To Sue,
Best of luck
to a really great gal. Can't wait 'til we're seniors.

Sue,
I'll always remember the times we've had in homeroom, English, French, & especially History and our foreign policy panel.
Take good care of the boys and have fun this summer.
I hope our senior year is the best ever. Lots of luck & lots of fun! (Fisher)

To the uninitiated, it is merely a striking building, bigger now with a new wing and more students; something to point out to weekend visitors.

To the experienced, there is an aura about it, a feeling vital and vivid. It is a spirit which meets and envelopes the freshman the moment he opens the door, the moment of his first association with the experienced. As the student grows and matures, the spirit grows with him. Three years of growth and change and maturity weld this spirit into a bond which distinguishes the senior from others around him; a spirit which on his graduation dies, soon to be reborn in some new field.

This book recalls a few of the incidents and events which formulate this spirit.

Forming the Spirit of Mt. Lebanon High School

Dear Sue,

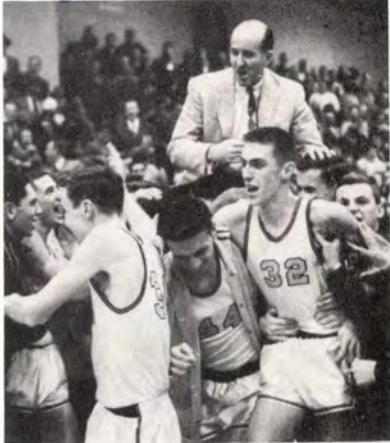

Always remember our gay parties we have had during these next !! That pizza was good even though we have to ^{go} out to Washington Pa. Keep your darling personality and that smiling attitude toward everything. Don't let your hair grow long keep it short. Hope the ^{boys} don't cause you to much trouble if they do just send some over to me (if their puts)! Good luck in everything you do in the future.

yours,
Nancy B

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

Dr. Ralph D. Horsman, the general superintendent, handles the almost superhuman task of supervising the entire school system—six grade schools, Mellon Junior High, and the high school. Dr. Joseph C. Keifer, assistant superintendent, works very closely with the school on matters of supplies and instruction.

Cooperating and Coordinating

The Board of Education, comprised of ten members, establishes the educational policies for Mt. Lebanon's schools. Understanding and progressive, they are continually striving to better our schools.

Administrative duties of the Mt. Lebanon schools are handled by the superintendents and the board of education working hand in hand with individual school staffs. One of their outstanding accomplishments this year was our new wing — the spacious auditorium, modern swimming pool, and the vast new gyms. Although there is much division of administrative tasks among numerous persons, it is only with close co-operation that the staff has met with such success.

Within the high school, the administrative duties are executed by a competent staff of three members. Our principal, Dr. Mills, handles all staff personnel and school plant problems. Dr. Moore, vice-principal, is in charge of student personnel problems concerning scheduling; he is also known as the "keeper of the records." Mrs. Morgan, administrative assistant, manages the attendance office and "service bureau."

Although comparatively new to the difficult task of the principalship of Mt. Lebanon High, Dr. Mills has done an excellent job in keeping the affairs of the school running smoothly. He has found workable answers to all problems, big and small, which have confronted him. Much credit for making our school a success goes to our principal.

Our principal gives instructions to his secretary on how certain school announcements and reports should be handled.

Dr. Mills consults vice-principal Dr. Moore on a school problem. Co-operation like this among the administrative officers helps make our school government an efficient organization.

Did you ever wonder who records those hard-earned semester grades on your permanent record? Well, this duty is only one of the many which are performed by Dr. Moore and his secretary, Mrs. Davies. As well as scheduling classes for over two thousand students and changing schedules for the many people who can never decide whether they want to take sociology or personal adjustment, etc., they somehow find enough time to send out college transcripts, figure what everyone's class rank is, and register all the new students. Our vice-principal and his secretary are ably assisted by the girls of the vice-principal's secretarial squad, who work during their free periods.

Handling College Boards, giving vocational preference tests, and scheduling college meetings are only a few of the jobs of our guidance counselors, Mrs. Horne and Mr. Nicklas. Parents and students alike profited from Career Night, planned by Mrs. Horne and Mr. Nicklas, and were always welcome at the guidance office to discuss personal, vocational, or college problems.

Knowing the whereabouts of all the students in Mount Lebanon High School throughout the entire school day is no easy task, but Mrs. Morgan and Miss Speckhals have just such a task. If and when you slip the pin without their approval, you become the responsibility of Miss Gordon, our home and school visitor, who also has the job of issuing work permits.

Before you take your driver's test at school, you must have your eyes examined. Miss High, our school nurse, takes care of such things in the Dispensary. If you become sick during the school day, she decides if you are really sick or just sick of school. Besides helping to give physicals to the juniors and our sports heroes, one of the nurse's new jobs this year was accompanying the band to all away performances.

Almost every student sooner or later finds his way to Mrs. Cargill or her assistant, Mrs. Smith, in the Activities Office. As activities sponsors they see that an accurate record is kept of all student activities and points. They are in charge of the Student Congress functions and the United Fund drive. This year, under their guidance, standing properties and costume committees were organized, along with the auditorium ushers, information, check room, and parking squads.

Dear Sue,
Here's to the great times
we've had together
this year - remember those mornings when you drove when I was cheerfully waiting for you?; the day we tried to "streamline"
the Cockran Road sidewalks;
how I almost ruined your plans to "catch" your "kidnapper";
the days we played miniature golf and tennis and the nights
we spent "jiving"; and eating pizza.
Have a terrific time this summer. Loads of luck - and love - but remember - if you have any extra bags - send them up to

STUDENTS

A Turn Of The Tassel,

A Step Toward The Future

Sparked with a gaiety and originality not soon to be forgotten, the class of '57 left behind days of lighthearted pleasure and serious work. There were the football games with the ever-loyal cheering senior girls unexpectedly out-shouted by the mass of senior boys brought to life by the uninhibited "Snytz," the indescribable trips on the rented buses, and the presentation of a giant razor to Pittsburgh's most avid Gillette advertiser.

All was not too pleasant, though, as senior girls in righteous indignation found themselves forced to parade the halls with stringy, wet hair. But there was compensation for that, too. The mass evacuation of students and teachers from the flooded and electrically charged swimming area and the days when some people found themselves in "hot water" made the discomfort of swimming worthwhile.

Wintertime encouraged all sorts of parties — sledding parties, skating parties, formal parties, pizza parties, and just parties. But with the coming of spring, the mad senior whirl gradually slowed down with the ever present worries: Will I be accepted? Can I get a scholarship? I'll never get to the prom! And looking out the window, gazing down over the park, what senior could help but daydream of next Saturday's tea, marching down the steps to "Pomp and Circumstance," and of the years ahead . . . entering college, developing new friends and ideas, finding more of the meaning in life . . . Would we remember those people so near to us in the year of 1957? And on graduation night we realized the answer; the friendship and fellowships of the last four years were an inseparable part of each senior.

Never forget the year we are having to you in the future.

Fingers Crossed and Hopes High

What are juniors made of? Certainly some gay and sparkling stuff, for social activities comprised an important phase of their high school this year.

But there are more serious elements, too, included in the make-up of the junior. Through hard work and concentrated effort, the class of '58 often made headlines.

The turning point of their careers at Mt. Lebanon came in September when they eagerly gave up their sophomore status to become upperclassmen. A hectic but rewarding year was spent trying to "hold their own with the Joneses"—the much-envied seniors.

After two years of biding their time, the class of '58 is now ready to proceed, with fingers crossed and hopes high, to take its place at the top.

Sophomores

Wise and Foolish

"Sophomore" comes from two Greek words meaning "wise and "foolish." No word could describe him better, for throughout the year he bounced from one extreme to another with dizzying unconcern.

Trying to fight his way out of the obscurity which shrouded his sect, he excelled not only in sports but also scholastically, proving this self-styled "world-beater" well on the road toward upperclassmanship.

After-school activities and social events found the tenth grader always willing to participate, and liberal doses of talent became quite evident.

At the year's end, he was ready to assume a somewhat more important role as a junior, still keeping a weather eye on his ever-closer goal—Senior Day, 1959.

Freshmen

Eager to Assume Responsibility

Being a freshman is ordinarily a rather discouraging state. The youngest, often the smallest, the plebe is the object of all the abuse attendant to his station as low man on the totem pole. The class of '60 sought to overcome this handicap by blending itself as well as possible with its mates.

Eager to assume responsibility, many stormed the activities office in search of tasks which they might perform. Others sought stardom on the athletic field, while others set envious eyes on the musical and literary worlds. A lively social schedule provided final proof, should it be needed, of freshman versatility.

ATHLETICS

Football

The 1956-57 Mount Lebanon football team, possibly the best in the history of the school, was the first champion of the newly formed Western Conference with an outstanding record of eight victories and one defeat.

The Blue Devils, under the fine tutelage of Coaches Fife, Stanish, and Lamprinakos, got off to a flying start by winning their three exhibition contests. These victories were over Homestead, Bethel, and a good South Hills aggregation. The Blue Devils began AA competition by downing Penn, 33-20, once again asserting themselves as contenders for the W.P.I.A.L. championship. Disaster struck the following week as Washington put the only blemish on the Lebanon record by a 21-14 score. This game, by far the poorest showing of the team all year, found the Blue Devils handing Washington three scoring opportunities. It was in this game that senior center Bill Brashares was sidelined for the season with a fractured hip. The Blue Devils returned the next week and gained revenge by knocking previously undefeated Wilkinsburg out of W.P.I.A.L. contention. This game was highlighted by the fine running of senior half-back Chuck Reinhold, who scored all four Lebo touchdowns. The next week found the Blue Devils defeating Uniontown with a great second half spurt. In the Senior Recognition Game, the Blue and Gold trounced rival Baldwin to the tune of 33-13. However, this proved to be only a warm-up for the succeeding and final game with West View, when the Mounties traveled to West View where they pounded the once-beaten Indians into a 34-7 submission.

The seniors who sustained this year's team were: backs; Dempsey, Fuller, Hjerstedt, Malarkey, Mascaro, Miller, Reinhold, and Reitz. Senior linemen who made the touchdowns possible were: Bowman, Bracken, Brashares, Cenedella, Cusick, Dumm, Fitzgerald, Kasun, Mayer, McDonald, Miller, and Rowe.

Underclassmen who saw plenty of action and who will form a fine nucleus for Mr. Fife next year are: Albright, Kelly, Fisher, Lasko, Breinig, Vogel, Gregg, Hofrichter, Wells, Phillips, Ward, and Mueller.

Players who gained recognition were quarterback Sandy Dempsey, who made the first string all-W.P.I.A.L., and half-back Chuck Reinhold, and end John Mayer, who were honorable mention all-W.P.I.A.L.

All in all, '57 was another great year for Mt. Lebanon football.

This year's harriers finished the season in traditional Lebo style. Once again they captured both the W.P.I.A.L. and the P.I.A.A. championships.

Sparked by Dick Anderson, elected as M.V.P., and Dave Moskowitz, the team captain, the team marched through its schedule, trouncing all of its opponents except one. A persistently difficult Central Catholic squad defeated our boys twice; once in a home dual meet, and again at their own Invitational at Schenley Park.

The senior lettermen were Dick Anderson, Dave Moskowitz, John VanVorst, Bruce Callahan, Chuck Zivic, John Prezioso, and Bob Berwind. The two junior lettermen, Eddie Beachler, a newcomer, and Frank Wadsworth, were unanimously elected as next year's co-captains. A very promising sophomore, Dave Bloomfeldt, also was awarded with a Mounty "M." These boys were the heart of the team that represented our school last fall. More than half of them are seniors who have run in their last meet, leaving Coach Mollenauer with only three returning lettermen as a nucleus for next fall's squad.

The Junior Varsity had an excellent season last fall. For the first time, they went through the whole schedule without a defeat, and brought home the bacon in the J.V. Central Catholic Invitational and also the J.V. W.P.I.A.L. race. This squad was backed by several good juniors and sophomores whom we will most likely see running Varsity next fall.

The new high school pool was responsible for bringing another sport to Mt. Lebanon this year. All decked out for their first season of competition, the Mounties proved the surprise of W.P.I.A.L. as they closed the season with one championship already in hand. Under the direction of Coach Bill Grant, the Blue and Gold tanksters came through for a 6-2 record in league meets, good for second place behind Clairton. One of the high points of the year for the swimmers was the 39-38 upset of Clairton; their second defeat in 11 years. Captained by Doug Fuss and Mike Warnes, the Mounty mermen steadily progressed until they assumed the role of favorites in the W.P.I.A.L. championship meet. Led by Tom Lindsay who was undefeated in the season's competition, the Blue Devils placed 11 members in the Western Regional meet as they swept to a 43-40 triumph. Four records were broken by the team with Tom Lindsay taking the 100 yard butterfly and individual medley in record times of 1:00.6 and 1:37.6. Bill Hunt was also a double winner in the 100 and 50 yard freestyle, the latter in record time. Several other underclassmen came through for impressive scores and promise to keep the Blue and Gold colors on top. Jack Borgerding emerged W.P.I.A.L. 200 yard freestyle champ, while Bill Lewis and Carl Warnes also placed highly in competition behind their teammates. For a first year job we can give our swimmers a real cheer.

The "home floor advantage" held a personal meaning for Mt. Lebanon's basketballers this year. In their first season in the modern new gym, they racked up a 19-2 record, best since 1942, went undefeated at home, and chalked up a string of sixteen straight triumphs. Along the way, they picked up a tie for the top spot in Section IV.

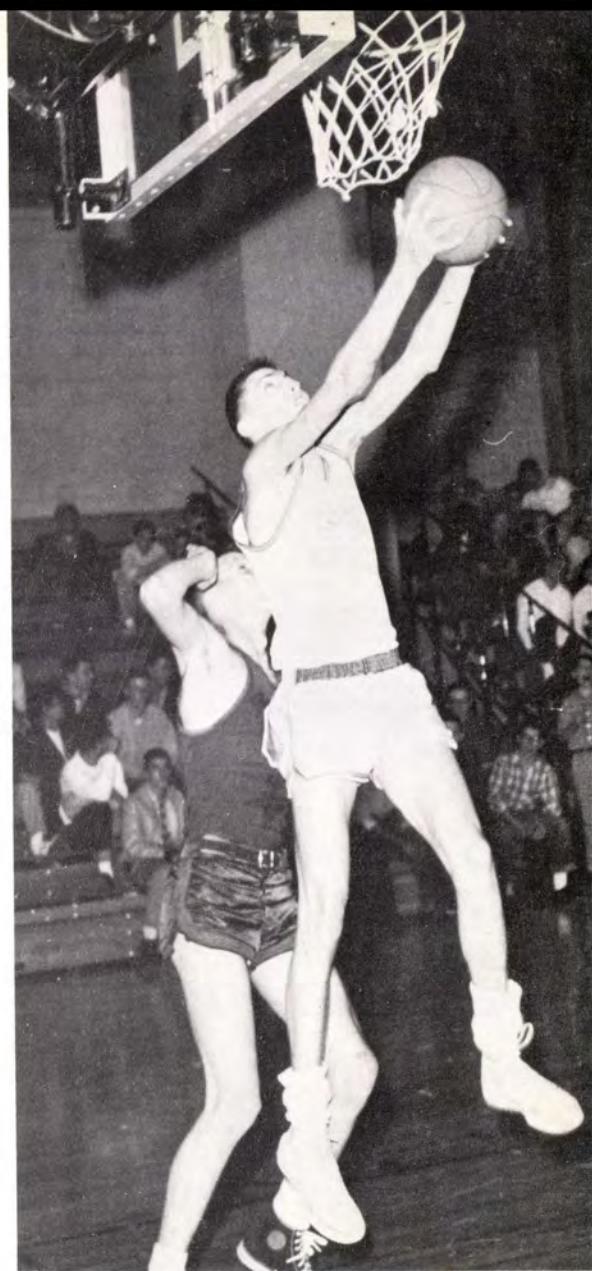

The Mounties won the season's opener with Avalon, then dropped a heartbreaker to Baldwin, 49-48, in the last second of play. The hoopsters then set out on their sixteen-win rampage, leaving behind a trail of carnage which included seven straight victims in sectional play. One of those victims was arch-rival Washington, who succumbed 54-44, thus bringing Coach Speed Clark a wild ride on the sweaty shoulders of his protégés.

After dropping the return engagement with the Little Prexies, the Blue Devils continued their winning ways. The final chart showed nineteen wins against only two losses and a 9-1 record in the section, good enough for a tie with Washington for first.

The main strength of the team lay in the fine overall balance. All five starters were on an even plane. There was no one star surrounded by four underlings. Roscoe, Robinson, Davis, Malarkey, and Reinhold—each worked with the others for team success, by which each became an individual star.

A special word of commendation must go to Captain Bill Roscoe, one of the few players in the school's history to go through three years as a regular.

Wrestling was added to the expanding sports roster at Mt. Lebanon High this year along with the completion of the new wing. Coached by Mr. George Lamprinakos, the grapplers undertook an ambitious schedule in their first year in W.P.I.A.L. competition. Wrestling, one of the fastest growing sports in district high schools, originally started in Washington County shortly after World War II and now finds many schools fielding teams. Limited primarily to underclassmen to prevent graduation losses, this was a building year for the Mounties, but hopes of a championship team will be growing with each year. Captained by Turny Duff, senior transfer student from Philadelphia, the wrestling team showed up well despite their inexperience in the 10 weight divisions. Returning next year to the Blue and Gold will be sophomores Dick Martin, Jim Howley, Glen Williams, Jim Bateman, Lee Wells, and Denny Phillips, along with juniors Dick Gunning and George Schein.

A well balanced team, sparked by several outstanding individuals, plus wonderful coaching was the secret to the success of the Mounty Thin-Clads last year. By the end of the season the team had broken 19 meet records and 13 school records. Pete Kopsnak broke both the high and low hurdle records. Likewise, both the mile and half-mile times were lowered by Cary Weisiger. Fritz Walker put his name next to three new field marks in the javelin, discus, and shotput. Roy Moffit was responsible for the new broad jump distance. The remaining five records were all made by relay teams. The foursome of Masterson, Weisiger, Hanchey and Inderwisch knocked the indoor distance medley time down a few pegs. The outdoor sprint medley time was lowered by the team of Overholt, Hanchey, Slocum, and Schein. A new time was posted for the mile relay thanks to Overholt, Hanchey, Reid, and Anderson. The last and probably the most surprising record broken was the W.P.I.A.L. shuttle low hurdle record, broken by Kopsnak, Moffit, Lee, and Renshaw. Another team accomplishment was the extension of consecutive victories in dual, triangular, and quadrangular meets to 86. The squad also won all of the championship meets they participated in, except the Mansfield Relays at which they placed a respectable second in a field of 98 opponents. Over all, it was a triumphant season for the varsity squad.

The future Mounties, the jayvees, also had a good season. Mr. Lamprinakos coached his aspirants to 6 wins and 1 loss. The Central Catholic jayvees defeated Lebo's in the last meet of the season by the heart-breaking margin of 7 points.

After the P.I.A.A. meet, at which Mt. Lebanon placed first for the W.P.I.A.L., the victors, the varsity lettermen, held an election in which Pete Kopsnak was unanimously chosen as Most Valuable Player. Dave Moskowitz and Dick Anderson were elected team co-captains for the following season. This marked the end of another great Lebo track season.

This year the Junior Varsity Track team had another winning year under Mr. Lamprinakos. With a record of six wins, and one defeat to Central Catholic, the team showed that they will add a lot of valuable material to next year's varsity.

The 1956 edition of the Mt. Lebanon baseball squad enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in school history last spring under the fine tutelage of Coach Mercer Clark. The Mounties started rather slowly, but improved steadily as the season progressed.

The Mounties lost the league opener, but came on to win four straight games behind the hurling of Fred Wolff and Jack Karcher. The Mounties second and final loss in section competition came at the hands of Trinity High School. This dimmed the prospects of finishing number one in the section, but the Blue Devils fought back and finished section competition in a tie for first place with Trinity High.

A playoff contest between Mt. Lebanon and Trinity was held at Canonsburg to determine the Section 3 champion. The Blue and Gold after losing to Trinity during regular section competition, came back to win the Section 3 crown behind the erstwhile hurling of Fred Wolff.

By winning the section crown Mt. Lebanon earned the right to compete in a single elimination tournament for the W.P.I.A.L. championship. In the first round of the tournament Baldwin High School edged the Mountie nine by a score of 3 to 1. Jack Karcher tossed a four hitter for Mt. Lebanon, but was the victim of four costly errors and three unearned tallies.

At the completion of the season Jack Kenning was voted the team's most valuable player. In addition to his timely hitting, his spirit proved invaluable to the team throughout the season.

G. A. A.

Shouts, screams, cries of anguish and elation, moans and groans come from behind those locked doors at the end of the north passageway at 3:30 every day. The reason for all the commotion? It's not a murder or anything like that; it's just the G.A.A. starting another game in its series of after school sports. Tennis, tenniquoit, volleyball, basketball, and softball are the tournaments offered, presenting a varied program designed to suit every girl's taste. Under the newly revised membership rules, each girl is a member of the G.A.A., eligible to participate in as many sports as she wishes.

All is not athletics, however, and the G.A.A. has its social side, too. The girls planned a Hallowe'en party, winter sports night, Spring Banquet, and a dessert this year.

All the aforementioned activities come under the supervision of the Leaders Club. The club, inaugurated this year, consists of girls whose primary purpose is to plan and organize the various sports and parties.

Rifle

After a close season, the rifle team finished second in the W.P.I.A.L. Section Two race with a season record of 6 wins and 2 losses. Coraopolis sharpshooters proved to be too much for the local marksmen. The two defeats suffered at the hands of Coraopolis constituted Mt. Lebanon's losses in the whole season.

The following individuals received letters and most of them achieved a perfect score in match competition: Beverly Henry; Donna Thomas; Nancy Taylor; Judy Reynolds; Gary Turnquist; Tom Bradley; Phil DuFresne; Jim Reynolds; Jack Weaver; Steve Sutton; and Gene Beedle.

Tennis was another high spot in the Lebo parade of sports. The Mounty netters, masterminded by Mr. Doak, had an excellent season as they reigned supreme winning Mt. Lebanon's first W.P.I.A.L. tennis championship. The "big three" of the courtmen, Ed Hartman, Ray Pierson, and John Connally did yeoman duty in leading the team to nine victories as against only three losses. In regular season competition, the Blue Devils had a five and three record, tying Connellsville for the section championship. In the resulting play-off, our boys edged a strong Coker team by a 3-2 score. The W.P.I.A.L. semi-finals found the team romping over Dormont and New Castle; the netters then defeated Latrobe for the W.P.I.A.L. championship. The boys who sparked this fine team were Hartman, Connally, Pierson, Lynn, Rhen, Lewis, Williams, and Wright. With all but three stalwarts of asphalt courts returning, the outlook for '57 is more than promising.

Dave Owens and Wally Samuels led the 1956 Mounty linksmen to first place in Section 7 competition and to the runner-up position in the W.P.I.A.L. race. The team, ably piloted by Mr. Burrows, compiled an outstanding record of 12 wins and 1 defeat.

The Blue Devils' excellent balance made itself felt as they romped through their section undefeated and without being hardpressed at any time. Progressing to the play-offs, the Mounties ran roughshod over Moon and Penn. Greensburg, however, proved to be too much for our boys as they were sent down to defeat in a hotly-contested match.

Individual standouts were Dave Owens, the team captain who finished second in the P.I.A.A. State Meet at University Park, and Wally Samuels, the number 2 man, who was this year's W.P.I.A.L. champ, and a consistent low scorer. Rod Murtaugh, Butch Truesdale, Buzz Bossart, Dave Dole, Steve Sutton, and Lee Owens rounded out their superior aggregation. With four of these boys returning, the outlook for next season is excellent.

Chess

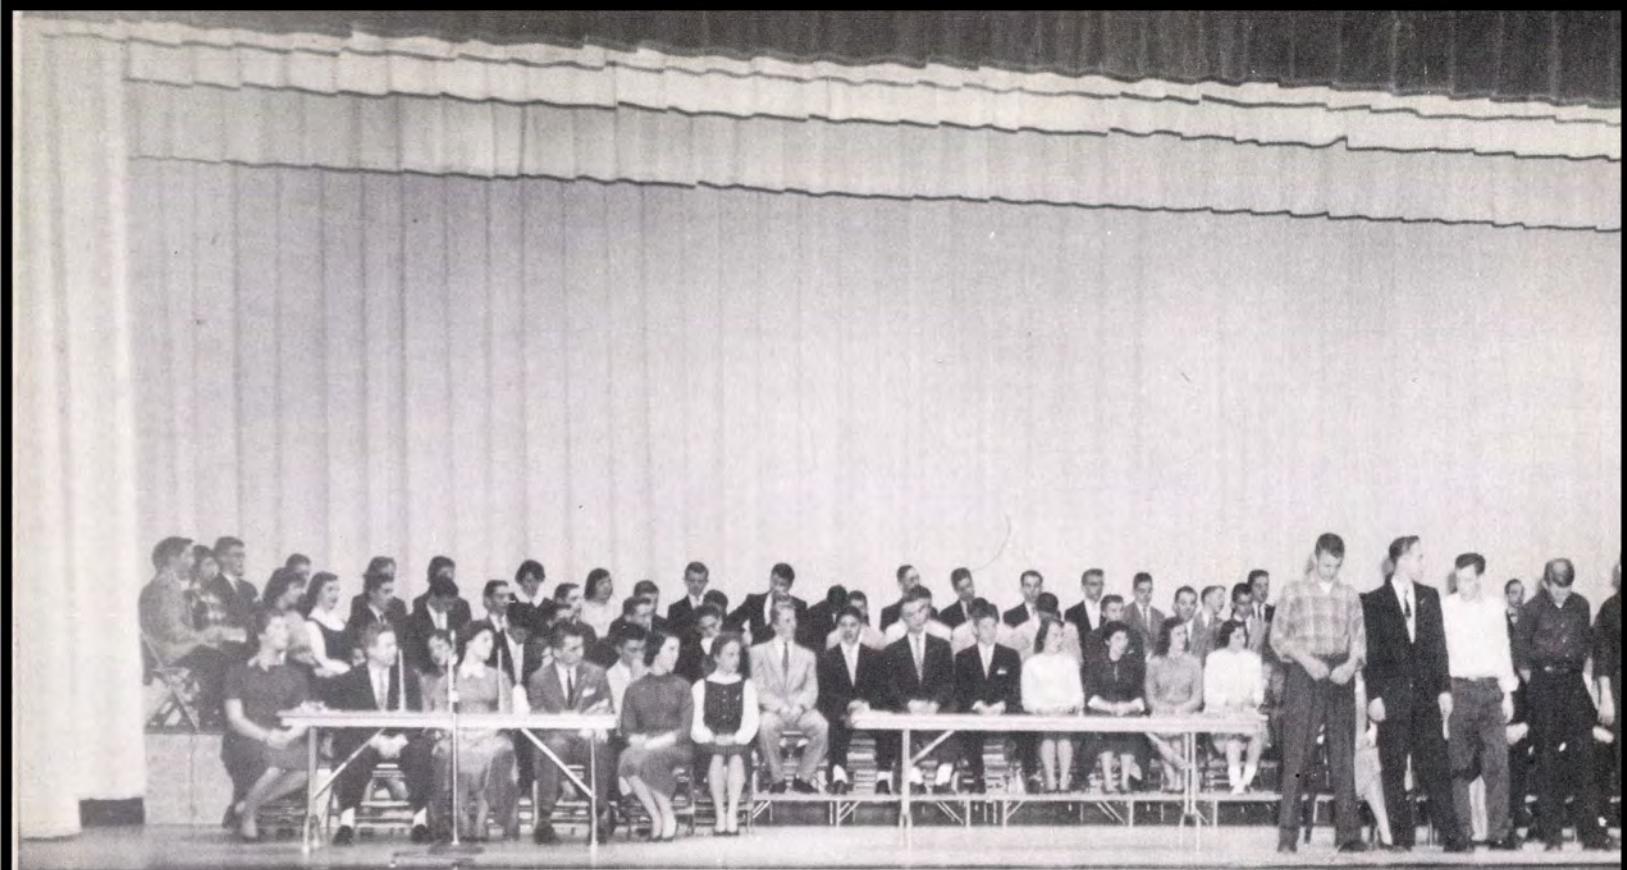

Mt. Lebanon's chess-playing Mounties fought perennially strong Alderdice for supremacy of its league. The league season was divided into two separate "pennant races," to steal a phrase from some other sport whose name we can't quite recall. The league leaders in each half of the season clashed in a playoff for the championship.

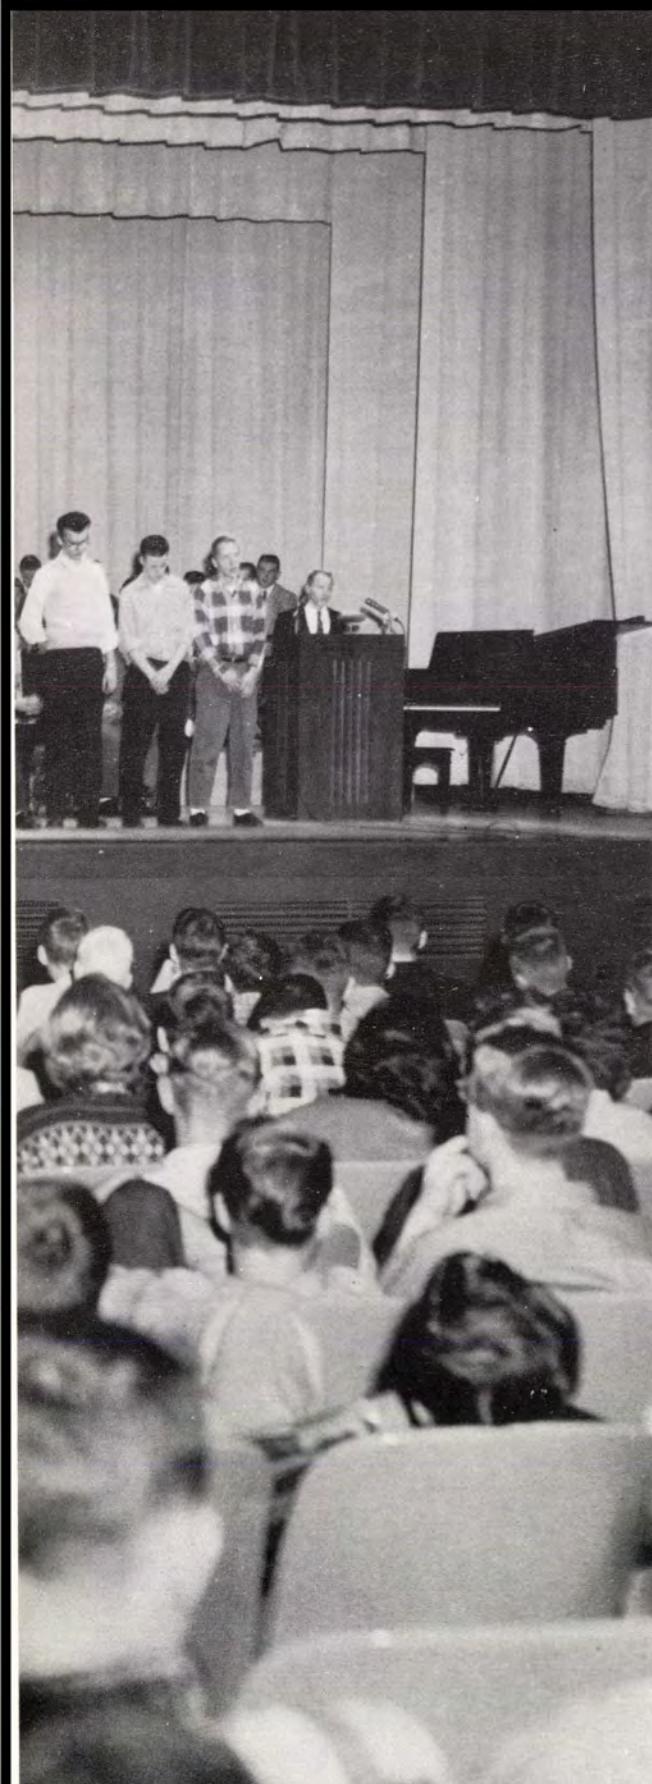

Masterful plotting by Murray Davis, Dave Reed, Ed Becker, Jim Lawler, and John Sowa led the pawn-pushers to a close second, losing out to Alderdice by a half-point. The Mounties romped undefeated through the remainder of the schedule, rolling over Carnegie, Peabody, Langley, and Perry.

The two-in-one season was an innovation in the league, and worked out very well. A run-away by one team did not mean loss of interest by the rest of the league, for there was always the cry, "Wait 'til next season," to fall back on. A tight race in the first half brought the element of revenge in the second half.

The Mounties may look forward to a season of reasonable success next year. Although hurt by the loss of Davis, Reed, and Lawler, number one, two, and four man, respectively, the team will welcome back juniors Becker and Sowa, and will build around them.

ACTIVITIES

Once a month, organized pandemonium dominated the publications office. This furor was born of the Lantern policy that the sacred "Deadline" must be met. Neither leaking duplicators nor missing stories could delay the Mt. Lebanon High Newspaper from appearing on schedule, even if additional early-morning assembling was necessitated.

Organized Miscellany

Unlike the March lion who inevitably subsides into a lamb, this year's Lebanon Lantern staff began its work with roaring enthusiasm which carried through the entire year. Maria Liadis reigned over this journalistic jungle by capably handling the job of editor-in-chief. Under her organization the news, feature, and sports departments headed by Jane Treavaskis, Jan Powers, and Gary Turnquist, respectively, merged into one compact unit, working earnestly to assure Mt. Lebanon students that all important school events would be presented accurately and promptly on the pages of the Lantern. Janet Ackenheil kept eyes and ears open in search of possible sources for her pertinent editorials. Due to the record sales campaign, the Lantern was able to produce a special sports issue for the first time.

The staff volunteered after school hours as well as study halls in order to complete the job on time. When the latest Lantern issue with its Scholastic Roto and Devilette additions was finally distributed, the heavy sigh that seeped from under the crack of the Lantern office door was not so much of exhaustion but more of pride in presenting a fine product to Mt. Lebanon High School.

What you couldn't find out over the party line you could read about in the Devilette. However, this year the editors concentrated on highlighting the jokes and anecdotes rather than the gossip-social sections.

Marty, Nancy, Joan, and Janet of the Lantern sought to bring to each student a clearer understanding and appreciation of school events through efficient and accurate presentation of all current school news.

See, I can't thank you for all the help
 you've given me
 on Devilette
 + all the joy in fitting bugging. Believe me
 you are a neat kid
 & I wish you the "Best".
 Love always,
 Marty
 Pulliken

These Lantern Editors, Jan, Gary, Janet, and Maria, may appear pleasantly placid here but could usually be found frown-deep in work; organizing, correcting, and ranting at delinquent reporters.

Disorder reigned as the Devilette staff labored to put together a forthcoming issue. Assignments flowed in, soon to be corrected, typed, stenciled, and assembled in the confusion which characterizes Devilette assemblies. Yet the next day the Devilette emerged, eagerly awaited by its followers.

Racking their brains for some touch of genius, Pat Tichenor, Pat Negele, Gretchen Taylor, Jill Galbraith, and Clarence Renshaw combine their talents to produce masterful write-ups.

Headed by the photographic editor, Bill Curnow, Ted Brunn, Dale Herrington and Bill Brevoort pore over the seemingly thousands of pictures that had to be screened before the very best found their way into the Log. During the year there were several "interesting" assignments; taking a time exposure of the school from Cochran Road with a hundred people trying to walk in front of the camera, climbing around on the beams above the auditorium, and risking air sickness to get an aerial shot of the school.

The record number of Log subscriptions kept Peggy Galey, Ginny Powell, and Ginny Butterworth busy straightening accounts, counting money, and tracking down the people who fell behind in their payments.

Chaos

On this page you see the team who, along with their sponsors, have brought you the biggest Lebanon Log yet — measure and see! Long after-school hours were spent toiling in the spacious 5 x 10 Log Office. The editors worked in the pangs of creative agony with high-pitched shrieks added for inspiration. Meanwhile the business staff handled, in a somewhat saner manner, more mundane matters such as the $6,000 needed to finance the 1957 Log.

Something's always special about the Log, and this year its outstanding features are the pictorial introductory and student life sections. Remember the helicopter that descended on the football field one afternoon? It carried our photographer aloft to take the sensational aerial shots that strengthened the Log's photographic emphasis. The staff kept in step with the modern trend in yearbooks by using more informal pictures.

The many months of hard work were more than balanced by the conviviality of the staff and such extracurricular fun as gorging themselves with real Italian spaghetti at Uncle Joe's, who has since gone back to Sorrento.

Along with all the fun, the staff did, in the end, achieve its goal of trying to bring you a complete record of this year's school life.

Dear Sue,
Thank you for all

Priscilla Delach, Kathy Van Atta, Ned Garnhart, Judy Cope and Pat Negele are the struggling artists who were responsible for the piles of posters plastered over the school walls earlier this year.

Side by side they braved deadlines, lost dummies, and other major and minor tragedies. Hettie and Ginny headed the editorial staff with John, Judie, Dick, Dave, and Jerrine as slave-driven, henpecked workers.

Organized Millions

Since 1956-57 was the tenth complete year of Mounty publication, the staff was determined to make that Mounty year a special one. The big year was given a royal launching with a sales campaign that yielded a record 650 subscriptions to what was modestly termed the "Fabulous, Spectacular, 1956-57 Mounty."

And though fabulous and spectacular are rather extensive terms to use in describing a magazine, the Mounty staff felt that they were justly proud of their publication during the big year. As in the past, the Mounty contained the best short stories, poems, and essays contributed by the bards of Mt. Lebanon High School. The technical side of the publication was ably handled by the Mounty's own artists, proofreaders, typists, mimeographers, and assembly and distribution crews. This staff worked together with its two advisors (Miss Elliot and the Mounty Martian) striving to make Mt. Lebanon's literary magazine more interesting and entertaining, as well as more literary, than ever before.

The massive minds of the Mounty's "men of letters" were entrusted with the task of merely filling the magazine. This task was complicated by the omnipresent question, "What shall we write?" During the year they learned to answer their question and thus to fill the pages.

A pensive, ear-pulling pose is struck by John Frame as he lectures his Mounty crew on the finer points of Mounty making. The staff and Mr. Frame spent many a pensive, ear-pulling hour trying to please their many subscribers.

This year the Mounty mimeographers really worked for their points. With a cranky mimeographing machine to fight, the main problem was not the producing of copy but the inducing of the machine to run.

STAGE CREW

Clarence Renshaw and Danny Lee

These are the mighty men of the Mt. Lebanon High School stage crew. Through their resourcefulness and muscles, these unseen stars could demolish the Great Pyramid, move mountains, and build Rome on our school's stage within minutes.

USHERS

David Cradle, Frank Coho, Jack Henderson, and John Mather

One of the most difficult jobs of this squad was to restrain students, who, no doubt out of pure love for their sixth-period classes, felt that they had to get out of the auditorium first.

LIBRARY

Mary Lou Molnar

If you find at the last minute that you have to write a research paper on the multilobular properties of the sessile-eyed isopod, just wander on up to the library. This squad should be able to provide you with fifty volumes on the subject.

SCHOLASTIC

Vic Hill

Are you a genius? Well, do you think you are? Then you are part of this committee's business. Here we see these industrious scholars separating the Perry Winkles from the Albert Einsteins on the new honor roll.

COSTUME

Suzanne Brown

Would you like to disguise yourself? Maybe something subtle like an anthropoid ape? Well, Mt. Lebanon's thespians often come up with such queer desires, and it's the job of this squad to humor them.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Cindy McKnight

"Psst! Hey, buddy, wanna buy a ticket to the Prom? Just happen to have a few left." Such was the cry of the social committee scalpers, who, in addition to their billet-pushing chores, planned themes, hired bands, and generally oversaw Mt. Lebanon's dances.

BULLETIN BOARD

Cathy Lynch

The eyes of the school were often fastened on the bulletin boards which this squad expertly made up. In spite of the fact that thirty squads usually wanted to use all of the bulletin boards the same week, there was much useful information for students to read and heed, such as; "Get out and vote" and "Books are the road to knowledge."

CHEMISTRY

Robert Long and David Burnham

Gee, Mister Wizard! What do I have to do to get some of that Paraminobenzoyldiethylaminoethanolhydrochloricum? Well, Billy, these are the boys you're looking for. I bet they have some right now in the back room.

MAKE-UP

Sandie Rambo and Paula Fry

Do you look like a sessile-eyed isopod? Well, cheer up. Things aren't as bad as all that. You'd be surprised what make-up can do. The Mt. Lebo make-up squad can transform you into the belle of the ball — or, then again, they might transform you into an anthropoid ape. But isn't make-up wonderful?

HOSTS AND HOSTESSES

Carol Sweeny

What's a party without hosts and hostesses? These are the kinds who, every lunch period, see that every one of their lunch guests has a lot of fun. And if things get out of hand, of course, there are many interesting games they give us to play: such as taking out extra plates.

ATTENDANCE

Jean King and Jeanette Zimerring

This is the squad whose specialty is making sure that Mt. Lebanon students are "all there." Armed with pink slips, yellow slips, and green slips, they were our authorities on tardiness, class-cutting, and "jus' sorta sleepin' in."

PROJECTION

Jim Hixson and Dick Hoskin

Ladies and gentlemen, this was not Cinerama! But even with the crackling or non-existent sound, and the fluttering pictures, these movies never failed to provide interesting details about class topics which might not otherwise have been studied.

MEDICAL SQUAD

Harriet Berlin

Always ready with the thermometer, a band-aid, and a sympathetic word, members of the medical squad can usually come up with the remedy for any ills, which range in variety from the common cold to a dog bite, a broken finger, and the favorite "test headache."

RED CROSS

Marcia Mandell

Members of the Red Cross squad, anxious to be of service, have just completed packing these gift boxes for shipment overseas. This was only one of the projects on their very full program this year; a program which also included many orphanage parties.

WAYS AND MEANS

Jane Collins

If in the midst of a thrilling game you ever get a sudden longing for a glass of hot pear juice, these are the kids to see. They never miss finding ways of getting your food to you and means of getting their money.

Dear Sue,
We've had a lot of fun together this year. Maybe next year I'll have something with you besides lunch.
Here's hoping love Pat (NEALE)

PUBLICITY

Sue Langreth

Anxious to keep the high school in the news spotlight, publicity committee members have kept the public well informed on the latest school happenings with interesting stories of social events, sports heroes, scholastic honors, and personal glimpses of the students.

Sue,

Until the second half of this year, I never knew your Joe was next to mine.

It has been nice knowing

Ann Jones

TRAFFIC

Ron Weis

"If you don't look where you're going, you may get hit." With twenty-two hundred students and nearly that many miles of hallway, this squad had a big job taming the mobs down to an organized chaos.

PHYSICS

Phil DuFresne

If an eight-foot handle is attached to a fixed pulley, which is attached to a single movable pulley, which is attached to a gear with three teeth which meshes with another gear with thirty-two teeth, which just sits there and does nothing, what is the temperature outside? Here Physics squad members solve the problem by trial and error.

DECORATION

John Rowe

After bringing Dogpatch, Paris, and Hollywood to Mt. Lebanon for school dances, decoration squad members begin to wonder just how many things you can make a gym look like. Yet their scotch tape, crepe paper, and wobbly ladders are always on hand to add to the social festivities.

STUDIO

Brian Bauknight and John Walton
The Studio, home of the Lebo Broadcasting System, provides valuable experience for the future John Cameron Swayzes and Betty Furnesses as they bring you your daily announcements plus weekly news and sports casts.

HONOR AWARD

Helen Gilbert

"Tote that barge, lift that bale," and you'll get your activities key yet. The honor award committee consists of these kids who, as shown here, earn their activities points by figuring out everyone else's.

*We've had fun in y-Teens!
Join next year!
Best wishes

DEVOTIONAL

Dave Reed

Here we see members of the devotional squad making up one of the Thursday morning inspirational programs. This squad also prepared the Christmas play this year and worked on other projects to improve the spiritual life of the school.

PUBLIC ADDRESS

Richard Hineman

Peeking out at you now are the men "behind the scenes" at the Lebo Broadcasting System. You can call them technical engineers, production assistants, or just plain switch turners, but to us they will always be the P.A. squad of Mt. Lebanon High School.

ART

Priscilla Delach

The art squad gives opportunities to Mt. Lebanon's future Rembrandts, Van Goghs, and Al Capps to make their fair school still fairer through the use of their artistic talent. These kids are often seen around the school with their dripping paints, wet masterpieces, and globs of glue.

PARKING

John Van Vorst

Dan Matthews and his Highway Patrol have nothing on Mt. Lebanon! We have our own champions of motoring law and order, namely the parking squad which is now before you. Our new student parking lot was ably handled by these kids.

HOSPITALITY

Giving a warm welcome to newcomers is the job of the hospitality squad. They introduce the new kids to students and teachers and help them get adjusted to our school.

BIOLOGY

Edwin Gales

In case you still don't know what a sessile-eyed isopod is, we're not going to tell you, mainly because we don't know. But if you really want to find out, this is the squad to see. Taking care of our friends of the fur and feather is their business.

PROPERTIES

Valerie Snee

When Liberace forgets his candles, or Durante his nose, or Elvis his sideburns, these prop men must be ready to provide the necessary equipment. This crew can be depended upon to provide anything from an authentic replica of the Sphynx's nose to a real sessile-eyed isopod when it's needed.

AUDITORIUM PLANNING

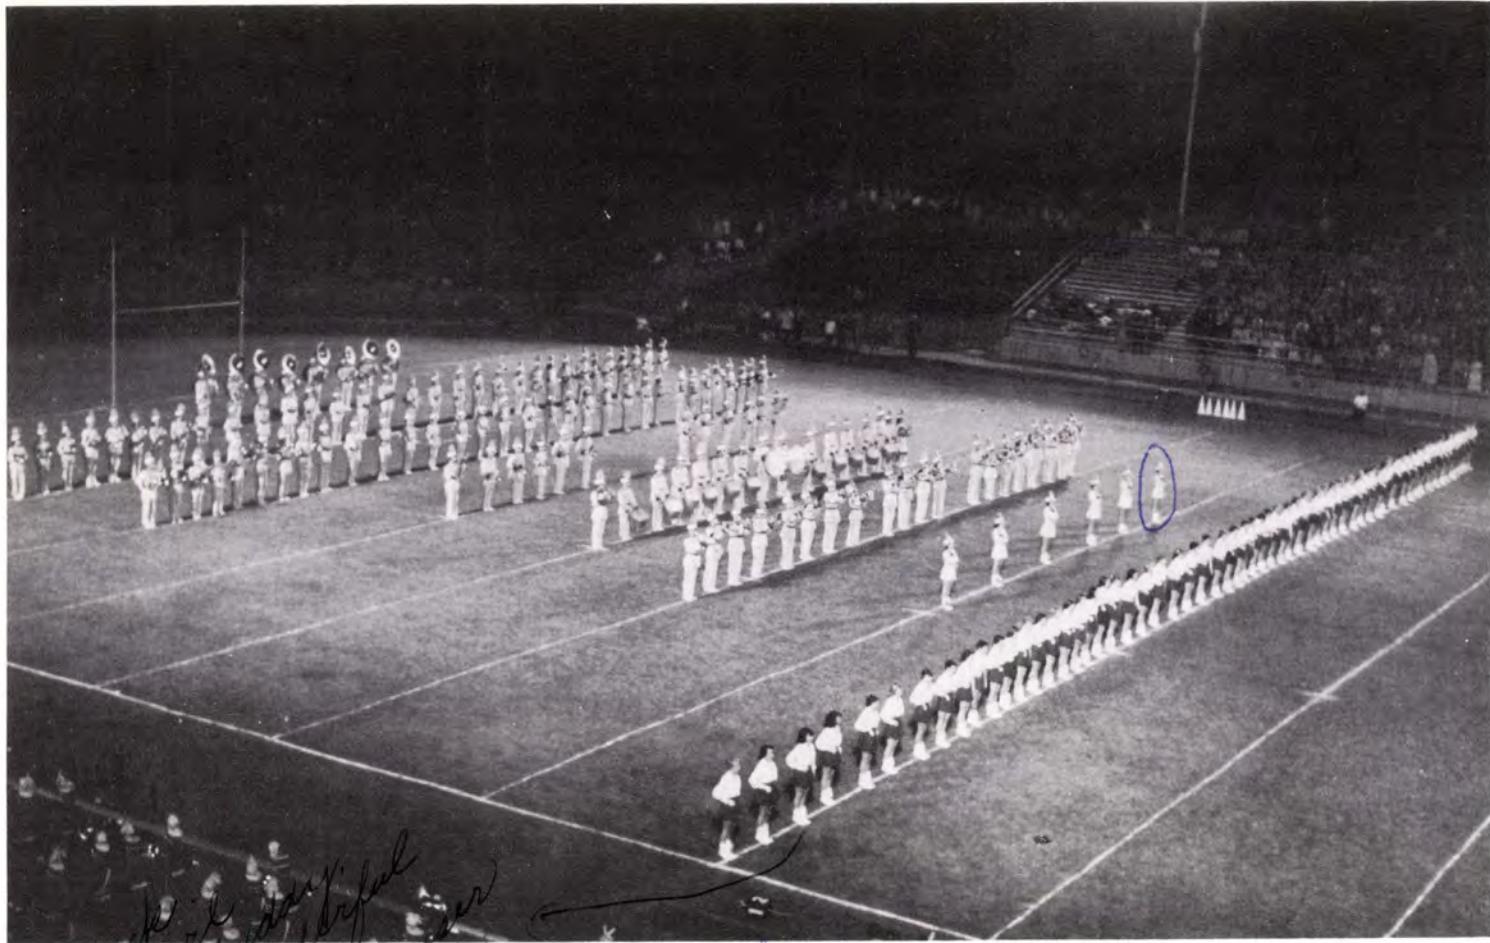

The new auditorium proved to be a real incentive for this recently formed committee. Planning a good weekly program, making arrangements for outside talent and inserting several student productions made for lots of hard, but interesting work.

CHECK ROOM

Carol Scott

Do you have a rare Afghanistanian statue of Thutmose III delivering his farewell address? Do you carry it around all day in a padded vault hidden in your shoe sole? If so, get rid of your burden. Take it to the check room squad. Maybe they will lose it for you.

Precisioned Presentations

The "Marching 200" is the largest unit in the history of Mt. Lebanon High School. This year's band consisted of 124 members in white uniforms with 16 high-stepping majorettes and 60 precisioned Range Rockettes. Philip R. Prutzman, bandmaster, stated that the band not only was larger but had better instrumentation than ever before.

Drum Major Bonnie Bloomer has been awarded many National Championship Medals for twirling. Her flashy twirls brought many cheers from the stands. Assistant Drum Major Joanne Beitler also performed before the home folks, taking over Bonnie's job at one of the home football games.

The Range Rockettes were the best in Mr. Prutzman's opinion. The squad, enlarged from 48 to 60, was more practical for drill purposes than before.

The white-uniformed marchers presented half-time shows at all our Mounty football games and appeared in a half-time show at Allegheny College in Meadville, Pennsylvania. This year's annual Band Revue was unusually good, and the band made a guest appearance at the Robinson Township Band Revue, although it had to turn down many other invitations simply because of lack of time.

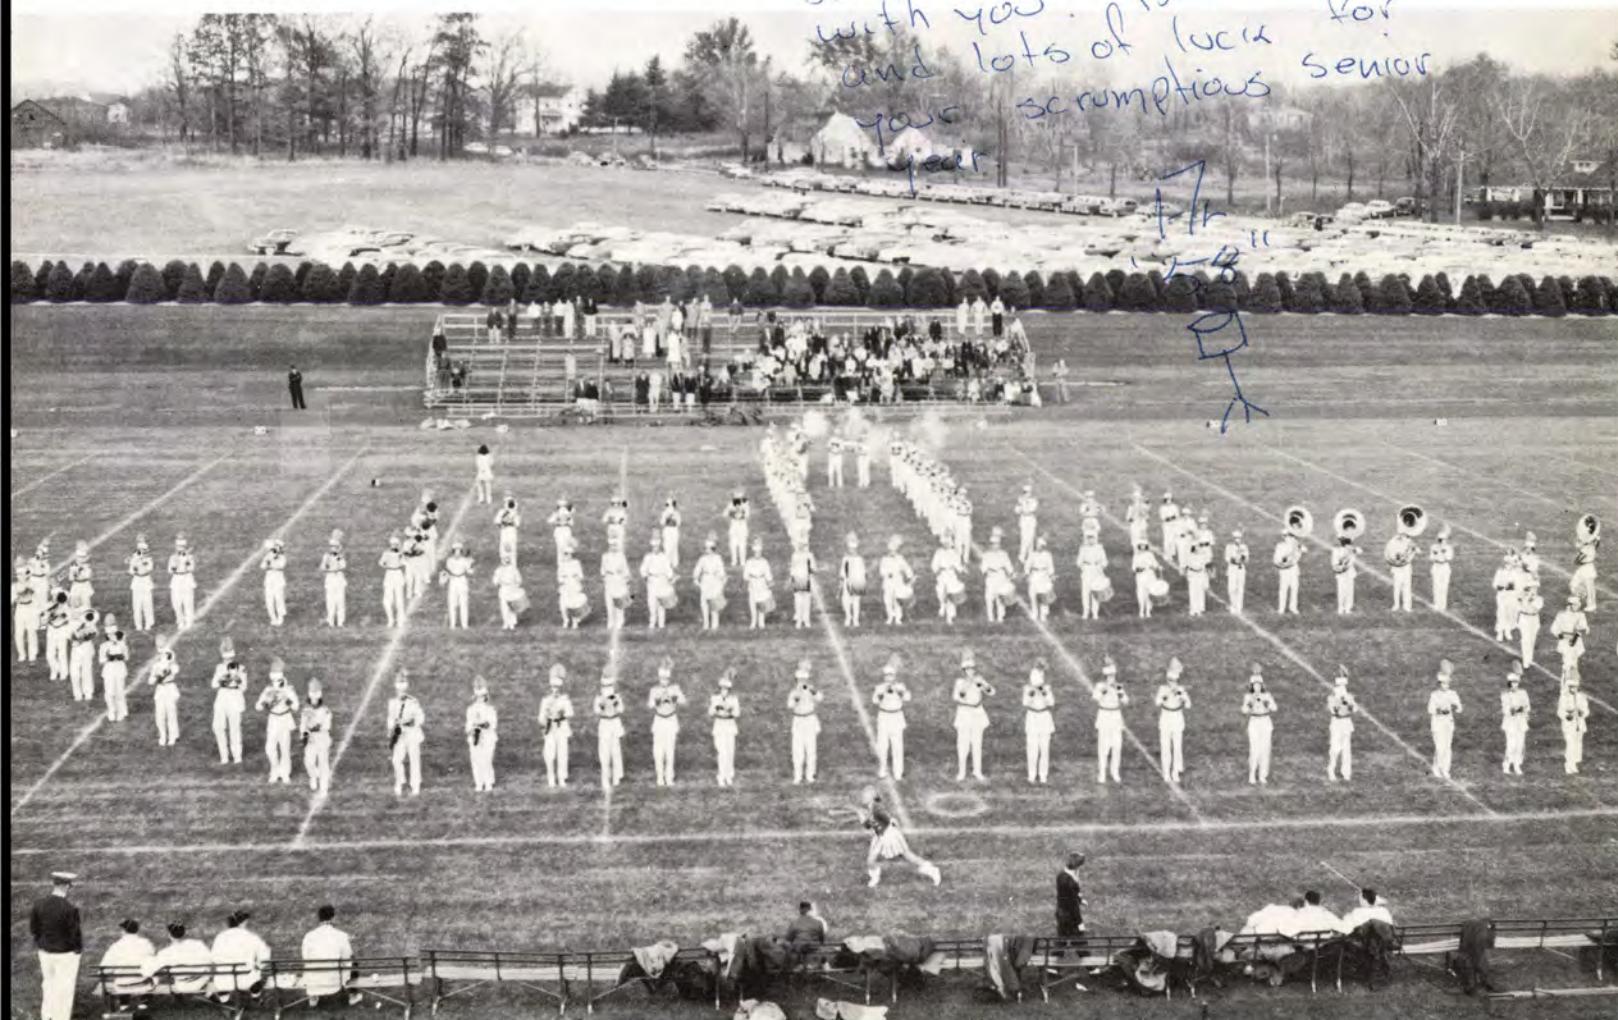

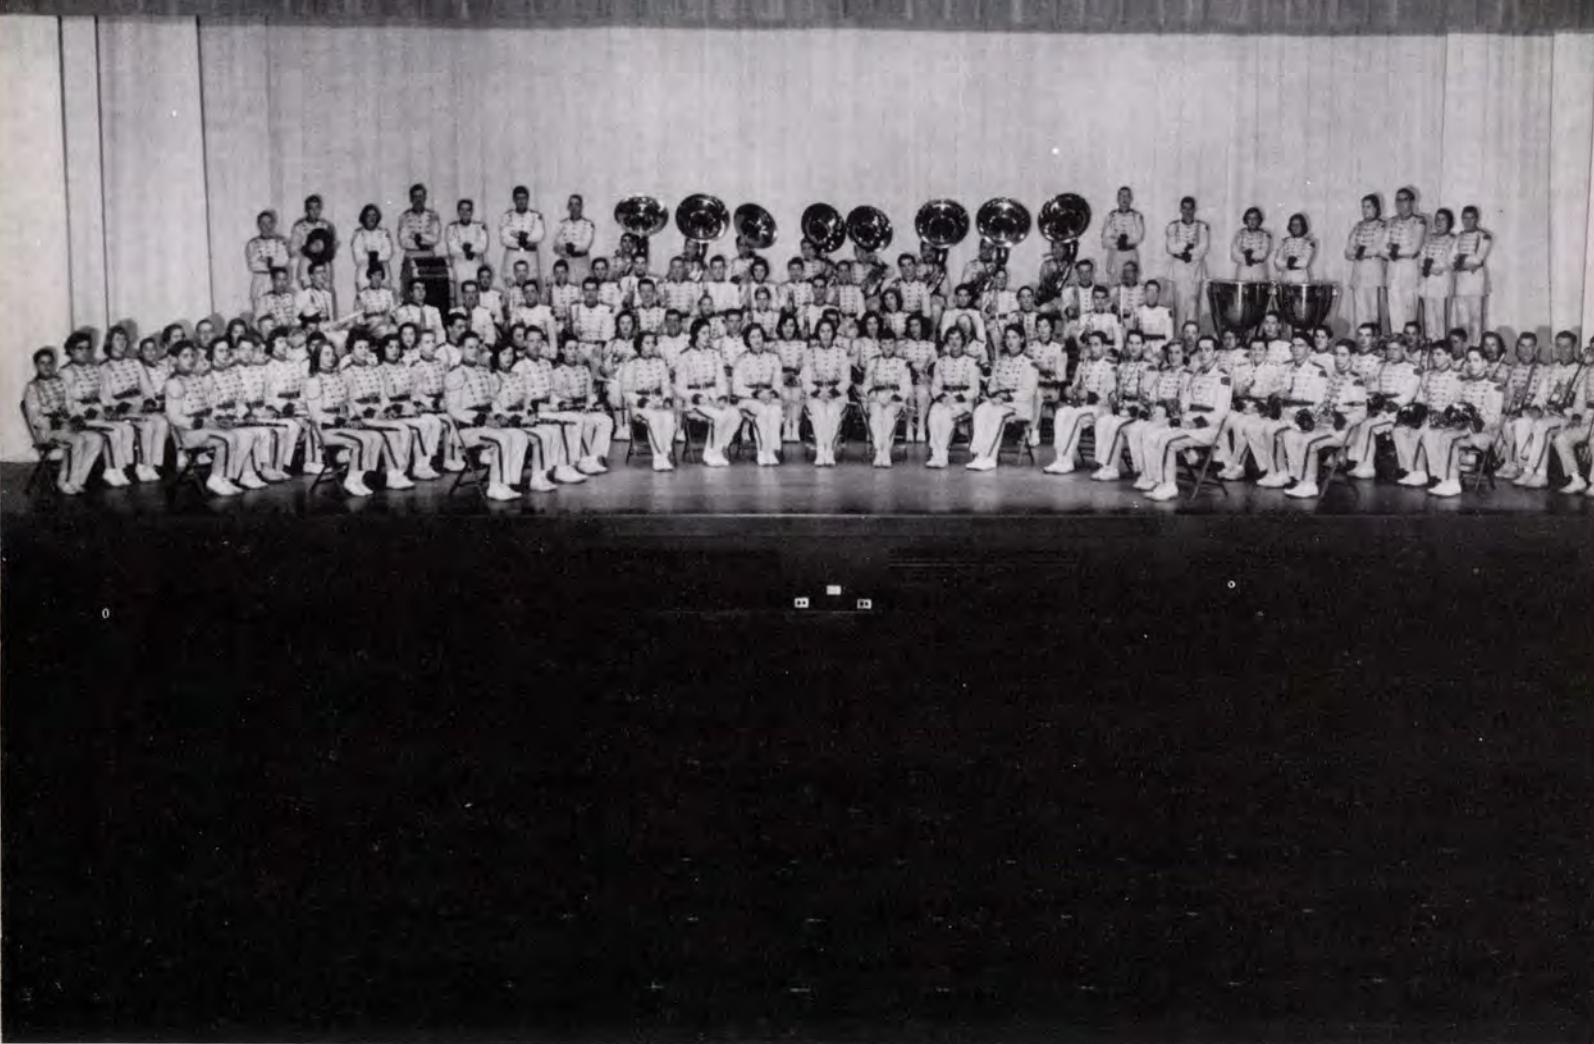

The people who helped keep the band in step this year were: Biscuit Hartwig, Bonnie Bloomer, Jack Zimmerman, and Al Hammond.

The Blue and White Band is a special concert organization composed of approximately fifty members. These members from the Mellon Junior High School Band and the Senior High School Band are selected on the basis of their musical ability and sincere desire to play music above the high school level. This band appeared at the Annual Concert and has also played for the Shrine Luncheon Club, the Veterans Hospital and other special out-of-town engagements. In playing more serious music, this select group presented pieces which were perfectly balanced.

The sixteen members of the Dance Band took an active part in the school program this year. They played at basketball games and other community engagements besides appearing at the annual spring concert. Members of this group, along with their student leader, Jack Henderson, appeared on WQED in September

One hundred and forty students of top ability, composing Mt. Lebanon's Concert Band, worked hard after the football season closed to play their part in the annual spring concert. After weeks of practice, practice, and more practice, this band was presented to Mt. Lebanon listeners on Friday evening, April twenty-sixth. The podium was shared by Mr. Prutzman, the student directors, and two guest conductors. The guests were Mr. James G. Borrelli, a former clarinetist with John Philip Sousa's band, and James Morrow, once a principal trumpet player with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra and now a member of the faculty of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Music in Moods —

Marilyn Briant, Alice Ann Myers, Susan Herb, and Barbara Moeller. These girls were the accompanists for the various choral groups this year.

Hammers banged and saws snarled last summer to provide Mt. Lebanon with a music room for its many musical groups; the old girls' gym was remodeled for just that purpose. With these expanded facilities, Mt. Lebanon's chorus put on more and better programs in 1956-57 than ever before.

As for quality, the chorus was reduced to sixty select voices, which Miss Sneary further divided into two performing units. If you heard the strains of some familiar tunes drifting through the halls during first period, you were hearing the Mixed Chorus, composed of girls and boys from all four grades. Second period was the hour that the Girls' Glee Club practiced. The two groups often combined for extra rehearsals during Tuesday activities periods, after school, and in the evening.

Chorus performances were begun the night of open house. Soon afterward, vigorous preparations began for the Christmas assembly and the annual presentation of Handel's Messiah. The climax of the year came with the Spring Show. Miss Sneary's charges are to be congratulated on the high standards of their work.

*Sue, it has

Religious, Spirited, Reminiscent

The Devotional Choir provided the hymns and other songs which were an important part of the devotions on the P.A. each Thursday morning. The members of this choir met with Miss Sneary several mornings before school every week, and under her direction they practiced the devotional music and special numbers for such holiday seasons as Thanksgiving and Christmas..

Each Thursday night this year, the twelve members of the Triple Trio met in the chorus room for their weekly rehearsal. Under the direction of Miss Sneary, they were drilled in the art of song. With a repertoire which ranged from serious numbers such as "Devotion" to the gay "Gonna Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair," the Triple Trio made frequent appearances at school programs, clubs, church groups, and other organizations. Members included: Sandy Dublin, Jamee Francis, Emily Geeseman, Judie Hoag, Linda Hofmama, Cindy McKnight, Alice Ann Myers — accompanist, Jo Ann Vedder, Joy Wertz, Ella Wilson, Judy Wright, and Alison Young.

Concert in the School...

Carols in the Capitol

Schubert and syncopation, Rachmaninoff and rhythm—the orchestra assembled a varied repertoire at its rehearsals in the new practice room under the auditorium. Under the excellent direction of Mr. Arthur Yagello, the seventy-five members prepared programs of classics, light classics, standards, and Latin-American numbers for the class play, open house, and other school functions. The highlights of the year were a trip to Harrisburg in November to play for the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association Convention and the annual Spring Concert. While in Harrisburg, the orchestra was invited to play on the staircase in the rotunda of the Capitol building. With Christmas less than a month away, the members sat on the steps and played Christmas carols from memory. On returning from Harrisburg, the orchestra was asked to perform selections from its hour-long concert for the student body at one of our assembly periods in December. This program included a Schubert overture, a Tschaikowsky suite, selections from a Jerome Kern musical, a Latin-American beguine, and an Offenbach ballet suite.

Several orchestra members were selected by competitive audition to play in the annual chair-by-chair concert of the Pittsburgh Symphony and the Pittsburgh Symphony, Junior. They found the experience both satisfying and interesting.

Voicing the Ideas and Ideals of the School

The set-up of the Student Directory was chief among the accomplishments of President Gary Turnquist, Vice-President Sandy Dempsey, and Secretary Paula Fry of the Student Congress during the first semester. Elected by their classmates last June, they got Mt. Lebanon's school year off on the right foot.

The campaign speeches of second semester candidates for Student Congress marked another first for Mt. Lebanon's new auditorium. Chuck Reinhold, Cindy McKnight, and Dave McDonald christened it with successful speeches as they were elected vice-president, secretary, and president, respectively.

In 1931, when Mt. Lebanon High School was first organized, the administration realized that students should have a hand in the government of the school. Thus the Student Congress was born. Known for many years as the Executive Board, this governing body has functioned efficiently — creating laws and making decisions. Composed of homeroom presidents and senior representatives, the Student Congress meets once each week to settle the current problems facing them as legislators.

The process of representative government is begun as a question arises in the homeroom. "May we have a student directory this year?" Recognizing the suggestion as valuable, the homeroom president brings it before the Student Congress. The Congress president asks for a discussion of the matter; one by one students show their favor for the suggestion by discussing its advantages and disadvantages. A fact finding committee is appointed and the facts presented to the group by the committee chairman. A new discussion arises as to whether the directory shall be printed or mimeographed. Once more the homerooms are consulted. The decision is made in favor of mimeographing and work is begun at once on the new directory.

A question was raised in the homeroom; a discussion followed in Student Congress; an improvement is made in the school. — Student government in action.

Mt. Lebanon's version of the "cabinet" is the Advisory Council, which meets with Dr. Mills during the year to give him the views on current problems. Dr. Mills presents the administration's side of the problems, and they then put their heads together in an effort to come up with a solution. The student problem-solvers this year were Janice Paulsen, Bill Malarkey, Gretchen Taylor, John Haller, Susan Beidler, Bill Marshall, Peggy Colvin, and Gil McNeish.

*Sue, good luck to I hope we you, Sue, have a great senior year,

The Student Court decides the relative truth of the "Who? — Me? — I — didn't-do-it" stories which it gets from pleading students. NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The highest honor of the school was conferred upon these students for their outstanding scholarship and leadership

These students were well rewarded for their hard work by receiving Activities Keys by the end of the first semester. Row 1: Fry, Powers, Francis, Collins, Holtz, Paulsen, Jackson, Melman, Sutherland, Cole. Row 2: Powell, Linn, Rohm, Gilbert, Mandell, Geeseman, Moore, Evans, Moeller, Dick, Albo. Row 3: Connelly, Frame, Reed, Davidson, Hill, McDonald, Van Vorst.

At the end of the first semester, these girls were confronted with the demanding question, "Are you pinned?" Those who received guards to their Activity Keys are: Row 1: McKnight, Powers, Melman, Gilbert. Row 2: Francis, Mandell. Missing: Ackenheil, Liadis, Miller.

A Face-lifting for Ulysses Grant

"Do we bother you — mother and I?"

"What the Sam Hill's going on here?" exclaimed General Grant as he smiled indulgently from his portrait on a $50 bill.

The occasion was the Senior Play for 1957, with Dave McDonald breezing through the title role in "Mr. Barry's Etchings." It was through Mr. Barry's efforts that General Grant acquired his unusual smile, which wreaked havoc in the little town of Stanwick. When Mr. Barry, moved by the plight of the town mayor, circulated his fifty-dollar bills, he found himself pursued by treasury agents and a ring of professional counterfeiters. Mr. Barry's widowed sister and her daughter, engaged to a bank teller, provided a homelike atmosphere for the production. A teenager, a town gossip, the mortician's wife, and an eccentric movie producer added more confusion to the already hilarious proceedings.

The efficient crew worked hand in hand with the cast for four busy weeks, performing the myriad duties connected with a top-notch performance. Mr. Myers was the ever-present director who coached, suggested, and provided that extra spark of ambition to keep everyone united in the successful effort to make "Mr. Barry's Etchings" the best. Suddenly it was November 9, and the first student production in the new auditorium was enjoyed by a Standing-Room-Only audience.

"Reach for the ceiling, you crummy green aphises!"

Staff members of the senior play were Linda Lucot, Leila Moore, Barbara Trackett, and Karin Moore.

"Adam and Eve!"

The cast members of "Mr. Barry's Etchings" were:
Row 1: Cindy McKnight, Emily Geeseman, Meg Holtz, Carol Schaup, Dave McDonald, and Audrey Melman. Row 2: Skip Kepler, Howard Katzman, Jack Erler, Tom Albertson, Phil Sedlak, and Warren Saunders.

JUNIOR SIGMA — Sitting: Sue Bletzinger, Stella Hulberg, Norma Blackburn. Standing: Jo Ann Vedder, Marilyn Klostermeyer, Barbara Vordran.

The Y-Teen year began with the Recognition Ceremony, which introduced Y-Teens to new members and new members to Y-Teens.

This formality completed, the various groups went about their programs of community service. The sophomores, under the direction of Miss Hay and Miss Frobese, dressed dolls for underprivileged children. The Sigmas of Miss Manning spent a "Lost Weekend" in February at a camp near Zelienople, Pa. Junior Norma Blackburn attended a Y-Teen conference in Washington, D. C., and swapped ideas with other Y-Teens. Mrs. Furlong's seniors spent much of their spare time in the School for the Blind.

The year was highlighted by interesting movies and speakers, serious discussions, a picnic, a banquet, and a square dance — activities that reflected the fun and fellowship of an active group.

THESPIANS

Mt. Lebanon's Thespian troupe had a large number of applicants this year due mainly to the production of three plays during the school year. At year's end, the troupe, guided by Mr. Myers, comprised about fifteen members, all of whom were active in the school's dramatic program.

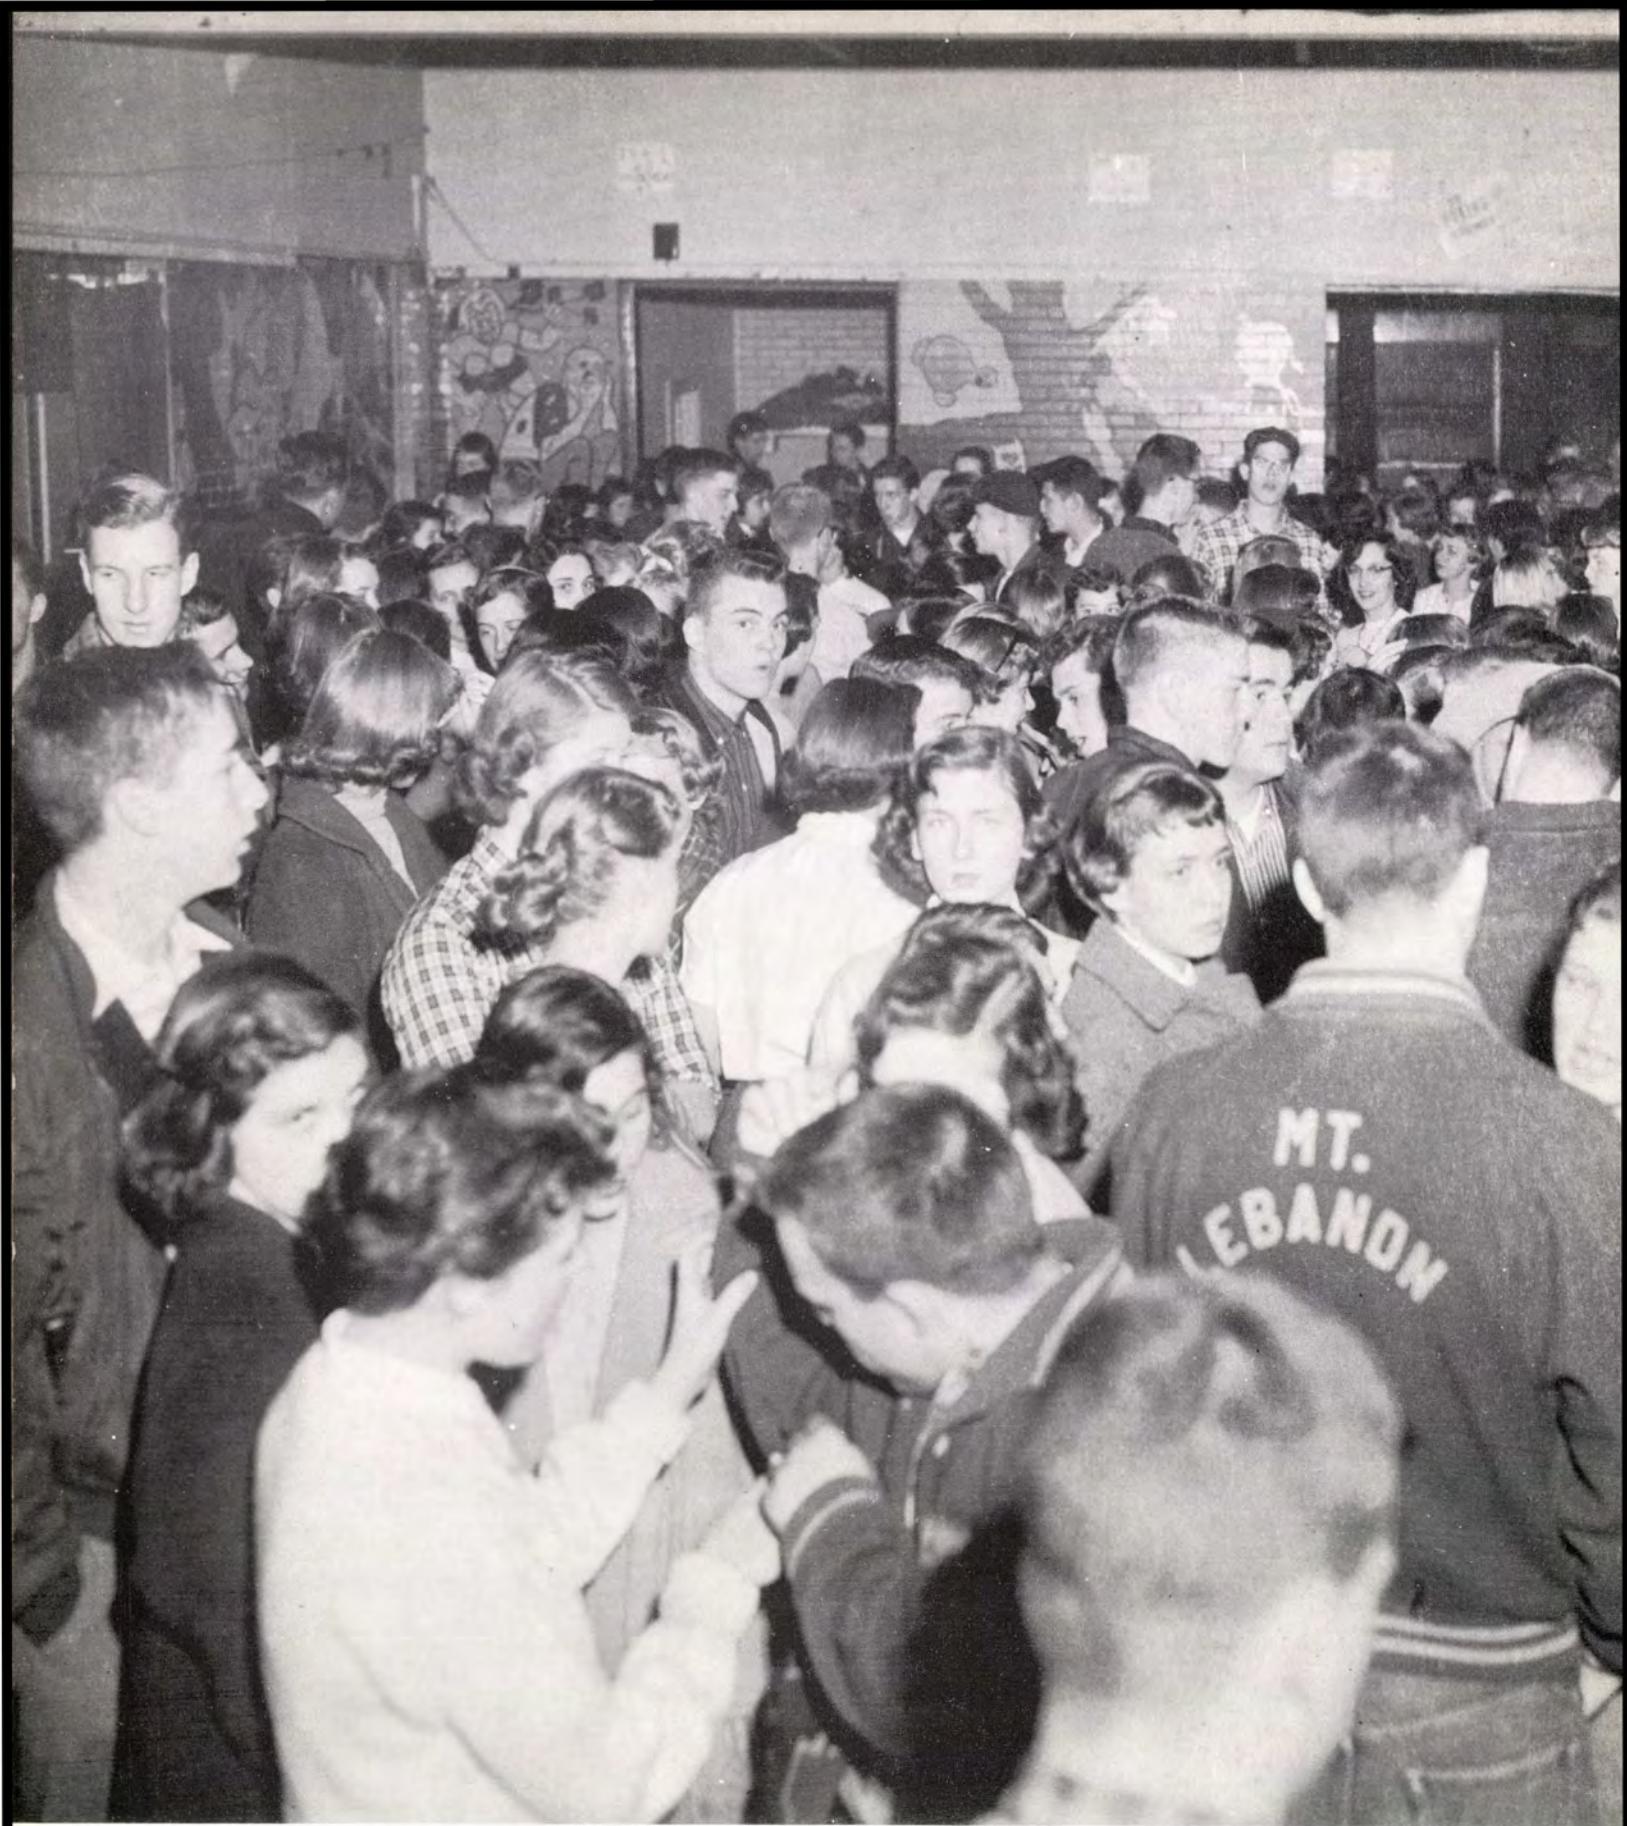

F.T.A.

Future Teachers of America is a group sponsored by the guidance office which gives potential instructors a "teacher's-eye-view" of their chosen profession. The F.T.A.'ers learn the duties and problems connected with the job of teaching by observation and actual practice in the grade schools.

STUDENT LIFE

At first glance, 1957 seemed just like any other year. We walked the cracks of Cochran Road twice a day for 180 days. We ate lunch at noon, or sometimes near noon, groaning about "fish" Fridays and the lack of time. Between classes breaks found many small groups engaged in their hourly reunions, one member eagerly questioning another about the test last period, or the date this Saturday. But we could work, and did; even the loafers tried to look industrious. After school, we went home, or to a job, or to football practice, or maybe worked on the Log. At night, there was of course homework, always homework. Physics, English, algebra, history — the subject made no difference; homework was always with us, "just like any other year" . . .

The heat's on.

Little shavers give big one.

Dear Sue,

Sue,
Remember our
biology class - I'll remember how smart you were!

... "Snytz" was another indispensable part of fall Fridays. "Gimme an M," was his cry, and an M he always got. His precisely battered hat and converted Princeton megaphone added a rakish hilarity to the fun of cheering. In the winter, we didn't have a Snyder, so we invented new games, such as counting off the last seconds on the new clock and making up nicknames like "Turtle" and "Lukey," "Spider" and "Gummer."

1957 was the year of Serena and Ullie, of the student directory and the WQED program, and of a helicopter flying low over a fifth-period girls gym class . . .

These two students "went to school" at home this year. Bob Aymin had a special intercom between his house and the school, and four tutors brought school to John Smith.

RECreation

Ann, Kathy, Barbie, Nancy, Jane, Rita, Tooie, Linda, and Jane lead another victory cry after another Mt. Lebanon win.

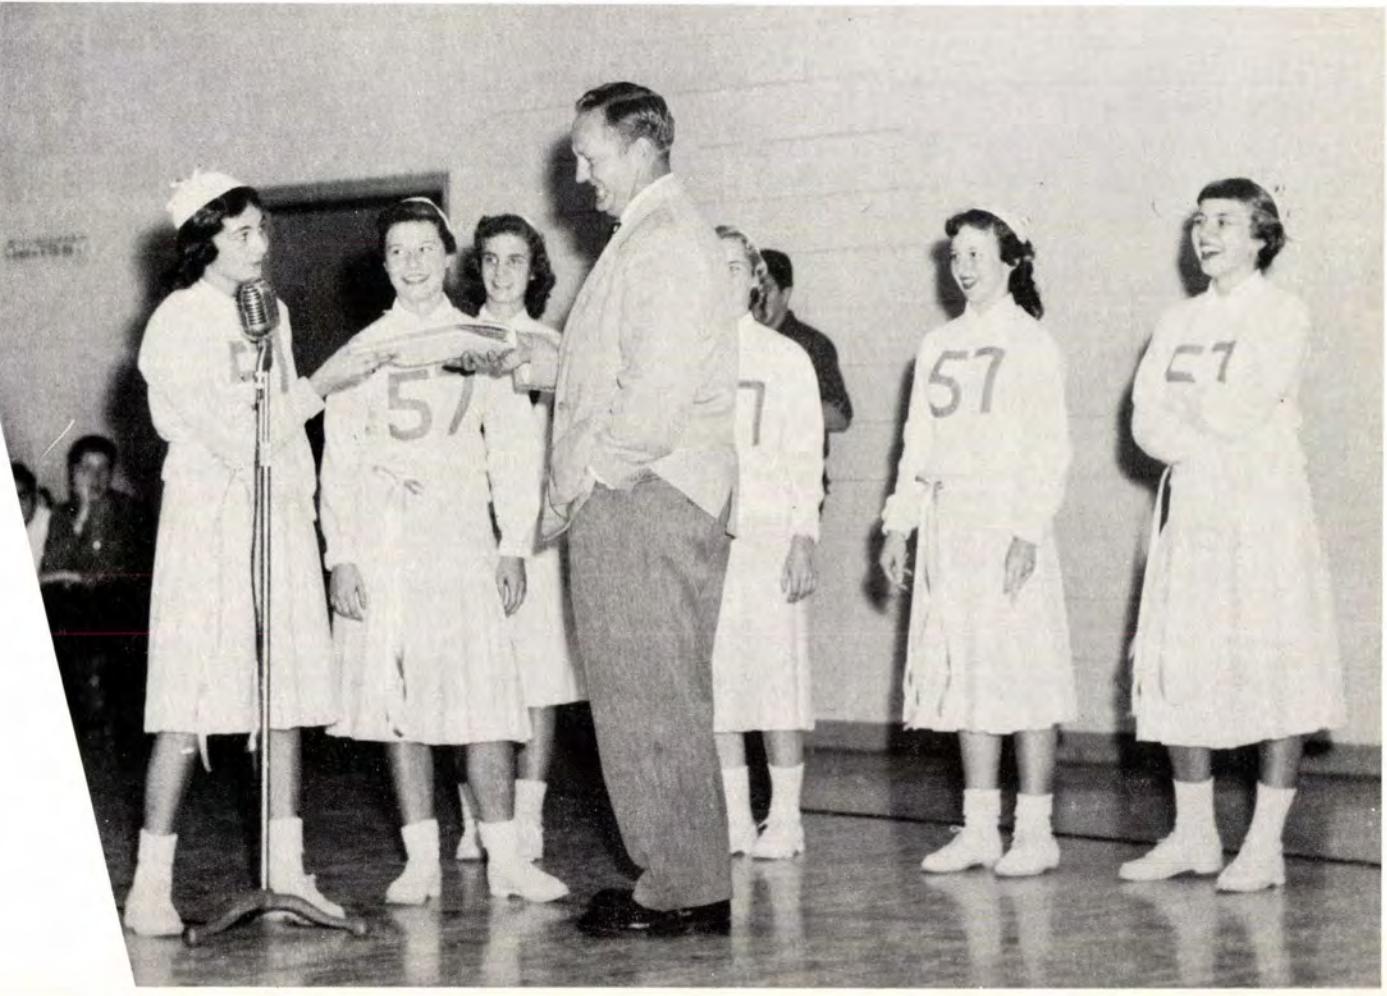

Out of their football uniforms this time are J.V. cheerleaders Mary Adaline, Ann, Bonnie, Susie, Mary Ann, Sally, and Janis.

Pep ralliers

and pep rallies.

Jump, Jackie!

That's a new twist.

Dear Sue
Good luck to the gal
in the green hot rod. You're a real great kid
Never change!
See ya next year

... Weekends provided welcome oases of carefree dances and parties. Gone were all the worries about homework and college; we were caught up in the business of having fun. But Mondays sobered us quickly, and we began all over again counting the days and hours 'til Friday. Spring brought an unending oasis for the seniors, as senior day preparations and celebrations began in earnest. Thoughts of senior day almost automatically brought thoughts of dances — the Bruno, the Senior Prom, and the Graduation dance.

1957 was not "just like any other year;" the new wing and the many new experiences which it brought with it made any such arduous monotony impossible. Yet we held firmly to the warm, friendly traditions which had hallmarkcd Mt. Lebanon's previous years.

Sue
It's been so much fun
getting to know
you this year
Remember our biology class and our bus ride to Washington
for the big game!!!
Life is Sue headed your path is the stars straight and the potential!!!! you got so much best wishes in the world go towards

Sue,
Best of luck
in the future to one of the nicest girls I know. Be brave!
in Biology too!
Sincerely, Smith
Farewell '59'

Dear Sue,
Best of luck always.
I hope to remember life best if you always live to remember. Until luck, remember together.
Always, hope next year.
Alma Mater,
Nancy (Picson)

Sue,
So the quietest and smartest girl that sits in the first seat next to the window in Biology class. Always remember the worms and crayfish.
Good luck
Nancy '59 (the best)
(Hector)

To Sue,
Remember all the good times we've had in Home Room and Biology class. I'll see you next year in Thorpe's room.
Lots of luck,
Pat Stewart
'58.

Sue,
So a real
real girl.
Keep up those smiles and you'll always have lots of friends. Lots of luck especially in '58. Joyce '58

ALMA MATER
'Neath cedars stately,
Midst hills so bold,
Stands our Mount Lebanon,
Realm of Blue and Gold,
Radiant with splendor,
Valor, virtue and truth,
Moulder of our destiny,
Guardian of our youth,
Ever our praises shall ring,
Alma Mater, for thee.

Hi! Sue

Sue,
Never forget all the good times we have had together.
Good luck always (Sue and have a great time next year.)

Lots of luck for the coming year!
Janet Jones
P.S. Remember our biology class.

Sue
Viel Glück
und viel Erfolg
auf all deinen Wegen. Best of luck. And never forget the great class of '58.

P.S.
Same '58 (Thompson)
in the League next year.

Dear Sue,
We're gonna'
have the best year
had a lot of fun talking with you this year. Be good.
Sue Marty

Sue,
You're great people
and always leave
me the best food
and never fail to eat
in the place! Sally '58
