New Deals Were Administered

SCHOOL BOARD

FRONT: Miss Miriam Headley, Mr. A. C. McMillen, Mrs. Donald C. Lewis, Miss Bertha Walp. BACK: Dr. Ross Gill, Mr. Samuel A. Schreiner, Mrs. Norma Landau, Mr. Raymond B. Hecht, Mrs. Berenice Divine, Mr. Beckley Smith, Mr. Elmer S. Stanier, Mr. Otis C. Hogsett, Mr. Edward Buck, Dr. R. D. Horsman.

Administration

THE Administration has worked diligently making plans for school improvements. A grade school on Moffett Street to open in September, a reconditioned high school track course, and preliminary plans for high school additions have made a towering blueprint stack.

The Thomas Jefferson Grade School, named by student vote, includes kindergarten through sixth grade.

The high school quarter-mile track layout is one of the state's best. The 220 yard straightaway is outstanding.

According to plans our future teen-agers will enjoy additional high school facilities. Under discussion are a new gym, modern science laboratories, a library, an auditorium, and perhaps a swimming pool.

Thanks to its progressive administration Mt Lebanon keeps its schools up-to-date.

Dr. Ralph Horsman, our superintendent, and Dr. Ross Gill, assistant superintendent of instruction, discuss school policy.

For Everyone's Needs

MR. KEIFER

MISS ION

AT A High-stacked desk in the Main Office sits our friend and principal, Mr. Keifer. Although always ready for a talk with an executive or a student, his main job is school administrator. Thus he directs the entire school program—activities, sports, instruction, maintenance, and school policy. He deputizes departmental heads, who are directly responsible to him. When spare time emerges from a thousand details, Mr. Keifer works for his doctorate, but he and Mrs. Keifer always find time to attend school functions.

TRY Peeping into the Attendance Office right in the middle of a school day. You are likely to find Miss Ion, our vice principal, in there busy as a bee. If not performing numerous administrative tasks such as making master schedules, checking attendance, or sending college grade transcripts, she is doing extra work for the Advisory Council, Class Rank Squad or Achievement Squad. In the evening after an eventful day, Miss Ion might enjoy a lively play, movie, or bridge game.

ADVISORY COUNCIL

FRONT: Miss McClure, Miss Ion, Mr. Keifer, Mrs. Cargill, Mr. Gilbert. BACK: Gorr, Karcher, Talcott, Mr. Whipkey, Jones, Rees, Clutter.

Our Stockmarket of Helpers

"LINE Forms at the end." This phrase is often uttered by one of the many students seeking Mrs. Cargill, our Activities Director. The speaker might want his activities points checked by the Honor Award Committee sponsor. Perhaps he wants the director of the Ways and Means Squad, Book Squad or decorating Squad. He could be the executive board president seeing his supervisor. Well, whatever his business, it must quickly be stated, for there's a line behind him.

MISS GORDON

AS Mt. Lebanon's home and school visitor Miss Gordon helps to form a strong link between the home and school. By paying friendly calls in the homes of new students, she starts this cordial home-school relationship. Her job also includes investigating truancy, issuing work permits, and taking the school census. Miss Gordon has indeed become an authority on student life through her many associations.

MRS. HORNE

MRS. HORNE, our Guidance Counselor, helps students to analyze their vocational interests so they can wisely select a high school course and later a suitable college. As part of this program she makes arrangements for Career Night when students hear talks on vocations which interest them. The lower left picture shows students enjoying one of the many speakers. Mrs. Horne also arranges conferences with college representatives. Shown at the lower right is a Denison meeting.

Our Helpers

WE Can't get along without them. "Who?" you ask. Why, "our helpers".

One branch of this group is the secretaries, substitutes, and replacements. The secretaries cheerfully typed, telephoned, and kept records straight in the main and attendance offices. Mrs Swaim, who replaced Mr. Srp temporarily, and Mrs. Truxell, a teacher-of-all-trades, were two of the substitutes. Mr. Lamprinakos, the new boys' gym and driving instructor in the second semester, was the only replacement.

Another section of the helpers newly organized this year is the Future Teachers of America. Sponsored by Miss Ion and called the "Veritas Club," students interested in teaching helped at any local schools whenever needed. Besides helping others the club members helped themselves by observing and teaching classes in district schools. Thus they had a chance to test their teaching capabilities.

Here's to our good friends, the cafeteria workers and janitors! It's so pleasant to see beaming faces behind the lunch counter and at the end of the cafeteria line. So what if they want your nickels and pennies! The delicious food they cook is worth it. Then, after school you see some busy beavers carefully sweeping the rooms, cleaning the windows, and dumping late-leavers out of the building. But they always have time for a cheery hello and a good-natured remark.

No, school days wouldn't be complete without "our helpers."

JANITORS: Mr. J. Smith, Mr. Arbes, Mr. Myers, Mr. G. Smith, Mr. Otto, Mr. Ball.

CAFETERIA WORKERS: Mrs. Goebel, Mrs. Reardon, Mrs. Gallagher, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Burkleca, Mrs. Boustead, Mrs. Ketchum, Mrs. Baldinger, Mrs. L. Ferraro, Mrs. M. Ferraro, Mrs.
Beardshall.

SECRETARIES: Miss Adamson, Mrs. Irwin, Miss McMaster, Mrs. Booth.

NEW TEACHERS: Mr. Lamprinakos, Mrs. Truxell, Mrs. Swaim.

VERITAS CLUB: (Front) Garner, Adams, Wolfers, Arnold, Welden, Dickinson, (Back) Cameron, Harman, Marshall, Ellinger, Streine, Frank, Ziegler, Ivory.

In public speaking classes, carefully planned talks are presented to fellow classmen to develop skill in speaking technique. Pupils gradually learn to employ the factors of interest and impelling motives. Before an attentive audience, Monnie gives an excellent demonstration of horsemanship.

The 120C classes use our library constantly while working on their English Composition themes. Oh, how they slave! Miss Moore keeps very busy satisfying request slips for information. But, the hardest job of all is the final three-thousand word theme.

General English, a new course at Mt. Lebo, provides much useful information through a unit on periodicals. On display is a poster, designed by the students, which portrays the many popular magazines of today.

The tragedy of Macbeth is eagerly studied by blood-thirsty senior English students. Among this year's dramatizations of the play was that of Eddy Eld. He portrays the horrible death of Macbeth, and offers the class the villain's head.

Junior English pupils struggle through a unit in which the diagramming of sentences is emphasized. Each student's big moment is to display his diagramming on the blackboard—the results look something like this.

The Perplexities of Higher

Higher math may confuse you a wee bit, but to Bob and the other solid students this locus problem is as easy as pi. Those lucky ones who survive solid go on to greater complexities in trig.

Does  $x$  really equal all that? Murray thinks so and is trying to convince the rest of the class. You can't tell much from the backs of their heads, but they must be thinking, "Can I pass algebra?"

A square is always a rectangle, but a rectangle isn't always a square. Confusing, isn't it? Well, these geometry students try their best, but who can blame them if they find circles, triangles, tangents, and arcs confusing?

Learning Taxed Our Minds

Whether it's an operculum or the pre-opercle, these students can tell you all about it. But the fun really begins when they start to dissect frogs, earthworms, and anything else that comes within their reach.

Our budding chemists have a great deal of fun with potassium, oxygen, the halogens, and particularly sulfur. Consequently, when those fragrant aromas prevail in the building, you know these mixers are at it again.

From the intelligent looks on their faces, you can tell these physicists know what they are doing. Any time your car or refrigerator breaks down just give them a call. They'll be glad to help you.

One of the several new classes this year is personal adjustment and family living. There were many good discussions and debates on marriage, social life, and personality. A survey on "going steady" also produced many interesting answers.

One picture is worth a thousand words! This fact was really proved through the use of several, particularly good movies in economics classes. They were a big help in understanding the problems of consumers and manufacturers.

Another new class added this year is geography of strategic areas. Mr. Kline brought those "far away places" of Asia, the Pacific Islands, and Africa close to home. Many interesting days were spent by armchair travelers.

of International Understanding

A bit of gay Paris right here in Mt. Lebo! These belles and beau admire Miss Zahniser's objets d'art. Very chic, eh? Oral talks kept us informed and a visit to a French Art Exhibition made learning a pleasure—almost.

What time is it? These students can tell you because they've been learning to tell time—not so easy in German! Sprechen Sie Deutsch? German students not only speak it, they sing it. A favorite song is "Schnitzelbank."

This Spanish class finds estudiantes up to bat. Si? A lucky strike means Christmas presents for all. An imaginary train trip had everyone buying tickets to those faraway places 'South of the Border.'

Practical Skills Equipped

What a beautiful picture, Madeline—or is it Marcia? Well, whoever it is, she's painting a beautiful landscape. High spots in art class were sculpturing and poster designing. Very colorful and interesting bulletin boards were made, too.

I wonder what the girls are cooking. Whatever it is, I bet it smells good. The girls turn out some delicious morsels. They learn how to plan and prepare appetizing meals and to be good, efficient home-makers.

"Look, I'm driving!" But, it takes more than going through the motions to make a good driver. In this part of the course everyone learns how to get out of a tough situation without damaged fenders.

Us With Life's Tools

In this class the boys start out with elementary drawing. Then, they advance to architectural and engineering drawing. Mechanical drawing is always a very important subject for anyone who aims to be either an architect or an engineer.

Look at those lathes, will you! Yes, look, but be careful. This is only one of the many tools in the metal shop, which are responsible for the wonderful pieces of work turned out by our students.

The girls work hard in this class to get the dictations down; however can they read what they have written? After all, the purpose of this subject is to help girls become efficient in writing rapid, legible shorthand.

"Where to now?" That might easily be the question in the minds of these students as they study the circulatory system in health class. This is just one of the many subjects which are discussed during the semester.

You don't have to go to Egypt to see pyramids. You can find perfect examples here at school when the girls start gymnastics. At other times you will find basketball, volleyball, and deck tennis being enjoyed.

Why do we have so many hefty, muscular boys at Mt. Lebo? The physical fitness program in gym class is the secret of their 'Hollywood' appearances. However, other sports, such as football, basketball, mushball, and wrestling, are included in the boys' schedule.

Novel Classes Proved Intriguing

Sample newspapers are often passed around the room to give future journalists ideas for their stories. (B. L.)

Seamstresses of the home economics classes carefully cut and stitch to produce their lovely creations. (B. R.)

Wood shop students though often surrounded by deep sawdust actually turn out masterpieces.

The Executive Board officers, (FRONT) Wise, Gastmeyer, (BACK) Kraft, Gorr, Clutter, Meyer, were our senior leaders in school life.

Our Senior Sheiks

Good old Oz will some day own a president's sedan,
And who will fix his parking fine? Why Mayoress Jo Ann.

Most Likely To Succeed.....Jo Ann Wise and Ozzie Gorr

O, some can play polo, and some have great tact;
But these two are good all-round—that's a fact.

Best All-Round Kids.....Happy Gastmeyer and Ozzie Gorr

Whatever there is that needs to be done,
These kids can do it, and they call it fun.

Most Talented.....Monnie Adams and Bill Minkler

Four is a party, one is too few,
Three is a crowd, but a couple—that's two.

Cutest Couple.....Barbara Bauer and Jim Portman

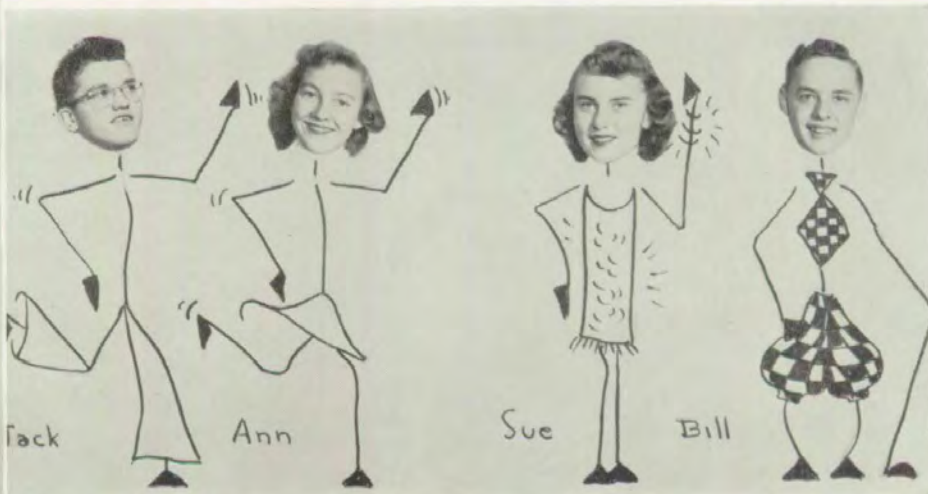

Is it 1, 2, 3, kick, or kick, 2, 3, 4?

At any rate, they're pretty hot at dancing on the ballroom floor.

Best Dancers.....Ann Bowman and Jack Brown

The 20's had their flappers, and short skirts, and crazy hats.
They wear them in the 50's, and now we call them "cats".

Best Dressed.....Sue O'Brien and Bill Hassel

Became Famous "Poll" Sitters

The Cadillac's a quiet car, but boy, has it got power.
Above this masterpiece of steel our Bob and Linda tower.

Quietest.....Linda Kelly and Bob Humphreys

At tiddledy-winks or basketball or any other sport,
Our athlete friends are always in the stands or on the court.

Most Athletic.....Ann McFee and Jerry Clutter

"The cosine of  $x$  plus the tangent of  $y$ "—
It can't stump these brains, though hard it may try.

Brainiest.....Monnie Adams and Jerry Clutter

With well-seasoned humor these two run about;
Folks laugh at their jokes either wit' or wit'out.

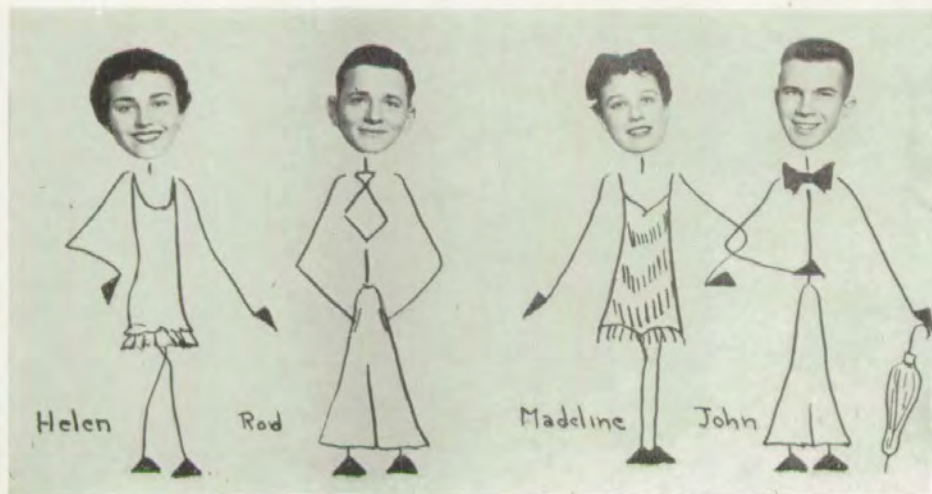

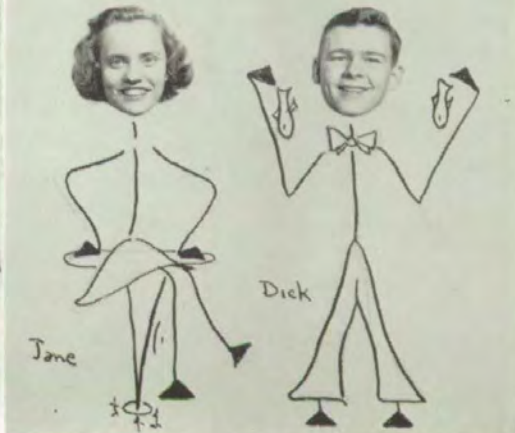

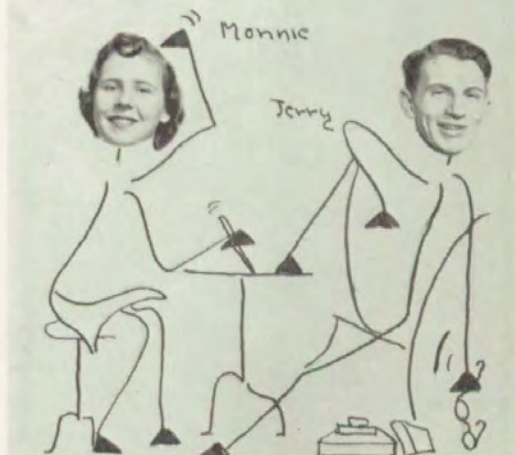

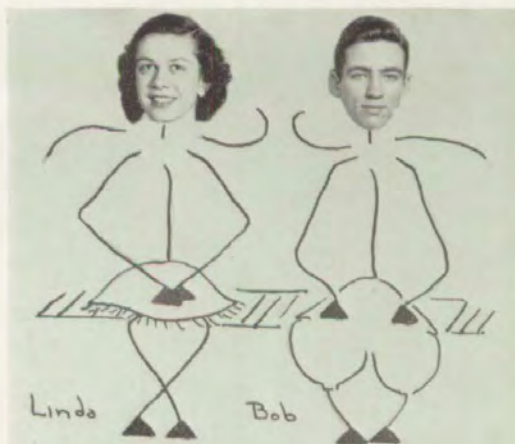

Wittiest.....Janie Arnold and Dick Hall

To Webster a sophisticate is one who's "worldly wise".
At knowing what is coming off this pair now takes first prize.

Most Sophisticated.....Madeline Beard and John Kraft

"Oh, Mirror, why dost thou turn green with envy like the sea?"
" 'Cause everyone is eyeing Rod and Helen 'stead of me."

Best Looking.....Helen Jones and Rodney Simmonds

For Seniors Are Jolly Good Fellows

Which one shall we try for? Seniors look at a bulletin board displaying scholarship announcements. (T. L.)

The senior class boasted four sets of twins—the McCauleys, the Halls, the Harpsters, and the Beards. (T. R.)

Seniors clamor for that little hunk of gold and onyx which means they finally made the grade. (B. L.)

At last the momentous day arrives and Seniors proudly march to their commencement exercises. (B. R.)

Come on, kids, give a cheer for the great class of '52!

Juniors and sophomores as well as seniors met at the popular statue.

Football

Mt. Lebanon's 1951 football team started off on the right foot but was soon tripped up in the following weeks. In the first game with Waynesburg the Mounties were somewhat anxious; however, they crossed the goal line twice and won 12-7.

The Perry game caught the Lebo squad off-guard. Perry scored in the first seventeen seconds, while the Lebo lads scored on one of their two drives of the fourth quarter. The Mounties lost 6-13.

The South Hills game was the second and last game in which the 1951 pigskin squad came out on top. Mt. Lebanon scored first; South Hills retaliated, and the score was 7-7 at half-time. The second half started slowly but ended decisively in a 20-7 Lebo victory.

Mt. Lebanon's joust with Penn knocked the Blue and Gold completely out of the AA race. Beckert's boys' offensive failed to click, but they managed to hold the Indians to one touchdown.

We Thought They'd Win

A Mt. Lebanon squad, weakened considerably by injuries, was easy prey for Washington, and the Mounties lost in the pouring rain by 27-0. The thriller of the season, the Wilkinsburg battle, was a heart-breaker of 14-12 against our maimed players. Stockily they next faced Uniontown and were the only team to score against them twice, but Mt. Lebo was defeated. The last setback was made by Butler.

Although casualties greatly hindered the Blue Devils, they wound up their strenuous season with many outstanding lettermen.

Basketball

In an up and down season this year the local hoopsters captured fourth place in the W.P.I.A. L. section standings.

The Mounties started their season slowly in the exhibition pre-season games, winning only one game in seven—that one over Crafton. Their showing was better in the W.P.I.A.L. games with a 6-6 record.

In the league games Mt. Lebo swept twice over Clark and Trinity, bowed in the doubles to Washington and Dormont, and won one and lost one to Canonsburg and Burgettstown. The two Burgettstown games were the closest in the series; Mt. Lebo won there in overtime by 58-57 and lost here by 41-39.

At the last game of the season with Dormont the boys lost 68-53, but school spirit reached its all time high.

Sharpshooting Ron Jones copped all honors being the first junior to be voted the outstanding varsity player. The other lettermen were Irwin, Jordy, Rust, Kernan, Long, Ekedahl, Saxton, Connors, and Johnson. Prospects are high for a good team next year with five returning lettermen contrasted with the one returning letterman, Al Johnson, from last year.

The junior varsity's season compared to the varsity's with a record of seven victories and twelve defeats, many being lost by one or two points. These hoopsters ended in a hot streak, however, with four straight wins. Outstanding players were Ladley, Simms, and Kragnes, who promise to be good varsity material for next year.

Cross Country

Mt. Lebanon's cross country teams under the successful direction of Mr. Mollenauer came through with roaring seasons again this year. The varsity, displaying class and speed, won over New Castle, Central Catholic, and other outstanding teams in the district by decisive scores. They rolled up nine consecutive victories, four by perfect scores. This made a total of eighteen in the last two years. For the second straight season they won the W.P.I.A.L. championship but fell behind Altoona in defending their state championship crown at Penn State.

Leading the harriers, Bob Cherry came in first consistently and remained undefeated until the state final, where he placed sixth. Others in the spotlight, who also accounted for the fine scores, were Jon and John Thomas, Doug Terman, and Joe Stadelman. Burning up the course with them were lettermen Chuck Matthews, Danny O'Connor, Tom Blandford, Eddie Mihm, John Kraft, and Bob Walsh.

The junior varsity squad, following in the varsity's footsteps, was victorious in all but one of its meets, Central Catholic. They ended the campaign by edging out Brentwood for the W.P.I.A.L. junior varsity championship. Jim Crawford was the main individual winner on the junior varsity team, closely followed by Bill Poole.

Hopes for next season are held high by the two Thomases, John, and Jon, Eddie Mihm, and Danny O'Connor. They will return with much necessary experience from this season's varsity, strongly backed by a champion junior varsity.

Track 1951

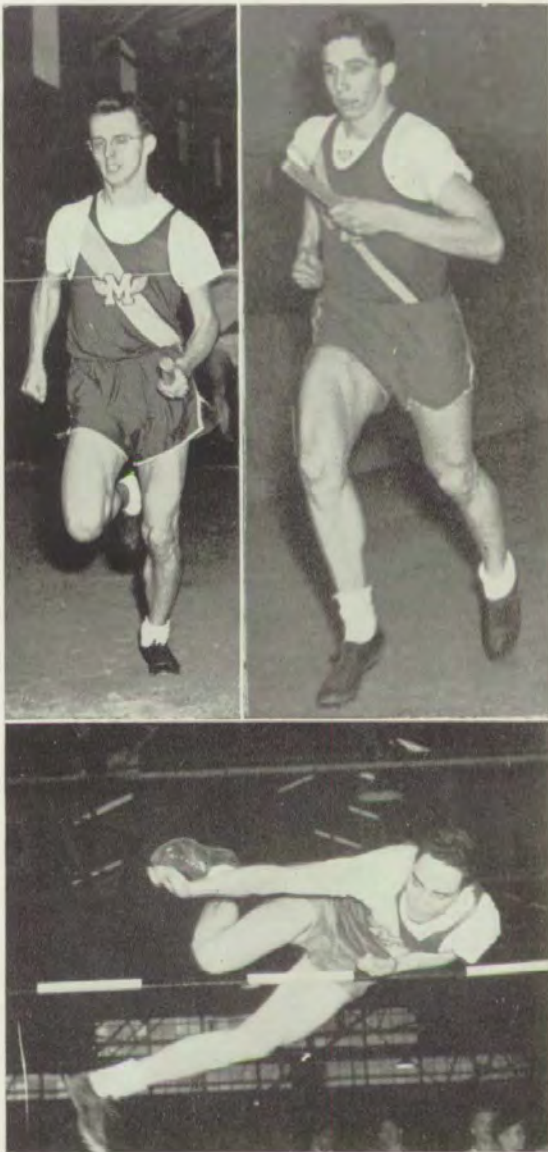

Mr. Mollenauer's trackmen again were undefeated. They placed eighth in the Mansfield Relays against seventy-one schools. There the four-mile relay team of Giordano, Kortner, Terman, and Cherry set a new record of 19:18.8 to smash the former 19:25.2 set in 1948. Then they advanced to the W.P.I.A.L. relays at Connellsville and the Washington Invitational Meet, winning both for the tenth straight season. Competing with twelve schools in the Allegheny County Meet, the team won, breaking two records. Bob Billingsley set one in the 220 with 22.3, and Dick Anderson made vaulting history with an 11'3" leap.

Led by Billingsley, winner of the 100 and 220, and Cherry, master miler with 4:36.3, the Mounties took their fifth W.P.I.A.L. championship at Canonsburg. The 880 relay team of Klingensmith, Murray, Zivic, and Billingsley notched second. Qualifying for the State Meet were Billingsley, Cherry, Giordano, and the 880 relay team.

The indoor season was also successful. After winning the Quadrangular Meet, the Mounties topped fifteen schools in the Tri-State Coaches' Meet. The two-mile relay team of Matthews, Englert, Clair, and Kortner equaled the Mounty record of 8:34.3. A new Schoonmaker Hall record of 3:39.5 was made by the mile relay team.

Kortner breaks the tape for another win. (T. L.). Clair runs a fast leg on the relay team. (T.R.). Keegan goes up and over for Mt. Lebo. (B.).

Good Sportsmanship Was

Gastmeyer, McFee, Vecella, Buckley, Balch, Airhart, Klimcheck, and Dodson were the Senior All-stars, who won the tournament.

After school on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays the girls poured into the gym for a rousing G.A.A. game, such as this one in basketball.

At the G.A.A. dessert, Miss Wray really put feeling into her "Twelfth Street Rag" dance (L.). Oh, the laughs at the dessert! Patti and Daryle added to the gaiety with their variety show (R.).

G.A.A. COUNCIL

FRONT: Marshall, Brick, Witt, Tressel, Bauer. BACK: Timberlake, Brown, Vecella (pres.), Erskine, Overholt.

The Girls' Athletic Association

Who says the fellows are more sports-minded than the girls! Our girls are very athletically inclined and engage in a wide variety of sports by belonging to G.A.A. Seniors, juniors, and sophomores alike participate in the sports program made for all sizes, tastes, and abilities. The profitable program builds strong minds as well as strong bodies through good sportsmanship in games.

This year, Miss Wray, the new girls' gym teacher, added greatly to the stimulating agenda by initiating new game techniques.

Tennis got the season rolling, and so fast that it was still being played in the spring. Deck tennis had the limelight next with Marshall's team being the victors.

Basketball, as usual, was the biggest sport of the year. After weeks of energetic participation, Vecella's team took top honors. Each grade gave its best for an all-star team, and the seniors won.

March brought with it the G.A.A. dessert. After chocolate cake, vanilla ice cream, and gum drops were devoured, the hilarious entertainment began. First came the chorus line followed by a variety of acts including dancing, singing, and acting. The G.A.A. Council, all dolled up like country hicks, also gave a show. All showed they were good sports by engaging in the "girlship" and fun.

Volleyball and bowling highlighted the rest of the sports year. Spike and strike were often confused!

Do you have scoliosis, lordosis, or kyphosis? Our modern dancers discovered if they did and then corrected it. These dancers combined work and fun in this creative class. Miss Wray suggested a modern dance show, and it was successfully given.

The end of a full year came on Play Day, when a hundred of our most athletic G.A.A. members competed with outstanding girl athletes from ten other schools.

Keen Minds and Bodies Competed

CHESS

The chess players competed in eight section matches, winning five, losing two, and drawing one to become the section champions. Sponsored by Mr. Gilbert, the team won twenty-nine games and lost eleven, but lost its play-off match for the Pittsburgh championship to Taylor Alderdice. The outstanding player was George Rybicki, who won all his games.

CHESS: Howe, Baierbach, Donath, Rybicki, Pendleton, Linkhauer, Adams.

INTRAMURAL TENNIS

Mr. Doak initiated intramural tennis this year with singles, doubles, and mixed doubles. Cold weather halted the playoffs at the end of the singles tournament. The sophomore, junior, and senior girl champions were respectively Steffanie Jones, Nancy Tressel, and Virginia Rich. Bruce Fowler, Dave Baldus, and Bob Pierson were the boy champions.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The intramural basketball teams under the direction of Mr. Goodwin completed another successful season. Even though a small membership forced many homerooms to join forces, the spirit of competition remained at its usually high level. The grade champions were the 12-2's, 11-7's, and 10-10's.

INTRAMURAL TENNIS: Mergott, Saxton, Mr. Doak, Thoma, Lees, Baldus, Ketchum. INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL WINNERS: Crytzer, Portman, Waters, McCartan, Nee, Murray, Hulse, Patterson (all from 12-2).

Student Government

The Executive Board and Student Court, which form the backbone of our student government, maintained their high standards for 1952.

Composed of the three executive board officers, homeroom presidents, and senior representatives, the Executive Board co-ordinates all school activities. The problems of students and teachers are brought to Board meetings through homeroom presidents.

Early in the year it was noticed that the band would march on Memorial Day, the day after the Senior Prom. This fact was discussed by the Executive Board, and the seniors decided not to march. However, handling problems is not the only function of the Board; it also aids in organizing projects. This year the Board developed honor study halls, a project of the Good Sportsmanship Committee. During the first semester preparations were made; in the second semester honor study halls became part of school life.

The Student Court, our law enforcing body, consists of four seniors, two juniors, and two sophomores. A student who receives an out-of-order appears before the Court to present his story. The Student Court decides whether or not the offense should be placed on the student's record.

Directly or indirectly each student has a voice in his government.

The board was emphatically called to order by Mr. President. (L.). "That's what you get kids, for makin' whoopee!" (R.).

The Backbone of Activities

PROJECTION—Mt. Lebo's famous projection-ists! They kept the cameras working. (T.L.)

WAYS AND MEANS—Candy! Pop! Fun galore, but these hard workers seldom saw a game. (T.R.)

DECORATING—With a stepladder and gobs of crepe paper the decorators could work miracles. (B.L.)

DEVOTIONS — Inspiring Thursday morning programs were the result of their hard work. (B.R.)

STAGE CREW—The success of many a play and musical depended on the work of this crew.

Committees and Squads

MEDICAL—A broken arm? The girls in the medical office knew what to do; they always had aspirin.

HOSPITALITY—Their friendly smiles seemed to say, "Welcome to Mt. Lebo. Make yourself at home." (T.L.)

USHERS AND USHERETTES—Taking tickets and finding the patrons' seats kept this courteous group busy. (T.R.)

SOCIAL—Behind the success of every social event was the hard work of this group. (B.L.)

CAFETERIA—Cleaning tables and sweeping up broken dishes were their main jobs. (B.R.)

Were Meant For Us

LIBRARY—Miss Moore kept these girls stepping with overdue book notices and filing. (T.L.)

BIOLOGY—These students were in charge of feeding Mr. Mehner's pets and getting equipment ready for class. (T.R.)

CLASS RANK—Scads of class rank reports kept this industrious group busy. (B.L.)

ATTENDANCE—They were known for their long arms, reaching for forms 48 in the class room doors. (B.R.)

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP—The fine reputation of Mt. Lebo depended greatly on leadership in good sportsmanship.

Lantern

The Lantern radiated brilliant light this year managed by its magnetic editor-in-chief, Bill Minkler, and its vigorous sponsor, Miss McLaughlin. It was published frequently; in fact the first issue appeared the day school opened.

The staff worked harder than most realize, for the normal processing of the Lantern is quite "extinguishing." Bill, Dwight Fee, news editor, and Jean Walker, feature editor, uncovered news which they assigned to reporters. After the stories were proofread by the editors, they were typed and sent to the printer to be copied on pink "galley proofs." These proofs were returned to the staff where Mary Lou Walker, make-up editor, pasted them on Lantern dummy sheets and wrote the headlines. The dummy sheets were mailed to the printer where the paper was reprinted and posted "Room 208, Mt. Lebanon High."

In the assembly room, the Lantern was given its last polishing. It was combined with the "Roto" and the mimeographed "Devilette," which appeared this year twice as often as the newspaper. Now being assembled and polished, the Lantern was "ready to shine."

Log

An old jalopy roared onto the field in the crowded football stadium at one of the big home games. Accompanied by the band's "Dearie," its occupants, dressed in styles of 1920, piled out and started Charlestoning and waving pennants. This was the official opening of the 1952 Log campaign. The rest of the drive was waged by staff members in homerooms and in the cardboard jalopy in the school lobby.

Meanwhile plans for our yearbook were begun first periods on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. At this time different phases of the book were discussed by its sponsor, Miss Nesbitt, its editor-in-chief, Bob Swearingen; and the other editors, Sally Garner, Diane Smith, Carol Caughey, and Alfred Wardle. Then plans were carried out. Mr. Rosser and school photographers were kept busy flashing bulbs. The typists and literary staff ground out write-ups. The art staff designed pages and layouts.

After photos were mounted on cardboard by the staff, they were sent to the engraver. When the proofs were returned, they were pasted in a book similar to the final, called the "dummy". The staff rushed to beat its printing deadline, and finally the 1952 Log went to press.

And Developed Writing Skills

Mounty

"Today is Mounty day!" This announcement was broadcast over the P.A. about once every month and a half to say that the literary magazine was ready to be sold. When this time arrived most of us took the forty or fifty page issue for granted, that is, all except the Mounty workers. They knew what the word Mounty really stood for. If asked they could tell you this: M stands for the mechanical side of the Mounty. This means the typing and mimeographing departments which are especially important because the Mounty is printed entirely by the students. O is for originality, not only in creative writing but in art as well. U is for unity for which the editors, assistant editors, proofreaders, and department heads are responsible. N stands for the nickle which the sales staff gladly takes. T is for the toil and time that are needed to make an attractive Mounty that comes out on time. And Y stands for you. That means everyone at Mt. Lebo, because the Mounty is literally "of, by, and for" the students. All this plus lots of encouragement from the sponsor, Miss Elliott, went into an issue of the Mounty.

Music

Mt. Lebanon High School has long been noted for its excellent music department, but this year provided the best yet in musical organizations and presentations.

Our accomplished band, led by Mr. Prutzman, was the crowning glory of the football half-time. Those majorettes surely could strut! The annual band revue, held in October, plus the one in March were thrilling spectacles. The University of Pittsburgh recognized the skill of our band and invited it to Pitt Stadium where it again performed triumphantly.

The Christmas season had more meaning after we listened to the combined choruses present Handel's "Messiah" as well as the impressive candlelight carol singing through the halls. Miss Sneary, their directress, deserves much credit for the success of these musical feats.

The second formal youth concert, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, had a large, appreciative audience, and well-deserved recognition was given to the talented singers, pianists, and organist.

Spring brought with it two artistic productions. The concert presented by the combined band and orchestra was an overwhelming success as was the choruses' musicale with its original plot, lovely songs, and eye-catching costumes. The members of these groups, working skillfully together, made the shows successful.

Our harmonious triple trio, the nine nightingales with golden throats, maintained their usual record of one musical success after another. Could Mt. Lebanon ask for any better representatives of the school than these talented young ladies? They did so much to make the weekly devotional programs more inspiring. Their accomplishments in numerous public affairs, assemblies, and school functions were remarkable also.

From the cumulative work of our organizations, backed by individual work, came the successful 1951-1952 musical season.

Y-Teens

"Swing your partner!" Square dancing was just one activity on the Y-Teens' social program. Movies, dinners, and the beautiful candlelight Recognition Service rounded out the agenda. Hearing various speakers led the Y-Teens to consider serious matters. The Juvenile Court inspired Miss Stephens's Delta "doll makers". The senior Betas, sponsored by Miss McClure, adopted a family for Christmas. Not to be outdone by their elders the two sophomore clubs, Miss Grove's Alphas and Miss Manning's Sigmas, gave food to needy families.

Hi-Y

The three chapters—the senior Golds, junior Cedars, and sophomore Blues—again strove to spread their ideals through the rest of the school. In bi-monthly meetings various topics of current interest were discussed through the help of the sponsors—Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Whipkey, and Mr. Rañes.

On Mondays and Thursdays during the winter the basketball league sponsored by the three Hi-Y's played out its schedule. This year the league championship was won by the Greeks, composed of Miller, Rohl, Portman, Snyder, McCallum, and Mosites, followed by the second place Forgy-Five, the third place Golds, and the fourth place Monkeys.

"Nora, if we get out of this alive, will you marry me?"

UNDER COVER

AN Activities play couldn't have more action than Under Cover with its gangsters, detectives, and lovely ladies. Even the F.B.I. was baffled by a necklace smuggler, but the good won again in a clever manner. After a thrilling show bows were made and play books became dusty.

"All right, Taylor, don't try anything funny" (T.L.). "Hold still while I make up your eyes" (T.R.). "We surely have a full house this weekend" (B.L.). "Michael, if you're so sleepy, go to bed. We're playing bridge" (B.C.). "Remember that evening under the moon on the Bois?" (B.R.)

GEORGE WASHINGTON SLEPT HERE

WAS It George Washington or Benedict Arnold who slept in the Fuller's country home? Well, our side-splitting senior play in which anything happened proved that Benedict was the boy. Wells were drilled; relatives visited and romances evolved. All made the comedy a box office hit.

"I cannot believe you are by brother's child."

Many hours were spent pouring over play books (T.L.). "It's been lovely, hasn't it? Rain for two solid days" (T.R.) "Well, if it isn't Sears-Roebuck" (B.L.). "Mr. Fuller, we've struck it! We've struck water!" (B.C.) "This boy just threw a skunk in my swimming pool." (B.R.)

Honor Awards

MT. Lebanon may be truly proud of its versatile students who have received local and even national recognition through the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, and activities awards. Seniors and 11A juniors who worked diligently for ninety activities points were awarded an Activities Key. A few more industrious students accumulated two hundred points, the requirement for an Activities Guard. Points were merited through participation in the varied school activities. Mt. Lebanon's highest award, membership in the National Honor Society, was given to students with outstanding qualities of character, service, leadership, and scholarship. Fifteen per cent of the seniors received this coveted honor. National Honor Society membership is recorded on a national tablet. Likewise names of our most intelligent students are engraved on a golden plaque in our trophy case. This plaque bears the names of those making straight A's in solids at the end of a semester. Recognition for outstanding work in high school journalism was also given to talented Mt. Lebanon students by Quill and Scroll, an international organization.

Press Scholastic Writing Contest

"GIVE That boy an Underwood portable type-writer, that girl a Waterman pen and pencil set, and give the rest either keys or certificates!" This might have been said about Bill Minkler, grand prize winner; Johnnie Sawyer, second prize winner; and our other writers who placed in the 1952 Pittsburgh Press Scholastic Writing Awards contest. The awards were as follows: Short Story—Carol Streine, Dave Bender; Essay—Patti Hufnagel, Bob Bruce, Arlene Mering; Poetry—Donna Northrup; Short-Short Story—Bill Minkler, Jerry Clutter; Humor—Bill Minkler, John Linkhauer; Autobiographical Sketch—Jack Morgan, Hope Hodnette, Monnie Adams; General Articles—Bill Minkler, Dave Bender; Radio Scripts—Johnnie Sawyer, Mary Ann Sullivan, Warren Armstrong, Erika Erskine; Column—Bill Minkler and Tom Taussig.

We Offer You Congratulations

Meet Mr. History! John Linkhauer and Hugh Pendleton won high honors in the American History Contest.

These Mt. Lebanon senior boys received the NROTC award for naval training. (T.L.)

These artistic Latin students designed houses, pictures, stamp albums, and notebooks which Buhl Planetarium honored. (T.R.)

For his outstanding work in math and science Paul Grunenwald received the Bausch and Lomb award. (B.L.)

Ted Bennett earned a unique honor—a principal appointment to Annapolis Naval Academy. (B.C.)

The Rensselaer Medal was given to George Rybicki for his excellence in science. (B.R.) (B.R.)

Deep In Our Hearts

Miss Pickens finds it necessary to play "London Bridge" to get to lunch safely. (T.L.)

Strike! Spare! The teachers are doing their best to "bowl" things up around here. (T.R.)

Waiting to register their arrival at the school, these teachers begin another day. (B.L.)

A pleasant atmosphere at lunch time enables our faculty to relax for a short time. (B.R.)

Mr. Steams is tutored in French by Miss Zahniser in order to get his doctorate at Pitt.

The Days When Our Hearts

Proud of the school-wide fad they started, these seniors sport their white bucks.

For the last (?) time Mr. Shaner forcefully administers the old "heave ho" to Alfred. (T.L.)

Madeline and Vonnice agree that it took a lot of imagination to design these Career Night posters. (T.R.)

This "Roaring Twenties" jalopy, overflowing with Log staff members, runs down Ozzie for its first customer. (B.L.)

Rattling onto the field in style, Charleston dancers and golf pros begin a vigorous Log sales campaign. (B.R.)

Were Young And Gay

Joe and Bing put the glamorous finishing touches on the Christmas tree in the lobby. (B.L.)

Again our choruses sing beautiful Christmas carols in their candlelight procession through the halls on the day before vacation. (B.C.)

This alert guard puts a hand out to block what seems like a sure basket. (B.R.)

Newscasters, Wise and Sawyer, and sportscasters, Schuchts and McGill, practice while studio manager, Bob Bruce, stands by.

Our Alma Mater

'Neath cedars stately, midst hills so bold,
Stands our Mt. Lebanon, realm of blue and gold,
Radiant with splendor, valor, virtue and truth,
Moulder of our destiny guardian of our youth.
Ever our praises shall ring, Alma Mater, for thee.
