REEL ONE

These Producers Always Turned

General school plans are discussed by Dr. Ralph Horsman, our superintendent, and Dr. Ross Gill, his assistant.

ADMINISTRATION

At the fall election, the Mount Lebanon voters backed the school administration by approving an addition to the senior high school building. The new wing will include added library facilities, gyms, classrooms, science labs, and an auditorium. These plans continue an expansion program started several years ago which ended with the completion of the Thomas Jefferson Elementary School. Opened in September, this school provided much needed classrooms for an increased grade school enrollment.

In keeping with the modern trends, a serious note was stressed in the schools this year. Civil Defense was discussed in the classrooms and retention drills were introduced. In case of an emergency, our students will be prepared.

Our administration worked hard to better our schools and to keep them up-to-date. A vote of thanks is due them for their fine work.

Dr. Joseph C. Keifer

Miss Ella Ion

Dr. Keifer, our helpful principal, supervises the overall program of our school. He sees that sports, activities, studies, maintenance, and teacher - pupil relationships keep running smoothly. Co-starring with him, in the role of director, is Miss Ion. All students who have schedule difficulties can always have them solved by her in the Attendance Office. Sending college grade transcripts, checking attendance records, and sponsoring the Class Rank Committee and the Veritas Club also keep her quite busy. The many Mt. Lebanon students who go on to make successful college careers owe much to these two capable administrators. They are never too busy to take a minute out of their heavy working schedules to set a confused boy or girl on the right path to a higher education. We all admire our principal, Dr. Keifer, and our vice-principal, Miss Ion, for their fine job of promoting an eagerness for learning and a spirit of co-operativeness throughout the school.

Mrs. Truxell is an often seen substitute.

Our secretaries, Miss Adamson, Mrs. Uhl, Mrs. Booth, and Mrs. Irwin, keep things running smoothly in the offices.

Mr. Celestin joins the faculty to teach French.

We Never Missed A Cue With

MRS. CARGILL

What's the busiest place in the school? Why, the Activities Office, of course. And all the bustle centers around Mrs. Cargill. She directs all the school activities and also has charge of the Ways and Means, Book, and Decorating squads, Honor Award and Social committees, and the Student Court. No Executive Board meeting is complete without her being there to advise the members. If you want to check your activity points or get into an activity, Mrs. Cargill is the person who will help you.

MRS. HORNE

"Where shall I go to college? Is there a scholarship available? Am I eligible for that scholarship? Where can I get information concerning career, business, or trade schools?" Are you one of the many confused students who took your troubles to Mrs. Horne? Well, that was the right place to go, for our Guidance Counselor is forever straightening out such problems with her good advice.

MISS GORDON

If you are one of the truants at Mt. Lebo, you are probably well acquainted with Miss Gordon, for part of her job is to thwart such 'freedom-loving' students. She is also responsible for issuing working permits and keeping a record of working students. In addition to this, she somehow finds time to visit all newcomers to Mt. Lebanon to make them feel welcome with her warm personality.

The Advisers As Prompters

1. Along with a free afternoon, Inauguration Day brings a speech by Mr. Doak.
2. Mr. Denbow surrenders his title, Newest Papa, to Mr. Mollenauer.
3. Between semesters the members of the PTA serve the faculty a delicious lunch.
4. On the Christmas tree, Dr. Keifer finds plans for the new school addition, thanks to the Mt. Lebanon voters.
5. Mrs. Swaim and Mr. Srp discuss plans for second semester plane geometry.

Color to Our Productions

Chemistry

Here's Ray putting into practice some techniques that he learned in chemistry class. Mixing those chemicals gives some really beautiful colors, but also lots of smoke and pleasing (?) odors that drift through the halls, especially on the third floor.

Clothing

Take heed, fellows! Several girls are proving again this year that, besides being fun, making their own skirts, blouses, and dresses certainly cuts down on the clothing bills. That extra money may help you to stretch the budget some day.

Driving

"And that plug connects with . . .," explains Mr. Lamprinakos, our driving teacher. The driver training course was so popular this year that it was necessary to increase the number of classes and to use two training cars during the second semester.

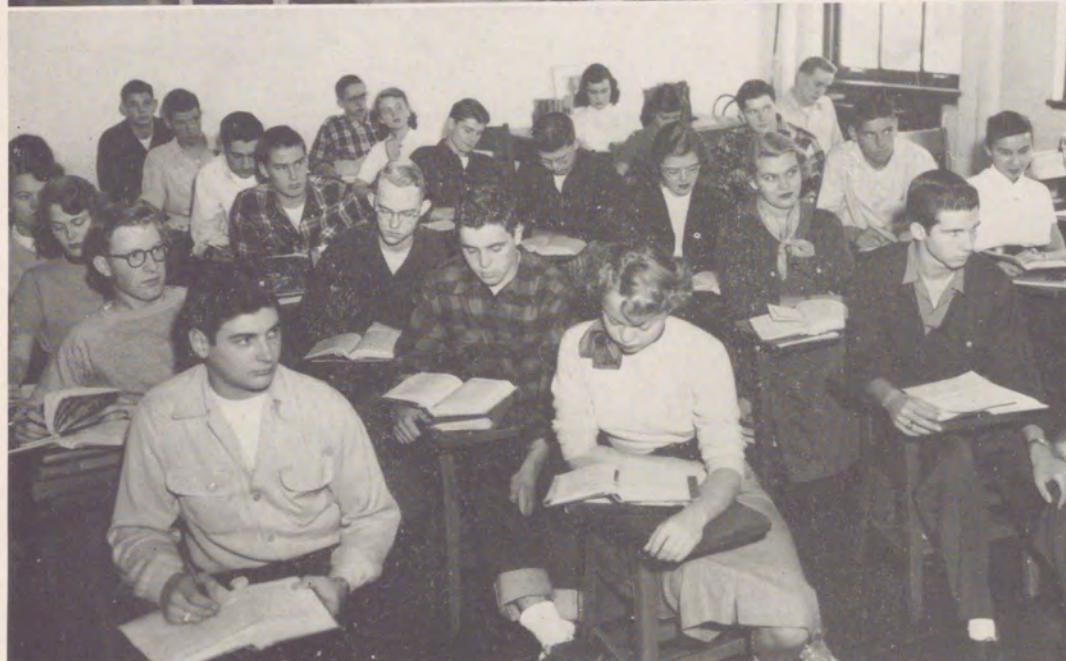

With Our Teacher's Aid We

Economics

After a study of explorers and Civil War battles, economics seems quite a different phase of social studies to these seniors. Offering a background of business trends so essential to the modern world, problems in labor management, banking, and foreign trade produce some stimulating discussions.

120 C

One of the semester courses offered to seniors is 120 C, which includes a thorough study of English grammar and the development and writing of research themes. Suggested by graduates, the course is almost indispensable to college-bound students.

French

Vowels and verbs surely are confusing, but these first year French students manage to come out on top. Added attractions this year were two native-born French teachers who substituted for Miss Zahniser when she took a leave of absence.

Geography

Do you know where the world's driest desert is located? These geography students do, for they are studying the strategic areas of the world in relation to the international situation. This forms a basis for better understanding of the news.

Gym

Don't join the army to see exercises done in perfect rhythm; just look in on one of the girls' gym classes. You might even see some basketball, tennis, or volleyball because many different activities are scheduled this year.

Mechanical Drawing

These studious boys are working hard at learning the fundamentals of mechanical drawing from T-squares and triangles to engineering and architectural drawing. None of our future architects or engineers should miss this essential course.

Film Rolled All Day Long

Physics

Whether experimenting with Hooke's Law or learning the principles of electronics, these hard-working students never show the stress and strain of this course. From this class some of our future engineers will come.

Solid Geometry

This picture can easily be associated with locus by those who have been exposed to higher mathematics. You can tell by the expressions on their faces that the discussion of the models is interesting to these "solid" students.

Typing

"A, S, D, F, G, H, J, K, L, :." This is where our commercial students may take three semesters of typing. Those who have completed these courses may take office practice. However, not all the "carriage throwers" are future secretaries. Many take typing for their personal use.

Mr. Kirk Tallman—World History

Miss Mary Thorpe—Spanish

Miss Thelma Whinnie—Commercial Subjects

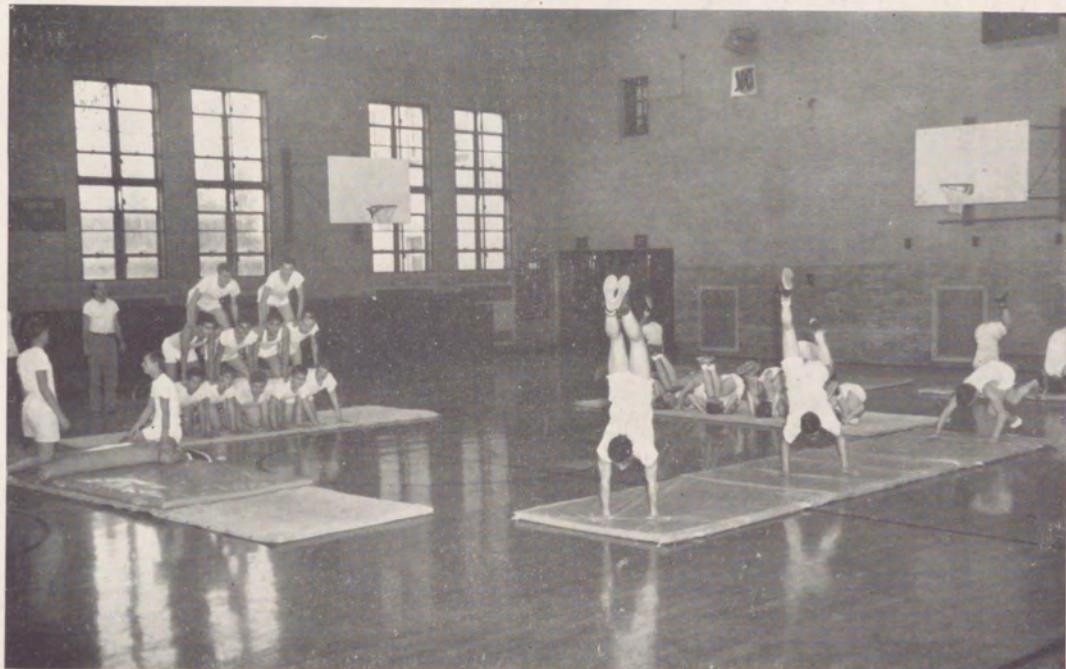

Mr. Earl Whipkey—Algebra

Miss Eleanor Wray—Physical Education

Mr. Arthur Yagello—Orchestra

Miss Helen Zahniser—French

From tumbling in winter to soft ball in summer the boys have a well-rounded physical education program.

Film Scraps

1. Latin students study Roman architecture.
2. Foods classes entertain in the apartment.
3. Transportation is practiced by this Health class.
4. Note the finish on this table made in the wood shop.
5. American History classes study the Constitution.
6. Spanish students examine articles from Latin America.
7. Metal shop workers turn out a piece on a lathe.
8. Pity the poor worms in Biology class.
9. Modern Dance is one of the feature attractions.
10. Artists begin preliminary sketches.
10. German students learn about Deutschland.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Mt. Lebanon's student government functions through two main bodies—the Executive Board and the Student Court.

The Executive Board combines the executive and legislative branches of our government. Because it is composed of the three officers, the homeroom presidents of all grade levels, and the representatives of all senior homerooms, every student has a voice in the running of his school. The officers are elected by the student body for a term of one semester. The work of the Board, which meets every Tuesday, is to hear all suggestions brought in by the board members. If the suggestions are considered worthwhile, they are discussed and voted on and may become a part of the school constitution. The decision this year to bring two transfer students to the school from Germany is an example of the worthy projects sponsored by the Executive Board.

The Student Court with four seniors, two juniors, and two sophomores as members is the judicial branch of our government. Any student receiving an out-of-order must appear before the Court to present his side of the case. All serious offenses are put on the student's permanent record but less serious offenses are cleared. Along with the Executive Board, the Student Court on account of its success has become the model for several similar groups in the Pittsburgh area.

Each year Mt. Lebanon students win many honors for a wide variety of abilities. Undoubtedly the top honor bestowed on any Mt. Lebanon student is election to the National Honor Society. About 15% of our seniors receive this recognition. They are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. This year our chapter became active for the first time in the school's history.

Students who do outstanding work on school publications become members of the national journalism society, Quill and Scroll. Both juniors and seniors are eligible for this honor.

For each activity a student participates in he receives a certain number of points. When he earns ninety points he is awarded an Activities Key. To those industrious students who earn two hundred points Mt. Lebo presents a Guard. The keys and guards are given in appreciation of the ability and effort a student shows during his stay at Mt. Lebanon High School.

In addition, many outside honors have been won by Mt. Lebanonites. Our literary minded students entered the Scholastic and Atlantic Writing Contests. In the scientific field Mt. Lebanon took many honors at the Science Fair and in the American Chemical Society examination. Mt. Lebanon was also well represented in the American History test, the Hearst Oratorical Contest where Tom Ferrall took section honors, and the Latin Festival at Buhl Planetarium. The NROTC and Exceptionally Able Youths tests again saw Mt. Lebanon placing high. The entire student body was proud of its award winners.

3. Miller Peck and Bill Malcolm win Bausch & Lomb and Rensselaer awards respectively for excellence in mathematics and science.
4. Paul DeBald receives a $200 check as first prize winner in the Senior Division of the Royal Portable Typewriter Contest.
5. Ronald VanVoorhis, Marvin Roscoe, Louise Anderson, Barbara Voysey, and Tom Adams placed in the Exceptionally Able Youths examination sponsored by the Civic Club of Allegheny County.

Script Writers Feverishly

THE MOUNTY

The bustling in Room 305 brought Montgomery Mole out of hibernation early last fall. Montgomery was planning to see that co-editors, Barbara Center and Dave Bender, with the help of Bob Baugh as assistant editor, would get the MOUNTY rolling. Another helpful person was the sponsor, Miss Elliott, who advised the personnel of the school's literary magazine throughout the year. Through her guidance many students were started well on their way toward literary careers.

Proofreading was handled by Virginia Gottschall and Katherine McFadden, who corrected mistakes in all the copy. The attractive appearance in layout and design was Dixie Weathersby's job as art and make-up editor. The typing staff, under Barbara Meyer's direction, typed and stenciled all the stories and poems that appeared in each issue of the MOUNTY. When the stenciled pages were ready for printing, the mimeographers took over; under Bob Fulton's and Bob Challener's management, they produced page after page of material later assembled by Harriet Coltman's staff of workers. After being assembled, the MOUNTY was ready to be sold for 'only a nickel.' Meanwhile, Montgomery Mole beamed down from his pencil sharpener as he saw the circulation workers return to gather up more MOUNTIES to sell.

Worked To Meet Deadlines

THE LANTERN

"The LANTERN shines tonight!" This was announced over the public address system once a month throughout the year to tell students that copies of our school newspaper were available. Few of us realize the work involved in producing a paper with school-wide appeal. In planning each issue, Editor-in-Chief Carole Gibson, Assistant Editor Getsy Kuhn, News Editor Jean Walker, Feature Editors Karen Maegerlein and Debbie Blair met with the sponsor, Miss McLaughlin, to discuss how the space would be used. Then, the editors assigned stories to the reporters. These stories were then proofread, typed, and their lines counted to see that the amount of copy was sufficient. When everything was in order, the material was sent to the printer, who soon mailed it back as eight long pink sheets. Four of these were again proofread, while their four duplicates were cut apart into stories; these were pasted over old LANTERNS by Makeup Editor Mary Lou Walker in the best possible newspaper form with appropriate headlines; once again they went back to the printer. Our gossip section, the Devilette, edited by Diane Smith and Nancy Brick, and the Roto, which the LANTERN received as a member of the Scholastic Press Association, were then assembled with the printer's finished product. Then we returned to our homerooms when we heard, "The LANTERN shines tonight!" to get our copies, placed there by Joan Leis and her circulation workers.

LEBANON LOG

" . . . and string along with us."

So ended the annual LEBANON LOG sales campaign.

This was, however, not the beginning. The work on the 1953 LOG had begun some six months previously with the photographing and collecting of information on the varied spring sports. While the book cover was being selected, Mr. Rosser, the school photographer, and the student photographers were taking pictures for the photo-laden pages of Mt. Lebanon's annual. In November of 1952, the literary staff began writing stories and captions as the art department was sketching and preparing the layout.

Coordinating all of this were the adviser, Miss Nesbitt, Editor-in-Chief Diane Smith, Art Editor Kevin Enright, Literary Co-Editors Eleanor O'Neil and Rebecca Swain, and Assistant Literary Editor Bill Smith. This group worked in Room 3 at their regular meetings during the first period on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday or after school.

Pictures were selected and mounted for the engraver to be returned as proofs. When all the material had been typed by Marnie Lewis, Ruth Schoeppner, and Janet Davis, it was collected and sent with the picture proofs to the printer. Soon after the final proofreading, the students got their first view of their 1953 LEBANON LOG.

Music at Mount Lebanon High School

Music at Mount Lebanon High School certainly took great strides forward during the past year.

All of us were surprised and greatly pleased to hear the music of the orchestra. Mr. Yagello, the new director, made wonderful improvements in that organization. The selections played were many and varied. Blues as well as classical music took the spotlight. Although the orchestra was not large, it sent four girls to the annual Western District Orchestra Festival. In March, the high school organization combined with the Mellon Junior High School orchestra to present a most enjoyable Spring Concert.

The band carried out a busy schedule this year. As usual, it filled the half-time of the football games with music and dazzling formations. The band also performed in the popular Stadium Review, the Spring Band Concert, and the Battle of the Bands. The crowning glory, however, was the invitation to march in President Eisenhower's Inaugural Parade. Mr. Prutzman worked hard to whip the band into shape for the big day and his efforts yielded very satisfactory results. Even though we did not see their performance on television, we heard many glowing reports.

The chorus sang its way to more fame this year. Singing on the radio was only one of the many features of its schedule. The annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah" was a great success as was the spring musical, "This Is My Country." On the day before Christmas vacation, the chorus wound through the halls singing all the beautiful Christmas carols. Miss Sneary's direction made this year's chorus one of the best in the school's history.

The Triple Trio sparkled as usual. They entertained in the community on various occasions and sang at most of the school events. They had an important part in the weekly devotional programs.

In the annual Formal Concert, there were many different kinds of musical entertainment. Flute, voice, violin, piano, and organ numbers helped to make the concert a success.

Y-TEENS

The Y-Teens promoted better racial relationships and citizenship through recreation and the application of Christian philosophy to home and school problems. The senior Deltas, sponsored by Miss Stephens, completed many worthwhile projects such as making favors for the Methodist Home, giving food to a needy family, and serving at the St. Clair Memorial Hospital dinner. Miss Manning and her junior Sigmas sponsored the annual Recognition Service in the fall. They also gave a Get Acquainted Party for the sophomore clubs, Miss Grove's Alphas and Miss Frobese's Betas. These tenth grade girls also did their share in the fine work which was carried on by our Y-Teens.

Benefit Performances

HI-Y

The Hi-Y groups have really done a grand job with their projects, programs, parties, and of course their sports. The seniors, under Mr. Whippley's direction, along with the senior Y-Teens, served at the St. Clair Memorial Hospital dinner. They also sent boys to the Officers Training Camp, Camp Konokwee, and the P.C.W. Youth Forum and entered the Christmas basketball tournament at the Y.M.C.A. The junior boys in the Blue Chapter sponsored by Mr. Raines, had as their main project showing movies for all the other Hi-Y and Y-Teen clubs. Along with Mr. Mitchell's sophomore Gold Chapter, the two older groups worked hard to fulfill the aims of the Hi-Y.

MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION

For an Activities Play that was magnificent, we took two young people struggling for happiness, added a resentful step-daughter, an understanding nurse, and a selfish cousin. After mixing well, we seasoned these ingredients with Dr. Hudson's secret journal and left them to simmer in a hot auditorium for six weeks. Served in costume on opening night, "Magnificent Obsession" was a great success.

1. "He's alive!"
2. "Where's Wayne? I can't see the rowboat!"
3. "It will be all right, it must be all right. All your good deeds will pass on to Helen."
4. "We thought it must be important so we opened it."

Both Tragedy And Comedy

HARVEY

When selecting a Senior Play, everyone agreed that it must be a comedy; so it was that they chose Mary Chase's chuckle-producing hit, "Harvey." After final tryouts, those who emerged from Room 308 clutching their cherished scripts were: Elwood P. Dowd-Jack Duncan; Veta Simmons-Mimi Mergott; Myrtle Mae-Erika Erskine; Dr. Sanderson-Hank Fulton; Nurse Kelley-Ann Adele Lloyd; Dr. Chumley-Bill Schreiber; Betty Chumley-Sue Galbraith; Mrs. Chauvenet-Jenny Hoffman; Judge Gaffney-Jon Jaeger; Wilson-Dick Liedy; Taxi Driver-Ed Kramer; Maid-Marnie Lewis. Under the capable direction of Mr. Mills and the student directors, Louise Anderson and Dorothy Hatt, the entire cast responded in conscientious fashion—with one exception. One delightful character, named Harvey, continually played practical jokes, causing much amusement among his fellow actors but great consternation to the patient directors.

1. "I'll be glad to escort Mr. Dowd upstairs."
2. "Veta Louise Simmons! I thought you were dead!"
3. "I want muh money an' I wannit NOW!"
4. Members of the cast regard their leading actor with varied attitudes.

The Mounty Gridders Led

FOOTBALL

Friday, September 12, found the Blue and Gold charging on to the gridiron for the initial contest of the year with Waynesburg and coming away on the long end of a 33-7 score.

Flushed with victory, the Mounties next met the Commodores of Perry; even with the previous week's victory under their belts they were fortunate in achieving a tie score.

In the last exhibition encounter, the Lebos fought hard to check a surprisingly strong South Hills team. Two Mounty dashes to paydirt ended the scoring.

These first three skirmishes left the Blue and Gold with a record of two wins and a tie and a very cheerful outlook for the regular season.

These early victories however were hollow and the hopes of many were dashed in the first league contest. The highly touted Mounties bowed before the Penn Indians who dispatched Coach Beckert's men with a surprising 18-12 score. In this attempt for victory, the two platoon system was first used by Mount Lebanon.

The Little Prexies of Washington and the Tigers of Wilkinsburg joined to heap two more defeats on the already faltering Blue and Gold by scores of 38-12 and 33-13 respectively. Uniontown and Butler scored heart breaking victories of 7-0 and 8-0 over a team that was still striving for a third win.

Although the season was rather unsuccessful with two wins, five losses, and one tie, the team showed marvelous morale in the face of the steam-rolling strength of the traditional AA kings of the WPIAL. Thirty boys received letters for their performance on the gridiron.

The Junior Varsity completed a highly successful season, losing only to Dormont. The performance of the many boys who gained valuable experience on the team bolstered the hopes of Mount Lebanon fans for a winning varsity in the 1953 season.

WPIAL Show For Sixth Time

TRACK

The long-standing tradition of winning track teams was once more upheld as Mount Lebanon's trackmen swept all but one of its season's encounters.

The indoor season prophesied what was to come as the squad romped over Central Catholic and Scottdale in a triangular meet and followed up with a victory over Mansfield in the Tri-State Coaches Meet.

Dormont and Washington were defeated to open the outdoor season. Then came the Mansfield Relays where the Mounties placed eighth out of the more than seventy schools entered; Bob Cherry's win in the mile and Jack Bell's fourth place in the half mile made this possible. The team rolled over Penn and McKeesport but incurred their sole loss to Altoona by a 30 $\frac{1}{2}$ -28 score in the WPIAL Relays.

Central Catholic next fell prey to the Mounties at the Washington Invitational. This was the eleventh straight time that the meet was won by Mt. Lebanon.

The Blue and Gold rounded out the dual-meet season by scoring an impressive win over Ambridge.

Mt. Lebanon also took the Allegheny County Meet, outclassing its chief rival, Wilkinsburg, by more than 39 points. May 17 found the Mounties playing host to the WPIAL Meet. The Lebo's won this meet for the sixth time. The highlight was Bob Cherry's 4:31.5 mile, the second fastest in WPIAL history and also a new school record.

At State College the WPIAL placed second, next to Philadelphia, with a score of 71-59 $\frac{1}{2}$. Mt. Lebanon contributed thirteen points on wins by the 880 relay team of Klingensmith, Wells, Murray, and Billingsley, and seconds by Bob Cherry and Bruce Klingensmith in the mile and 220 respectively.

Took Honors As State

CROSS COUNTRY

The 1952 Mt. Lebanon Cross Country team swept the WPIAL and went on to regain the State Cross Country title. The Mounties opened the season with wins over Canonsburg and Penn. Meeting their toughest tests against Central Catholic and New Castle, Coach Mollenauer's harriers emerged victorious as they also were against Connellsville, Ambridge, Brentwood, and Aliquippa; thus they rounded out a perfect season. On October 31, they led the field at Alcoma Country Club to capture the WPIAL championship. The Mounties finest hour came on a November afternoon when at Penn State they regained the State Cross Country title. Leading Mt. Lebanon was Knipe, a junior in his first year of cross country competition, who finished tenth in a field of 150. Within a few seconds Mihm, Jon Thomas, Crawford, and Denman finished the course to clinch the Mounty victory.

Leading the scoring throughout the season for the Blue and Gold were Jon Thomas, Crawford, Knipe, Bell, Denman, and Mihm. Other members of Mt. Lebanon's squad were O'Connor, Ladley, Mellon, Jenkins, Garlitz, and DeBald.

The Junior Varsity record was likewise impressive. Though the Little Mounties suffered early season setbacks at the hands of Central Catholic and New Castle, they snapped back to topple Brentwood and Aliquippa. They went on to uphold the Mt. Lebanon tradition by retaining the Junior WPIAL Cross Country championship. The JV's most consistent winner was Giordano. He was followed closely by Livengood, Machling, Wittlin, and Seymour.

The 1952 season marked the sixth time that Coach Mollenauer's team had brought home a State Championship. It was also the ninth time they had been victorious in WPIAL. Great promise was shown by the running of Crawford, Denman, Knipe, and Giordano. Their performance added to that of a championship junior varsity gives good prospects for a fine season in 1953.

1953 saw the Mt. Lebanon hoopsters emerge in third place in WPIAL Section 4 competition after a hectic seesaw race.

Getting off to a fast start, Coach Clark's boys won five of their eight exhibition games, bowing only to Charleroi, Bethel, and Uniontown. A slow start in league competition was all that marred an otherwise great season. Meeting each of their Section 4 rivals in two encounters, the locals were twice beaten only by Washington, the section champions. They triumphed once and lost once against Canonsburg, Burgettstown, Waynesburg, and Dormont, while twice defeating Trinity.

Pacing the Mounties was Jones, who for the second straight year was voted most valuable player. School records toppled before his onslaught of baskets. He broke the school record for points in one game with 50. Over the season he compiled a total of 456 points to set a new school mark in this department. Other standout players were Irwin, Rust, Kernan, Kern, and Jordy.

Though the Varsity had a good season, the Junior Varsity had a great one. Under the direction of Coach Stanish, the Little Mounties came through with an amazing record of 18 wins and 2 defeats, both exhibitions. Leading the JV's

1. Irwin shoots to add two points to the Mounty score.
2. Rust and Jordy team up to sink a shot.

was Schoeppner who amassed a total of 396 points throughout the season and hit a high of 42 points in one game. Other stars who will be good varsity material for next year are Jesteadt, Kragne, Rosenthal, McNeish, and Humphreys.

Many factors combined to make the 1953 basketball season outstanding. An intense school spirit was shown by large and enthusiastic crowds. The record breaking shooting of Jones and Schoeppner will long remain a challenge to Mt. Lebanon athletes. The JV's amazing 16 game winning streak rounded out a season that will live long in the memory of Mt. Lebanon basketball fans.

HI-Y AND INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Keen competition and good sportsmanship marked another sterling season of interclass and Hi-Y basketball. In the intramural league several homeroom sections were unable to muster enough players for a team. In the twelfth grade a group of such players joined forces and known as the Vagabonds swept the Senior Class Leagues and went on to capture the school championship. A similar condition in the Junior class forced the 11-9's and 11-13's to combine. They formed the perfect combination and went on to win their grade level championship. In the tenth grade the 10-8's emerged victorious. The Hi-Y league was also the scene of a touch and go race. The season reached its climax when the Cedar Chapter met the Greeks in the championship game and won, copping the honors, by a close 41-40 score. The two leagues offered opportunities for recreation to over 250 boys.

G A A COUNCIL

Cake, Candy, Coke, and ice cream—this interesting combination preceded the 'floor show' at the annual G.A.A. Dessert on Feb. 15. The acts in the 'floor show' were built around an amateur television show with the 'veteran trouper' council skit as the highlight of the evening. Added to the membership dues, the profits from the dessert helped to finance Play Day, another G.A.A. event which received star billing in '53. Only girls with good G.A.A. records were invited to participate in this interscholastic production. Cookies, ice cream, and milk were served to the visitors by the council. Another outstanding vehicle was the council picnic held shortly before Commencement. Here the juniors starred, for they received their gold charms from the seniors.

Socializing wasn't all the G.A.A. did though. The twelve members of the council under Miss Wray and President Erika Erskine saw to it that there was plenty of action. On Reel One there were deck tennis and the start of the tennis tournament which wasn't finished until spring. Reel Two caught the basketball competitors finishing with All-Star games. After defeating the sophomores, the seniors triumphed over the juniors to become school champions. The juniors then subdued the sophomores to steal second place. Bowling and volleyball filled Reel Three of this busy year for the many G.A.A. members. Strong bodies, good friends, and the loads of fun we had gave G.A.A. our nomination for an Academy Award.

Publicity Stills

1. There were many wet eyes when the great day finally arrived.
2. These senior boys seem to be enjoying their lunches.
3. Sue Hafer was the Snowball Queen. In her court were Elly Cramer, Sue Galbraith, Toots Bolin, Maid of Honor Martha Stewart, last year's Queen Bunko Overholt, Vonnie Deeter, and Ada Willoughby.
4. Corky and Cole were the center of attraction at the Snowball.
5. Isn't Johnny a beautiful Lady Macbeth? And how brave Eddie is!

Our Alma Mater

'Neath cedars stately, midst hills so bold,
Stands our Mount Lebanon, realm of blue and gold,
Radiant with splendor, valor, virtue and truth,
Moulder of our destiny, guardian of our youth.
Ever our praises shall ring, Alma Mater, for thee.

—Charles Ruch, '32
