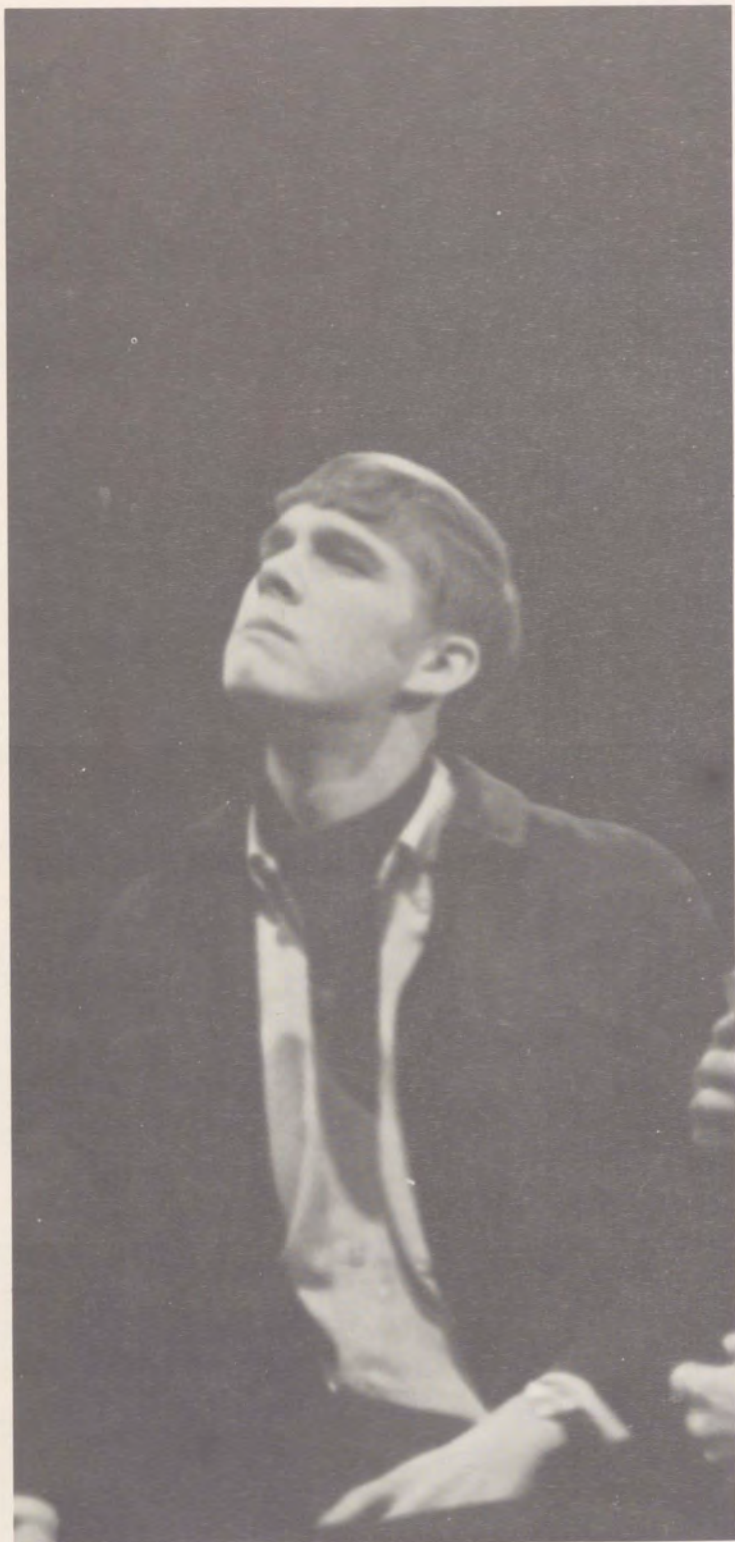

STUDENT PRODUCTION STAFF. Student Director; M. Kmec, Scenic Designers; K. Rector, K. Reeves, Production Staff; N. Martini, B. Swiecicki, A. Harrison, K. Johnston, K. Kimmick, D. Bickel, E. Marian, C. Rooney, B. Rickee, A. Weintraub.

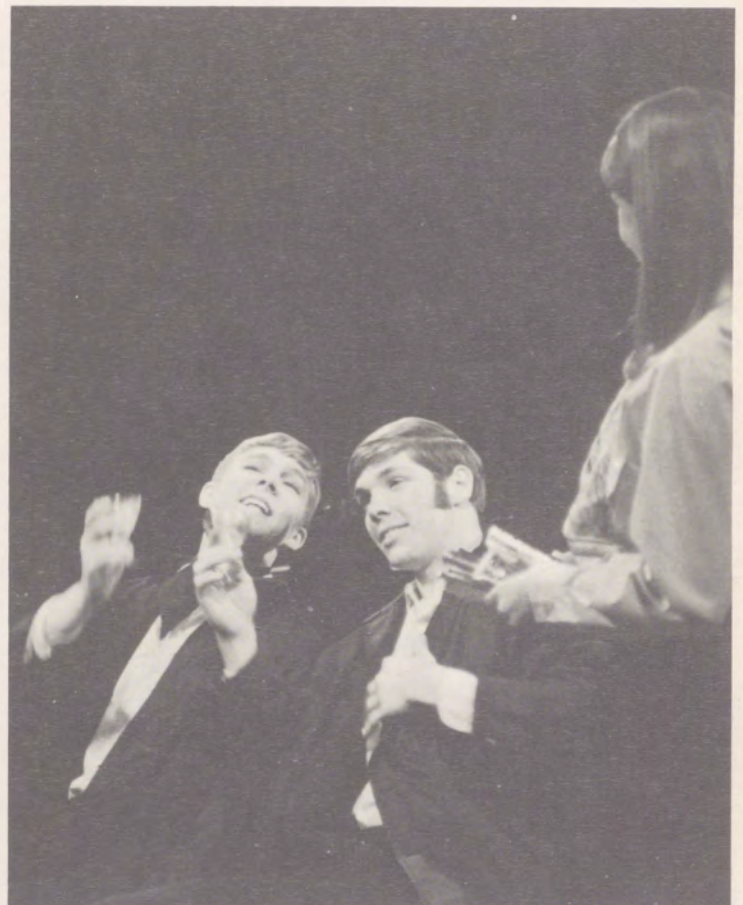

THURBER CARNIVAL

CAST. P. Bower, L. Cheney, T. DiFiore, T. DiFiore, D. Faulkner, M. Gillilan, K. Jenkins, J. Johnson, E. Josephson, R. Keller, M. Kmec, K. Kimmick, M. Leatham, L. Lyndes, S. MacDonald, J. McKinnon, E. Marian, B. McGahey, J. Murrell, L. Nesbitt, R. Nicklaus, T. Offutt, M. Pottenger, T. Sgro,

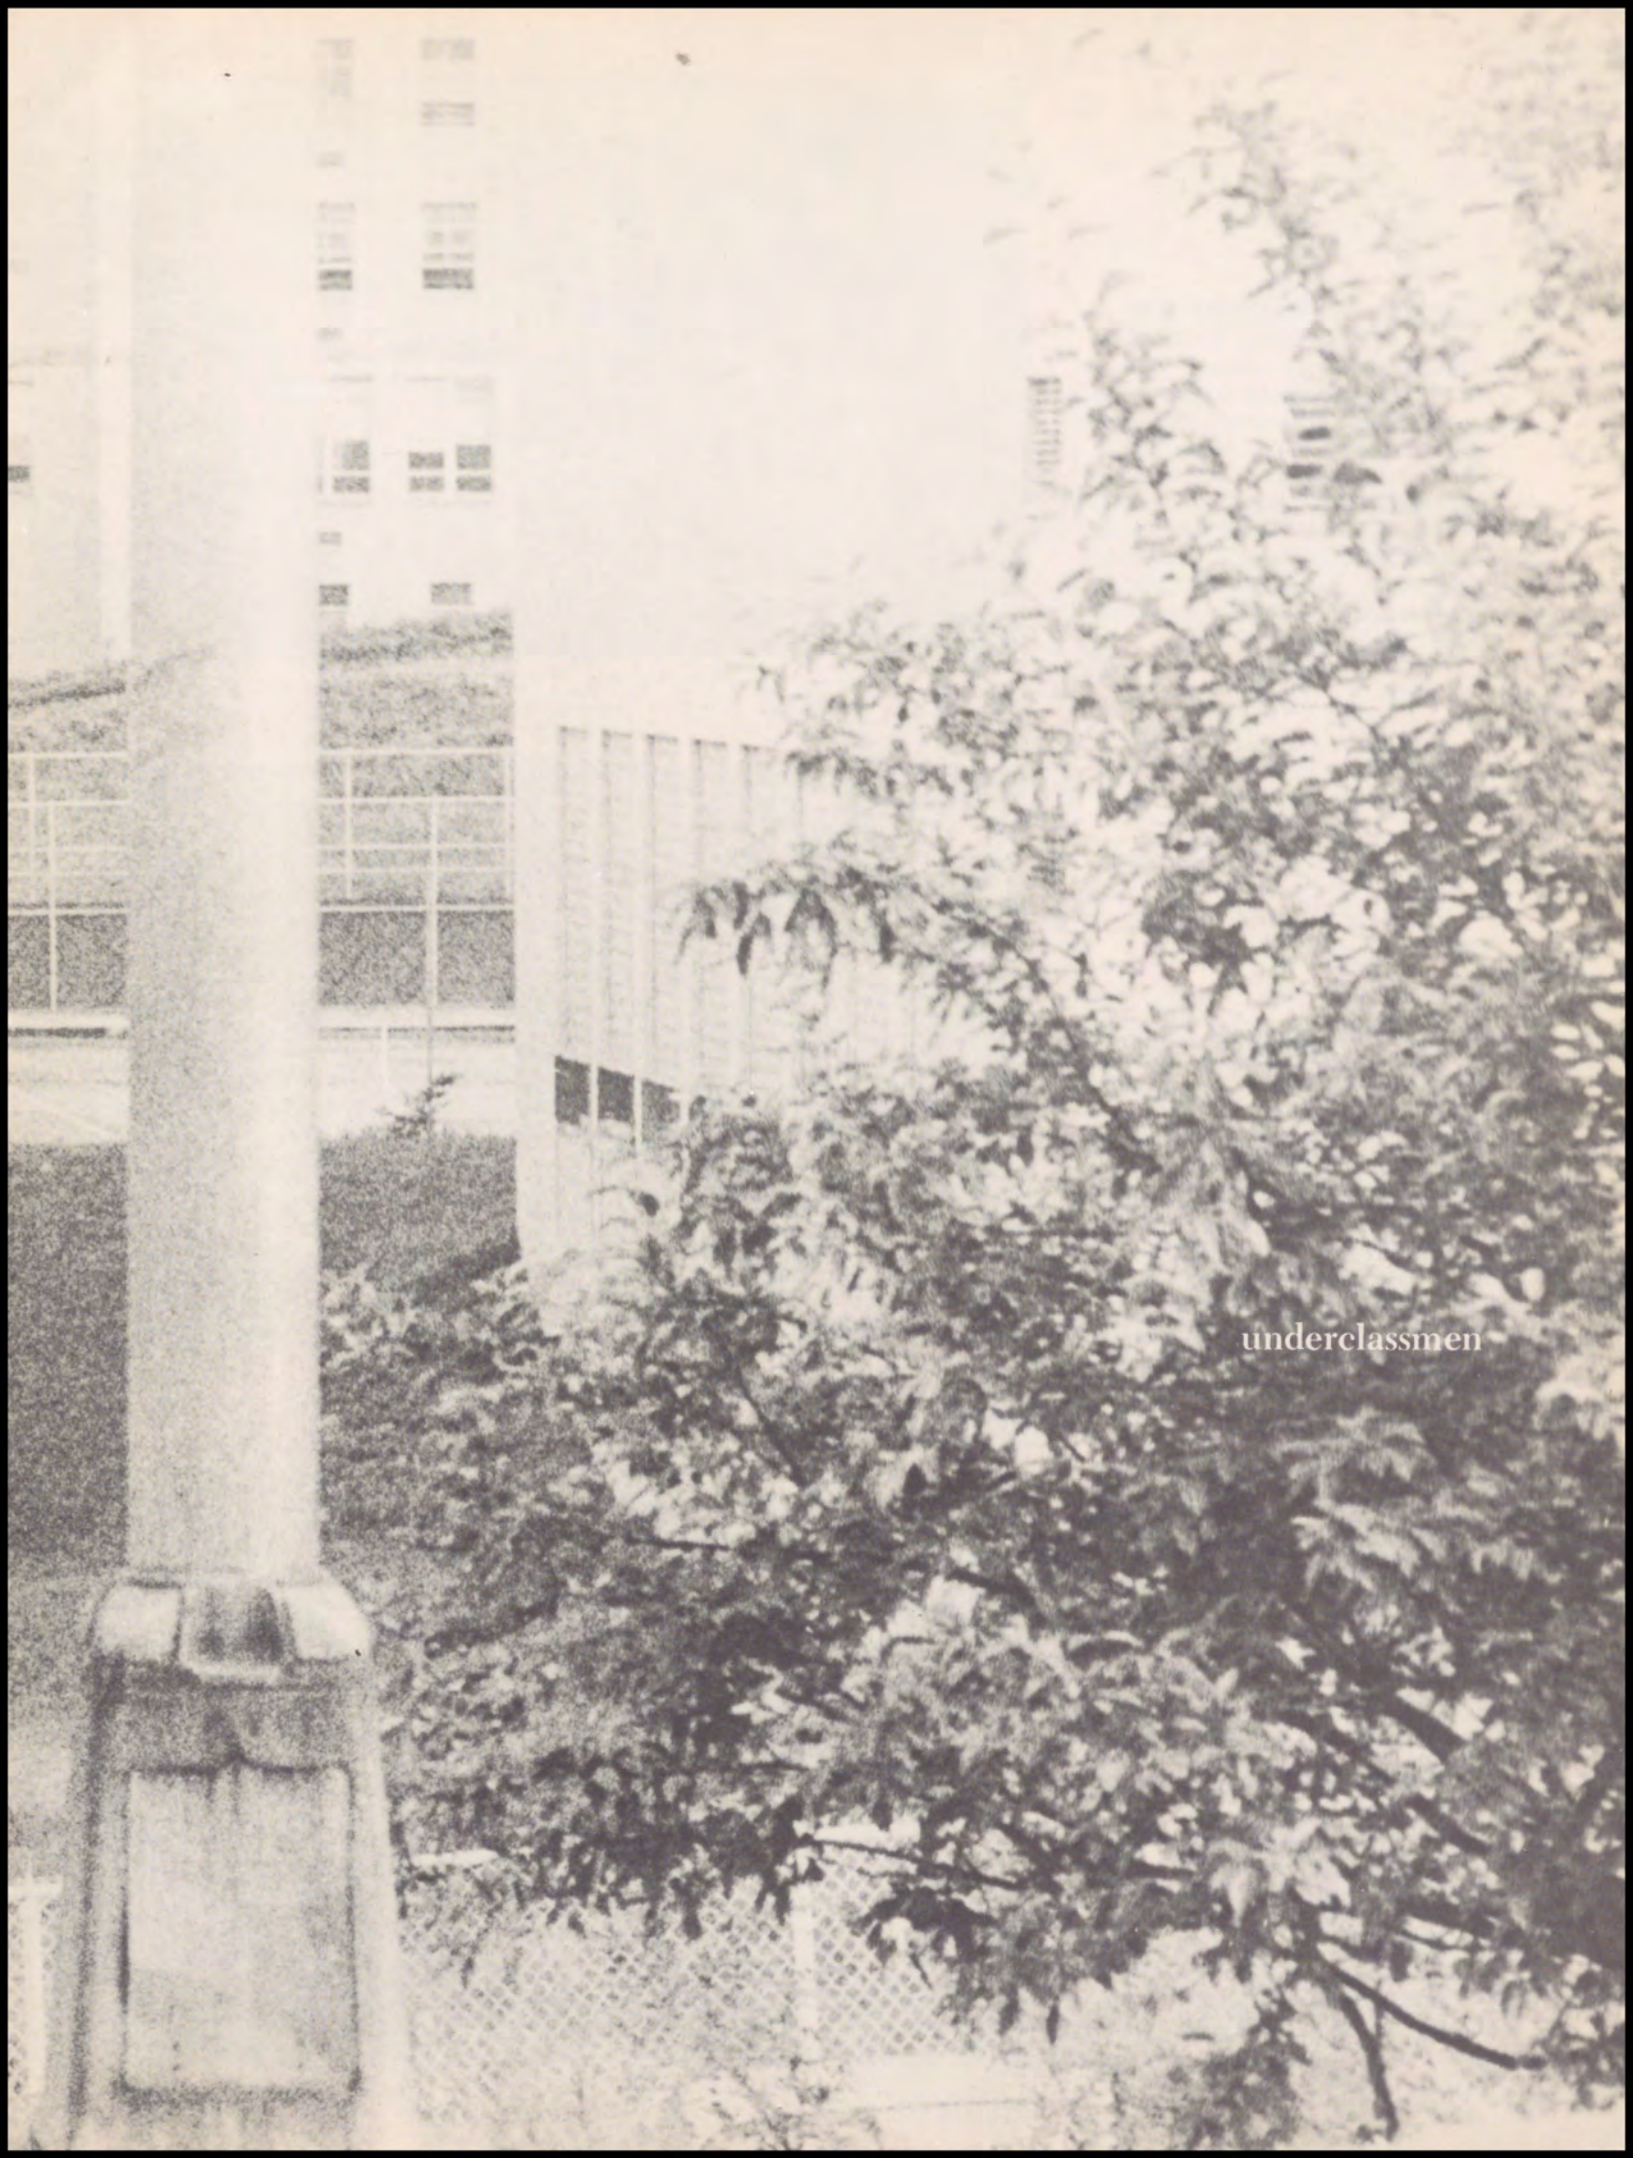

The Thespians' Backstage presentation of "A Thurber Carnival" delighted audiences with a cross section of skits depicting the many-sided talents and humor of James Thurber. The "Laugh-in" introduction immediately commanded the attention of everyone, but this was merely the beginning of a rewarding experience. Eric Josephson's hilarious appearance as the wolf, Mr. Preeble's (Don Faulkner) designs to bury his wife (Liz Cheney) in the cellar, J. Alfred Murrell's vain petitions to his publishers, in "File and Forget," to stop sending him Grandma was a Nudist and his very own rendition of The Secret Life of Walter Mitty highlighted the evening. And few can forget Thurber's thoughtful reflection upon man in "The Last Flower," as well as the simplicity and beauty of his own sketches. The versatile Thespians gave a truly memorable performance.

Everything is new when you're a sophomore. Oh sure, on orientation day you meet the student congress officers, find out what high school is "really" like, and get a five minute tour around the building. But once you're here you forget everything you were supposed to remember; you're totally lost. It's rough when you find yourself assigned to room 505 and there's no fifth floor. It's rougher when you find it takes you six minutes to get from the south gym to the third floor and you have to make it in five. Slowly but surely you begin to learn your way around and at last can say, "505? Oh, that's the Drivers' Ed. room." That crazy, mixed-up rotating schedule doesn't even confuse you. Now, you really belong!

BONFIRE

"Everyone bring in your boxes." You think it is just a joke. But when you arrive at the baseball field on Thursday night, you realize you've never seen so many boxes all in one place before. Everyone is huddled together, trying to keep warm. Finally, the fire is lit. At first you don't think it will stay lit because of the steady rain. But it gets brighter and bigger until it seems you can't see the top. You're so hot you have to move back to keep from getting burned. Then someone starts singing and everyone joins in. You form a circle around the fire and dance and cheer. The flame slowly begins to die down, along with your spirit. Even the rain seems wetter, and you suddenly realize you're damp and cold. As you climb into your car and turn on the heater, you keep saying, "I've never seen so many boxes before."

8:00 . . . you meet with the Student Art Committee. 8:15 . . . Student Congress. 10:45 . . . you spend study hall typing for the Lantern. 3:20 . . . you sell candy outside the Activities Office. 3:30 . . . you climb upstairs to an F.H.A. meeting. Somewhere in between clubs, committees, and publications you find time to sandwich in a few periods of school work. Evenings, you gab on the phone with friends, discussing other friends and what to do this weekend. You wear your class ring proudly and scream "Juniors" loudest in cafeteria pep rallies. You've stopped worrying about the newness of high school and haven't started worrying about college. Everything is settled, secure, and comfortable . . . till next September.

FOOTBALL

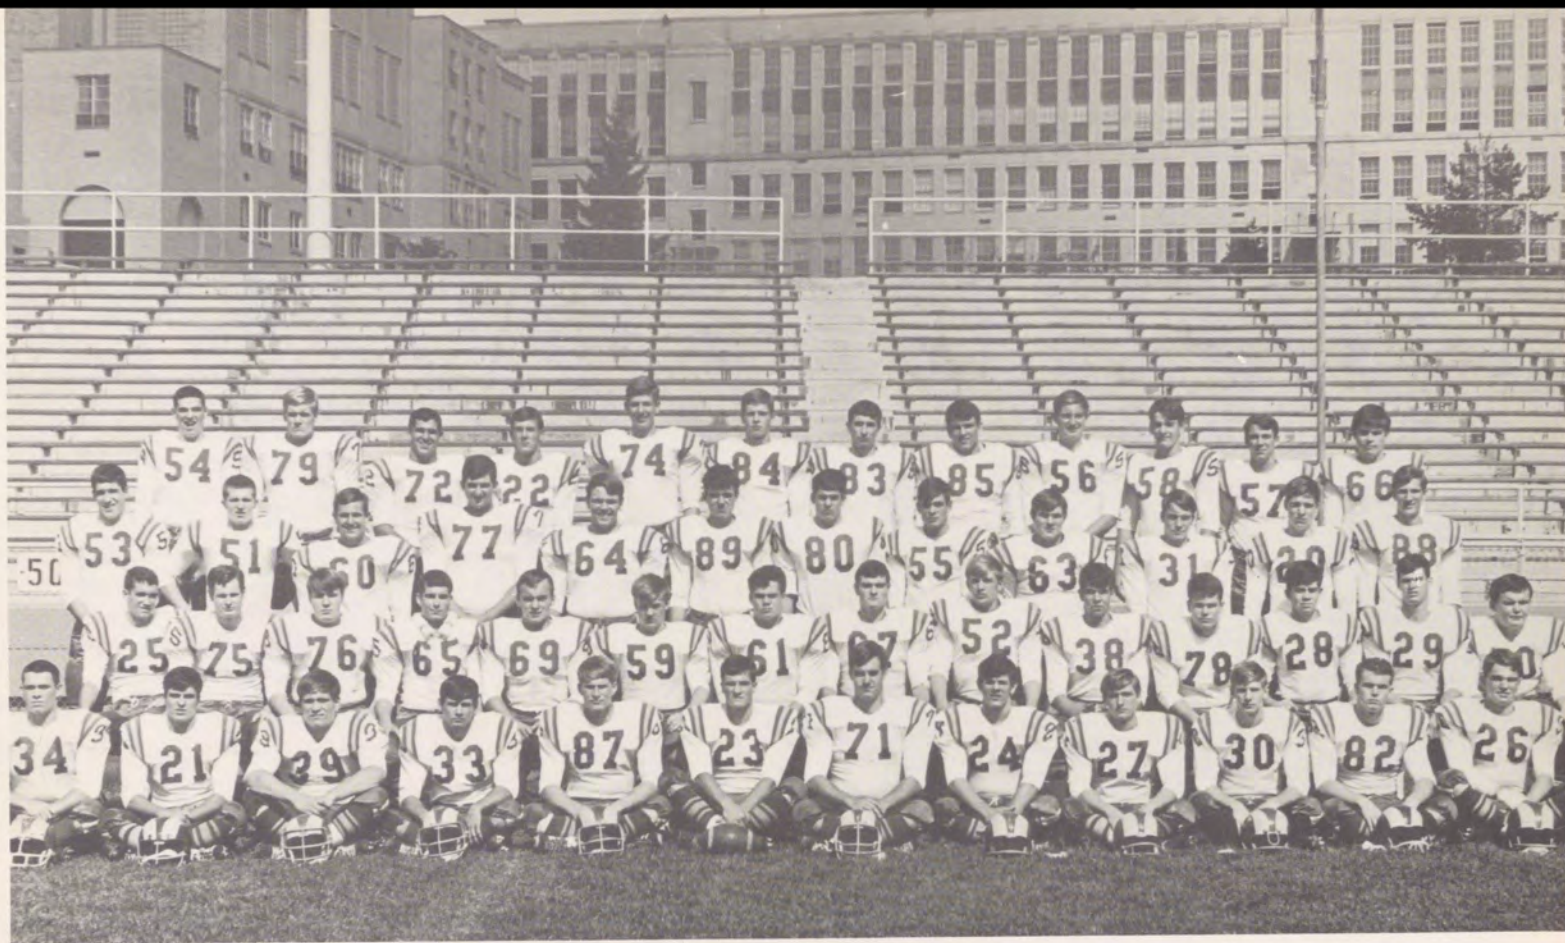

Summer is hot. Outside it's ninety-five degrees in the shade. Inside your practice sweats it feels more like a hundred and twenty. Sled drill. Ugh, grass drill. Back patterns. Offense. Defense. One-ounce rations of Gator-Aid. Lunch is free, but you don't eat much. You'd rather keep what you eat inside you. The daily trek to the trainer's room to get taped or take a whirlpool. Valecenti and Sunseri doing the ONE-TWO cheer to calisthenics. A promised weekend of free Slushies if you win Western Conference. Mr. Stanish's jokes. At the end of the day you're tired, dirty, and you smell raunchy. But it's not over. Chalk talk. Films. Scrimmaging your own team. Dress rehearsal. All those hours and hours of practice add up to just one thing: GAME TIME — 8:15!

VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM. ROW 1: D. Howard, D. Hart, R. Smith, A. Walker, B. Cox, R. Bennett, G. Jacoby, R. Miller, L. Ali, D. Beckus, P. Tillson, M. Whipkey. ROW 2: C. Hazlett, R. Sharkey, K. Montour. The first game is away for the first time in Lebo's history. You're tense as you put on your dress blue's. Your stomach turns. This is going to be a rough one. It's the first half and you're doing okay. Two touchdowns and Montour's scoreless. But in the second half the Spartan offense breaks loose and scores twice. It's the Blue Devils' ball. The bench is on its feet. Fourth down. "GO GO GO GO . . ." In the end it's 14-12 Montour. The locker room after the game . . . Silence. You know you'll never taste defeat again.

Home field. You've got to reassert yourself and the Black Hawks are a rival to beat. It's a warm night. A little too warm for Bethel. 12-0 and Bethel's all banged up.

Tromping Trinity on their own field, 26-0, is cake. "VI-CIOUS, ARE WE VICIOUS . . ." You drive the bus driver crazy, pass all the buses, and are the first ones home.

Spirit is really running high for the big Canon-Mac game. The Big Macs hit hard and score the first TD. They manage to hold you scoreless until one second before half-time, when Rod Smith recovers a fumble on the two and lopes ninety-eight yards for the touchdown. In the third quarter, the Big Macs hammer their way through a rugged Lebo defense for their second TD. 14-6. "GET TOUGH YOU MOUNTIES, GET TOUGH!" Alan Walker runs around end, the twenty, the fifteen, the ten. The score is 14-13. Things are really tense. Your hands are clammy and your feet slip as you crouch in the lowest possible stance. Fourth down goal to go. Less than one minute and the clock's still ticking . . . "CAKES DON'T CRUMBLE, CAKES DON'T CRUMBLE, CAKES DON'T CRUMBLE" . . . The snap. Hart swings wide to pass. Mike Walsh cuts to the end zone. The pass arches high. TOUCHDOWN! 20-14. You get carried off the field. It's a wild locker room after the game.

Washington at home. The Lebo powerhouse is rolling again. 26-13. You can sit back and calmly watch the game as Lebo makes it four in a row.

It's no contest at Char-Valley. The Colts aren't ready for a big surprise — a Blue Devil passing attack. The first TD is a pass from Hart to Walsh in the end zone. The Colts scrape up a

TD. But Lebo gains six points as Jake Jacoby pounces on the blocked kick attempt in the Colt end zone. Late in the first half Rod Smith breaks loose and saunters eighty yards for the TD. In the second half Alan Walker scores on a run. The final score stands 26-6, five in a row.

Undefeated Uniontown. Away. The team is really high for this one. It's a long, silent bus ride. When you get there you're greeted by "We just love home games." on the locker room blackboard. Yeah? Just wait! Lebo breaks loose in the first minutes of the game. Alan Walker scores the first TD on a long run. Pat Roach converts. It's 7-0, but not for long. The Raiders drive for a TD and it's 7-7. "GO GO GO GO . . ." Rod Smith runs for daylight and it's 14-7. The Raiders fight hard and score again in the third quarter, but they miss the PAT and the score is 14-13. You're feeling kind of queasy. "KNOCK 'EM OUT, KNOCK 'EM OUT, KNOCK 'EM OUT OF WPIAL." Your own thirty-five. Hart fades back to pass. The ball soars 45 yards and hits Alan Walker in full stride past the thirty. You knocked 'em out of WPIAL. 21-13. The entire Lebo crowd dances in ecstasy on the field. "Yeah, we sure do love home games!"

Baldwin at home. It's cold, windy and rainy. You're mud-coated after the kickoff. You try to play football. It's rough. You're not sure if your feet are there because you can't feel them. The first half is scoreless. Second half. Highlanders fumble, Lebo recovers. Lebo fumbles, Highlanders recover. First downs are scarce. At the end of the entire nightmarish mess the score is still 0-0. You're not hurting though. You've still won that Western Conference championship.

Keystone Oaks at home. You comply with the pre-game activities and stab your mother with her mum. You're out there for a long time. Somebody takes your picture. You're restless. You shift your feet. You'd much rather play football. Finally, the kickoff. It's a great last game. 44-0, the icing on the cake. You've got the Western Conference, You've got a great team with really great guys. You know what? You're happy.

CROSS COUNTRY

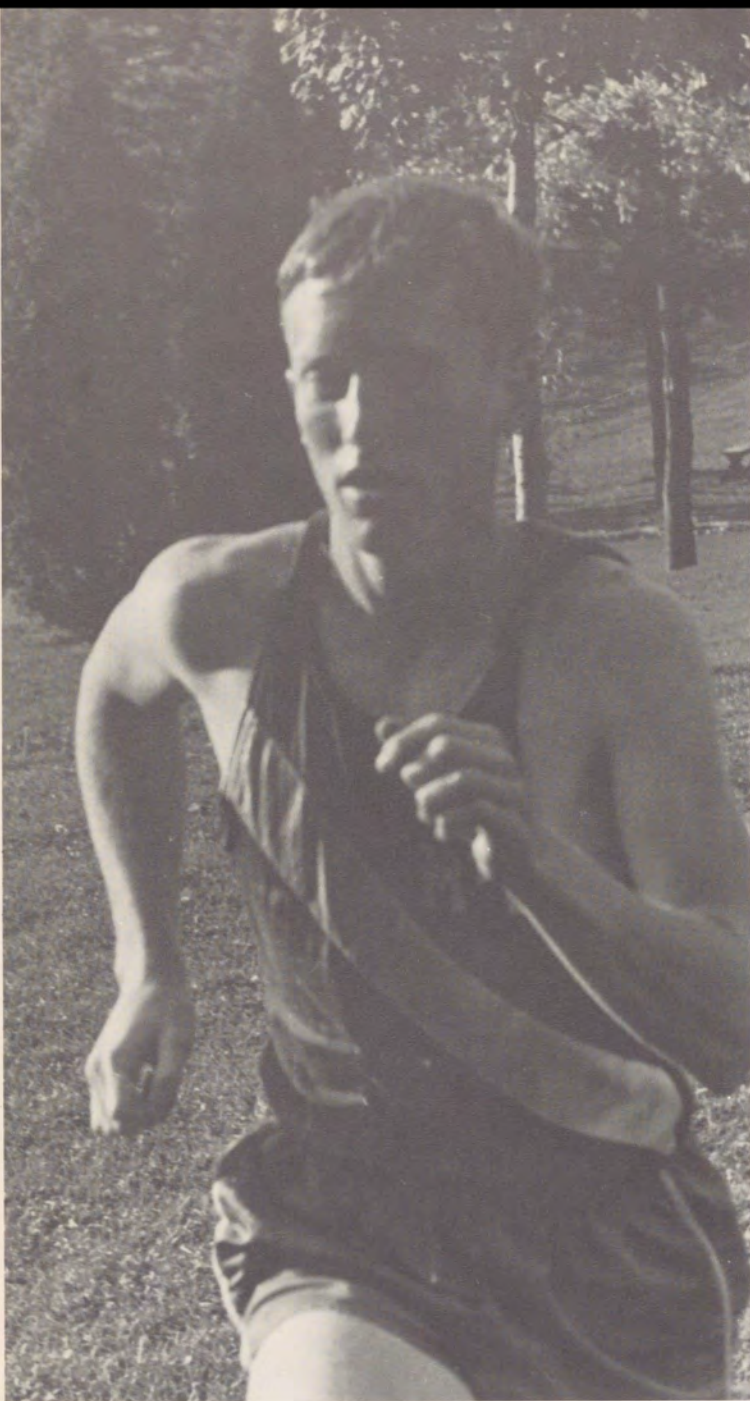

VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY: ROW 1: C. Colver, L. Kalankiewicz, D. Wright, J. Hornor. ROW 2: B. O'Connor, D. Szabat, J. Barker, G. Housley. Missing from picture: M. Beachler, D. Bigs.

J.V. CROSS COUNTRY. ROW 1: T. Wich, G. Dewey, J. Cameron, M. Carr, B. Davies, T. Heberling. ROW 2: Mr. Tolar, D. Hegeman, S. Jones, J. Hein, J. Hornor, P. Josephson.

You belong to a team whose members range in height from under five feet to over six. You can be skinny or stocky. But you've got to work hard on Cross Country. Up the hill. Down the hill. Around the circle. Run. Pant. Pace your speed easy and even. You've got to save enough strength for a final surge to the finish line. When it's all over, you're dead tired. You're also Western Conference champions.

RIFLE

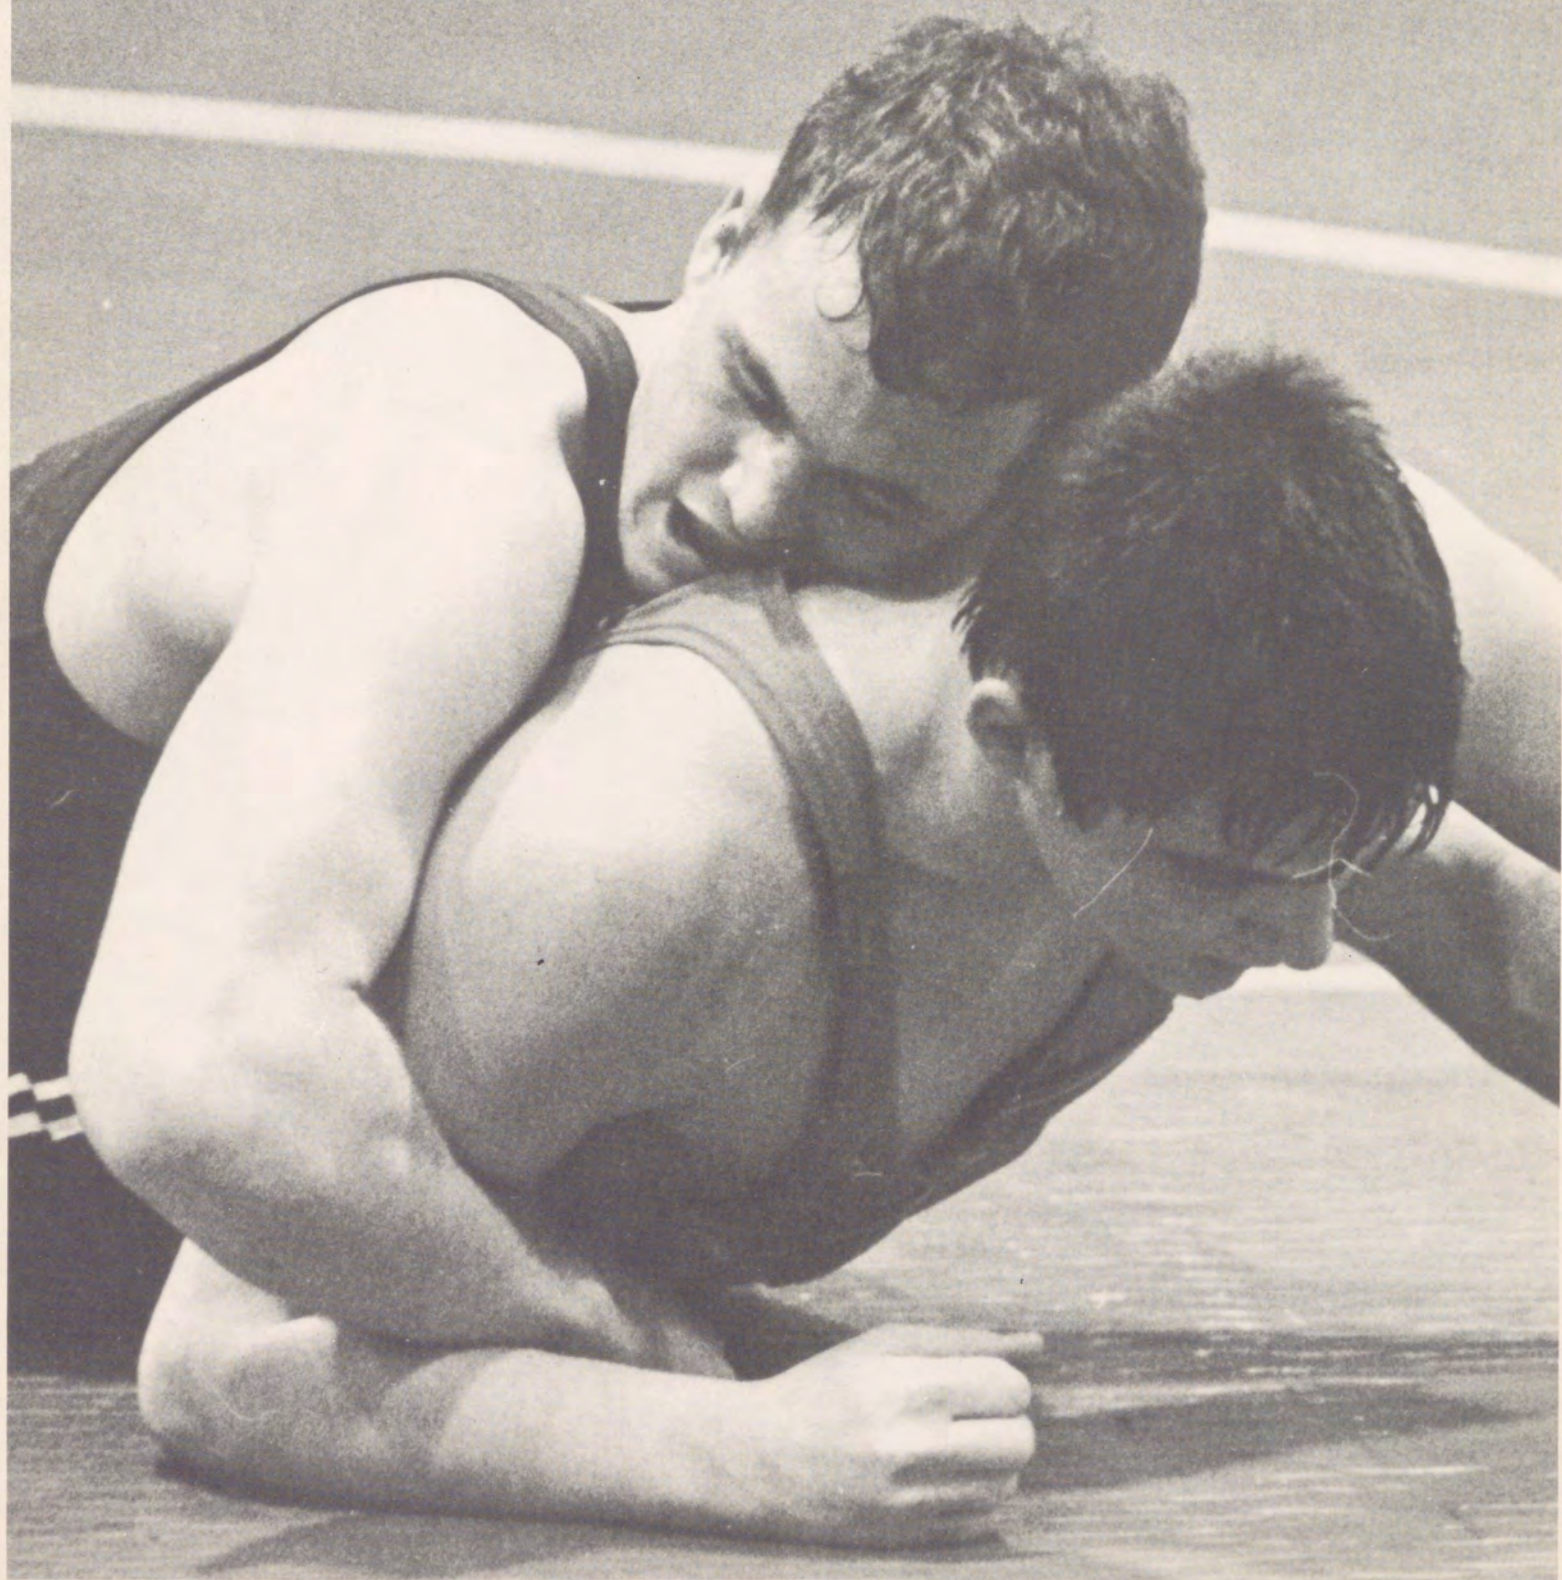

RIFLE TEAM. ROW 1: K. Stevens, S. Azen, N. Miller, M. Starr, N. Leathers, P. Adams, J. Ramsey, B. Brownlee, R. Shore. ROW 2: S. Greene, O. Oliver, P. Landefeld, A. McCandless, M. Leathum, L. McCown, M. Terry, K. Yorke, J. Evans, B. Beck, C. Hankey, Mr. Neal.

"Do you know where the rifle room is?" "Nope, do you?" "Uh-uh." "I heard somebody say once that it's behind a broom closet or something." "That's a funny place to put a rifle range." Funny or not, that's where it is — behind a broom closet. You can find it by the pungent smell of gunpowder, crunchy footsteps on empty shells, or the sharp CRACK of a gun.

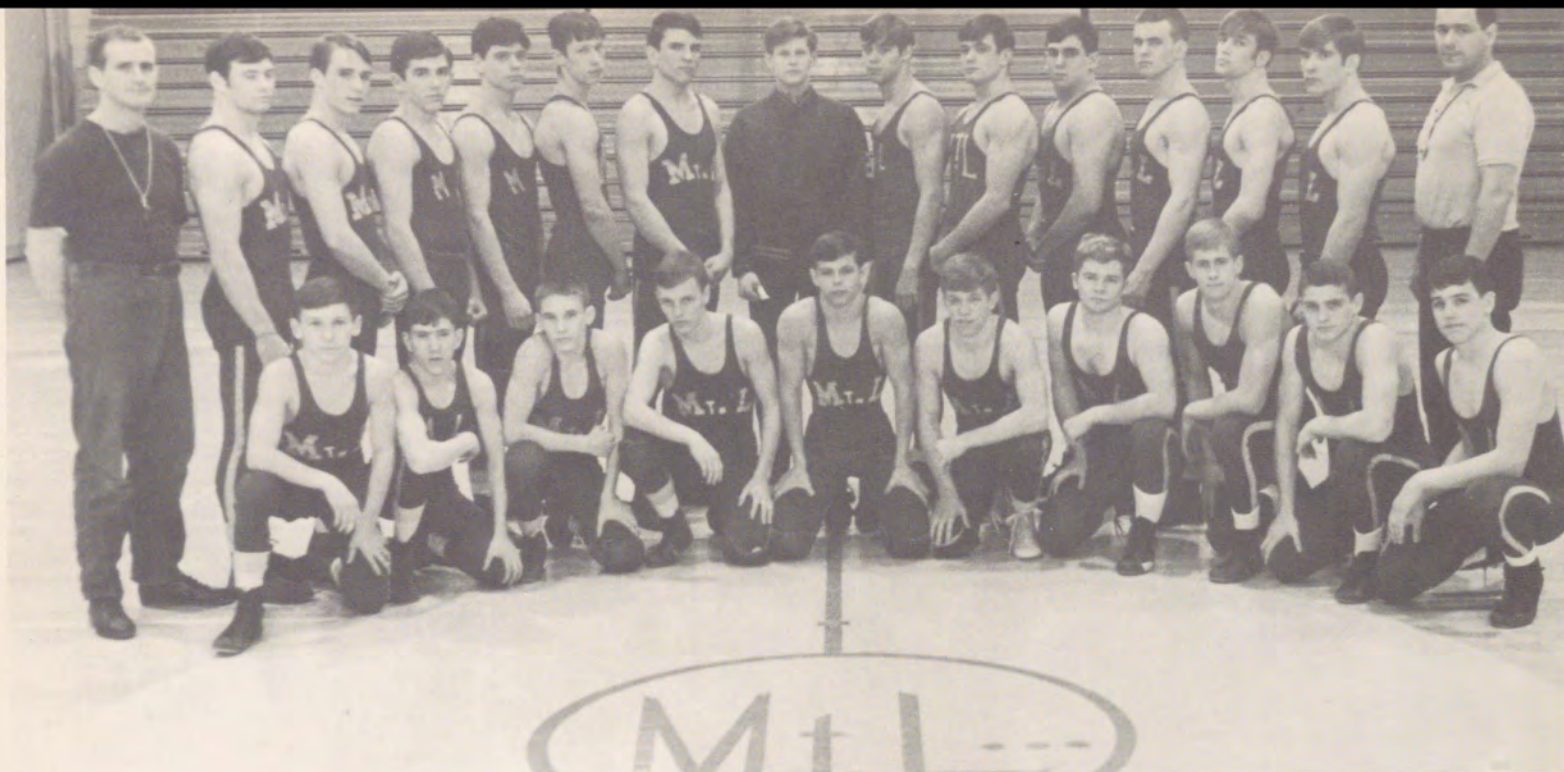

You've got to hit that tiny bull's-eye on that little target fifty feet away. Everything is black except for an endless glare illuminating the target area. You sprawl out on the floor — eye patch, pads, rifle and ammunition. "Are you ready? Load your rifles. Commence firing." Concentrate. Sometimes it gets to you, the harsh glare, squinting through the site, the target. When it does, you feel kind of sick. But when you start racking up those bulls-eyes — who cares?

WRESTLING

VARSITY WRESTLING TEAM. ROW 1: V. Barnhart, H. Wardell, D. Hicks, M. McGough, K. Hatcher, J. Vockel, J. Volkwein, D. Brindle, G. Jones, R. Eisele, ROW 2: Mr. Jones, A. Walker, L. McKeithan, B. Henry, D. Anderson, J. Cullison, D. Waltz, M. Robinson, J. Kropf, L. Sullivan, J. Caramanna, P. Tillson, T. Bouyoucas, R. Smith, Mr. Lamprinakos.

Ten Lebo grapplers placed first in their weight class in the Sectional Tournaments. In addition, Alan Walker, Ted Bouyoucas, Paul Tillson, Rod Smith, and Jim Caramanna placed in the WPIAL finals at Pitt Field House. Tillson, Smith, and Caramanna, as Regional Champions, represented Mt. Lebanon at the State finals. Rod Smith was State Champion in the 185 pound weight class.

Besides individual honors, the team compiled an undefeated and outstanding record. The most thrilling match of the season was Trinity at home, when a packed gym watched the Lebo matmen handily defeat the threatening Trojans. After this crucial test, the team went on to win the Western Conference Tournament, Section I Championship and the WPIAL championship.

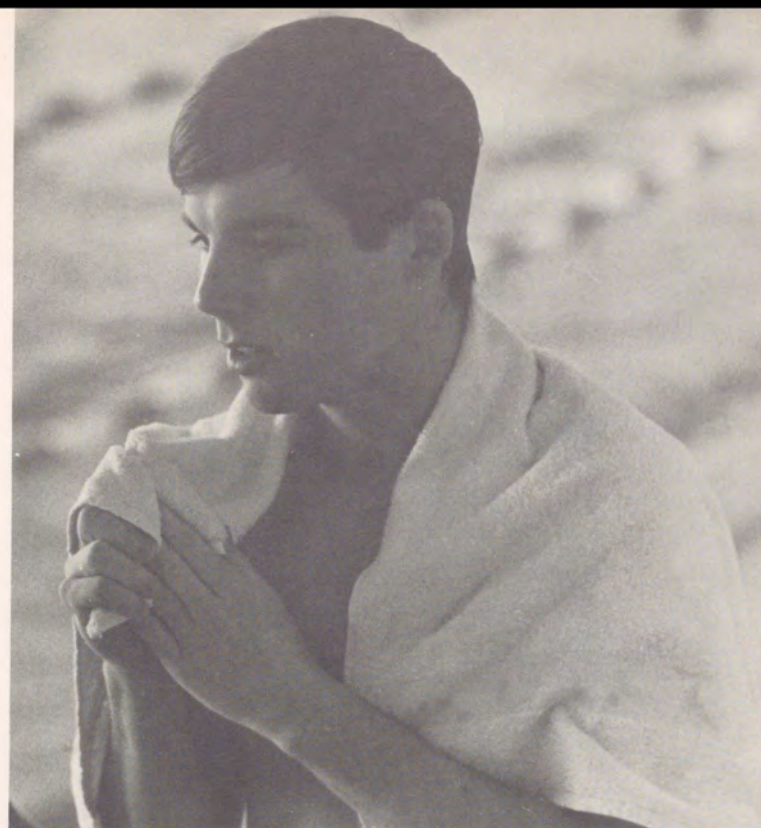

J.V. WRESTLING TEAM. ROW 1: H. Wardell, P. Theodore, C. Hillegass, D. Gray, T. Cline, R. Jones, D. Wilson, G. McHugh. ROW 2: Mr. Jones, T. Miller, I. Houck, J. Standish, B. Rucker, C. Bonn, L. McCafferty, W. Sutherland, B. Souder, J. Johns, C. Ferguson, M. Henry. Missing from picture: B. Robinson, R. Mong.

SWIMMING

The 1969 swimming team compiled a most impressive list of individual honors. Bill Bruegmann took a 2nd place in the 400 yard relay in the District 7 WPIAL meet. Chris Douglass placed 5th in diving events in WPIAL and 7th in the State Championship meet. Bruce Weston placed 7th in the 200 yard individual medley at State, bettering the record by 6/10 of a second. Tracy Connor, in backstroke, and Simon Solomon, in freestyle, were WPIAL alternates to the State Championship meet.

To achieve the precisioned, well-disciplined movements vital to a good swimmer, the team swam daily more miles than most people walk in a week.

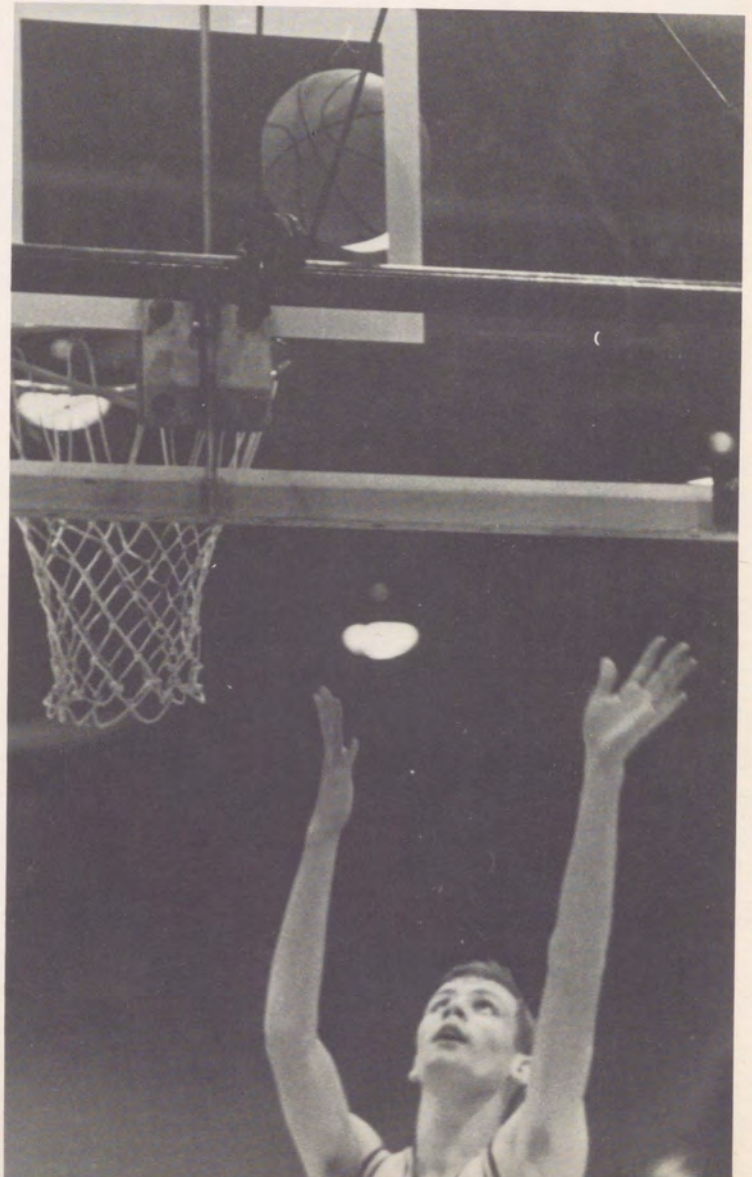

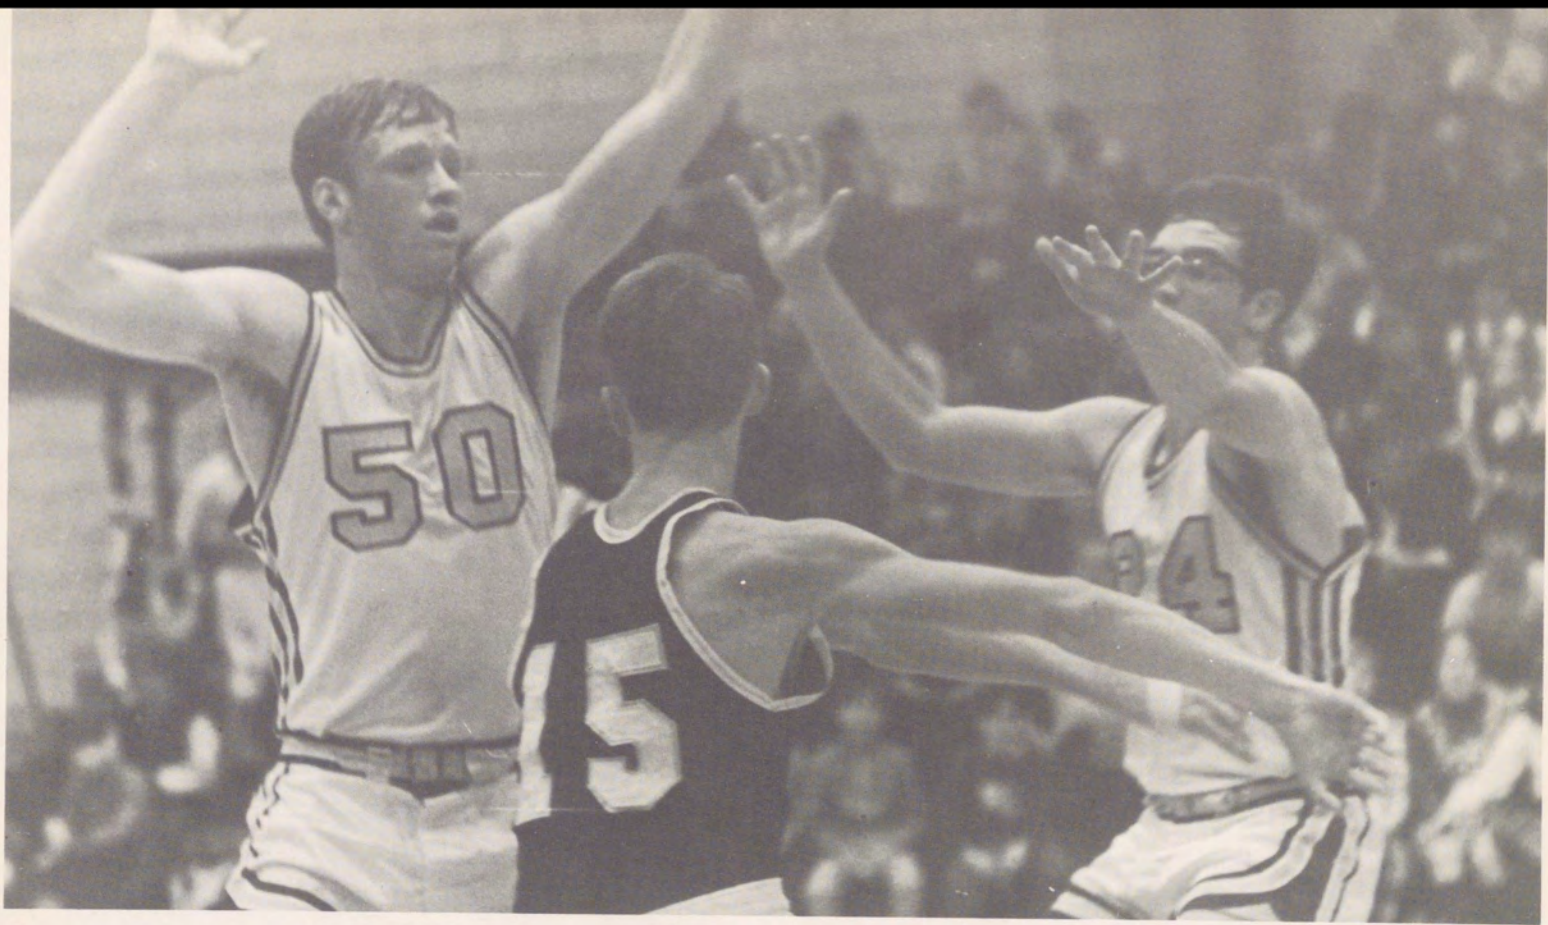

BASKETBALL

They call it Black Magic. You know, that little something that turns a ball club of average players into a great team. Bates, Bennett, Viviano, Young, Cipriano, Amdur, and Opperman come out on the floor and really mean business. It's the special spirit that enables the team to hold on and fight when losing or that uncanny skill that sinks the winning basket just as the buzzer signals the end of overtime. Whatever it is — it works, bringing home a ninth straight section 9-A title. Black Magic? You could call it that. But why not call it a great team, too.

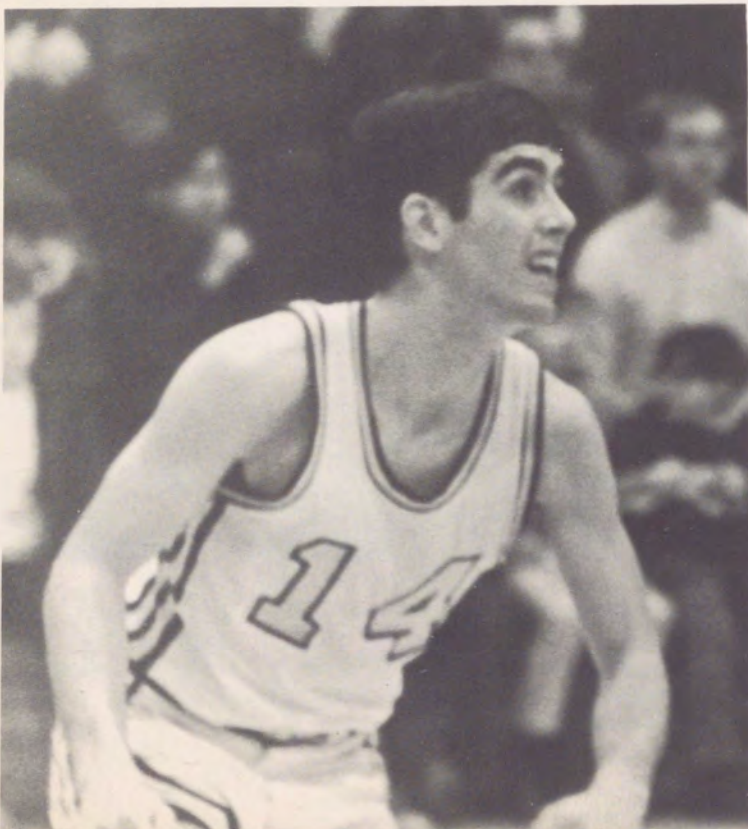

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM. ROW 1: J. Bates, R. Bennett, J. Findley, E. Cipriano, T. George, J. Kerber, A. Young, ROW 2: Coach Black, Mgr. Alterman, S. Viviano, D. Terek, N. Opperman, E. Amdur, D. Schoepner, D. Clare, Mgr. Fields, Coach Helfman.

J.V. BASKETBALL TEAM. ROW 1: J. Marshall, D. Moritz, M. Doherty, T. Jurik, J. Beachler, K. Bird. ROW 2: K. Wood, J. Hein, C. Altman, C. Seltzer, J. Schelbe, A. Janto, J. Corbett, Coach Helfman.

TRACK

J.V. TRACK TEAM. FRONT ROW: B. Bosley, B. Beck, C. Wheeler, R. Hampton, G. Housley, B. O'Connor, D. Volmerich, J. Crissman, D. Chambers, D. Walsh, K. Brown. ROW 2: L. Hartford, J. McMahon, J. Spear, B. Frank, M. Rosenthal, S. Wylie, J. Hoolan, E. Croxon, N. Bechus, D. Hegeman, R. Hixenbaugh, J. Barker, D. Fasulo. ROW 3: J. Laboon, K. Kirtland, B. Ryan, B. Hubbard, J. Kodish, T. Heberling, J. Pellow, C. Oliver, D. Schafer, M. Challenger, D. Szabot, K. Wentzel, J. Horner, C. Colver, R. Sharkey, G. Bossart, T. Kleinman, J. Neal. ROW 4: Coach Bergman, M. Silver, J. Dulis, T. Applebe, H. LaRue, F. Vissatt, M. Carr, J. Wyerman, M. Sullivan, T. Hagy, B. Steverman, P. Dietrich, T. Kennedy, M. Lester, B. Fisher.

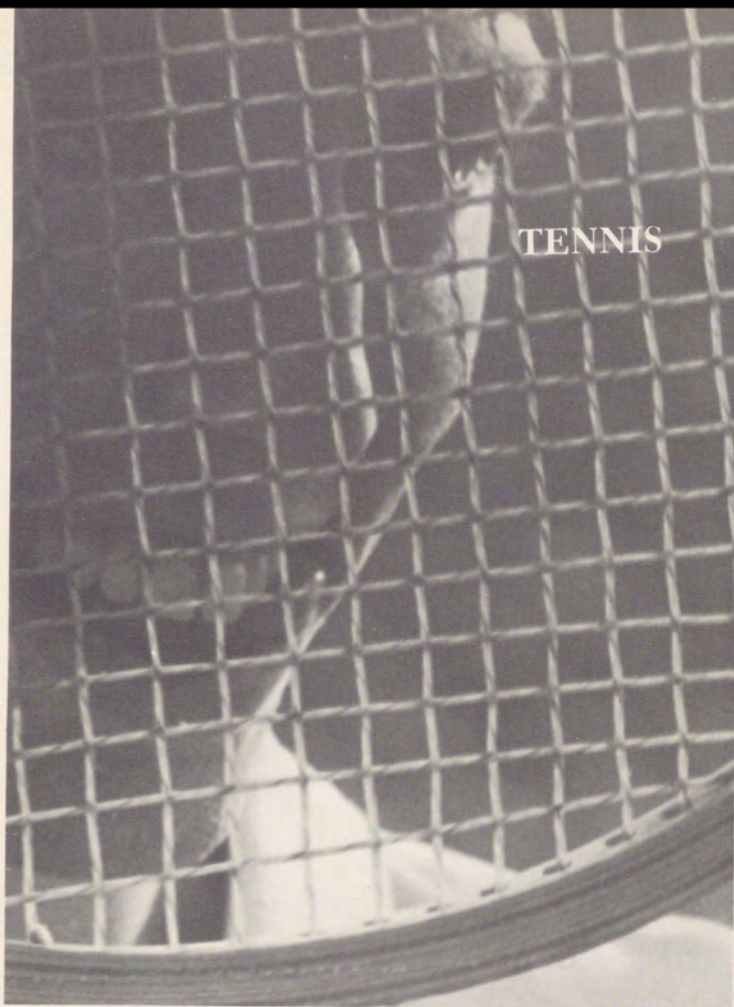

"Hey guys, you can't have a track meet in the rain." "Yeah? Well, we had nearly ALL of ours in the rain!" We started off the season playing army in the pit room under the stadium. Weather conditions as they were, it didn't take too long for our uniforms to grow mold. The meets were really disguised endurance tests. How many healthy growing boys do you know who could survive on one sandwich and one orange per all day track meet? Running the 440 and 880 relays in soggy suits was really rough. Everyone got mud baths free of charge.

Well, the big WPIAL meet was scheduled for our own track. We thought maybe . . . but no, it rained harder than ever. The track was one heck of a place to hold a swimming meet. The starting gun was so waterlogged that it "plppd" instead of "banged." We treaded water, sloshed mud, and literally splashed our way to the WPIAL crown. But by then we were too wet and too tired to care much about anything except a hot shower and some food.

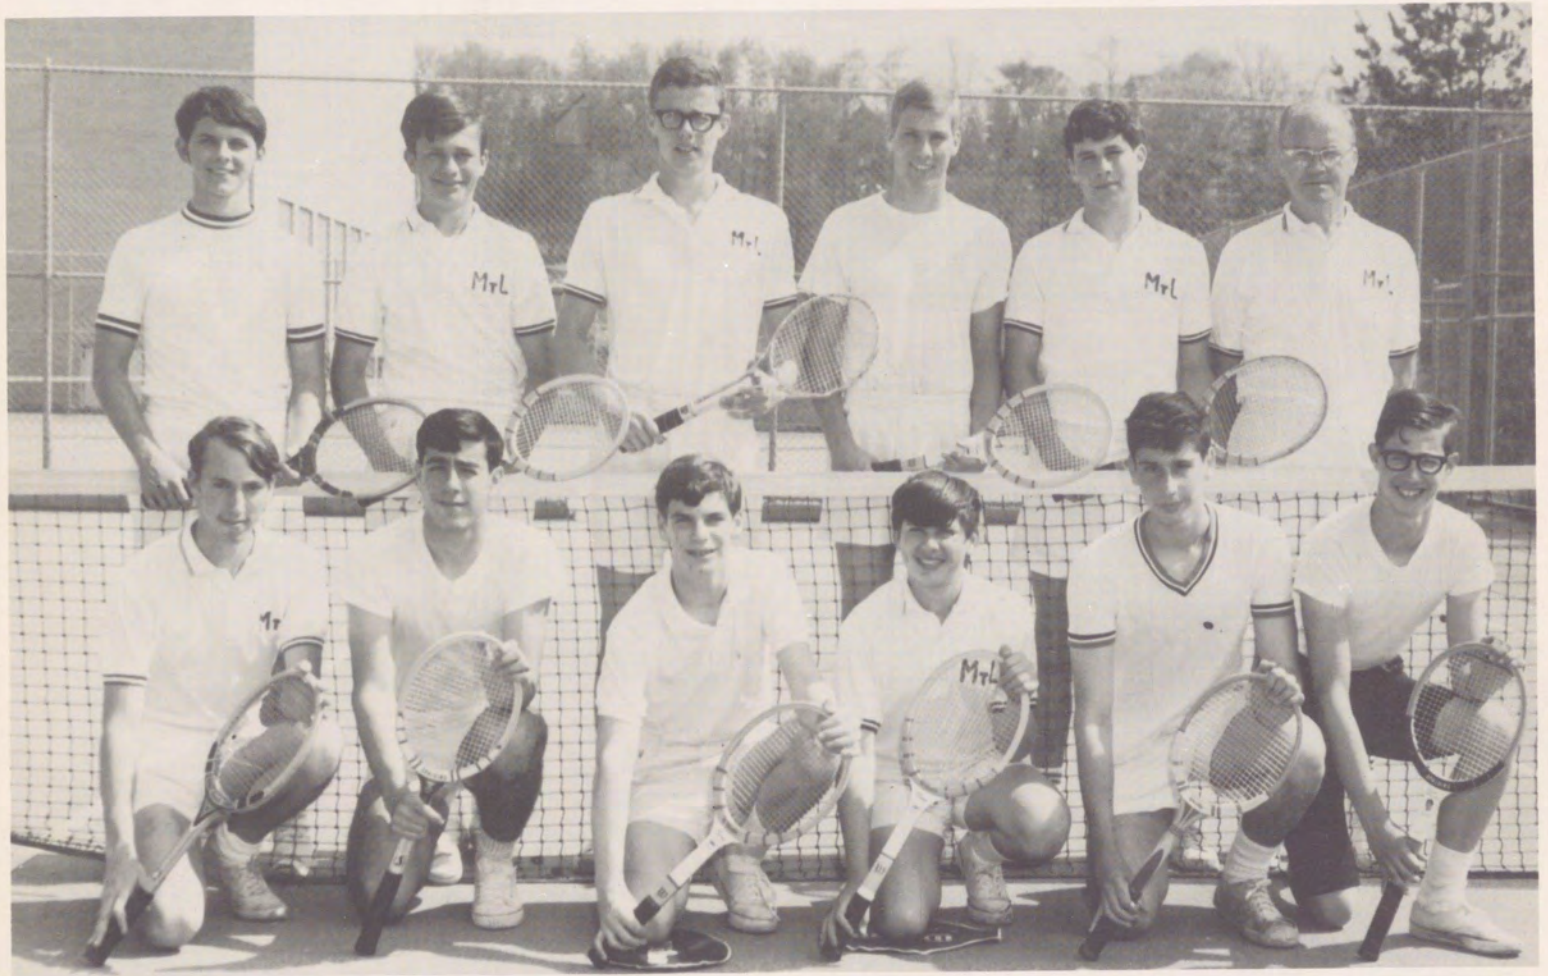

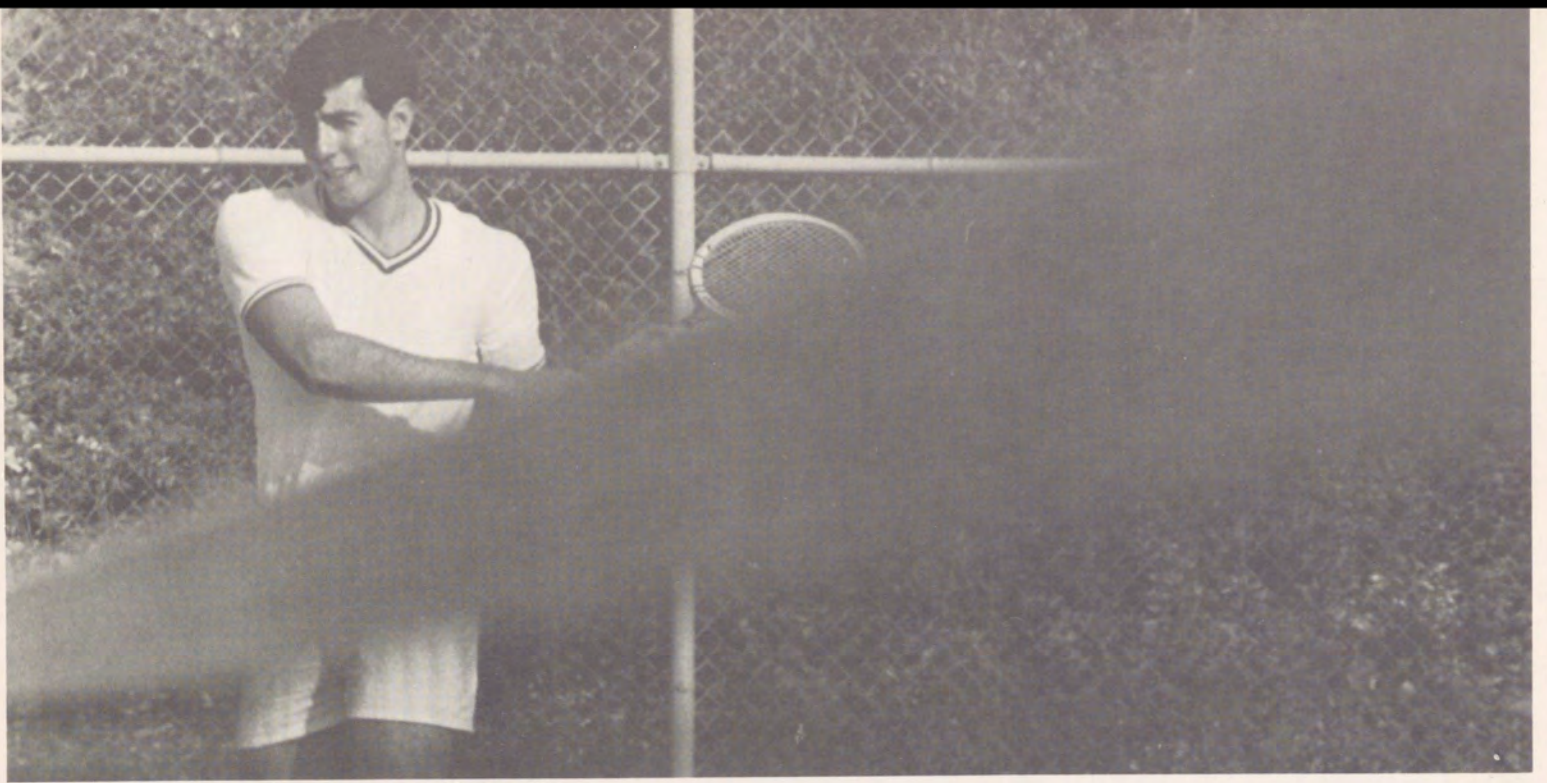

TENNIS

Let's face it—tennis just isn't built up to be a glamorous, he-man sport. But that doesn't mean tennis doesn't take skill and hard work. We sweat too. Besides there is a lot of responsibility placed on the individual team member. We're all by ourselves out there in the courts.

But we didn't win the WPIAL crown individually. It was a team effort. What a fantastic season! 17 wins and 0 losses. Bob Bennett and Bill Sagan were even State Doubles Champs.

So what if our uniforms look like underwear. We sure didn't win that trophy for being best dressed. We won it because we had a great team.

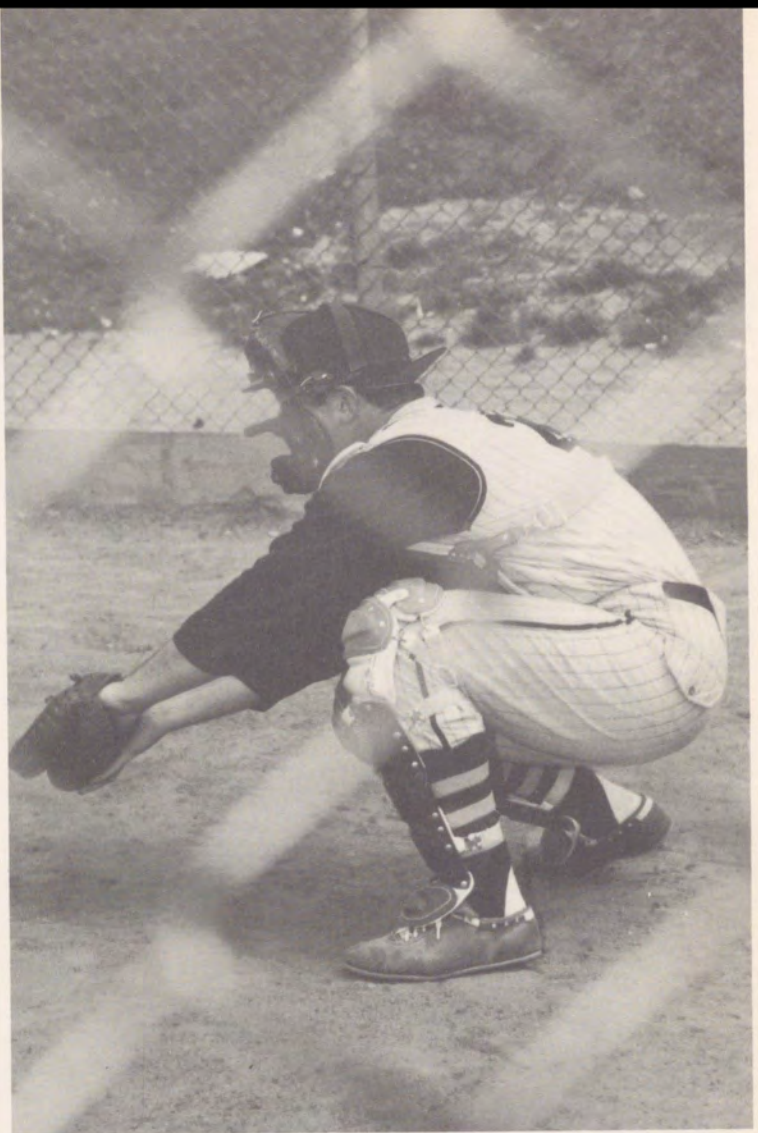

TENNIS TEAM. FRONT ROW: J. Gorin, L. Abromovitz, P. Wilson, D. Dundics, P. Herrup, H. Curzer. ROW 2: D. Aderholt, T. Huzella, B. Sagan, C. Rowe, B. Bennett, Mr. Doak.

BASEBALL

Considering that half our games were rained out, we had a rather good season. Thomas Jefferson was our biggest game; it was close, but we lost. We made up for it though when we slammed the high top tennis shoes and black socks Peters Township farmers out of the ball park.

Coach Clark worked us hard in practice, but it paid off. Somehow tossing "the Can" around in center field really got us stimulated for a big game. We only lost four. But you can't win 'em all.

GOLF

GOLF TEAM. B. Landman, E. Moore, T. Shannon, W. Llewellyn, T. Ultsch.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM. ROW 1: A. Coughanour, L. Schwartz, B. Hartsough, M. O'Connor, P. Hunt. ROW 2: K. Coyne, P. Phares, R. Kane, C. Frank, M. Bowers. ROW 3: M. Wick, P. LaValla, C. Freeberg, G. Stephens, Miss Hutchison. ROW 4: B. Beckman, A. Alexander, M. Gordon, M. McGough, L. Hindmarsh, J. Benson, K. Mathison, J. Schenck.

You and the team are on the way to the big game. The bus is quiet. The coach calls out, "Five minutes till destination." You pull out your comb and compact and get ready. That's just about the biggest difference between girls' sports and boys' sports. You work as hard as the boys. Sometimes it feels as if you work a lot harder. As a girl you put a little extra pzazz in a sport.

Exciting. Tense. Funny. That's girls' sports.

69. Everywhere you look is the number 69 . . . on the windows of the school, the scoreboard, the cheerleaders and Blue Devils, and even on the back sides of the senior Rockettes. '69 and your senior recognition football game is finally here.

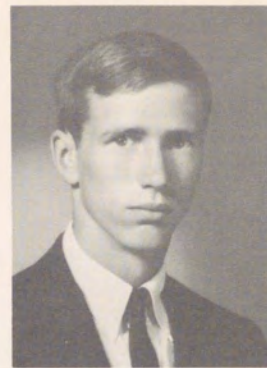

It is your turn to wear the yellow mum and have the underclassmen recognize you as a senior. 69! You feel a chill go through you as the band plays the "Alma Mater" for the last time, and marches off the field in a 69 formation playing, "Cake, Cake for Mt. Lebanon High." You let everyone around you know that you are a senior. You actually know all the football players as they are introduced. The game begins; the score mounts. At half time Jackie Fletcher, our first homecoming queen, and Ellen Harding, the runner-up, receive roses. In the second half Lebo's points keep adding up and you secretly hope the score will be 69-0. You think about the Rec dance after the game, which is for "seniors only." But you really don't want the game to end, because it is the last football game for the great senior class of 1969.

What do seniors do . . . to beat the boredom? Seniors get involved. They go to the Hill to tutor. They express themselves with music. They spend a weekend skiing. And in general they make their last year before college the most exciting of their lives.

Gym class affords you, the typical 210 pound Lebo he-man, a welcome relief from the humid inactivity of academic pursuit. And if the instructor is in a thoroughly acid mood, because some nut broke the parallel bars, all the better — that means so much more good, healthy exercising. He leads the class outside, where the mercury is at a refreshing 19 (with a wind speed of about forty). After an excruciating effort including fifty jumping-jacks, thirty sit-ups, twenty-five push-ups, and a couple of squat-thrusts thrown in for good measure, he is ready to begin the soccer lesson, and you are ready to begin a hot shower. Half an hour later, you finally get the shower, and though your strength seems totally absorbed, you hurriedly dress and scamper for the secure tranquility of math class. Oh, well, it beats co-ed crab-soccer. Doesn't it?

They were friends. You could tell cause they always walked the halls together before school. And together they stood around the publications office laughing, talking, and watching other students go by. They shared chemistry notes, brought each other pencils, worried together about the same things, watched the same TV shows, and together they joined the same clubs. They graduated together, went on to college thousands of miles apart, but remembered that they were friends.

Tomorrow's the test. And it's your last chance to understand the chapter. Most of the class has already grasped the theories, memorized the equations, and triumphed over the sticky conversion problems. They're ready for something new while you're still puzzled about the old difficulties. The bell has rung and only a few students remain unsettled and whispering as class starts. Oh, how will you ever catch up? But fear not, anxious student, somewhere across the vast expanse of open notebooks, there stands a teacher trying to reach you, too.

You see the face of the girl in the hall with the wet, stringy hair, no make-up, soggy lashes, and you know by her miserable grimace she's come straight from swimming. You see the boy with the shining eyes, confident smile, and proud bearing as he comes from the French room, and you know he's done well on the test. You look at the faces as they pass in the hall, each different, reflecting successes, failures, joy, grief, or anger — a spectrum of people you might want to know. Then you look in the mirror and see the hopeful face of the person you want to understand most of all.

In a school of 2200, there is an amazing tendency to lose your identity.

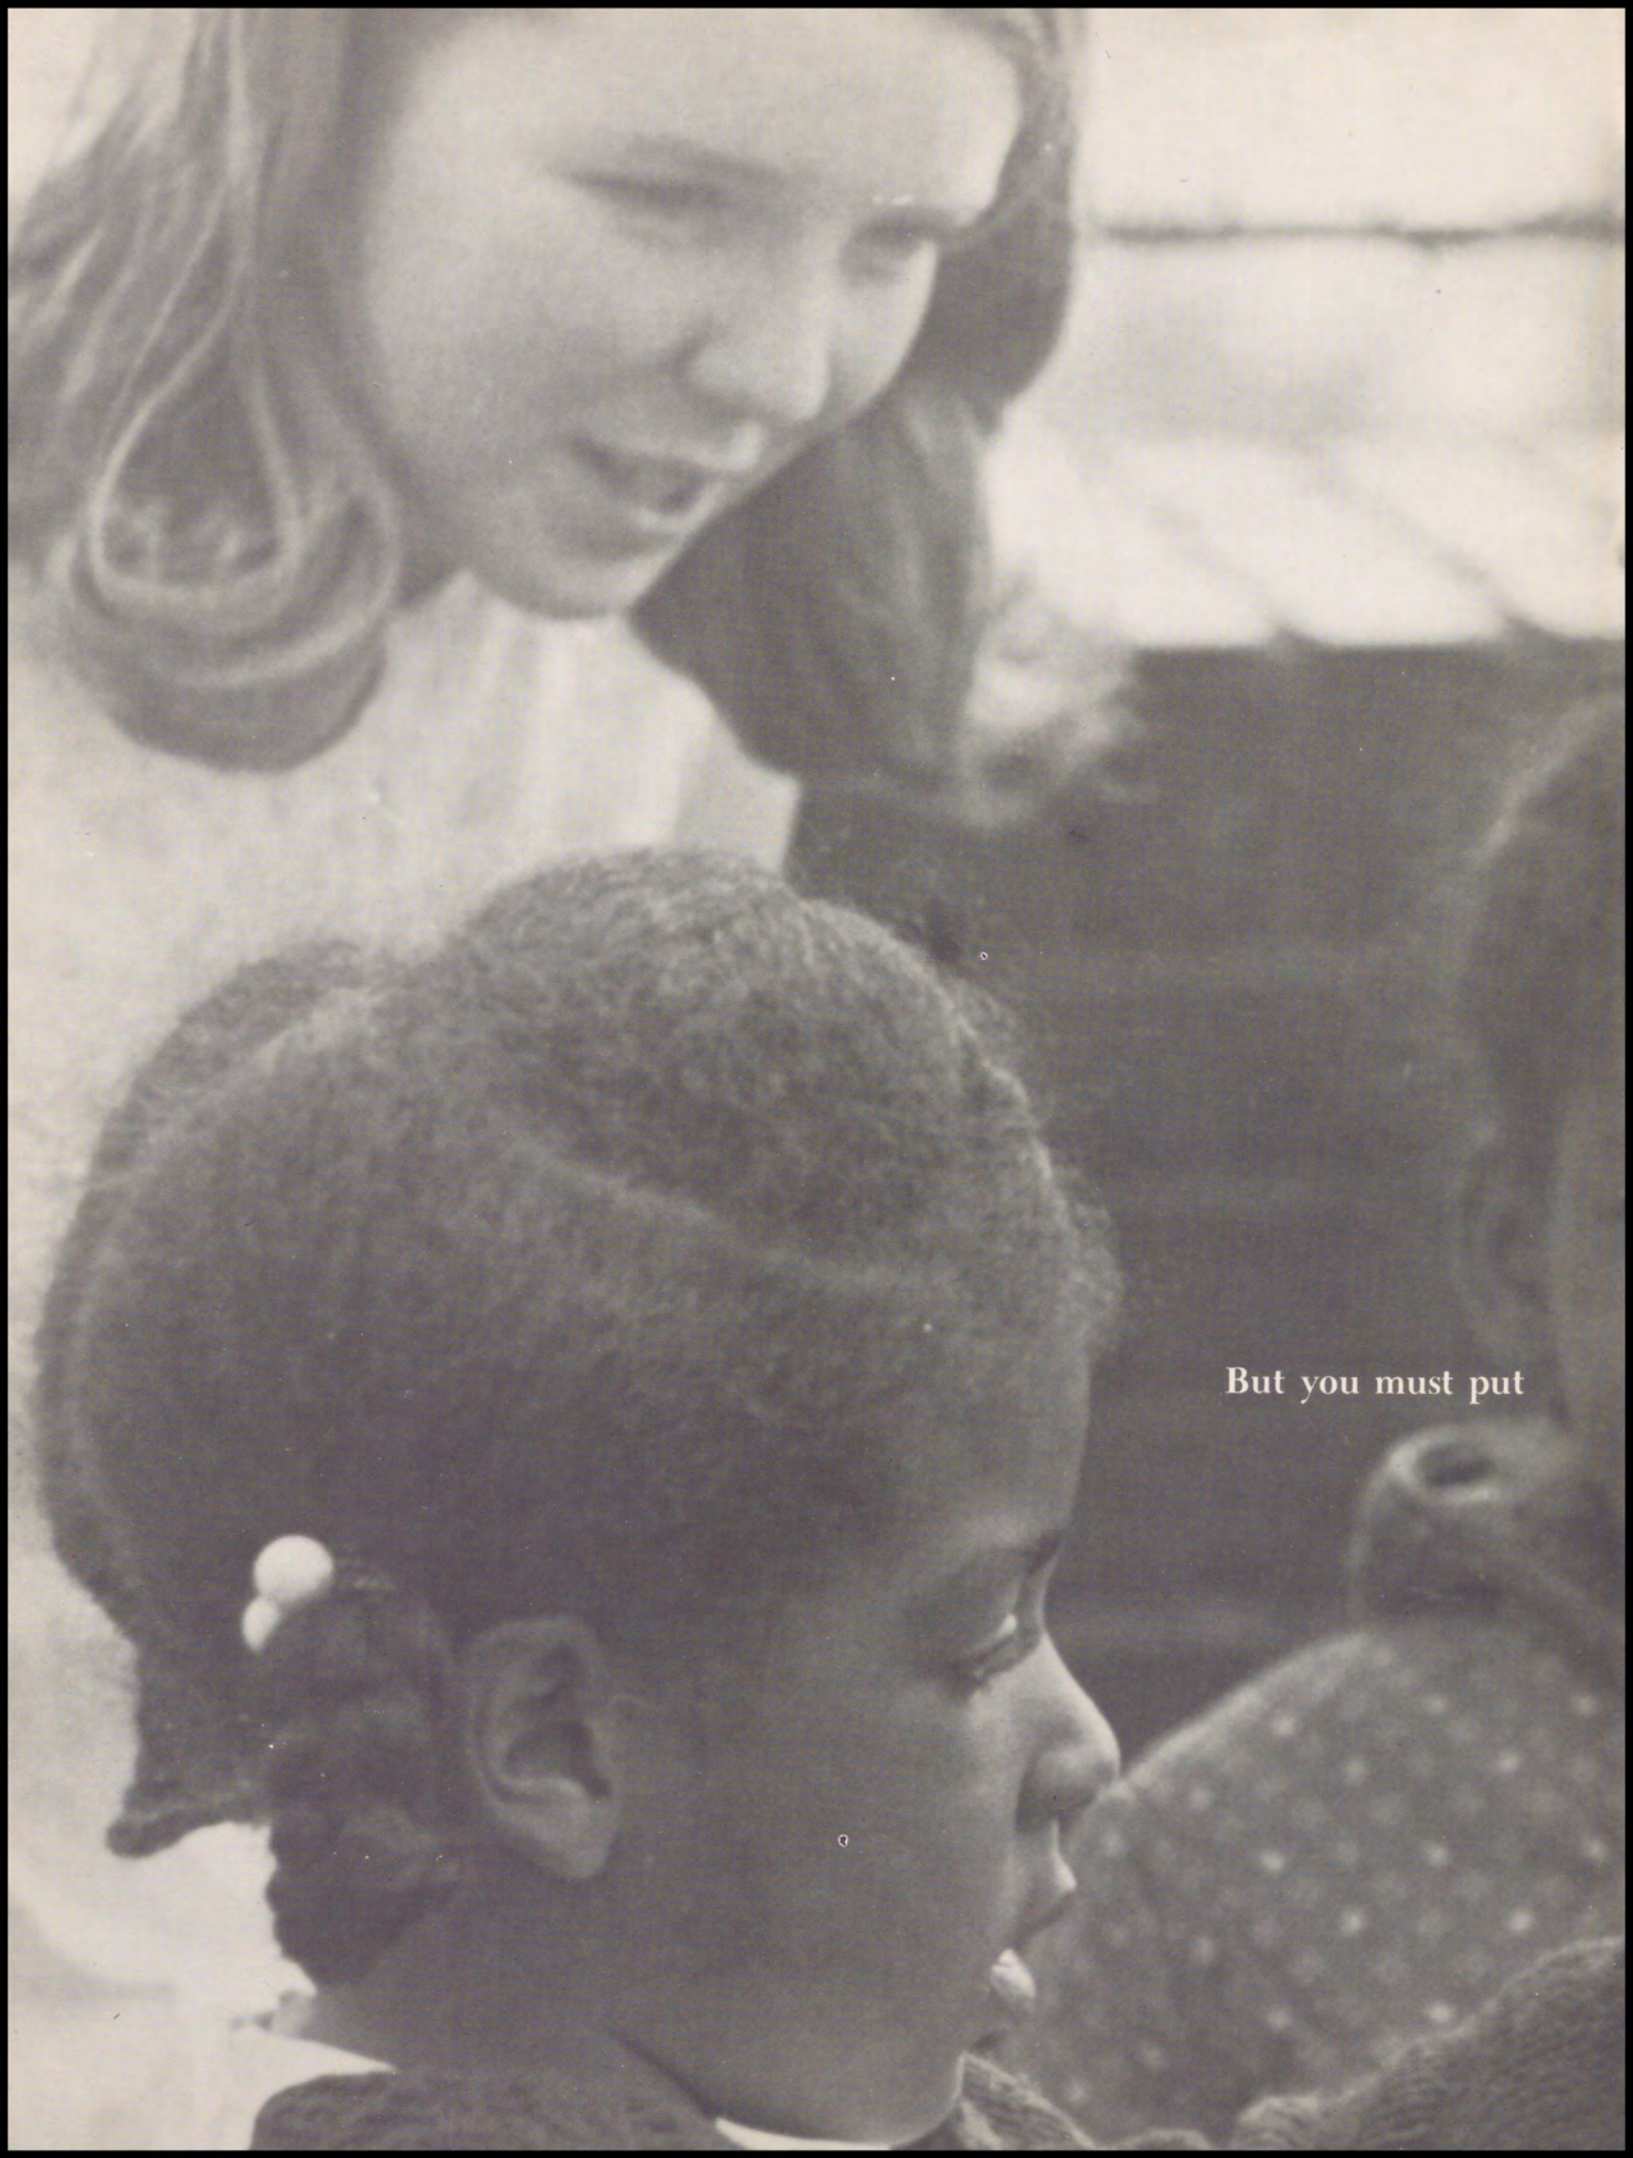

Things get out of focus; your purpose fades . . . you feel like giving in.

Conformity almost dominates. Self-expression seems crushed.

But you must put forth an effort.

And escaping the frenzy, you find an identity,

sharpen your vision,

DISCOVER YOURSELF.
