BOARD OF EDUCATION

SEATED: Mrs. Donald C. Lewis, Mr. Raymond B. Hecht, Mr. A. C. McMillen, Miss Miriam Headley, Mr. Otis C. Hogsett.
STANDING: Mr. Elmer S. Stanier, Mr. Beckley Smith, Mr. Edward Buck.

Behind the scenes

As the township school enrollment reached an all time high of 5,500 pupils, the Board of Education worked hard to solve the many problems that arose throughout the year.

Behind the scenes at the high school two "novices" took their places and, like old timers, managed the situation at hand.

Dr. Nelson Mills handled with ease the vast job of running our high school. Everything from the usual problems to shattered water pipes tested his ability, only to find him master of the situation.

Working with him was Dr. Carl Streams, whose personality delighted both students and faculty. His complete efficiency soon earned him the respect of all who dealt with him.

Together they made an unbeatable team that accomplished the difficult job of "getting through the school year."

The Superintendent of the Mt. Lebanon Township Public Schools, Dr. Ralph D. Horsman, and his assistant, Dr. Joseph C. Keifer, make plans for the year's program.

the Administration

kept busy

The overall school program was kept running smoothly by our capable principal, Dr. Mills.

Dr. Streams, our efficient vice-principal, often interrupts a busy day of checking records to help solve a schedule problem.

Mrs. Cargill — Activities Director, Mrs. Horne—Guidance Counselor, and Miss Gordon — Home-School Visitor, look up from a serious discussion as a befuddled (?) senior enters the room.

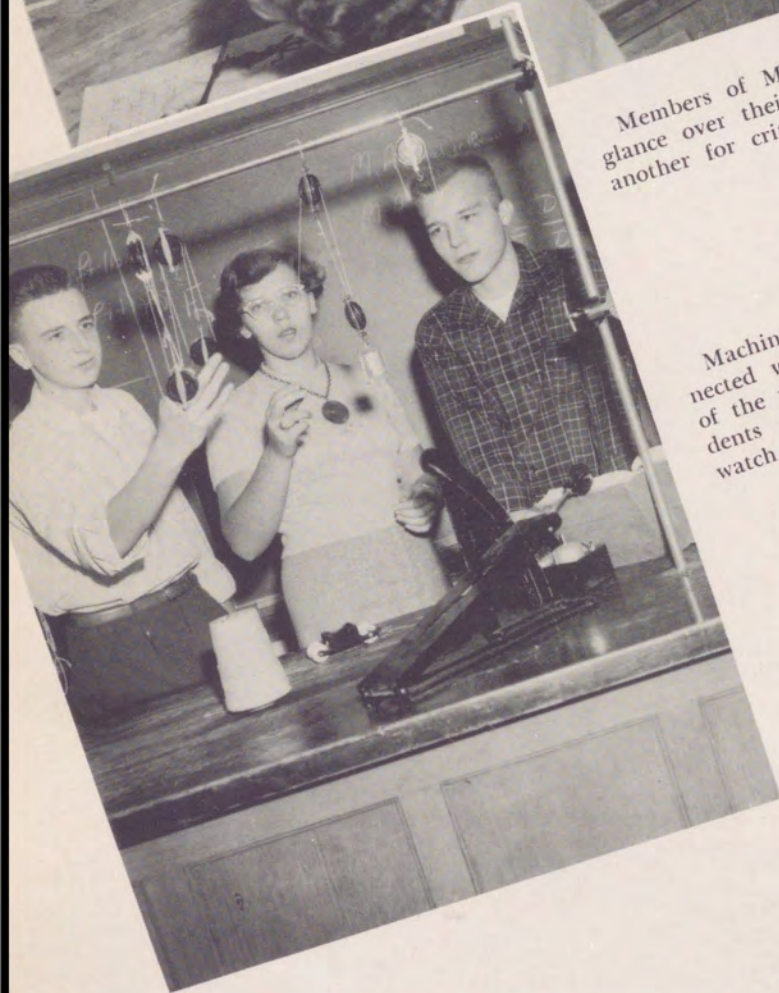

Members of Mr. Shaner's art class glance over their work and ask one another for critical comments.

Machines and the experiments connected with them are always a part of the physics course. Here two students adjust the pulleys as others watch.

Faculty and Classes

In an attempt to "relieve the monotony of looking at the back of the other fellow's head," Mr. Doak seated his U. S. History classes in a circle.

Foreign Students Helped

Miss Margery McClure—Latin
Miss Florence McLaughlin—English

No, this is not a course in first aid but a Latin class. The draped figure represents a Roman senator resplendent in his toga.

Not only the language was taught in Mr. Jones' French classes. Students were exposed daily to French geography, art, and literature as well. Here Notre Dame is being pointed out by one of the class members.

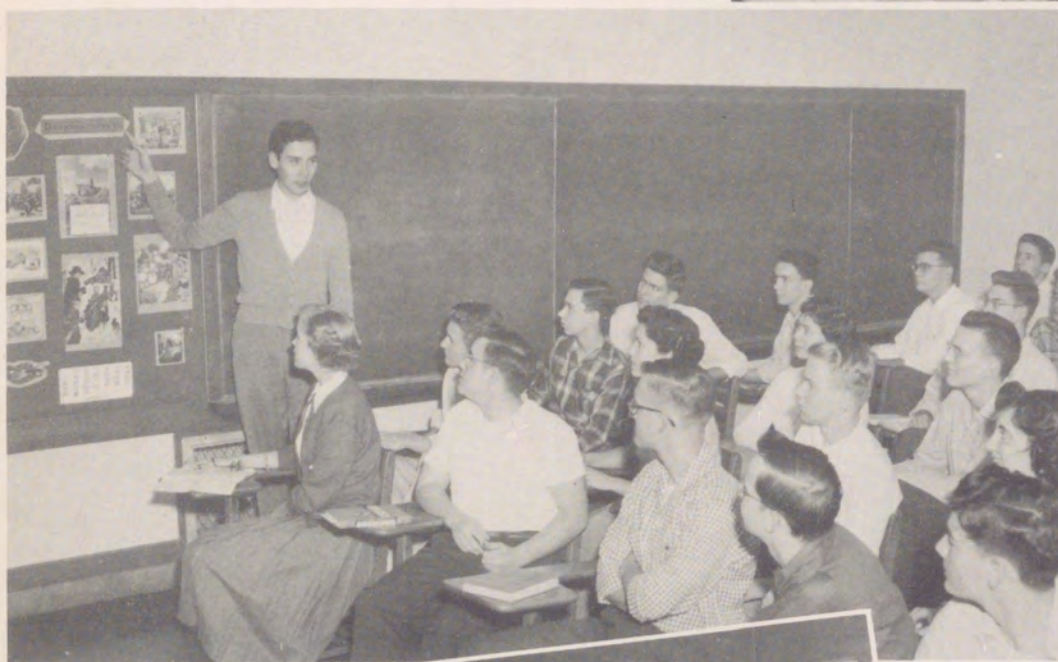

The fact that Jacques came to this country from Orleans, France, late, only intensified the interest of the students about his arrival. He proved to be worth his "wait" in gold by becoming a part of the social as well as the school life of Mt. Lebanon High School.

Spark Language Classes

Karl Kraus, the foreign exchange student from Gummersbach, Germany, was definitely a "spark" in all of his classes. His outspoken, but refreshing, manner made his visits an exciting moment in the day's work. Those who knew him will not soon forget his piercing eyes, his ambling walk, or his direct manner.

German classes were fortunate in having Karl Kraus with them this year.

Amused classmates watch as these "Spaniards" meet each other in a "Spanish village" and exchange greetings.

Mr. John Mehner—Biology
Mr. William Mitchell—Typing
Mr. Donley Mollenauer—U. S. History

Miss Mabel Moore—Librarian; Mrs. Geraldine Morgan—English; Mr. Julian Myers—English, Speech; Mr. John Neal—Wood Shop; Miss Eileen Nesbitt—Plane Geometry.

Quick action that stemmed from well planned co-ordinated movements added excitement to every gym class.

Part of the first semester's health course included a section on color blindness. These boys are assisting classmates as they test themselves.

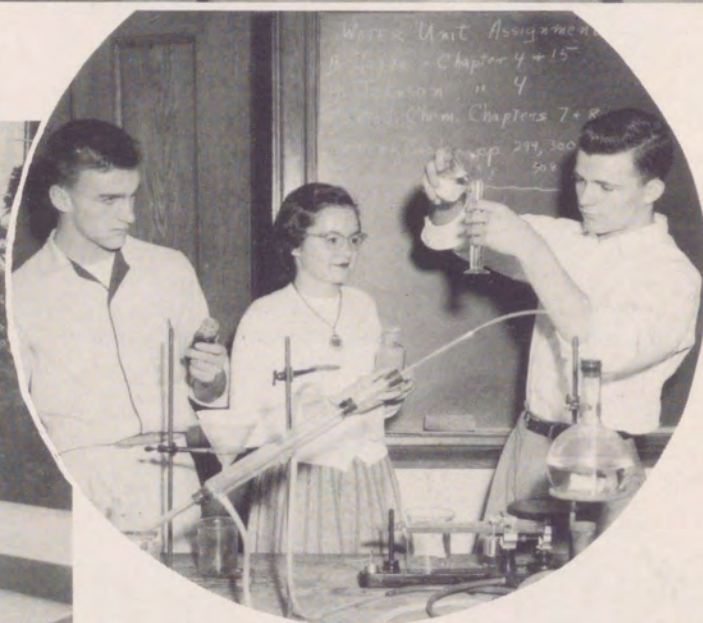

Miss Marie Neumarker—English
Mr. Joseph Pagnanelli—Driving

Miss Ada Patterson—Latin
Miss Martha Pickens—English

Alley oops! and away they go! Watch out!
One false move and this balanced structure will collapse!

All activity in the science classes was not confined to the actual classroom. In biology classes, Mr. Mehner added "color" by taking his students on field trips. Chemistry classes, though "confined" to the lab, conducted interesting experiments.

Mr. Philip Prutzman—Band; Mr. Reed Raines—Chemistry;
Mr. John Ramsey—Mechanical Drawing; Mr. John Reed—
Driving; Miss Anne Rightmire—Plane Geometry.

Mrs. Eleanor Rinne—English; Miss Rita Roegge—Spanish, Latin; Mr. Robert Ruth—Physics; Mr. Douglas Shaner—Art; Miss Nancy Skeriotis—Physical Education.

Miss Sarah Smith—Solid Geometry, Trigonometry; Miss May Sneary—Chorus, English; Mr. Joseph Srp—Plane Geometry; Mr. Albert Stanish—World History; Mr. Kirk Tallman—World History.

Many Mt. Lebanon students, realizing the great emphasis being placed upon the ability to speak effectively before a group, enrolled in speech classes.

Under the careful direction of Mr. Ramsey the boys in mechanical drawing learned about perspective, blueprints, and architectural drawing.

Faculty and Classes

The school secretaries, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Davies, Miss Adamson, and Mrs. Booth stop during a busy day for the click of the camera.

Neither rain nor sleet nor hail stopped the mail or the driving classes. Students literally fought to get on the waiting list of over filled classes.

Mr. Thomas Taylor—Chemistry, Physics; Miss Mary Thorpe—Spanish, French; Miss Thelma Whinnie—Commercial Subjects; Mr. Earl Whipple—Algebra, Aviation; Mr. Arthur Yagello—Orchestra.

With a Touch of Regret

Seniors...

"Our boys will shine tonight. Our boys will shine . . ." The spirit of '55 was a cheering voice, full of school and class loyalty—alive. A spirit that was found jitterbugging at the "Rec", throwing parties, decorating its cars in "red and white", and inventing the inimitable Gracie Newman.

Senior girls started the fads of wearing V-neck sweaters, long ropes of beads, and the silver disks which were Snowball favors; the rest of the school was quick to follow.

Senior boys immortalized the year with a new basketball record—55 points made by a single boy in one game.

The last class to graduate from the "little school" wound up an era of tradition. Those long hours spent on 120-C or learning memory lines from Macbeth would go on, but being typical seniors, to them, it seemed that it couldn't ever be the same. But '55 grew with the school too. College plans were made, and a big step was taken toward making those wonderful dreams come true.

Yes, '55, you're a great class—we salute you.

It was a year of years. Some of us went to parties, some of us went to games, some of us did both, and one of us fell out of a window!

During our four years we found much that we will remember: the long marches to Mellon that frustrated motorists, the rotten egg smell that left us all aghast and slightly nauseated, the long struggle to earn our pins and guards, and many other memories. There is much that lies ahead, but there is much that we will not soon forget.

Carol Lejeck and Bob Magoffin joined the senior class just in time to hear Marianne and Don compare notes on hospital experiences.

Juniors

Survived the "Middle Year" Unscathed

In going from one extreme to the other, one can't overlook the middle, and certainly the Class of '56 should not go unnoticed. The best years of life are spent in high school, and the junior year proved to be at the top when it came to having school spirit and fun. The "Spirit of '56" prevailed at football and basketball games, track meets, and other school functions. The juniors' biggest moment came at the end of the school year when they received their class rings. From then on, they were each "top man on the totem pole"!

The year "kicked off" with football and our first WPIAL victory since 1950. The Blue Devil returned to the spotlight with two assistants and spiced those games with her antics despite the insufferable cold. However, this was no obstacle to the famous bunny that sprinted downfield, obviously keeping in condition for cross country. Before, during, and after the games, the football managers, D. Smith, T. Smith, Carnahan, Conley, Mullen, Kappert, and Ferguson, kept on the job. At the final home game, the annual "Senior Recognition" was observed while the girls of '55 could be spotted by their "Red and White" corsages.

Basketball "bounced in" in December and we jammed the gym to give the cheerleaders and the team our loyal support.

Track, baseball, golf, and tennis drew our attention in the spring and thus another year of Blue and Gold sports activity came to a close.

Football

Mt. Lebanon finished the 1954 season with a record of five victories and four defeats.

The Mounties, under Coach Ralph Fife, won exhibition games from Centerville, Perry, and South Hills before going on to face stiffer AA competition. The Blue Devils won their first league game since 1950 when they downed Penn 40-14. The boys were really 'up' for this game and they shook McMurry loose for five touchdown runs, none of them less than forty yards. The following week's encounter was a definite letdown as the Mounties were eliminated from the W.P.I.A.L. race by Washington. After dropping a close heart-breaking contest to Wilkinsburg, in which Short was injured and the Blue Devils led in everything but scoring, the Blue and Gold lost games to Uniontown by a close score and to a rugged Butler eleven. The Senior Recognition ceremony honoring the players of the Class of 1955 was the highlight of the Butler game. In the season's finale, Mt. Lebo swamped Westview in what might have been a preview of next year's team.

Senior backfield men were Drayne, Murray, Short, Myers, Panick, Thomas, and McMurry, voted the most valuable player. Senior linemen who will be sorely missed next season were McLain, McNeish, Karlovitz, Love, Horsman, Hasley, Manning, Babcock, Elder, and Baker.

Underclassmen who will be the core of next year's team were Walker, Kelleher, Beery, Kraft, Hartwig, Miller, Graham, Grady, Fitzgerald, Patterson, Albright, Donahue, Hanchey, Cusick, Kenning, and many others.

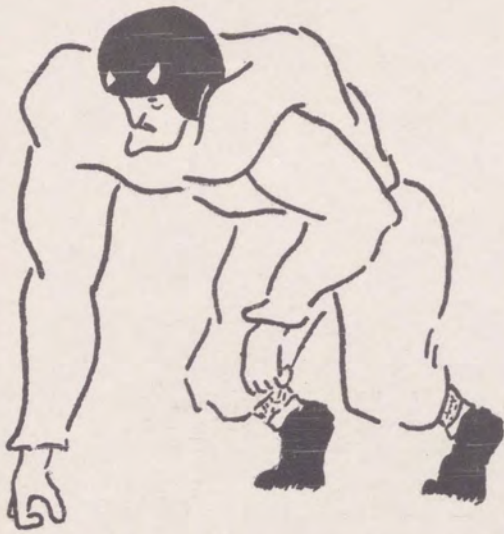

Some of the 1954 season's highlights were the running of McMurry, who tallied nineteen touchdowns and sparked the Blue Devil offense throughout the season, the line-play of McLain on both offense and defense, the punt returning of Short, the pass receiving of Walker, and the fine ball handling of Drayne.

Coached by Mr. Lamprinakos and Mr. Bernhardt, the junior varsity, green and inexperienced at the season's start, had a record of one win and one tie in eight games. All the losses were by narrow margins and the boys gained valuable experience which will make them good prospects for next year's team.

This year, Mt. Lebanon's cross country team did not maintain its usual spectacular record. The Mounty harriers won three meets and lost four during the regular season and they finished eighth at W.P.I.A.L. For the first time in six years, Mt. Lebanon failed to finish high enough to send the entire team to the P.I.A.A. Championship Meet at State College. This year, Mt. Lebo's lone representative at this meet was Bill Masterson, who placed thirty-seventh. Handicapped by early season illness, he was not in shape until late in the season. Don Davis, voted the team's most valuable member, paced the Mounties throughout most of the season. Other point-winners were seniors John Seymour, Carl Templin, and Guy Giordano. Sophomores Bob Berwind and Dave Moskovitz, who usually placed among the first five, showed great promise for the next two years. Eight lettermen will graduate this year, leaving Masterson, Moskovitz, and Berwind to form the nucleus of next year's team which we hope will regain its championship form.

The junior varsity fared better than the varsity this year, losing only one meet during the entire season. This loss was a close contest in which Central Catholic edged the JV's by three slim points. The JV's, paced by Anderson and Weisiger, won the W.P.I.A.L. Junior Varsity Championship Meet by such a low score that it could have been the winning score in a dual meet. Other outstanding members of the JV team were Dupuis, Prezioso, and Henderson.

Basketball

Long hours of hard work and practice proved to be the right formula as the Mounty 1955 basketball team finished second in the W.P.I.A.L. Section 4 standings, their highest rating since 1947. Coached by Mr. Clark, the team compiled a record of 12 wins and 7 losses, with only 2 section defeats, both by Washington.

During the exhibition games, seniors George Schoeppner and Art Humphreys, juniors John Reid and Jim Beery, and sophomore Bill Roscoe earned positions in the starting lineup. Other squad members were Pete McNeish, Dave Martz, Cal Smith, John Sterrett, Bob Alter, and Fritz Walker.

The Blue and Gold won over Avalon and South Hills but lost to Wilkinsburg, Shaler, Crafton, McKees Rocks, and Stowe in exhibition games. In section games, the Mounties boasted double wins over Waynesburg, Canonsburg, Burgettstown, Trinity, and Dormont but failed to stop Washington, the section champions, in either game.

Among the highlights of the season was the first game with Dormont at home. Mt. Lebanon won a "sudden death" contest 72-70 in the second overtime with two free throws by George Schoeppner. Another thriller was the first game with Waynesburg which the Mounties won 89-42. In this game the boys said, "Let George do it;" he did, with 55 points, a new school record. At the end of the season, he was voted most valuable player for the second straight year.

The junior varsity coached by Mr. Stanish ended a fine season with 12 victories and 7 defeats. Although they played good ball all season, the most exciting games were the 48-41 win over Washington and the 57-51 overtime loss to Dormont. Sophomores Tom Cusick, Bill Malarkey, and Butch Truesdale, among others of the squad, will be valuable additions to next year's varsity.

Track

This year, Mt. Lebanon won the Tri-State Coaches' Meet, the biggest and most competitive indoor meet, for the third straight year. Aiding greatly in this victory were the distance medley relay team of Knipe, Denman, Lyle, and Crawford, and the mile relay team of Rhen, Myers, Giordano, and Karlovitz. Both teams set new records of 12:38.4 and 3:36.5 respectively. Outstanding individuals throughout the indoor season were co-captains Bob Sparrow and Chet Berlin. Bob starred in the high and the low hurdles, while Chet starred in the high hurdles and the fifty yard dash.

This year's team bettered last year's in every instance except the Mansfield Relays. We dropped from third to seventh in this meet, but we won the main meets in this area, namely the Washington Invitational, the W.P.I.A.L. Relays, the Allegheny Independent Districts, and the W.P.I.A.L. Championship Meets. Mt. Lebanon's winning streak was extended to seventy-two dual and triangular meets, the last loss having occurred in 1944.

Bob Sparrow, outstanding throughout the season in both the high and the low hurdles, was voted most valuable team member by his teammates. In the Allegheny County Meet, he tied the record in the high hurdles. At the W.P.I.A.L. Relays, he was a member of both shuttle hurdle relay teams which set records of 1:04.1 and 1:26.6. In this same meet, our four-mile relay team set a record of 19:22.3. In the W.P.I.A.L. Championship Meet, our mile relay team tied the school record of 3:32.1, set just the week before, and Sparrow and Lyle were individual champions.

The members of our team who place in the P.I.A.A. Meet were: Sparrow—third in the high and the low hurdles, Lyle—third in the 880, and our mile relay team of Rhen, Myers, Karlovitz, and Crawford—fourth.

For the first time in Mt. Lebanon's history, a junior varsity track team finished the season undefeated. Outstanding performances were turned in by Masterson, Hanchey, and Overholt in track events, and Walker and Patterson in field events. Because of their able performances, these boys helped out in some varsity meets.

Coach Mollenauer accepts the W.P.I.A.L. trophy.

Golf

The record of five wins and five losses made by the 1954 Mounty golfers was considerably better than that of the previous four teams. Coached by Mr. Burrows, the boys claimed at least one victory over all opponents except Bridgeville. Owens, voted most valuable player, and Ladley represented Mt. Lebanon in the W.P.I.A.L. Championships. Returning players hope to recruit new talent to improve last year's record.

Baseball

The poor record of two wins and six losses in league competition compiled by Mt. Lebanon's 1954 basball team was due mainly to the lack of experienced pitchers. The season's highlight was the ousting of Trinity from a first-place tie with Washington in W.P.I.A.L. play. Schoeppner, who hit .600, was again voted most valuable player. Many returning players give promise of a better season in 1955.

The doubles team of Saxton and Fowler, voted most valuable player, took first place in W.P.I.A.L. competition. Returning lettermen Alter, Coleman, and Smith will lead next year's team.

Chess

After losing five veterans by graduation, the all-underclass chess team got off to a poor start, but came back strong to win second place in the six-team league. The team composed of (Sitting) Murray Davis, David Burnham, (Standing) Jack Beedle, Dave Reed, Blair Battistini, and Elmer Beardshall defeated Perry, South, Langley, and Peabody, but was unable to overcome this year's champion, Allderdice. Dave Reed, fifth board, led the league in scoring with seven wins, one loss, and one draw.

Rifle

The Mounty rifle team finished the 1955 season with four wins and five losses. Although this record did not equal last year's, it enabled Mt. Lebanon to finish fourth in W.P.I.A.L.

Returning lettermen, Charlotte Folan and Bill Babcock, paced the team throughout the season. For her consistent good shooting Charlotte was elected the team's most valuable member, the second girl to receive this honor in Mt. Lebanon's history. The highest season averages were Folan's 98.7 Babcock's 98.3, Gottschall's 97.9, and Fouse's 97.8. Folan, Babcock, Gottschall, Fouse, Miller, Nagy, Hall and Norman won letters.

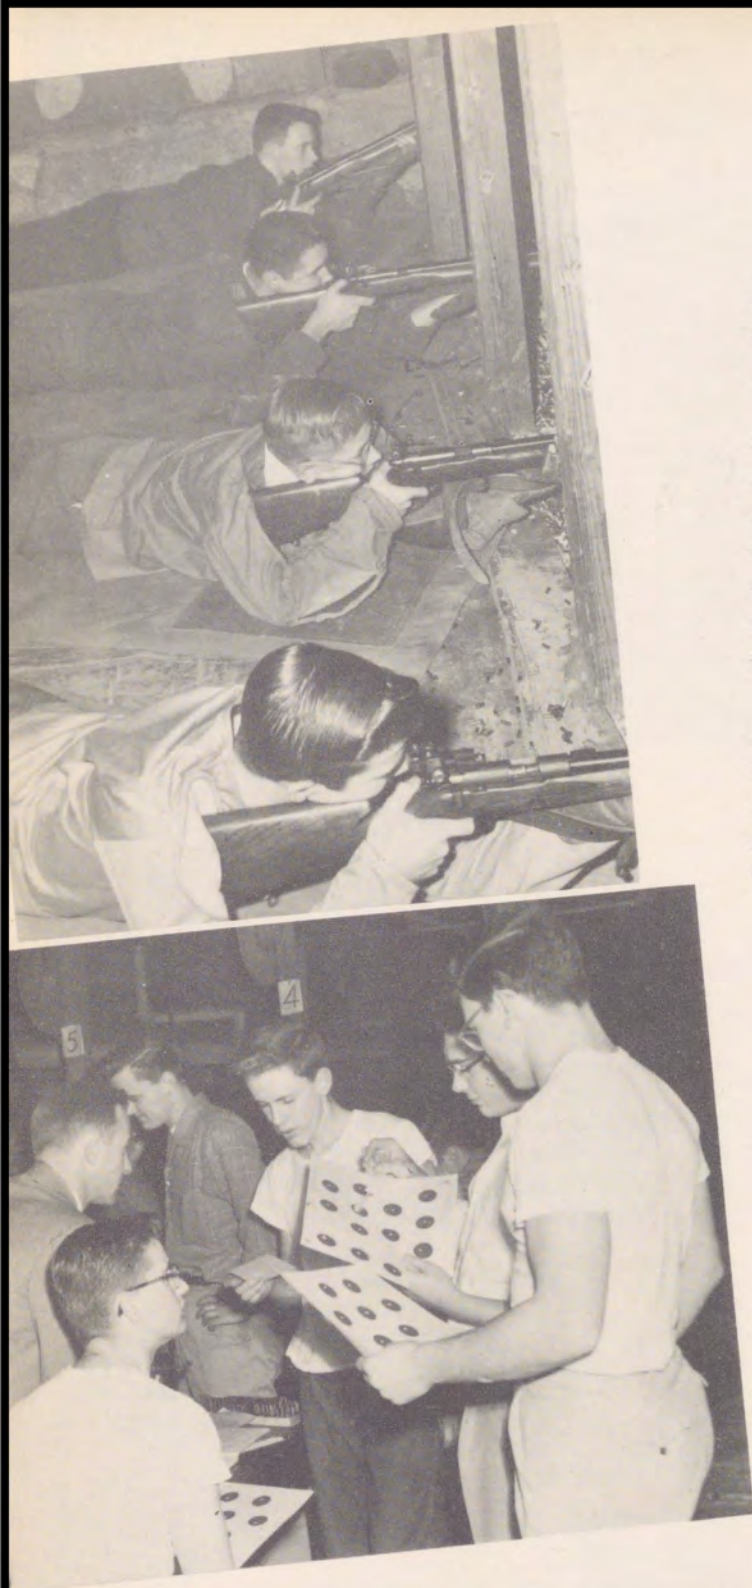

In his first year as coach, Mr. Neal was faced with the task of trying to equal last year's record, despite the fact that there were only two returning lettermen. Since most of this year's team were juniors, however, there are high hopes that next year Mt. Lebanon will again be the W.P.I.A.L. champions.

Tennis, bowling, basketball, teniquoit, and volleyball—yes, all these popular sports were included in the program which was offered through the Girls' Athletic Association.

A council of twelve girls under the direction of Miss Burke and Miss Skeriotis headed this organization. The council members planned the program and acted as captains of the after-school teams. These girls also recorded the points earned by the nearly four hundred members. Points which the girls accumulated for faithful participation in the sports program enabled them to earn major or minor sports letters or activities keys.

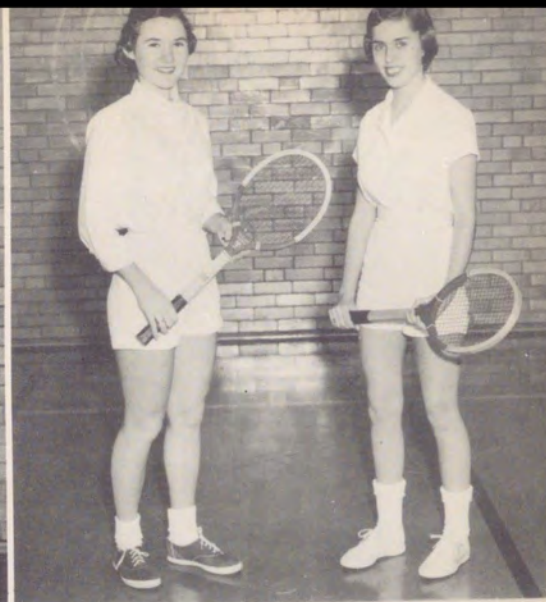

Along with the sports program, the G.A.A. sponsored several annual social events. One of these was the G.A.A. Dessert which was held in February. The profit from the dessert together with the dues paid by the members was used to finance a Play Day in May. G.A.A. members who had good attendance records were invited to join girls from other high schools in enjoying an excellent program of both indoor and outdoor sports. Later in the afternoon, refreshments were served to the weary girls.

Elections for the 1955-1956 council members were held in May. The last event of the year was a picnic for the old and the new council members. Here, eating and sports were enjoyed and the senior members presented gold charms to the junior members.

NEWS! SPORTS! FEATURES! All these were a part of the LEBANON LANTERN, our school newspaper. Weeks of hard work and preparation, consisting of reporting, copyreading, proofreading, publishing, and the mad rush of assembling, went into the making of the LANTERN. This whirl of events was handled by a staff of nearly one hundred students, directed by Miss McLaughlin. With the aid of fifty reporters who sometimes must be tracked down by FBI experts, Editor-in-chief Barbara Kern and her assistants Sally Hornell, Odette Kingsley, Maria Liadis, Barbara Reid, Sue Turner, Sheldon Parker, Ray Dilworth, and Ramon Fouse managed to edit a paper filled with happenings around school.

A supplement of the LANTERN, the Devil-ette, headed by Elizabeth Erskine and Cissie Rafferty, was the so-called "society section." All else was forgotten as students strained their eyes hoping to find their names listed. Everything from "who was seen where with whom" to "who had what party when" was included in this section. These tidbits were uncovered by nearly eighty reporters and printed by the typists and mimeographers without whose help the Devil-ette would be impossible.

School news, gossip, and current events (supplied by the "Scholastic Roto") combined to make the LANTERN an outstanding paper.

The entire show is based on characters from a coloring book who are assisted by two ballerinas, Yvonne Maniet and Barbara Maniet.

The soloists are Ann Aronson, Paula Bracci, Nancy Lamb, and Phyllis Reddick. The chorus will be provided by the following: Scott Ogden; Nancy Flemming; Eckhart and Mary K. Hays and Pete S. Trio, and a quartet.

TV Turnouts

television is coming of age. Nowadays the TV programs which infest the American home are daily becoming more enjoyable and entertaining. Such a media encircles all types of entertainments and personalities, richly deserves special consideration in its own column.

There are three new dramatic productions which have been the American public this season. One is decidedly excellent in a thoroughly professional manner. Appearing Thursdays at 8:30, it is startlingly called, "Climax!"

The actors and actresses are well known, established players, who never fail to give an inspiring, convincing performance. Besides being interesting, conclusive stories, "Climax!" deals with deep character development and expresses skillfully and thoroughly personalities of the performers.

The MOUNTY

THE MOUNTY is a unique publication because all of the stories, poems, and other material published in it are student contributions which are edited, proofread, and printed by members of the student body.

In starting an issue of the MOUNTY, co-editors Jo Fleming and Gordon Moore, with John Ratigan as their assistant, selected the copy. They then turned it over to the typing staff who stenciled it in preparation for the mimeographers. The final step was assembly and the finished product was the excellent literary magazine, the MOUNTY, of which this school was justly proud.

This year for the first time, subscriptions to the MOUNTY were sold. About three hundred students took advantage of this offer in order to be sure that they received their copies.

An innovation this year was the meeting of editors, held each Friday after school. Here, Miss Virginia Elliott, the sponsor, helped them to choose material for coming issues. During these meetings the editors also planned the program on the production of a high school literary magazine, which the MOUNTY staff presented over WQED in December.

The genius and personality of Jo Fleming and Gordon Moore combined to make the MOUNTY the outstanding literary contribution that it was. Here, the co-editors check over a story handed in by a student for the next issue of the MOUNTY. After the submitted material has been O.K'd, it is turned over to Marg Monrad, Sandra Peterson, Betty Boggs, Cissie Rafferty, and Linda Miller of the typing staff.

Any time after 4 P.M. into the wee hours of the morning, the clickety-clack of the MOUNTY mimeographing machine could be heard vibrating down the hall. Faithfully guarding this indispensable machine were Carl Gottschall, Bob Clark, Bert Miller, and George Robeck.

Lebanon Log

The humor reflected on the faces of Editor-in-Chief Clark Dehne, Sports Editor Sheldon Parker, Assistant Editor Ann Greer, Literary Editor Liz Erskine, and Art Editor Brian Nagy is completely typical of the combination of hilarity and hard work that produced the '55 LEBANON LOG. Planning the dummy, checking write-ups, and worrying over pictures were the order of the day.

Behind the scenes, working right along with the editors in burning the midnight oil, were Business Manager Jeanne Dupuis, Circulation Manager Kathy Gianoutsos, and Assistant Circulation Manager Dorothy Clark. By the end of the year they had added a few gray hairs from worrying over receipts, subscriptions, and LOG delivery.

Art, typing, and photography were handled by (sitting) Lee Mooney, Janet Hoover, Malcolm Fraser, Brian Nagy, Thom Stutt, (standing) Barbara Strod, Joan Gebhardt, Joan Seidel, Jack Isenberg, and Bill Bennett.

"You don't have to be crazy to work on the LOG, but it helps" became the motto of the 1955 LEBANON LOG staff.

The activities of the yearbook staff were a combination of planning and doing. Early in the school year, planning with a "let's be different" attitude received most attention and could be observed by any typical meeting of the editors, Clark Dehne, Elizabeth Erskine, and Ann Greer, or the general staff. Student photographers and Mr. Rosser became common sights with their appearances at each important event.

Artists pondered over the looks of the "LOG Dog" while the 12th grade committee compiled the returns of the Senior Poll and listed the activities of each senior. As the book progressed, the typists took over and prepared write-ups for the printer. Then the editors and the art staff spent long hours making the paste-up boards which would be photographed for each page.

Thus the twenty-fifth edition of the LEBANON LOG became the largest in number of pages and circulation in the history of the book.

The LOG literary staff listened intently as Liz Erskine explained and assigned LOG write-ups.

Band

The Range Rockettes were our favorite precision marchers.

The Mt. Lebanon High School marching band, under the direction of Mr. Philip R. Prutzman, again starred at football games. The high-stepping Range Rockettes combined with the fancy-twirling Majorettes and the Band made each half time a three-ring circus.

The entire band showed their talents throughout the season in a variety of programs including Hawaiian, Irish, and Latin American shows. Washington and Westview did their best to overshadow our band but did not succeed. A highpoint was an appearance at the Pittsburgh Steeler-Los Angeles Ram football game which marked the band's third coast to coast television hookup.

The annual Stadium Revue was a success, as the grade school, the Junior High, and Senior High Bands were joined by the Pitt Band and other marching groups. Closing another season the Junior and Senior High Bands presented their Band Concert on March 4th in Mellon Auditorium.

Mr. Philip R. Prutzman helps a band member interpret a difficult passage.

These "strutters" really did their stuff.

Mr. Jack Greenberg and Mr. Ross Prestia aided our bandmaster in training our band.

"A" Chorus

As the curtain parted, the audience saw twenty-four girls and twenty-seven boys, sparkling with pride and radiant in every color of the rainbow, who then began to give their interpretation of "Manhattan Towers." The morning of that same day they had charmed the state P.T.A. with a similar performance. Those who heard the "A" Chorus, the only mixed chorus of the three, would not soon forget the mature, almost professional, presentation that the skillful direction of Miss May Sneary drew forth. The audience saw and heard perfection. Had they been in room 308 on any school morning they would have seen this same top choral group undergo a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde transformation. Giggles, squeals, and pranks would fill the room until Miss Sneary stepped up to begin another day's rehearsal that would lead to another top-notch performance.

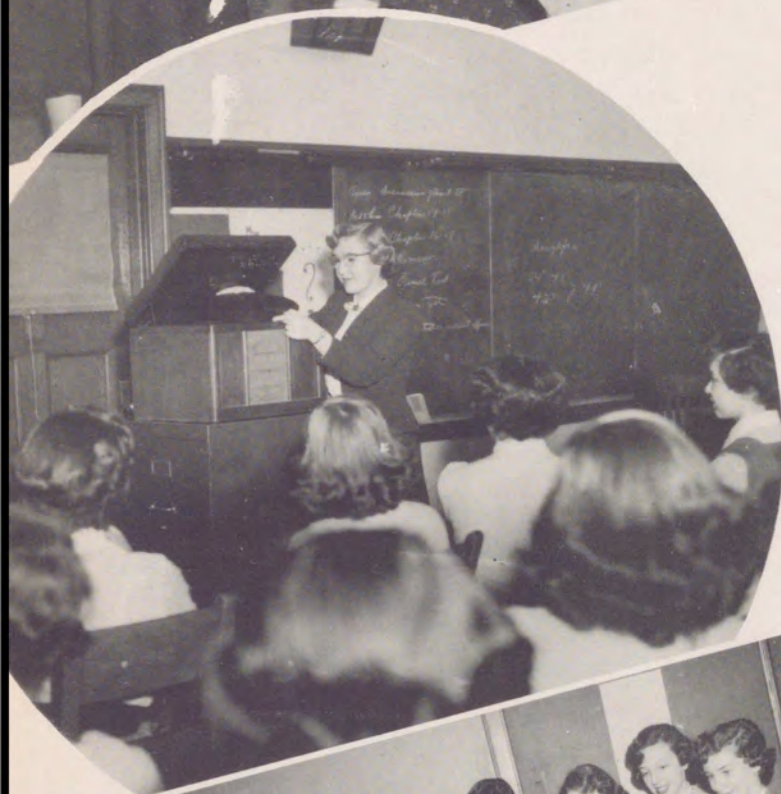

"B" - "C" Chorus

Singing remained one of the most popular activities among Mt. Lebo students. Under the direction of Miss May Sneary, one choral group was always ready when called upon to supply any type of music from Bach to be-bop. The strains of folk or religious music, sweet and low or loud and clear, were heard coming from Room 5 as the girls of "B" and "C" choruses got ready to create the mood with music for any of the numerous school productions.

The Triple Trio with sopranos—Nancy Gilbert, Cindy McKnight, and Judy Wright; second sopranos—Sally Mellor, Nancy Lamb, and Jamee Francis; altos—Sarah Gebhardt, Ellen d'Alelio, and Betsy Beidler; reserves—Cathie Hebley, Serena Pendleton, and Linda Hofmann; and accompanist—Linda Greer; wove a type of musical language all their own. In addition to school affairs they were ever busy entertaining at clubs and hospitals and for numerous civic organizations.

The Devotional Choir of twenty members furnished the music for the devotional programs which were given over the public address system on Thursday mornings.

These music groups helped make music at Mt. Lebanon High School a leading extra-curricular activity.

Orchestra

The sound of the orchestra plunging bravely into a Beethoven symphony under the able direction of Mr. Arthur Yagello often rose over the confusion of the lunch line.

Of course their practice was not limited to symphonies, for they played for several special events and at their own spring concert. In October they were invited to play for the Western Pennsylvania Educational Conference in the Syria Mosque. This concert was well received and special compliments were made on Mr. Yagello's excellent conducting.

The highlight of the orchestra's year was its annual spring concert. As usual, it was an excellent performance, well worth the attendance of any music lover. For this and other special programs of music in many styles by composers from Handel and Mozart to Jerome Kern and LeRoy Anderson, the Senior and Junior High orchestras combined their talents.

In addition to excellent training and practice the members derived great enjoyment from this most interesting activity.

In The Limelight

A doll, a violin, and an easel—each played an important role in the humorous, yet touching production, The Curious Savage. The activities play, using the Cloisters as its setting, gave the audience an insight into the minds of the disturbed “guests,” who touched the viewers with their problems. Inspired by the theme of the play, the hard-working members of the cast, guided by Mr. Myers, breathed life into John Patrick’s characters.

Following the bustle of the stage crew, last minute glances at the script, and that awful feeling of stage fright, the curtain rose on the second play of the year, Caroline Franke’s Father of the Bride. Presented by the senior class, the humor-filled story told of Stanley Banks and the impending wedding of his daughter, Kay. Quarrels, tears, a mischievous brother, and a snobish caterer added to the confusion at the Banks’ home and the delight of the audience.

THE CURIOUS SAVAGE

Hi-Y

The Y-Teens and the Hi-Y organizations were splendid examples of the feeling of fellowship and helpfulness in today's youth. Sponsored by the YW and the YMCA, the clubs met after hours at the school under the supervision of capable teachers. These teen-agers completed many projects throughout the year. Keeping in step with "Pittsburgh's Progress," both the Hi-Y and Y-Teens appropriated money from their treasuries towards beautifying the Mt. Washington hillside. At Christmastime the Alpha's gave a party for the children at Juvenile Court, the Beta's presented gifts to the Western Psychiatric Hospital, the Delta's played Santa to a needy family, and the Sigmas entertained the third-grade children at DePaul Institute.

The Hi-Y and Y-Teens could easily be called the most convention-going groups in the school. The boys of the Hi-Y Cedar Chapter attended a conference in Washington, Pa., and the convocation at Heinz Chapel; they also entered a team in the Christmas Basketball Tournament. Not to be outdone, a trio of Y-Teens attended the National Convention in Washington, D.C., and still another delegation saw the Y-Teens celebrate their Centennial with an unforgettable luncheon at the Gateway Plaza.

The Y-Teens' four sponsors, Miss Grove, Miss Frobese, Mrs. Furlong, and Miss Manning, along with the Hi-Y Cedar's sponsors, Mr. Whipkey and Mr. Raines, helped the teen-agers attain their clubs' high goals.

Student Government

Mt. Lebanon High School has a student government of which it may well be proud. Both the Student Congress and the Student Court are shining examples of American democracy in action.

Our Student Congress, comprised of the presidents of all homerooms plus a representative from each senior homeroom carries the responsibility of making the decisions which will, in general, affect the entire student body. It is headed by three student-elected officers and has the Activities Director as adviser. This group of students hears the suggestions and complaints of the students and does all in its power to carry out their wishes.

The Student Court is composed of eight members who hear the offender's side of the case when he has been given an out-of-order. This type of organization gives the student a chance to try to clear himself, if at all possible. Also, he is being judged by people of his own age, which further adds to the fairness of the system.

All in all, the legislative and the judicial branches of the student government add up to an organization which is unique with Mt. Lebanon High.

Keys And Guards

Ann Beveridge, Elizabeth Erskine, Barbara Hartwig, Alice Hoyt, and Barbara Kern who received their guards in January, congratulate Gordon Moore, the recipient of a guard in June '54.

The extra-curricular activities offered at Mt. Lebanon High School were a must for most students. Whether they participated in sports, music, publications, or any of the various squads and committees, they found satisfaction in the points they received for their work. If they earned ninety points, they were given an activities key; those who earned two hundred points were presented with a guard. Gordon Moore, who received both his key and guard last June, was the first person in the history of Mt. Lebanon High School to collect two hundred points by the end of his junior year.

Mrs. Cargill, our Activities Director, and the members of the faculty who sponsored committees, squads, and other organizations will always be remembered for their willingness to help every interested student to find an activity which he would enjoy.

Honorary Societies

This year the Mt. Lebanon High School chapter of the National Honor Society had thirty-eight members who were chosen in either their 11A or 12B semesters by the faculty as being outstanding in character, leadership, scholarship, and service. These members proctored the make-up tests held every Tuesday and Thursday in room 212 after school, kept a record of honors earned by Mt. Lebanon graduates, sponsored the "Holiday Bureau," and helped Mrs. Horne sort permission slips for college meetings.

Anything that was of service to the school was of interest to them and their adviser, Mrs. Morgan.

Election to Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, depends upon service to high school publications or the publicity committee. Citizenship, scholarship, and the adviser's recommendation are also taken into consideration. Last June five seniors and two juniors were installed in this honorary group.

Awards

During the past year the students of Mt. Lebanon again placed high in outside competition. Five of our students won prizes with their projects entered in the annual Latin Festival held at Buhl Planetarium. Under the sponsorship of Miss Elliott honors were gained in the National Scholastic Writing Contest. Students who were scientifically inclined had their chances to excel either by taking the 11th annual American Chemical Society Test or by entering a project in the Buhl Planetarium Science Fair. Recognition was also gained by our students in the Exceptionally Able Youths Examination sponsored by the Civic Club of Allegheny County. The NROTC Mental Examination was passed by ten of our senior boys.

We may well be proud of these students who have made a name for themselves and our school.

At the annual Latin Festival held in Buhl Planetarium Joel Davidson with the aid of 78,000 matchsticks won first prize for his model of a Roman camp, pictured here. Mt. Lebanon had several other prize winners including: Jamee Francis—first prize in notebooks; Ray Dilworth—third prize in models in wood or metal; Nancy Nichols—honorable mention in novelties; Art Hedgren—honorable mention in models in wood or metal. In the Festival's Scholastic Achievement competition, John Frame won honorable mention for third semester students.

The sportscasters and newscasters kept us up to date with news of school events.
