Lebo Life Through The Lens

A single photograph cannot capture every aspect of a person's life. For each individual, a day can be filled with many contrasting emotions. A disappointing test grade first period might cause a feeling of failure, but a lively discussion second period might dissolve earlier feelings of failure and send a now enthusiastic person to third period. Snap! A good photographer captures that spirit. The candids in this section, hopefully, reflect the varying moods of Mount Lebanon students. Although this collection of candids portrays bright, smiling faces, many of the pictures show glimpses of spirit, character, and insight as well.

Are You The Perfect Student?

1. At six o'clock Monday morning do you . . .
  - A. Jump out of bed and shout, "Yea! School?"
  - B. Destroy your alarm with a hatchet?
  - C. Slowly get out of bed and start the day?
2. In homeroom do you . . .
  - A. Do your homework and quietly listen to the announcements?
  - B. Talk incessantly to your friends and ignore the teacher's attempts to quiet you?
  - C. Arrive ten minutes late and always use the same flimsy excuse?
3. Between classes do you . . .
  - A. Goof around and take your time, always at least three minutes late?
  - B. Give up on classes completely and catch a smoke in the bathroom?
  - C. Walk briskly in the halls, speaking to no one, and reach your class with four and a half minutes to spare?
4. During class do you . . .
  - A. Find your attention span lagging after fifteen minutes and begin fantasizing about the weekend?
  - B. Actively participate in class discussion and remain attentive the entire period?
  - C. Fall asleep five minutes into the lesson and wake up at bell-time with red marks and slobber on your face?
5. In study hall do you . . .
  - A. Use your time wisely and complete all assignments two days early?
  - B. Really set out to finish homework but end up gossiping with friends?
  - C. Budget your time between counting the ceiling tiles and catching up on prime napping hours?
6. In gym do you . . .
  - A. Stand around inactive moaning, "I Hate Gym?"
  - B. Put your heart and soul into the game and actually break a sweat?
  - C. Participate minimally and work up a healthy glow?
7. At pep rallies do you . . .
  - A. Get excited because you're missing seventh period?
  - B. Get psyched up and participate with true school spirit (including the wave)?
  - C. Have a genuinely good time and enjoy yourself because you didn't even go to the rally?
8. When it comes to extracurricular activities, do you . . .
  - A. Join every single club you can get your hands on and attend faithfully?
  - B. Join clubs to get activity points or for personal benefit?
  - C. Blow off the idea of joining and go home to veg out?

9. Whether you are a freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior are you . . .

- A. Dreading graduation and clinging to every aspect of high school life?
- B. Counting the days until graduation?
- C. Holding your head up high and accepting graduation bravely?

10. When asked where you are from, do you . . .

- A. Sing the Mount Lebanon Alma Mater and praise the school wildly?
- B. Say the name in disgust and proceed to cut it down?
- C. Calmly say you are from Mount Lebanon while a swell of pride rises in your heart?

Grading Scale

1. A-2, B-0, C-1	6. A-0, B-2, C-1
2. A-2, B-1, C-0	7. A-1, B-2, C-0
3. A-1, B-0, C-2	8. A-2, B-1, C-0
4. A-1, B-2, C-0	9. A-1, B-0, C-2
5. A-2, B-1, C-0	10. A-2, B-0, C-1

0-4

Obviously, school is just not your vocation. Check out one of those ads on B-94 for a charm or trade school. Harvard can wait.

5-9

You're the average American kid. Ward and June would be proud of you! But to get the extra recognition or ego boost you've been craving, get involved with school activities.

10-14

You're the above-average student who has both ups and downs. Not quite making it to the elite is not as hard knowing you're better than average. Keeping yourself busy with sports and activities, though, balances your schedule.

15-20

Wow! What a kid! You're active, enthusiastic, and responsible. No need for improvement here. Beware though; the land of Yuppiedom is beckoning, but if a B.M.W., split rail fence, and 2.5 kids is your ideal dream, . . . then go for it!

What Do People Do In Study Hall?

- count the number of tiles on the ceiling
- think about a conversation they just had
- write the lyrics to "Dark Side Of The Moon" on their notebook
- count the zits on the girl next to them
- try to reuse last week's gum
- sleep and drool on the desk
- try to get their pencil to stick in the ceiling
- realize that they actually have gym
- draw triangles and boxes on the desk
- plan a "hi" to that hot guy two lockers away from you
- eat yesterday's sandwich and lie when someone asks if you have any left
- start a note to a friend without getting any further than "I'm in study hall right now and I'm bored . . . "

75 Years Of Quality Education

For the past seventy-five years, Mount Lebanon students have been provided with a high quality education. Even in earlier days when one teacher taught eight grades, students received a top notch education. The present faculty, too, does its best to ensure every student is receiving proper instruction. Mount Lebanon High School strives to make learning enjoyable with its wide selection of studies in all subjects. Students have always had the opportunity for quality instruction in a variety of areas. Congratulations on giving student excellence in education at Mount Lebanon High School for the past seventy-five years.

The S.S. Cut

Math, especially algebra, can torment the mind. After applying the same formula in hundreds of problems, the average student is ready to burn his math book.

One of the most infamous and feared equations that afflicts many students is the quadratic equation.

There is light at the end of the tunnel, however, due to a revolutionary new breakthrough: the S.S. Cut method. Here's a demonstration:

The problem:  $3x^2 + 4x - 6$

Using the quadratic equation, we get:

$$\begin{aligned} -4 &+/- (16 - 4 * 3 * -6)^{1/2} \\ &\quad 6 \\ -4 &+/- (88)^{1/2} \\ &\quad 6 \\ -4 &+/- 9.3808315 \\ &\quad 6 \end{aligned}$$

Which gives us the roots:

$$x = .8968 \text{ and } x = -2.230$$

Using the S.S. Cut technique, we skip the work:

$$\begin{array}{ll} 4 & 4 \\ 4 * 2 = 8 & 4 / 2 = 2 \\ 3 & 4 / 2 = 2 \\ 3 * 2 = 6 & 3 \\ 4 * 2 = 8 & 6 - 6 = 0 \end{array}$$

$$x = .8968 \text{ and } x = -2.230$$

No mess, No square roots! Here's how:

FIRST ROOT

1. Look at the coefficient of middle term. This will tell you how many digits are in your answers.
2. Multiply the middle term by two. This gives you the first and last numbers in the first root.
3. The square of the first term is your second digit.
4. The first coefficient times two is your third digit.
5. Repeat steps 3 and 4 until the rule in the first step has been met.

SECOND ROOT

1. See Step 1 above
2. Look at the coefficient of the middle term. If it is even, the second root is negative.
3. The first two digits are your middle coefficient divided in half.
4. The first coefficient is your third digit.
5. Your fourth digit is the third coefficient minus six.
6. Repeat steps 4 and 5 until you have the required number of digits.

Easy! Amaze your friends by doing tough problems in your head! Once you have memorized these simple steps, you can forget about square roots, work faster, increase your accuracy, and spend your time in ways other than doing math problems. S.S. Cut is clearly the way to go.

Fahrenheit 451 by Ray Bradbury

Guy Montag was a fireman whose job it was to start fires . . . The system was simple. Books were for reading, but it was more fun to burn them and the houses in which they were hidden. Besides, house fires made great barbecue pits.

Guy Montag enjoyed his job. Who wouldn't love walking around with a flamethrower on his back?

For the sake of the story, Montag rebels against the system. Montag escapes after a close encounter with a mechanical hound. He and a small band of scholars prepare to spread their knowledge to the masses.

Although it was a moving story, the ending was a real letdown. I don't advise changing it, however, because Mrs. Weddell might attack you with a hot poker.

Give this one a try. It's actually pretty good.

Animal Farm by George Orwell

This remarkable book has been described in many ways- as a masterpiece . . . a fairy story . . . a brilliant satire . . . a frightening view of the future . . . and better than ham salad.

A crushing attack on the pig-headed, obese, and avaricious pigs ruling in an imaginary totalitarian state, it depicts the range of human experience from love to hate, beef to pork. This novel is best summed up by the quotation, "It's cured my craving for bacon!"

A good read, it kept me on the edge of my seat and away from bacon. Don't miss this one: you'll see pigs in an entirely new light.

The Bridge of San Luis Rey by Thornton Wilder

This funky, upbeat novel can be called Wilder's claim to fame in the jungle of American literature. This fantastic work, which won the Pulitzer Prize in 1938, demonstrates that nothing beats a good action thriller. The telling of the story of the five who fell from the bridge 200 years ago, is handled by a novelist so good he can confuse even the wisest of English teachers with his themes, imagery, and existential ideas.

Though I don't recommend the book, having the hardcover edition on your bookshelf will give you the appearance of being learned and cultured.

Cry, the Beloved Country by Alan Paton

The compassionate story of pastor Stephen Kumalo and his son Absalom, Cry, the Beloved Country has the makings of a fantastic tragedy. Sadly, the book lacks enough of the melodrama necessary to make it truly poignant.

This hasn't mattered, however, since English scholars have incorrectly assumed it is a piece of fine literature rather than a failed attempt at tragedy. These "scholars" have dissected the book so carefully that they have found themes that Paton had no idea he had included in his novel.

Despite its shortcomings, the book is a touching story. Be careful not to get caught up in the "supposed" themes hidden in the book. My advice: take it at face value and you can do no wrong.

Of Mice and Men by John Steinbeck

Travelling across America in search of rabbits, this book is one of the few works of fine literature that is ideal for the student. It is short, easy to read, not boring, compatible with one Mr. Cliff, and easily interpreted and understood. Not only that, but for a student in a rush, the book can be found in both VHS and Beta. No home is complete without a copy, so get yours today.

CEDAR of LEBANON

"Neath cedars stately, midst hills so bold, stands our Mt. Lebanon, realm of blue and gold" begins our alma mater. Those cedars have been standing over us for over seventy-five years. They haven't always had so much to watch. As far back as 1794, over one hundred years before Mt. Lebanon officially became a township, children from this area went to school in a one room schoolhouse on the Odadiah Higbee farm (near the Mt. Lebanon park). That school building was the oldest school west of the Alleghanies until 1960 when deterioration unfortunately made its razing necessary. In 1885, due to population growth a bigger school was opened. That school was called the Academy. It stood on the corner of Washington Road and Academy Avenue. In the 1870's, after the Civil War, the Academy was closed and two new one room school houses opened. These schools were built under the direction of Scott Township, which encompassed Mt. Lebanon at that time. One school stood behind the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church and the other stood at the corner of Washington Road and Sunnyhill Drive. One teacher taught all eight grades in each of these schools. (continued on the next page)

The next school built was the Anman Avenue school which was a four room white frame school house. While it was being constructed, classes were taught in the home of William Bell. At first there were only enough pupils to fill two of the rooms. At the same time period there was also a one room schoolhouse on Beadling. These schools only taught grades one through six. Seventh and eighth graders went to the Lee School in Beechview. In July 1912, the Mt. Lebanon School District was formally founded and the first school board appointed. The 1912 board started Mt. Lebanon's tradition of looking for progressive and practical ways to improve. They started by eliminating all homework and tests. They also created a senior high which let the students grow a garden on Bower Hill Road to learn about forestry and agriculture. In recent years Mt. Lebanon has continued to try and find progressive ways to change the school. During the late '70's and early '80's they tried a diagonal schedule and one year final exams were eliminated all together. The experimental school approach in the early teens only lasted three years until a new board was elected, and Mt. Lebanon went back to more traditional teaching methods.

The real growth and expansion of the Mt. Lebanon school system started happening in the twenties. In 1919 the school board bought the plot of land that would later become the Washington School. From the time Washington opened in 1923, Mt. Lebanon has been growing steadily. The high school was built in 1931. Additions were added in 1957 and 1972. In the years 1923-1965, Mt. Lebanon built a total of seven elementary schools, two junior highs and the afore mentioned high school. Over the past two decades, enrollment has dropped, and both junior high schools were closed. Now all seventh and eighth graders occupy the top floor of the senior high. Although Mt. Lebanon has stopped growing physically, at least for right now, it continues to grow intellectually. We are the first class with new graduation requirements. Mt. Lebanon's strong academic background has always prepared its students well for college. Even in the aftermath of the depression, Mt. Lebanon had forty-five percent of its students going on to college. Today that number has almost doubled with eighty five percent of all current graduates going on to higher education. Those Cedars of Lebanon have been watching over us for a long time now. As they continue to watch Mt. Lebanon's traditions grow, the class of 2001 will enter first grade next year. The school district, its people, and this high school will continue into the twenty-first century.

SPORTS

"Win! We can! Here we go again! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Mt. Lebo High!" shout the cheerleaders and marching band at every high school football game. When they say again they really mean again! Mt. Lebanon has a long tradition of winning sports teams. With twenty-three varsity teams in fourteen different sports, Mt. Lebanon has won over one hundred district and state championships. Many of the varsity teams have shared the glory through the years. In a span of twenty-one years (1944-63) the track team won sixty-two WPIAL and three state titles under the leadership of coach Don Mollenauer. The team had a record of 144 consecutive wins in dual and triangular meets. Mollenauer also coached the incredible fourteen WPIAL wins and eleven state championships of the boys cross-country team. Swimming too has won numerous WPIAL championships. In 1960, the team won WPIALS, states and an Eastern

Mt. Lebanon High School when it first opened in 1931

United States title. In the early sixties Mt. Lebanon swimmer Tom Tretheway set six national high school records. In 1964 he competed in the Olympics in Tokyo. One time Lebo diver Dick Rydze went to the 1972 Olympics and brought home a silver medal. The tennis team started winning traditions back as far as the thirties. They won matches against Kiski, Shadyside Prep, and many other schools which would someday become WPIAL. They also sent many top players to ivy league tennis teams.

Since the formation of the WPIAL league boys tennis has picked up thirteen championships. The girls team has also gotten into the action in recent years. Our wrestlers have grabbed seven WPIAL championships ('65, '68, and '78 to name a few). 1987 alum Kurt Angle is presently training for the 1992 Olympics. The boys basketball and baseball teams have also contributed to the WPIAL wins for Mt. Lebo with one a piece. Our rifle team, which is co-ed, has four WPIAL championships in its holsters. Then of course there is the Blue Devil football team. In the early years the "Mounties" (a name which many Lebo teams answered to) had a tough time winning a game let alone a WPIAL title. In 1955, the team finally fit to their first playoff game, but it took until 1966 for the Lebos (another name the Blue Devils have answered to over the years) to finally win a WPIAL championship. Since then the Blue Devils have collected five more WPIAL titles. Lebo football has sent its fair share of athletes to the pros. In 1939 Lebo alum Bill Davidson set the Steeler punt return record which remained intact until 1985. Star pass receiver for the San Francisco 49ers, John Frank, is also a Lebo graduate. Mt. Lebanon's four time WPIAL soccer champs have also sent players to the pros. John O'Hara, former captain of the recently disbanded Spirit, is a Lebo Alumnus. The Lebo sports tradition is carrying on right now and will surely not end here. We may have the next Dick Rydze or John Frank in our halls and on our playing fields today. This is only a small portion of the strong Lebo sports tradition. "Win! We can! Here we go AGAIN!"

ACTIVITIES

Each year in center court there is activities day. Every year it seems like the same old crop of clubs, but it hasn't always been this way. Through the years Mt. Lebo has had such interesting clubs as the Display Case Squad the Cafeteria Dispatchers and the Bridge Club.

The following sources were used to compile the preceding articles: Mt. Lebanon Fiftieth Anniversary 1912-1962, pages 30-35 and 62-67, All About Mt. Lebanon pages 30-31, and Mt. Lebanon 75 Years 1912-1987 pages 15-32.

Through The Years

Although the 1930's are an era commonly remembered for the great depression and the rise of fascism in Europe, many people tried to retain an optimistic outlook on life and its activities. These were the years of the Zoot suit, the Jitterbug and the first bobby-soxers. High school students kept occupied with radio shows such as Amos 'n Andy and Myrt and Marge, while movies like The Wizard of Oz and Gone With the Wind stormed the theaters. Although there was not a lot of dating, a teen's social life never faltered. School sponsored "Sock-Hops" were popular. Here everyone went to the gym, removed their shoes and literally danced in their socks. People also went in groups to friends' houses and played a new and innovative game called Monopoly. Despite their attempts at optimism, however, these were harsh years. The first draft began, requiring all 18-year old males to register. Also during these years Pittsburgh experienced its worst national disaster. In 1936 the "big flood" occurred and halted Pittsburgh life. People travelled the city in small boats, and the Stanley Theater, now the Benedum Center, had a baby grand piano floating in its balcony. These years then, remembered for the adversities they presented were also filled with the natural joys and sorrows of life.

The 1940's is a time period best remembered for the Second World War. However, life here at home focused not on the distant struggle but on the news at home. On December 7, 1941 a small article appeared in the Pittsburgh Press stating that a new innovative item would appear and with the flick of a switch would project an image simultaneously as events occurred. To some, this small development took precedence over the bombing of Pearl Harbor. These years were filled with the Andrews Sisters, radio shows, and movies with stars like Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, John Wayne and Errol Flynn. Although not focused on the war, the lives of all students were affected. Mt. Lebanon gave its valiant men to the war and lost many. Those at home, though, were not excluded, but participated in wartime activities like War bond and stamp drives, recycling centers and other volunteer services. Then in 1945, on August 6, the first atomic bomb was dropped and a new era began.

This era was the 1950's, a time remembered for the peace and prosperity it offered, but also for the continuation of the atomic saga begun in 1945. The Cold War began in the 1950's and atomic drills like "Duck and Cover" were practiced faithfully in schools. The fears of the 50's, atomic power and communism, were evident in the films of the time like Them! and Invasion of the Body Snatchers. However life was basically peaceful and prosperous. It was the age of the bobby-soxers, poodle skirts and greased back hair. Drive-in theaters became popular and rock 'n roll became a symbol for a generation with "Rock Around the Clock" by Pittsburgh natives Bill Haley and the Comets. Rock and Roll grew to massive proportions with the help of a young man from Memphis, Tennessee-- Elvis Presley. With the 50's came the birth of television and shows such as Howdy Doody and The Mickey Mouse Club. The 1950's were a time of innocence, cornerstore malt shops, and the Edsel. These are times that will live forever through their music and memories.

The 1960's, however, were a time of inner turmoil. With the assassination of John F. Kennedy, America lost its innocence. American involvement in the Vietnam conflict was reaching its peak, and with this peak came revolutionary new movements. High school and college students alike became actively involved in peace and anti-nuclear rallies. Rallies also began for black rights, and Martin Luther King became a crusader for this cause; but not without the help of Rosa Parks, a tired Negro woman who sat at the front of a segregated bus at a time when blacks were separated from all aspects of white life. The 60's though are perhaps best known for its hippies and its music. The 60's brought with them an invasion of British musicians, not the least of which was the Beatles. The Beatles, one of the most popular groups of all time lasted through the decade and saw many groups, such as The Byrds, the Mamas and the Papas, and the Beach Boys compete and succeed. Then, Woodstock, the hippies last hurrah, occurred drawing all the elements, music, lost innocence and the rallies to a close.

THE 50's

Finally, the 1970's moved in with a resounding echo. Vietnam was continuing in full force while Nixon and the Watergate scandal was under fierce scrutiny. The 70's brought with them a fierce women's liberation movement and "bra-burnings." Here women attempted to express their freedom and emancipation by publicly removing and burning their bras. As the years progressed bell-bottoms became a popular fashion item, and John Travolta and disco moved into the lives of many teens. These were the years of the first shuttle launchings, a jubilant occasion, and the Iran hostage affair which lasted for 444 days and held many Americans away from home and family. Sesame Street and Mr. Rogers became increasingly popular, and films such as the blockbusters Jaws, Star Wars, Alien, Close Encounters of the Third Kind, and Animal House became an integral part of teenage social life. Then in 1979, Ronald Reagan became Presidential-elect, and the country and Mt. Lebanon moved into a new era.

This is where we started. Since Kindergarten our class has grown in many ways. Numerous people have come and gone and we wish we had a picture of every one of them. We've made it through learning to read and write and even long division. No longer do we have to worry about Tales of Fourth Grade Nothing or seventh grade spelling tests. It is a scary thought that soon we will all be scattered about the country. This may be where we started, but from here on, there's no limit to where we are going!

A Sense Of Belonging

Fizzle. Pop. Crackle. Is it our morning cereal? No, but close . . . it's the morning announcements. "Attention all students. The following club meetings will be held today . . ." For some students, these announcements cause shuffled schedules and altered plans. Others are not affected at all, but most of Mt. Lebanon's students belong to at least one organization during their four years here.

After all, the variety and number of activities at Mt. Lebanon are some of the greatest things about our school. We have clubs that let us use our minds, voices, hands, feet, or special talents. Each club helps us use our energy in a positive, fun way.

Then there are the friends we meet through our activities. Common interests bring us together and give us a purpose and the potential to really enjoy what we are doing. We find our personal niche through our clubs, whether we are the president or a new member.

So when the morning announcements usher in a new school day, no matter how much we groan about club meetings and busy schedules, we take great pride in our activities. They give us a sense of direction, a sense of accomplishment, and, yes, a sense of belonging.

The Show Must Go On

It is 6:30 AM, do you know where the band members are? If it is during the football season, they are probably at school already for early morning practice. Band, Colorguard, and Rockettes come to school from one to five days a week at this early hour to practice instruments, dance drills, and marching formations. This is not easy, especially at 6:30 AM.

It all starts in band camp. Three weeks in the August heat, marching, learning music, and teaching drills. But three weeks is not enough time to do everything. During the first few weeks of school, the second show has to be taught, in addition to practicing for that week's show.

The director, Mr. McIlroy, and his assistant, Mr. Hazo, hold the band together. They lead the practices, create formations, and, with the help of the Band Builders, organize the trips.

The dedication of the students, directors, and parents makes the marching band what it is today. They practice and perform in rain, sleet, cold, and snow because, after all, the show must go on.

Forensics

Forensics, like all competitions, requires preparation and hard work. As the school year begins many of the team members prepare their speeches, in the hopes that the speeches will carry them to the trophy stand. In the categories of Prose, Poetry, and Interpretation, the speeches are made by picking out the parts of the play or book that the competitor chooses to use. In the categories of Original Oratory, Extemp and Lincoln Douglas, the speeches are made entirely by the student.

The students then read or perform their speech in front of a judge and their competition. The students with the highest ranks become the day's winners. The students may later compete on higher levels.

Holiday Show Tradition Continues

A ten year tradition continued here at Mt. Lebanon this past December. The 1988 Holiday Show was a total success. From the opening "Holiday Rockin" to the grand finale, the talented Lebo students danced, sang, and performed. Jazz dancing to "Fever", modern dancing to Def Leppard's "Shotgun", and two groups of Rockettes strutting their stuff on stage entertained the varied audience.

The music of the show was also varied. The cultural crowd appreciated Beethoven's "First Movement of Sonata Pathetique" while the more rowdy rocked to Guns N Roses. "Paradise City." The country sound of "Johnson's Love", the serious tone of "Verdi Cries", the strong beat of DJ Double K, Evin I, and the NU Crew, and the melody of the Supremes continued the musical enjoyment.

also combined in the skits. The sign language club performed to "The Sounds of Silence" while the Oomp a Loompas expressed their acrobatic ability. The faculty skit, "Frosty the Snowman" showed the real side of our teachers. The most memorable skit of the entire night was Winnie and the Young Guns singing their version of "You Lost that Lovin' Feelin'". Move over Tom Cruise, Mt. Lebanon's Holiday show can take your place any day.

For the sixth year, the K.G.B. Male Dance Company amuses the audience.

A Special Tour Of Mt. Lebanon High School

On Friday, November 4, 1988 the Mt. Lebanon class of 1989 surprised students and faculty with their annual homeroom decorations. The dedication was obvious to everyone when their hard work was unveiled.

Walking down the second floor hall, spectators immediately noticed the door to the planetarium. 12-26 "Took off" into the future with their practical creation. Moving up to the third floor, the California Raisins helped 12-33 dance their way down the path towards graduation. Also on the third floor were 12-34, 12-35, and 12-36 with their senior slogans. Up on the fourth floor, colorful homerooms such as 12-21 with their Mexican fiesta, 12-31's barbecue, and 12-11 preparing for their caps and gowns made the competition tough. 12-16 and 12-37 with their unique creations also added to the anticipation. Ending the tour on the fifth floor were the final competitors. 12-13 used a childhood friend, Kermit the Frog, to show their spirit. 12-12, 12-14, and 12-15 added more color to the long hall while the crew of 12-22 and the seniors of 12-23 decorated one wing of the U.

Finally, at the beginning of second period the announcement was made. "The two runners up are the seniors of 12-24; walking out the door, and the zoo of 12-32. The winners are the seniors who have survived in 12-25." The palm trees and jungle music put the students into a wild mood which lasted throughout the day and into the night.

The seniors of 12-24 await graduation.

Do Rivalries Spark Spirit Or Put Out The Flame?

"We've got spirit, yes we do. We've got spirit, how about you?"

Mt. Lebanon High School has spirit, seen at every sport from basketball and football to volleyball and wrestling. The rivalries of North Hills and Upper St. Clair spark the greatest excitement, but the players get just as excited when playing against Bethel Park, North Allegheny and Chartiers Valley.

Mt. Lebanon has met these challenges well, with the football team becoming a WPIAL semi-finalist, the boys' soccer team finishing second in the WPIAL's, the girls' cross country team placing fifth at the McQuaide Invitational, the girls' tennis team winning the WPIAL Team Championship and Mr. Black taking the basketball team into the WPIAL's once more.

The Mount Lebanon Boys' Cross Country Team finished its season with four wins and three losses in its section. The season was highlighted by the team's performance in several invitational meets. Early in the season, the team traveled to California, PA., to compete in the California Invitational where they took third place out of over 25 teams. Later in their season, the team trekked to Rochester, New York, to compete in the McQuaide Invitational. A strong team effort earned the team fifth place out of over 75 teams. This was the team's first year under Head Coach Mike Agostinella. Due to the large number of underclassmen who competed on the varsity level this season, the team has the potential to compete strongly for next year's sectional championship. - With special thanks to Darrell Evans

The 1988 Mt. Lebanon Girls' Cross Country season proved to be both joyous and disappointing. The season ended on a sad note considering the fact that the girls did not reach the state finals. The young team had an excellent season, however, finishing with an 8-1 dual meet record. It was a surprisingly exceptional record since it was Mr. Richard Lippert's first year as head coach and only three lettermen from the previous year returned. The team improved dramatically over the course of the season and will be a dominant force in the upcoming years. The girls accomplished many outstanding achievements. Freshman Chelsea O'Hara had the best home course record for this year. Junior Pam Fitzgibbons finished fifth at W.P.I.A.L. qualifiers. Senior Kerry Hagan completed the New York race in 13th place. For Pam's excellent performance at W.P.I.A.L. finals, she received the well-deserved Mollenauer Award.

One of the most memorable meets was the McQuade Invitational in Rochester, New York. More than 2500 runners competed in races that lasted all day. The Mt. Lebanon's girls' race was one of the last and more than 180 girls created the field of competitors. At the sound of the gun shot, the runners began to sprint the start of the 5000 meter course. The course was flat, unlike the steep grades of the home course, and Mt. Lebanon performed exceptionally well. They finished 4th out of 26 teams which included high schools from Canada, Michigan, Ohio, and Virginia, among other states. The team returned to Pittsburgh with medals, ribbons, and a feeling of pride.

The first game of the season represented Paul Kmec's head coaching debut. It was his first season after the retirement of Art Walker. Indeed, Walker's shoes were difficult to fill, but Kmec handled the transition smoothly and led his team to the W.P.I.A.L. semi-finals. This first game represented not only Kmec's debut, but also a much awaited rematch against Brooke High School. After last year's disappointing 21-12 loss to the Bruins in West Virginia, Brooke traveled to Mt. Lebanon along with hundreds of Brooke fans. Remembering how everlasting and agonizing the ride home from Brooke was last year, the Blue Devils sought to hand the Bruins a similar fate this year. They succeeded.

The domineering Lebo defense held true, allowing Brooke no scoring opportunities. The offensive line paved the way for a total of three touchdowns on the ground by running backs John Donoghue and Casey Hackathorn. Hackathorn, known by his teammates as "Mr. Injury," rushed for over one hundred yards despite playing with a broken leg for part of the game. Kmec's debut was not the only successful one of the night. Matt Smith started his first game as quarterback in addition to his returning role as free safety. Matt played both positions virtually flawlessly throughout the season. Kmec said the victory gave him the third biggest thrill of his life behind the births of his two children. With all their successful debuts behind them, the Blue Devils went on to compile an impressive 9-2-1 record.

Unforgettable!

This year the Blue Devil team was outstanding, working dedicatedly throughout the season to achieve excellent results. They were a remarkable 38-0, winning every match and tournament entered, and going on to take the coveted WPIAL title. Drew Craft, the only senior, was captain for the season. The team elicited contributions from all eight men making for an exceptional team effort. The team would like to thank Coach Black, who supported them and led them to the championship. Matt Kluck, the pro at the Mt. Lebanon Municipal Course, also deserves recognition for his generosity in letting the team practice and play at the course five days a week. The team's philosophy throughout the year was to be the hardest working team and let things go from there. The team did this, and the attitude played off. The team was young, giving everyone great expectations for next year. In addition to this the Junior Varsity team was 18-1. These factors should combine to make a strong future for Mt. Lebanon golf. - with special thanks to Michael Cooper

The girl's golf team had a tough season. Only three teammates were returning players: Julie Mazzotta, Dina Mazzotta, and Dawn Duhon. It was the first year for Kelly Doran, Chrissy Dzura, Allison Stittsworth, Karen Tally, Leslie Orner, and Megan Ford. Unfortunately, after the first match, the team lost one player due to a broken thumb. They lost their last match against Chartiers Valley at Bon Air golf course by one stroke ending the season with a record of three wins and five losses.

Girl's Tennis Goes Undefeated

This year was another great season for the girls' tennis team. The lady Blue Devils managed an undefeated season with a record of 18-0. This commendable record lead them to the W.P.I.A.L. Team Championship in which they defeated Gateway by a score of 3-2.

Individually, Beth Hickey was third in the W.P.I.A.L. Singles' Tournament and attended the P.I.A.A. State Tournament. Robyn Manke and Heidi Price won the W.P.I.A.L. Doubles' Championship and proved to be runners-up at the P.I.A.A. State Tournament. -with special thanks to Jen Eck

Mt. Lebanon Gold concluded its season with a 10-7-3 record. Captains Courtney Ferguson, Suzy Fu, Roxanne McGalla, Mimi Murray, and Ann Richards, led the team to capture the third place title in Section 4. Although they narrowly missed the playoffs, the girls defeated the eventual champions, Seton LaSalle. Freshman Erin Butcher led the team with sixteen goals. Courtney Ferguson was the team's most improved player. Excellent defensive performances by Roxanne McGalla and Ann Richards resulted in them receiving the Rob Agar and Most Valuable Player Awards, respectively. In the season conclusion, McGalla and goalkeeper Carol Callahan were WPIAL all-stars, with Callahan receiving a nomination for All-American.

Although this 1988 season did not measure up to expectations, it was an extremely successful year. Teammates voted Casey Brennan and Teddy Doran, both seniors, as captains. As section play began, Lebo scored victories over Canon-Mac, Bethel Park, Peters Township, and Baldwin. As they headed into the playoffs, the Lebos fell to USC for the second time, dropping their record to 18-2. They won their first two playoff games against Hempfield and Shaler. Moon was their opponent in the semi-final for the second straight year and in the most emotional game of the year they came from behind to win 2-1 in double overtime. That game set up their third showdown with USC in the final of the WPIAL. In a muddy, physical game at Bethel Park they lost, 2-1. After a 2-0 first round victory in the States against State College, they fell 3-1 to the eventual state champs, Connestoga. Overall, the team finished second in the section, second in WPIAL, and fifth in the state, compiling a 22 and 4 record. The offense poured in 102 goals in 26 games with Vee Hightower leading the way with 31 goals. The defense posted 13 shutouts allowing only 20 goals in 26 games. Winning individual honors were Andy Rhodes for most improved player and Casey Brennan for MVP and the Robby Agar Memorial Award. The team wishes to thank head coach, Ron Wilcher, assistant, Joe Findley, and second assistant, Ray Wagner. The season did not turn out the way the team wanted, but they had great times and everybody on the team did a terrific job.

Volleyball Team . . .

This year's girls' varsity volleyball team had a tough season. Even though they lost every official match, they played well in tournaments. As senior Jen Moss said, "At the beginning of our season we went to the Trinity tournament. We were very frustrated because our weeks of summer practice looked like they were a failure. Then the Head Coach, Wendy Smith, left in the middle of the day to attend a wedding. Everyone was angry with each other. Then our Assistant Coach, Chris Kohan, sat us down and told us to relax and play for the fun of it. The next match was against one of the best teams. It was unbelievable how well we played. Both games were very close, and I honestly can't remember if we won or lost—but we all felt like winners afterwards."

Since only three players are graduating this year, everyone is looking forward to a winning next season.

The 1988-89 season was one of rebuilding for the Mt. Lebanon Boys' Swim Team, and one of triumph for the Girls' Team. Hit hard by graduation, the spirited group of guys still had an exceptional year, achieving a 7 win, 5 loss record and several WPIAL qualifiers. Led by captains Jason Warren and John Fronduti, the team exhibited determination all year long, ending with a tie for third place in the WPIAL. Qualifiers for that meet included seniors Dave Bacharach, Mike Burchill, and Jason Warren; juniors Mike Chiappeta and John Fronduti; and sophomores Jon Bacharach, Mike Brecker, and Jason Havlin. Both Bacharachs, Warren, and Burchill qualified for the state meet, held March 3 and 4 at Penn State.

The girls' team doubled in size this year with incoming freshmen, and that extra power propelled the team to the top of their section. Captained by Ann Valentine and Amy Simmons, the girls finished the season with 12 wins and not a single loss, defeating Bethel Park (section champs for fourteen of the last fifteen years) to capture the section in their final meet. Their victims also included last year's state champions, Gateway High School. Smashing both pool and team records along the way, the girls went on to excel at the WPIAL meet, held February 25th at the University of Pittsburgh. Lebo's swimmin' women tied for the runner-up trophy, led by seniors Aimee Latterell, Laura Montgomery, and Ann Valentine; juniors Jenn Risser and Amy Simmons; sophomores Alicia Best and Ann Hart; and freshmen Alexis Fedorchak, Alyson Gossen, and Courtney Warren. Hart, Fedorchak, and Valentine qualified for individual events at the state meet.

In all, it was a great year for both teams, full of excitement for this season and promise for the seasons to come.

The 1988-89 Mt. Lebanon Rifle Team had a successful year. Despite competing in the toughest section, they compiled a 9-5 record, including 2 victories over Steel Valley, a 27-time WPIAL champion. At the seniors' tournament at the end of the season, Mt. Lebanon had an impressive record, with three seniors in the top ten. The team also has good prospects returning next year and will be a strong contender in the future.

This year the varsity boys' basketball team completed the regular season with an 18-4 record and a WPIAL playoff berth. After a 7-1 preseasson record and a championship in the Mt. Lebanon Christmas Tournament, the team began section play. Also, the team soundly defeated Section 5 rival Upper St. Clair both home and away by scores of 61-48 and 62-49 respectively. The final game against U. S. C. followed senior recognition. Recognized were captains Matt Smith and Jason Depp, along with Andre Hewitt, Bob Bell, Tim Mulkeen, Doug Black, and Dave Reel. Both Jason Depp and Andrew Hewitt have averaged over 15 points per game and Tim Mulkeen leads the team in 3-pointers.

Next year also looks to be promising with juniors Vee Hightower, Jake Allen, Phil Keating Brett

Latta, Hugh Healey, Nate Hackathorn, and Lee Luckman; players from the J. V. team who completed the season with a perfect 21-0 record. This years Varsity and J.V. teams had outstanding seasons and we wish them luck in the future.

Young Team Endures

The Mt. Lebanon Varsity Girls' Basketball Team was a young team, with only one senior, six juniors, one sophomore, and three freshmen. The girls' record of 8-15 does not adequately reflect the amount of hard work put forth by the team. After losing the leading scorer, Carolyn Hufnagel, and the additional loss of Ann Donoghue, the girls had to work even harder. Erin Butcher played an impressive season. Many were surprised to discover that she was only a freshman. Chris Azouri, a starting sophomore, helped the team with her scoring in pressure situations. Laura Stoner led the team in steals with her speed and agility. Megan Carpenter, a 5'11" junior, was an asset to the Lady Hoopsters with her great rebounds. Beth Noble, the only senior, was a team leader. She picked up the scoring job when Carolyn was injured. One particular game against U.S.C. was exceptionally well played. It was Senior Recognition or as the team called it, Beth-Rec, since Beth was the only senior. Beating their long-time rival in the last game of the season gave the team a sense of accomplishment and a season of great growth.

Cheerleaders Achieve New Style

The 1988-89 varsity cheerleading squad started out excited and prepared for the upcoming football, soccer, basketball and wrestling seasons. A rigorous three day camp during the hot weather of August helped the squad change their style of cheering. For the first time since 1984, the varsity squad entered a competition. In just one week the squad perfected cheers and a dance routine that allowed for a first runner-up victory in the South Hills Village Competition. As a squad they also raised over $1500 by having two very successful hoagie sales. With the money, the squad purchased new uniforms, pom-poms, and sweat suits, all of which helped to achieve the desired look.

Even though the cheerleaders had many great times and successes, bad luck still loomed. Due to injuries and illnesses, the squad sometimes had to perform with only six members. As a whole, this 1988-89 year has been one of hard work and enjoyment.

Blue Devils Psyched Crowds

Seniors Heather Neilson and Sue Smith riled up the fans as this year's Blue Devils. The pair faithfully led the crowd in spirited cheers at every football game. On Thursdays, Heather and Sue painted banners for the football players to run through at the start of each Friday night game. The Blue Devils traveled with the cheerleaders to all of the away games to give the team added support. All in all, Sue and Heather gave the players and fans that extra boost of energy needed to make this a winning season.

Wrestlers Move To Section 6

The 1988-89 varsity wrestling team finished their season with a 4-15 record. This record, however is deceiving, since Mt. Lebanon has been moved into the more competitive Section 6. In a 45-21 loss to third-ranked Trinity, the Blue Devils scored more points than all but three of Trinity's 14 opponents. Other close matches included a 34-33 loss to Chartiers-Houston (ranked fourth in class AA) and a 30-24 loss to Shaler, a strong section 2 team.

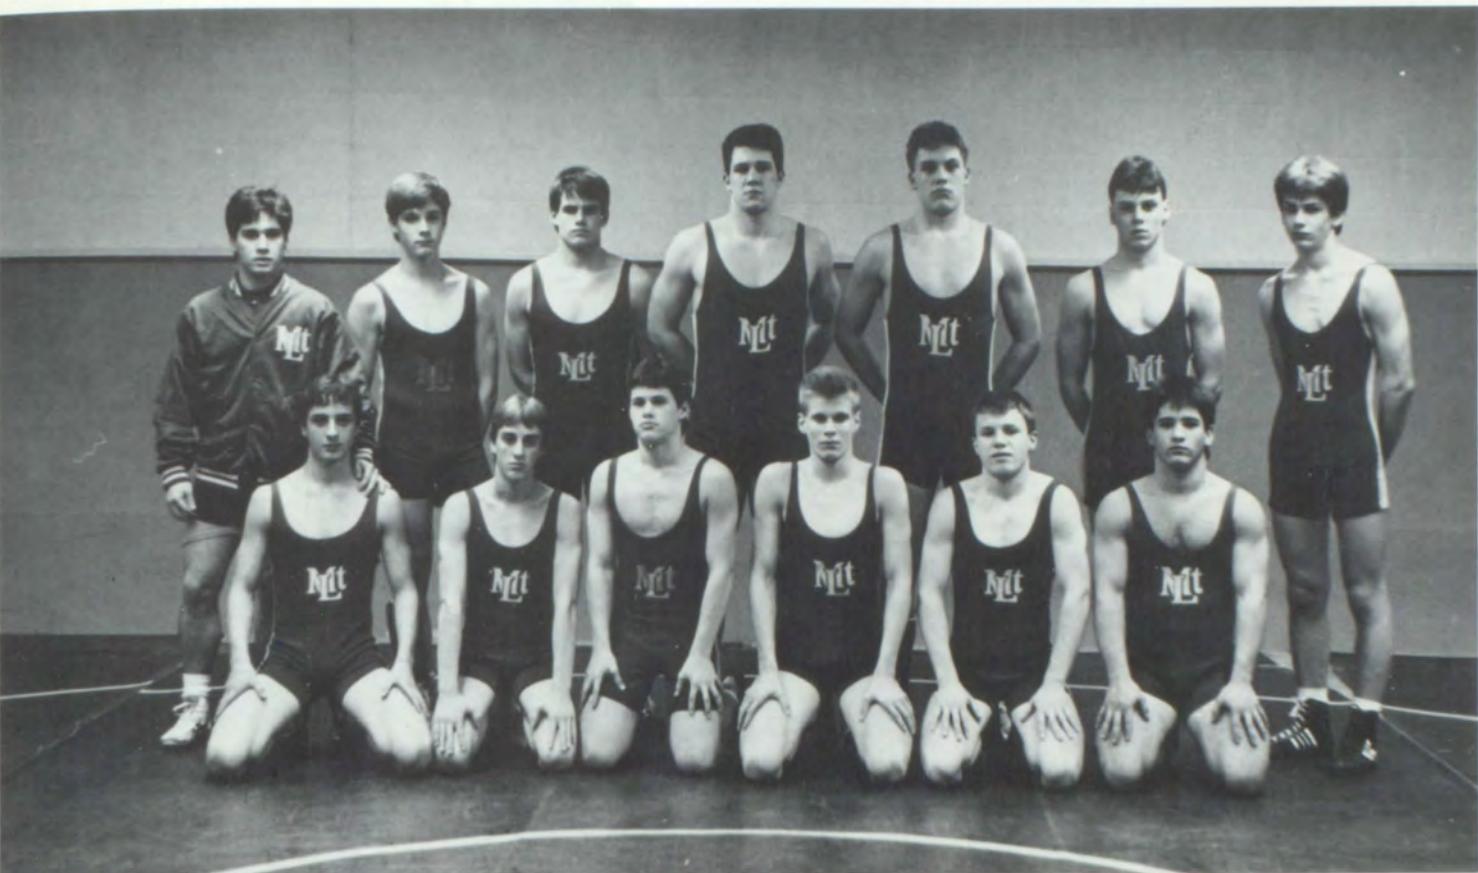

On the individual level, Mt. Lebanon had great results. This year's most outstanding wrestlers were the following: at 130 pounds, Mike Lohnes (13-4), at 189 pounds, Brad Barton (9-4), and at 125 pounds, Jon Folino (10-8). Both Mike Lohnes and Brad Barton placed first in the Mt. Lebanon Invitational Tournament in December. Greg Buehler also excelled, placing second overall.

The Blue Devils are coached by Frank Hinerman, who took over this year after 24 seasons as assistant coach to the legendary George Lamprinakos. Best wishes to the senior Lebo wrestlers and good luck to next year's team.

The events beginning the 1988-89 varsity hockey season heralded the dire calamity that would follow. The squad would spend the year ridden with injuries, suspensions, flukes, and sickness.

By the midpoint of the season, the players adjusted to the constant line-up shifts, openings, and roster changes. They settled down to business. Senior Ian Robertson and defensive powerhouse Tim Fogarty began taking on leadership roles when it became clear that Captain Chris Rambler would be out for the season. Juniors Brett Adelman, Brian Kerlin, and Todd Silverstein started producing.

Despite their hard work, the team continued to lose. But, with the return of Scott Shell from prep school the team seemed to acquire a second wind. In the four games after Shell's return, the team haphazardly stumbled through three victories, renewing their playoff hopes.

The team, realizing they could win, settled down and began playing quality hockey. With crisp passing and Shell's fantastic shooting, the team smoothly defeated second place Bethel Park.

Up And Coming Hits

Top Ten Reasons For Being Late To Homeroom

It has happened to you before. As you stroll into homeroom, you are confronted by that all too familiar bark, "YOU'RE LATE!" You respond . . .

1. Who's late? I was in here. You must have overlooked me when you were taking attendance.
2. As I was backing out of my driveway I hit my dog, and I had to take him to the veterinary hospital.
3. It is Friday the 13th and I'm very superstitious, so I had to drive really slowly.
4. My ride (gasp) didn't show up (pant)!
5. I ran out of gas halfway here and had to push the car the rest of the way.
6. I got stuck behind an old man in a fisherman's hat who was driving under the speed limit.
7. Huh?! . . . grunt
8. I know, that makes it 3 days in a row.
9. My alarm was set for p.m. instead of a.m.
10. In my rush to get here on time, I slipped on a patch of ice in the parking lot and slid all the way home.

Class Of 1992

How To Recognize A Freshman

You know a freshman. Everybody does. They represent the fine young men and women who, in three short years, will be the mature, trustworthy leaders of our school. (giggle) O.K., so the chances are that your mother is taller than two of these munchkins put together. No matter. The first class to have spent both junior high years on the sixth floor, the class of 1992, is prepared to meet the challenges of the big, bad senior high school.

after any sunset
there is a glint
a certain afterglow
a rainbow show
a starflake snow
some dim glimmer of sweet evening
shimmer
after any sunset
the end of day
the end of love
the end of living
a soft celebration

How To Recognize A Sophomore

A sophomore is the girl or guy with that attitude of "Yes, I survived freshman year." They must not realize that three-fourths of the school has done the same. They saunter through the halls staring down freshman, while upperclassmen stare them down. In truth, sophomores are still afraid of being late to class. Admittedly, there are two good aspects to being a sophomore: 1. there is only one year left until you are part of the upperclass, and 2. you no longer are the last to pick in gym class.

Juniors are easily distinguishable. At long last, they can almost always count on controlling their own destiny in gym selections. They are the diehards who willingly come to school an hour earlier than everyone else five times a year to engage in an intense historical narration session. Even the most timid among them begin to cut the cafeteria line. A Junior's realization that he is indeed an upperclassman occurs at the first football game, when he discovers that he knows half the players. SAT madness topped with work done in four hours on a Sunday night which could take the average man a lifetime to do certainly does not help matters. But don't despair, guys. The best is yet to come.

A Classic Class: Lebo's 75th

This year's senior class brings the 1980's to a close. The 80's, unlike many more radical generations, have not produced a great deal of unrest or extreme change. Noted for Yuppies, advances in technology, and eight years with Reagan in the White House, the 80's are hardly dominated by youth. Yet, with the enthusiasm and ambition that the 1989 graduating class exhibits, it is hard to imagine a future not affected by the up and coming young adults.

At Mt. Lebanon, the senior students have demonstrated excellence in academic achievement, athletics, community involvement, and extracurricular interests. Much responsibility for the future of the country is left in the hands of our generation. Environmental deterioration, the deficit, foreign industrial competition, and the nuclear threat must all be met with the same intense energy that is seen in the hearts and minds of the '89 seniors. With the high expectations of the 1989 graduating class, we are ready to fulfill the challenges that the future holds for us.

In Memory

Andrew Carroll Decker
July 28, 1971—June 5, 1987

We cannot fully understand
Nor shall we try . . .

We simply know that somewhere in the vastness of all that is
You are running free
And the ocean of eternity cools your feet
As you run unhampered on the sands of all tomorrow.
And a lone seagull calls to you
And you respond with laughter.

You carry now no burden,
No chain or bond to hold you.
You carry only the warmth and love of those who cared.

So run free
And open your arms
And touch the clouds and dance with the morning sun
And know that even in our tears we celebrate with you

And bid your good journey
Till we meet again tomorrow.

Rules For The Stress Diet

1. When you eat something and no one sees you eat it, it has no calories.
2. If you drink a diet soda with a candy bar, the calories in the candy bar are cancelled out by the diet soda.
3. When you eat with someone else, calories don't count if you do not eat more than they do.
4. Foods used for medicinal purposes NEVER count, such as hot chocolate, toast, and Sara Lee cheesecake.
5. If you fatten up everyone around you, then you look thin.
6. Movie-related foods do not have additional calories because they are part of the entire entertainment package and are not part of your personal fuel.
7. Cookie pieces contain NO calories. The process of breaking it causes calorie leakage.
8. Things licked off knives and spoons have no calories if you do so in the process of preparing something. Examples: peanutbutter knife while making a sandwich and icecream spoon while making a sundae.
9. Foods that have the same color have the same number of calories. Note: Chocolate is a universal color and may be substituted for any other color.

A special thanks to Alice Wenderoth from Altoona for this "Stress Diet".

The Average Lebo Student

Anyone at Mt. Lebanon High School will tell you that he or she is not the Average Lebo Student. So, where is this elusive student? We at Rolling Lebo set out to find and expose him.

First, we randomly interviewed students and, as far as we can tell, the Average Lebo Student is not in any class in the school. He cannot be found in art, dance, A.P. Math, or Power Mechanics Lab. Therefore, we tried sports and activities. But see for yourself; look in those sections of this yearbook. The Average Lebo Student is not on the football team, track team, or volleyball team, and does not appear on any club roster.

Each time we came close to finding a seemingly average student, it turned out that he had some extraordinary talent, interest, or activity, that set him apart. So we are still looking while the decidedly non-average population of Mt. Lebanon High School continues to thrive.
