MOUNT LEBANON HIGH SCHOOL

To comprehend
an Emersonian concept
a complicated football strategem a discussion of the causes of the Civil War the operation of a lathe a French poem ...

To create an abstract painting
a snowman with personality a ham radio
a perfect pizza pie ...

To communicate with a debating opponent
a shy acquaintance a fellow sports enthusiast a sensitive musician ...

A student at Mt. Lebanon strives to develop the reasoning skills and mental abilities which he realizes are more worthwhile than knowledge of conglomerate facts.
He dreams,
he experiments, and when he graduates,
he is moving with a surer step toward the life his capabilities permit and his aspirations reach.

We grasped ideas . . .

ideas which were presented to us through books, lectures, experiments, and discussion groups. They were as diversified as our interests and as integrated as our lives. They grew as we worked with them and became parts of us and our philosophies. With the guidance of our teachers, we analyzed Frost's poetry and learned more about Frost, poetry, and ourselves; we discovered how a tree grows and wondered at the flights of birds; we pondered Nietzsche's theories and began to understand Hitler's motivation and World War II; we discussed Latin or French culture and realized how our own had evolved. Finally, we were able to comprehend and to appreciate what we encountered in our daily lives, to apply the abstract ideas of men whom we studied to ourselves.

Guiding And Encouraging

The excellent reputation of the Mt. Lebanon Schools is largely a result of the efforts of Superintendent Dr. Ralph Horsman and Assistant Superintendent Dr. Joseph Keifer, who brought experience and understanding to their job of supervision.

The school board developed the educational policies of the Mt. Lebanon School System. The members were: Mr. James Daniell, Mr. William C. Berg, Jr., Mr. Robert F. Dyson, Miss Mariam Headley, Mr. Edward H. Buck, Mr. Samuel A. Schreiner, Mrs. Donald C. Lewis, Mr. Beckley Smith, Mr. Otis C. Hogsett.

Dr. Floy Penn, director of instruction for the Mt. Lebanon school system, supervised our testing programs, helped to coordinate our curriculum, and was available to help any student or parent with a problem.

DR. MILLS

Dr. Nelson Mills, our principal, directed the numerous activities of our school with understanding. We heard his voice many mornings explaining school policy to us, congratulating us for outstanding achievement, or discussing our responsibilities. We saw him in the halls, observing class passing or talking with one of our teachers or classmates. We knew that he coordinated our school lives, and we were grateful to him. With him, we shared an immense pride in Mt. Lebanon High School.

Duet with a Western flair!

Coordinating the activities of our school is the mammoth job of our principal, Dr. Nelson Mills, here aided by Miss Speckhalls and Mrs. Booth, secretaries.

DR. MOORE

Our vice principal, Dr. John Moore, patiently adjusted the schedules of our students to best fit their needs. Class rank, college transcripts, a comprehensive record of the school lives of Mt. Lebanon's graduates, and the registration of new students occupied much of his time. We appreciated Dr. Moore's aid in moulding and organizing our lives.

MRS. MORGAN

With the ever-increasing size of our school, the job of Mrs. Geraldine Morgan grows. When we read absentee lists, were excused early from school, or had the misfortune to be tardy, we realized that knowing the whereabouts of all of Mt. Lebanon's students all the time is difficult and time-consuming.

SECRETARIES

Attendance slips, college transcripts, Iowa Test scores, and many other odd jobs were handled by Miss Wass, Mrs. Daniels, and Mrs. Davies.

ACTIVITIES OFFICE

Mrs. Cargill and Miss Olzac directed Mt. Lebanon High School's extracurricular activities. Through their efforts, freshmen and new students were guided toward after school jobs which developed their interests, and all of us enjoyed social events sponsored by the activities department, and we all had the opportunity to participate in our student government.

MEDICAL OFFICE

Miss High, our school nurse, had wonderful diagnostic ability. Students who suffered from colds were given yellow excuse forms; those who were allergic to math, received yellow back-to-class slips. Warned of frostbite and reminded of wise winter health habits, we remained healthy throughout most of the year.

GUIDANCE OFFICE

College and career choices are continuing problems for students of high schools all over the country. At Mt. Lebanon, where 80% of us go on to college, and many enter professional or specialized fields, our guidance counselors were kept busy in 1959. Mrs. Horne and Mr. Nicklas, and Miss Alessio, counselors; and Mrs. Irwin, secretary, were equipped with sympathy, patience, and a never-ending supply of suggestions.

THE ABILITY TO COMMUNICATE

A student who reads widely and with discrimination, who writes clearly and fluently, who listens with comprehension, and who expresses himself originally is prepared to communicate with others. He can read and appreciate Geoffrey Chaucer or Agatha Christie, write about winter dawn or steer-raising, enjoy lectures about modern art or hunting wild boars, and take an active and intelligent part in any conversation. The primary aim of Mt. Lebanon High School's English department is to help students to develop skill in all phases of communication.

"My country is like yours in many ways."

What is a socially competent individual? He is one who understands and appreciates his social and cultural heritage, who realizes that our democratic institutions have not been easily achieved and must be actively defended today and tomorrow, who is well-informed about contemporary historical events, and who is aware of his responsibility in our interdependent world. He is prepared for wise leadership or followership according to his own talents and desires. Our social studies department attempts to help each student to become a socially competent individual.

"Veni, vidi, vici Latinam!"

The foreign language department has a two-fold purpose: to present to the students not only the language of another people but also their culture, ideals, and aspirations. By the use of textbooks and records the student becomes acquainted with the language itself. Through outside reading about the customs, habits, country, and culture of the people where his language is spoken, through making Latin maps and scrolls, joining French club, singing songs in German, and talking to people who have lived or visited in Spain, the student is able to form an impression of what the people are like. By the end of his study of foreign language, the student obtains a knowledge of Latin, French, Spanish, or German, and an insight into the people who speak the language which he has studied.

The world in which we live is a complex and awesome place, fascinating to explore. We wish to learn how clouds are formed and why they go away; how steel is made; why an electric current makes a frog's leg jump; what an atom is and how it is used in propelling a guided missile. The most important aim of our science department is to give each student an understanding of the physical and biological factors of our environment and an appreciation of modern technology and its influence on our lives.

A compass, a slide rule, a formula, a three-dimensional plastic figure . . . these are some of the tools of the budding mathematician. That mathematician must develop spatial perception and facility with concrete expression of abstract concepts through wide and diversified experience in mathematics. But whether or not the student will ever attempt to evolve time-space equations, he will gain through mathematics a sound basis for precise and logical thinking. Our mathematics department also helps Mt. Lebanon's students to achieve a mastery of practical skills and an understanding of the roles of deductive and inductive reasoning.

DEVELOPING BUSINESS APTITUDE

How a typewriter operates, what the "weird symbols" of shorthand represent, and how a bank figures compound interest are no mystery to students of our business education department. Whether they will become secretaries, accountants, or homemakers, the department attempts to give each one practical skill in business mechanics.

MUSICAL EXPRESSION

Our music department attempts to convey to each student the idea that music is the concise and subtle expression of ideas or emotions through coordinated tones and rhythms. Chorus, band, and orchestra help students to develop skill and artistic appreciation of music.

Two important factors contributing to the good health of an individual are appreciation of what good health is and controlled, proper exercise. Through health classes, the student learns about his body machinery and how best to keep it running smoothly. In gym classes, he develops game skills and good sportsmanship.

Most of us, whether we become doctors, engineers, or artists, will marry and have families. A successful family life depends upon many factors: the home should be efficiently organized, and each member of the family should understand the others' motivations. Through home economics and personal adjustment classes, students learn to sew straight seams, indulge in creative cookery, imaginatively decorate rooms, and make conscious attempts to develop tolerance and understanding of others.

Wash 'em out clean; iron 'em out smooth!

SKILL AND COURTESY

"Yes, son, that's the steering wheel."

Courtesy and skill on the highway grow not just from understanding of carburetors and differentials and the Motor Vehicle Code, but also from respect for other drivers. Our driver education department attempts to instill in each student a sense of civic responsibility and cooperation while teaching him how to operate an automobile.

We shared friendships . . .

friendships which grew from encounters at football games, in the Activities Office, or in English class to bonds between classmates who had lived common experiences and were beginning to understand each other. That we had originally come from Germany or Florida was insignificant when we did 120-C research together or discovered each other's interest in the same college. We did not all agree that Mazeroski was the best second baseman in the National League, but we enjoyed discussing his qualifications. Some of us became silent when we were impressed by the orchestra's rendition of "Say It Isn't So," and others bragged about the accomplishment to strangers on a bus, but we all felt pride. From our common experiences, we developed friendships which transcended common experience and became a part of us in 1959.

Only one word embodies all 581 members of the Class of '59: spirit. With spirit we entered as the first freshman class; with spirit we have approached our graduation.

Our enthusiasm was with us when four years of study stretched out, limitless, before us. It increased as '59 became a part of Mt. Lebanon High School and began to show its special character. In our Senior Year, our vigor reached a climax, and our efforts were fulfilled in achievement.

Our struggles with studies were rewarded in many ways. We had the honor of supplying 32 National Merit Semi-Finalists and the pride of knowing that those of us who weren't scholars had developed our capacities to the fullest.

We threw ourselves with energy into the yearly round of activities. From our bonfire, a symbol of our enthusiasm, we progressed through a lively production of First Lady to the last moment of the Senior Prom. In between, we created a successful flash card section, adopted green and white as our class colors, and watched a bold and skillful football team establish an outstanding record. The Log, Lantern, and Mounty were outlets for our imagination; the Snowball, Sadie Hawkins, and Mardi Gras gave us the opportunity to express our vitality through music and laughter.

Most of all, our spirit helped us grow and mature. We began to learn the ways of patience and the goodness of giving; the fashioning of thoughts and the building of lives; the acceptance of the past and the hope of the future.

The Class of '59 of Mt. Lebanon High School both gave and received the finest of gifts: the gift of spirit.

BUILDING AND ANTICIPATING

These are the heirs apparent of Mt. Lebanon High School—With their senior year looming before them, the juniors strove to prepare themselves and to establish an impressive record. They studied gas laws and Sandburg, quadratics and the Revolutionary War. They sang with spirit, wrote with inspiration, and worked with furor. A modern poem, a French assignment, a basketball game, and a piece of pizza rounded out the day of the average junior. Their pride in Mt. Lebanon High School was reflected as they replanted the school gardens, turned out full force at all varsity and junior varsity games, and helped make Christmas for twelve needy families. They contributed hard-working members to the squads and committees, to the staffs of Mt. Lebo's publications, and to the service clubs.

Their willingness to work and the lessons they have learned will stand them in good stead when one day they find themselves the oldest members of the school, leaders of the other classes. The heirs apparent of 1959 will have become the Seniors of 1960.

STRIVING AND ATTAINING

Effervescent is the proper adjective for most sophomores at Mt. Lebanon High School. Each of them brought energy and interest to his academic and social life. He joined with his classmates in singing '61's class song; he mastered geometric theorems and learned the characteristics of certain leaves; he danced at the Stardust, where the queen was one of his classmates; he shouted with gusto at basketball games.

The sophomores produced several varsity football players, contributed to the Rockettes and Majorettes, and added to their list of scholastic achievements. Each of them made remarkable individual progress of which he was proud, because through it, he had contributed to the overall progress of the Class of '61.

ADJUSTING AND DEVELOPING

The last freshman class to enter Mt. Lebanon High School met the challenge of a new and strange environment with a bit of stage fright, a multitude of dreams, and much energy.

At first, each member groped his way about his new school. But slowly he began to find new friends, enjoy his classes, and participate in extracurricular activities. He turned up at every football game as a member of the flash-card section or one of the cheering crowd; sympathetic to newcomers and eager to impart his newly-acquired knowledge of his school, he joined the information and hospitality squads; he became a member of a music group and felt exultation as he raised his voice in the "Hallelujah Chorus" of the Messiah; he investigated Latin History and gained new insight into the language and the people.

The undefeated freshman football team which beat the J.V.'s is one indication of what the class can achieve. At the end of the year, our freshmen were no longer a disorganized group of confused students but a compact unit—the Class of '62.

We developed sportsmanship . . .

sportsmanship which grew on the playing field and in the stands as varsity and junior varsity teams strove for impressive records. Muddy football fields, polished basketball courts, and dusty baseball diamonds saw the struggles and heard the hoarse cheering as Mt. Lebanon High School played numerous games. From our victories we learned the exultation of accomplishment; from our defeats we learned to appreciate our opponents' endeavors. And with each whirring golf ball, each flutter kick, each leap over the high hurdles, we all felt pride in our school. For each athletic team was only part of the larger and more powerful team that was our student body. And it was that larger team which developed sportsmanship in 1959.

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y

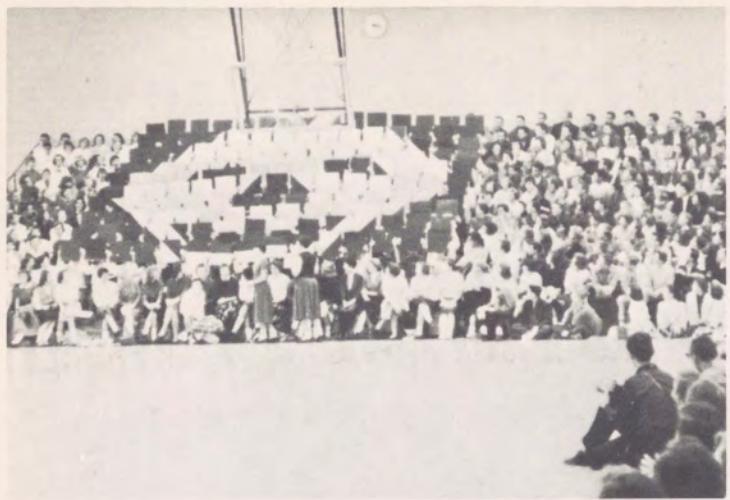

"The greatest school spirit in years!"

JUMPING with frenzy as the kickoff bonfire was ignited,
STAMPING their feet in time to the strong beat of the band's bass drum,
SHOUTING while the bright new flash card section directed the crowd's enthusiasm,
SINGING class songs, greetings to opponent schools, on, on to victory, fight right to the end,
YELLING at pep rallies which boosted morales and the will to win,
CHEERING as the football team made its winning point, the center shot the all-important basket, track and cross country boys pounded the turf.

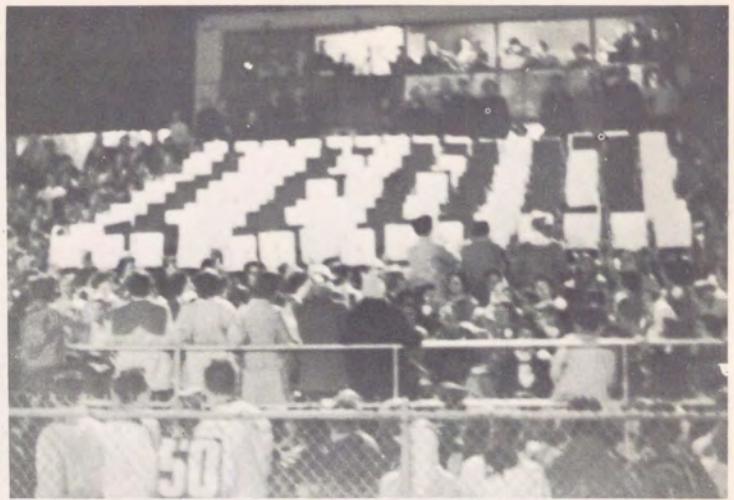

Mt. Lebanon's students expressed their school spirit—a spirit which grew and spread . . . reverberated in the stadium . . . rang through the halls and streets . . . a spirit which will live with them when they have forgotten the scores of single games . . . ever our praises shall ring, Alma Mater for thee.

"Give them the ax, the ax, the ax," yell the varsity cheerleaders Susie Beidler, Sally Swan, Bonnie Knight, Nancy Van Gundy, Peggy Colvin, Beth Breitenstein, Anne Irwin, and Janis Beachler.

Mr. Punkin's cheering too!

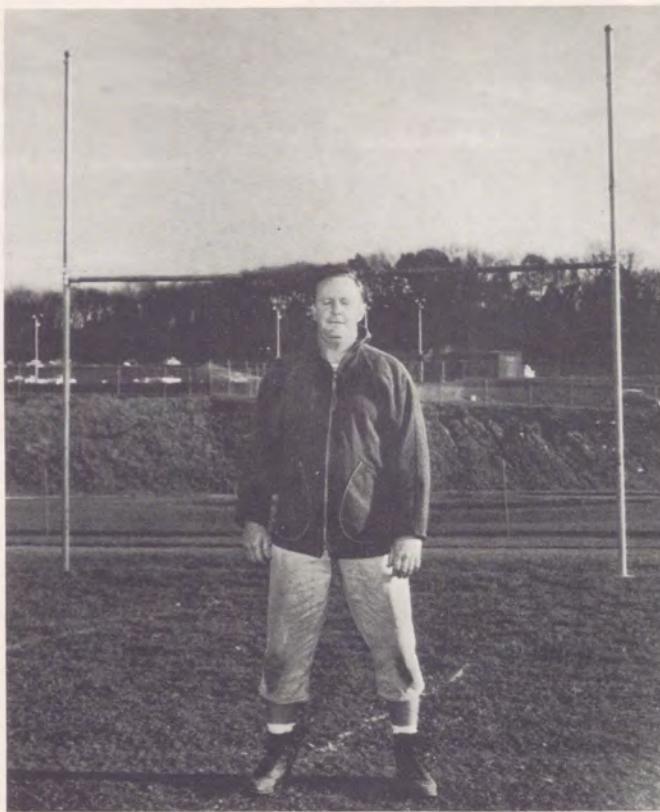

"Go, Lebo, Go!"

Effervescent . . . our junior varsity cheerleaders: Bonnie Kasun, Ellen Phillips, Hope Steverman, Sheila Lynott, Donna Rhodes, Bonnie Hoskin, and Caddy Durkin.

FOOTBALL

The 1958 Mt. Lebanon football team, possibly the most powerful in the history of the school, rolled to an undefeated season, compiling a record of eight wins, no losses, and one tie. The tie with Uniontown erased the chance for the Western Conference Title with a berth in the W.P.I.A.L. championship game. The Mounties, the lightest Blue Devil team in years, developed into a formidable football machine coupling a swift offensive attack with a solid defense.

The Blue Devils, under the guidance of veteran grid coach, Ralph Fife, got off to a flying start by winning their first three exhibition encounters over Homestead; Westinghouse, this year's City League titlist; and South Hills before entering W.P.I.A.L. Class AA play. The Mounty touchdown corps scalped the Penn High Indians 14-7 and followed this with a 35-26 conquest of Washington. Coach Fife's charges then came through with an impressive victory over Wilkinsburg, the defending W.P.I.A.L. champions. Disaster struck the following week when the Uniontown Raiders held the Blue Devils to a 13-13 tie. Mt. Lebanon led in first downs 16-5 and was on the Uniontown five-yard line when the gun sounded, but Uniontown scored the same number of points. This deadlock eliminated both teams from the Class A A title race. On Senior Recognition Night, the Blue Devils rebounded with a 34-7 win over Baldwin. In the season's finale with West View, the Mt. Lebanon football team marched to a 26-7 win.

If this year was one of team prowess, it was also a year of individual brilliance. Five Blue Devil stars landed positions on the Western Conference All-Star team. Fullback Denny Phillips, tackle Gene Breen, and guard Howard Breinig were elected to the first team, while our ends, Bud Vogel and Lee Wells, were selected for the second team. Denny Phillips' speed and power boosted him to national acclaim, and, at the season's conclusion, he was named All-W.P.I.A.L., All-State, and All-American.

CROSS COUNTRY

Under the leadership of such experienced hold-over athletes as Dave Blumfeldt, John Pringle, Bill Sickles, and Skip Hartquist, the Mt. Lebanon harriers sailed through their schedule, winning every meet by comfortable margins. The squad's scoring punch was greatly aided by the addition of senior Charles Kay and of underclassmen Mouncey Ferguson and Ken McCloskey, the only freshman ever to make the varsity cross country team. Veteran track coach Donley Mollenauer attributes the team's success this year to the newly installed interval type training system, originally used by European runners and adapted to our needs, and to the spirit and balance of the team. The high flying harriers captured three major championships and copped seven straight dual meet wins en route to the first undefeated season since 1953.

Mr. Mollenauer has named this year's top five as the best in Mt. Lebanon's history. The Mounty harriers not only swept to their third straight W.P.I. A.L. Championship but also repeated as state titlists for the third consecutive year, securing the honor of retaining the trophy at Mt. Lebanon for another year. Paced by Dave Blumfeldt, a three-year letterman, the cross country team placed their first five runners in the top twenty in the state meet, scoring 40 points to 144 points for the second-place team. Blumfeldt placed third, Pringle fourth, McCloskey sixth, Sickles fifteenth, and Hartquist nineteenth in a field of nearly two hundred runners competing in the two and one-eighth mile race at University Park.

The Blue Devils' clean sweep of all available titles brought the grand total of cross country championships for the school to thirteen W.P.I.A.L. Championships since 1940 and ten state championships over the same period of years.

JUNIOR VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

The 1958 edition of J.V. cross country was the most powerful in the history of the school. Under the guidance of Coach Toler, the J.V. harriers copped all their dual meets, three by perfect scores. The team climaxed its season with a smashing victory in the J.V. W.P.I.A.L.; John Weisiger first, Perrine second, Oelschlager third, Neill fourth, and Walther sixth. This marks the eighth consecutive year that our J.V. cross country team has held the W.P.I.A.L. championship.

BASKETBALL

For the second consecutive year, Coach Mercer "Speed" Clark's Mt. Lebanon basketball team has exchanged home-and-home victories with Washington, the perennial section champions, only to lose a crucial contest to Canonsburg; while the "Prexies" defeated the rest of their section opponents. In spite of losing the section championship, the Mounty hoopsters chalked up a total of 18 wins and only 4 losses and maintained Mt. Lebanon's perfect sectional record at home.

The Mounties started slowly, winning only four of six exhibition games before the Christmas holidays. Led by senior co-captains Bruce McClintock and Bob Stewart, the team polished off Baldwin and Wilkinsburg, before losing to City League leader South Hills. Wins over Shaler and Bethel were followed by a loss to Uniontown. Then, during the Christmas vacation, the Mounties entered the New Kensington Holiday Tournament. In the first round, the Mounties vanquished Homestead by the score of 70-51 and then clinched the tournament team title with a 61-52 win over host team New Kensington. Bob Stewart also won the Most Valuable Player Award for his performance during the tournament.

The Blue and Gold opened regular season play with a 61-59 double-overtime victory over Burgettstown, then drubbed Trinity 69-33, before losing a 60-47 decision to Washington on the "Prexies'" home court. After easily beating the next six opponents, the Mounty five met league-leading Washington again. In that game, Bob Coo scored 26 points to become the only Mt. Lebanon player to top the 20-point mark in a single game this year and led the team to an 80-67 victory and a tie for the Section 4 leadership. Three days later, though, the Mt. Lebanon title hopes were dispelled by a 66-65 loss to Canonsburg at the Canonsburg gym. Then the team came back to win the last three games, beating Thomas Jefferson, Dormont, and Chartiers.

This year's team broke nearly all previous Mt. Lebanon team scoring records by scoring 1431 points for an average of 65.1 points per game. Also, all five starting players scored over 200 points, and all had averages of better than ten points per game. Bob Stewart led the Mounties with 296 markers and a 13.4 average. Close on his heels were Harold "Bud" Vogel with 237 points and 10.7, Dan Driscoll with 220 and 11.0, and Bob Coo with 201 and 10.1.

J.V. BASKETBALL

Mr. Stanish's J.V. ball club started off the season play with all sophomores, but after four games, five juniors were added. In compiling a 17 and 3 record, the hardwood quintet scored nearly 50 points per game. The Mounties' only sectional loss came at the hands of Washington; this defeat was later avenged by a 43-38 victory on our home court.

BASKETBALL

For the second consecutive year, Coach Mercer "Speed" Clark's Mt. Lebanon basketball team has exchanged home-and-home victories with Washington, the perennial section champions, only to lose a crucial contest to Canonsburg; while the "Prexies" defeated the rest of their section opponents. In spite of losing the section championship, the Mounty hoopsters chalked up a total of 18 wins and only 4 losses and maintained Mt. Lebanon's perfect sectional record at home.

The Mounties started slowly, winning only four of six exhibition games before the Christmas holidays. Led by senior co-captains Bruce McClintock and Bob Stewart, the team polished off Baldwin and Wilkinsburg, before losing to City League leader South Hills. Wins over Shaler and Bethel were followed by a loss to Uniontown. Then, during the Christmas vacation, the Mounties entered the New Kensington Holiday Tournament. In the first round, the Mounties vanquished Homestead by the score of 70-51 and then clinched the tournament team title with a 61-52 win over host team New Kensington. Bob Stewart also won the Most Valuable Player Award for his performance during the tournament.

The Blue and Gold opened regular season play with a 61-59 double-overtime victory over Burgettstown, then drubbed Trinity 69-33, before losing a 60-47 decision to Washington on the "Prexies'" home court. After easily beating the next six opponents, the Mounty five met league-leading Washington again. In that game, Bob Coo scored 26 points to become the only Mt. Lebanon player to top the 20-point mark in a single game this year and led the team to an 80-67 victory and a tie for the Section 4 leadership. Three days later, though, the Mt. Lebanon title hopes were dispelled by a 66-65 loss to Canonsburg at the Canonsburg gym. Then the team came back to win the last three games, beating Thomas Jefferson, Dormont, and Chartiers.

This year's team broke nearly all previous Mt. Lebanon team scoring records by scoring 1431 points for an average of 65.1 points per game. Also, all five starting players scored over 200 points, and all had averages of better than ten points per game. Bob Stewart led the Mounties with 296 markers and a 13.4 average. Close on his heels were Harold "Bud" Vogel with 237 points and 10.7, Dan Driscoll with 220 and 11.0, and Bob Coo with 201 and 10.1.

WRESTLING

A combination of fine holdover stars from last year and some fast-developing newcomers brought Mt. Lebanon to an 11 and 4 mark in wrestling this year. Although injury hurt the team at some points during the season, the fine depth of the squad served well in replacing the injured grapplers.

In their first meet of the season, the Mounties trounced West Allegheny, 35 to 19. The Blue and Gold grapplers see-sawed, losing to Shaler, beating Carnegie, and falling to Shaler. The team then knocked off Shadyside, West Allegheny, Peters Township, and Washington, before the Shaler team returned to upset the Mounties. North Allegheny handed the matmen their worst setback, 33 to 9, but the wrestlers bounced back to trample New Castle, West View, Baldwin, Carnegie, and West View.

Wrestling is a sport of individuals, and Mt. Lebanon had plenty of standouts this year. The team of Linge (10-2-2), Windfelder, (11-1-3), Martin (12-2-1), Williams (8-3-2), and Howley (11-2-1) built up early leads for the Mounties in many meets. Bill Berg, an experienced grappler from last season, compiled a six and two record before injuring his leg in the middle of the season. He was ably replaced by Robin Laughlin, who formerly started at 154 lbs. Bob Peace (7-4-2), Lee Wells (10-3-1), and Gene Breen (10-2-1) added the final punch which cinched many meets for Mt. Lebanon.

In their third year of competition, Coach Bill Grant's mermen splashed to the W.P.I.A.L. championship in a flurry of broken records. All-American Tom Lindsey shattered two records, clipping the 200-yard free-style and the 150-yard individual medley marks. Captain Bill Hunt eclipsed the 50-yard freestyle record and Carl Warnes set a new standard in the 100-yard breast-stroke. Other W.P.I.A.L. victories came to Stoddart Smith in the 100-yard butterfly and Toby McKain in the diving event. Mt. Lebanon's team depth was shown as both Mounty relay teams broke W.P.I.A.L. marks. The 200-yard medley relay team composed of Lewis, Warnes, Lindsey, and Hunt broke the recognized national record set by Central High School of Battle Creek, Michigan by one-tenth of a second. Mt. Lebanon's time in that event was 1:48.4.

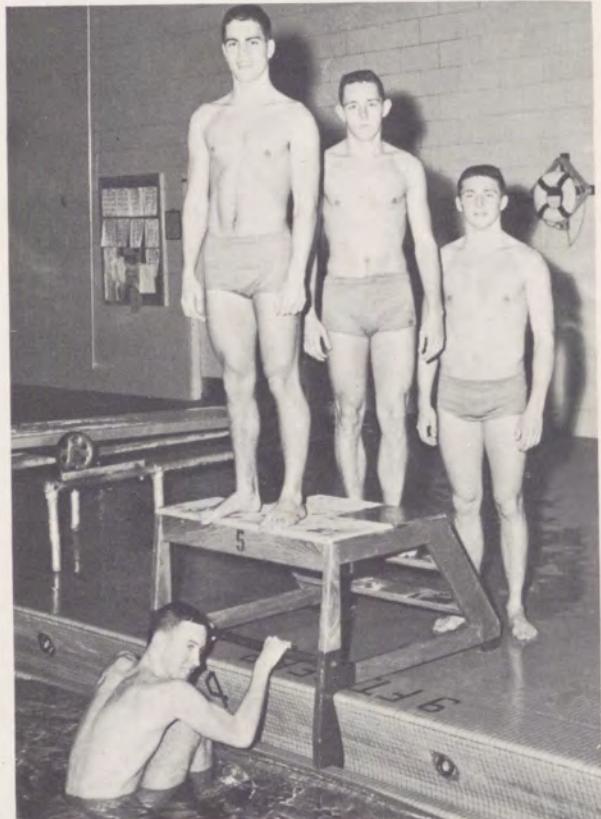

The Mounty tankers left twelve teams in their wake as they swept all dual encounters, setting new marks in almost every meet in which they swam. Since this year's team consists of 8 seniors and 30 underclassmen, Coach Grant can expect some fine material returning next year.

With men qualified in all events, the Mounty mermen captured the Western Regional Championship at Grove City. With hopes high, the Mounties arrived at Bucknell for the State Championship. When the spray had settled that day, Mt. Lebanon had dethroned York and were state champs.

Their perennial rivals, Munhall and Coraopolis, were the only two teams to defeat the Mounties this year, as the Blue and Gold sharpshooters dropped two matches to each school. Coach Neal is building for future teams by conducting evening classes for potential sharpshooters.

The 1958 Mt. Lebanon baseball team wielded a big stick around the W.P.I.A.L. circuit last spring, compiling a won-lost record of 9 and 3. The Mounties coupled an explosive offensive attack with a fine pitching staff. During the season, Mt. Lebanon scored 84 runs, while the runs of the opposing teams totaled only 37. Dan Driscoll compiled the club's best batting average, .413, while Dave Perkins drove in 12 runs in 12 games. Jim Pack, voted Most Valuable Player by his team-mates, came out of the '57 bullpen to lead the pitching staff with six victories, while Dan Driscoll and Bob Malarkey recorded two and one wins respectively. In sectional play, four straight wins launched a winning streak which was interrupted briefly for two losses before the Mounties came back to win their final three games. They captured the section title and secured the honor of participating in the W.P.I.A.L. Championship Playoffs. In the playoffs, the Mounties conquered Burgettstown and Vandergrift, before losing an extra-inning contest to Crafton, 2-1, in the semi-final round. This year marked the third consecutive year in which the Mt. Lebanon baseball teams have won the W.P.I.A.L. Section 3 title.

TRACK 1958

Along the route to the unofficial state championship, the Mt. Lebanon track team amassed a number of titles and championships, including the Bethany Relays, W.P.I.A.L. Relays, Mt. Lebanon Invitational, Allegheny County, and W.P.I.A.L. Championships. Led by the three senior co-captains, Dan Lee, Bob Albright, and Ed Beachler, the thinclads extended Mt. Lebanon's string of consecutive dual, triangular, and quadrangular meet wins to 105, the longest consecutive streak in the nation.

Indoors, the Mounties got off to a slow start, placing second to Clairton in the Tri-State Coaches Meet. Once outdoors the Mounties were practically unstoppable. They copped dual meets in a rapid succession, celebrating this year their 100th consecutive dual meet victory. In the Mansfield Relays, competing against a field of 131 schools, the thinclads finished second to Pontiac, Michigan.

Although the 1958 team displayed the traditional Mollenauer balance and depth, several athletes earned individual recognition for their efforts. At the W.P.I.A.L. Championship, the Mounties collected six individual and relay titles. In the state meet, Dan Lee, the brilliant Mounty hurdler, gained victories in both the 180-yard low hurdles and the 120-yard high hurdles, and Bob Albright repeated as shot put titlist. The mile relay team of Renshaw, Hartquist, Schein, and Gregg repeated their W.P.I.A.L. victory, setting a new Mt. Lebanon High School record. The 880-yard relay team, composed of Seymour, Schein, Magoon, and Lee, finished in a dead heat with Williamsport, establishing a new state record in the process.

As to the success of last season, Mr. Mollenauer was quoted as saying, "From the viewpoint of individual performances the 1958 season was easily the most brilliant in Mt. Lebanon history."

The only team able to defeat the Junior Varsity during the season was the North Allegheny Varsity. The J.V. thinclads capped the season with an impressive triangular meet victory over Penn Hills and Bethel.

The Mt. Lebanon tennis team served up a successful season last spring, winning the sectional championship for the third consecutive year.

Under the able coaching of Mr. Doak and the leadership of captain Dave Swisher, the Mounty netters swept to the W.P.I.A.L. finals, only to lose to Monessen.

Sparked by such outstanding individuals as Jerry Cooper, Dave Swisher, and Dan Murphy, the tennis team captured the section with wins over Bethel and Crafton in league competition and also managed to defeat the perennially tough Shadyside Academy squad. Juniors Carl Hartman, Grant Connelly, Bob Coo, and Bill Walker also contributed a great deal to the success of the team. At the end of the season, Dave Swisher was judged Most Valuable Player by his teammates.

The only returning letterman was Lee Owens. Rounding out the first five were juniors Denny Sanders, Bob Bell, R. D. Harlan, and sophomore Jim Russell.

Coach Burrows' first team comprised entirely of underclassmen should be improved next season with the added impetus of experience gained this season.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

On those winter afternoons when the G.A.A. can not be found in the north gym, a visitor might be confronted with the spectacle of ten boys, their shirt-tails out, racing up and down the floor while attempting to put a ball through a hoop. Actually, this is a game in the elimination tournament of the boys' intramural basketball league.

This league has several distinctions. It is the only one in which a game has ever been 0 to 0 at the end of the regulation time, in which a player has ever fouled out for bumping one of his own team's players, or in which a final score of 21 to 19 has ever been achieved by free-throws alone! In spite of such incidents, though, many games are well-played and exciting and each year about seven hundred boys participate in the intramural athletic program.

Intramural wrestling has also proved popular, and, if weather permits, soft-ball will become a permanent part of the program. Intramural tennis is another recent innovation in the sports program. These activities, which are governed by the Boys' Intramural Athletic Council, provide an opportunity for any boy who otherwise might not have the time or the talent to participate in varsity athletics.

"No, you can't knock it out!"

Not intramural—but a "grudge match" between basketball managers and sophomores on the J.V. team.

MANAGERS

The work of a manager is unique, for who else has the opportunity to wash football jerseys at one A.M., track down missing athletes in strange mid-western cities, or combat the effects of a cat that has been dead several days between the roof and ceiling of a dressing room? Managers must be durable, too, because they are forever being besieged by hordes of athletics who clamor for new hip pads, a pair of socks, or a roll of tape. A manager is also required to be present at every practice session and every interscholastic event of the athletic team with which he is connected. The job does, however, have its compensations. For one thing, admission to athletic events is free, although this reward is possibly a result of the fact that nobody is around to collect tickets at the time when the manager arrives. The managers do, though, share in some of the benefits of athletic competition and are as elated over victory or as disappointed over defeat as any member of the team. Their job is dirty, time-consuming, and tedious, but rewarding.

G.A.A.

A newly-formed swimming team keynoted the G.A.A.'s activities in 1959. Girls who qualified participated in several after-school meets. Softball, too, which had been previously much-discussed but never organized, became a part of the sports program. The comparatively new gymnaſtic team practiced diligently to perfect difficult, eye-catching stunts. And we welcomed the opportunity to play in the regular tennequoit, basketball, and volleyball tournaments.

Supplementing the after-school athletics of the G.A.A. were several social events. The Halloween Party, G.A.A. Bowling Party, and annual spring formal completed the social schedule. In the spring, we also enjoyed the annual Play Day, when visitors from many high schools came to Mt. Lebanon to participate in tournaments and contests.

All G.A.A. events were under the direction of the Leaders Club, which was composed of girls who had displayed athletic talent, leadership ability, and good sportsmanship.

Through the activities of the G.A.A., Mt. Lebanon girls found new friends, developed game skills, and learned good sportsmanship.

interests which began when we entered the publications office by mistake, admired someone's performance on the stage, or read a gripping short story. Our developing musicians practiced ceaselessly, interpreted with imagination, and became sensitive to the mood of Beethoven and the rhythm of rock and roll. Newly-inspired journalists wrote with enthusiasm. Future scientists experimented endlessly; investigated with curiosity; and began to have a conception of the atom, the composition of a leaf, and the law of gravity. Our students understood the value of service when they gave homemade Christmas dolls to children or relieved overburdened teachers of clerical work. Not only our leading ladies, editors, and gridiron heroes, but also our walk-ons, reporters, and third-string linemen expanded their interests in 1959.

Realizing Our Ambitions

Student Congress President Dick Seamans, Vice-President Lee Wells, and Secretary Margie Hilsinger accepted the privilege and the responsibility of leading the student body during the first semester.

A student of Mt. Lebanon High School respects public, private, and school property; upholds his honor and that of his school by maintaining high standards of integrity; shows proper respect for all with whom he comes in contact; refrains from smoking and drinking where such actions would discredit his school; believes that profanity is in poor taste and expresses himself in other language; is a cautious and considerate driver; will judge people by their merits irrespective of race, religion, or nationality; believes that it is as important to be a good loser as to be a good winner.

Through our Student Congress, we were able to express our ideas and to begin to put them into practice. Each semester we elected representatives who carried to the Student Congress our ideas for school improvement.

The accomplishments of the 1959 Student Congress justified our pride in them. To relieve congestion in the halls, they set up a new stair plan. Mt. Lebanon became a fair-share school in a Congress-sponsored United Fund drive. An intramural softball program was instituted. For the first time, all students had the opportunity to visit their governing body while it was in session. A new Student Directory was delivered to the students in time for addressing Christmas cards. We exchanged taped discussions of our native lands with Russian high schools.

The achievements of our Student Congress proved that they were active and capable in 1959.

The student directory committee managed to compile the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of 2200 students, type them, and publish the directory before Christmas so that we were able to refer to them for Christmas cards. Members were Pam Lore, Bruce Schein, Debbie Smith, Barbara Grose, Jim Price, and Bill Iams.

Contemplating their new responsibilities—President Burt West, Vice President Jeff Neill, and Secretary Kathy Young.

"Let's make all the stairways 'down'!"

1959 LEBANON LOG

Log Co-Editors Pat Weaver and Bob Taylor, Sports Editor Dave Wyles, Art Editor Judy Allen, Classes Editor Suzy White, and Literary Editor Bev Wood directed the activities of the 1959 Lebanon Log.

Recipe for a successful yearbook: To one large package of hard work — brainstorming for original ideas; planning layouts; snapping hundreds of action shots and mood pictures; writing reams of copy; pasting and gluing; add sudden inspirations—the new faculty section; the '59 format of the senior section; poignant memories—an outstanding football season; a whirling round of graduation activities; and a large dose of enthusiasm. Stir well, and season with optimism and unity of purpose. Generously serves 2200 students plus faculty, parents, and friends.

The hard work which the 1959 Log staff did was symbolized by one light glowing in our school's corridors when everyone else had gone home. While that light burned, our yearbook slowly developed into an accurate historical record and a well-integrated collection of our impressions of 1959. And while the book grew, the staff shared jokes and sang Christmas carols and dreamed of the day when they could present the yearbook to Mt. Lebanon High School.

Here it is: the 1959 Lebanon Log!

Faithful Log staff members included Mike Lavine, Assistant Editors Pat Quaid, Carl von Ende, Ellen Major, and Eva Foldes, and Nancy Barnhart.

Diana Cole, Herb Short, Dale McFeatters, and Judy Seidel worked hard to produce writeups with originality.

Clever posters and slogans announcing the Log sales campaign were prepared by Sharon Rubenstein, Ann Gibson, and Lois Maddox.

Log photographers Bill Wicker, Dave Herzog, and John Delo strove for the clarity and sharpness exemplified in these pages.

Subscriptions, whether bought in full or "on time," were carefully recorded by the Log business staff—Janet Surbeck, Rita Geigerich, Carolyn Tamplin, and Donna Houser.

Notes On The School's News

The Lantern's business staff included Circulation Manager Sandy Burr, Treasurer Bonnie Raymond, Mailing Carolyn Tamplin, and Circulation Manager Vivian Leasure.

A new mast-head and some clever cartoons inspired the staff of the Lebanon Lantern. Eager to produce a good newspaper, student workers ran between their sponsor and the publications office, scouting for news, handing out assignments, reading copy, and frantically searching for one more typist. Creeping deadlines were met with efficiency. When the finished paper returned each time from the printer, the Lantern office overflowed with editors, assembling the three parts of their publication—the newspaper; the Devilette; and the Scholastic Roto, a national magazine. The office echoed with "The pictures are terrific," "I don't see a single misspelled word," and "Aren't you glad we made the leading story double column?"

The nine issues of the Lantern were delivered to most of Mt. Lebo's students and faculty, many outstanding members of our community, and the subscribers on a large mailing list by the capable business staff, which, in September, aided by "Charlie Brown and friends," had organized a successful sales campaign.

With clearer pictures and more interesting and complete news coverage as their goal, the staff of the 1958-1959 Lebanon Lantern published a superior newspaper.

How would some of Mt. Lebanon's students have reacted if the Martians had invaded . . . coke instead of water had spurted from our fountains . . . easy chairs had been installed in the classrooms? The Devilette reported students' comments on such imaginary situations as well as the school's social news.

Devilette mimeographing was capably managed by Phil Gottschall.

Lantern workers prepared the newspaper, the Scholastic Roto, and the Devilette for distribution.

The school's social news was assembled for the Devilette by Editor-in-Chief Bonnie Raymond; Editors Mimi Thompson, Carolyn Tamplin, and Barbara Streams.

AS LITERARY AS HOMER AND AS POPULAR AS MAD

The twelfth year of Mounty production and the second of its printed format have now been completed. This year the editorial policy shifted from an intellectual to a more popular style of writing, without sacrifice in quality. Most of us will never again read a simile without recalling the magazine's advertising slogans, "Mounty—as longed for as 3:20 p.m." or "And now, your thought for the day..."

The 1958-59 year was one in which many ideas were formulated in the Mounty office. A few, such as having a stereophonic set installed in the spacious five by six foot cubicle which goes under the name "office," didn't materialize, but the Mounty did adopt a standardized cover and initiate a new art policy. An improvement in the quality of writing and production, as well as an increase in the length of the subscription list were other results of the year's work.

In what has become Mounty tradition, the staff produced five issues, four by the senior and one by the junior editors. The content ranged from short-story to poetry, from essay to sketch, including material by both of Mt. Lebanon's exchange students.

The various innovations and improvements made the 1958-1959 Mounty a memorable one.

Mounty regulars were Co-Editor Carolyn Moore, staff member Steve Garland, Co-Editor Beverly Wood, Business Editor Diana Cole, and Co-Editor Herb Short.

The Mounty writing staff produced original short stories, satirical articles, plays, and poetry. Regular contributors were Beth Breitenstein, Suzy White, Mary Kay Dewees, Dale McFeatters, and Skip Livingston.

The Mounty art staff introduced a new format, including borders, full page illustrations, and a standardized cover. Members were Anne Gibson, Ann Wharton, and Nancy Degnan.

Mounty typists worked diligently to produce articles which would photograph well. Nancy Jo Cotton, Vicki Gribshaw, and Virginia Dau were members of the staff. Missing: Nancy Degnan.

FRENCH CLUB

Conversation at French Club meetings was entirely in French. Members sang French songs, saw slides of the French countryside, and listened to French records. Isabelle Bass, Candy Cooke, and Ann McMillan were the officers.

ENTERTAINMENT BULLETIN

Janis Beachler, Phil Gottschall, Co-Editor Anne Witman, Cookie Schumaker, and Co-Editor Mary Kay Dewees of the Entertainment Bulletin kept us informed about current books, movies, radio and TV programs, and "date data."

QUILL AND SCROLL

Members of Quill and Scroll, chosen for their literary talent and contributions by the faculty members who worked with them, were Linda Greenberg, Pat Weaver, Bob Taylor, Bob Coo, Pam Peterman, John Mintun, Wayne Nicholas. Speaker at their initiation was Mr. Nicholas.

F. N. A.

150 girls, interested in nursing or some other phase of medicine, participated in the Future Nurses of America Club. Joan Stevens, Holly Wery, Mary Coltman, and Lynn Lambert were the Club's Officers.

CHESS

Ignoring the smell of formaldehyde, chess club members engaged in brainracking games among themselves far back in the biology room. Their training for interscholastic meets paid off; they were able to establish an impressive record. Seated: John Delo, Jim Sayre, Truman Flowers, Ron Nieman. Standing: Reggie Knapp.

F. T. A.

Teaching in our elementary schools, proctoring makeup examinations, and talking with educators about their field were some of the activities of the Future Teachers of America. Officers Terry Shaffer, Terry Koerner, Kathy Young, and Vanita Bauknight directed these activities.

THESPIANS

Lin Lane, Anne Irwin, and Bob Carney, officers of the National Thespians, reflected the enthusiasm for dramatics and the "backstage fever" of the rest of the troupe. A Thespian sponsored variety show and Christmas program were highlights of the season.

F.H.A.

Officers Debbie Smith, Margie McElray, and Barbara Fink directed the activities of The Future Homemakers of America. Members put into practice principles of homemaking which they had learned; pooled knowledge about dressmaking, child care, and the proverbial "perfect souffle"; and discussed possible careers in the homemaking field.

FRIENDSHIP THROUGH SERVICE

standing: Vince Matthews, Lloyd Schwartz, Bill Wurzbach.

Through the Y-Teens organizations, Mt. Lebanon girls served others while they served themselves. In 1959, they made dolls for orphan children, sponsored a circus, listened to speakers, and discussed college, careers, and current problems. Bi-weekly meetings consisted of devotions, work on projects, discussions, and lectures. Occasionally, a picnic, covered dish dinner, or holiday party took the place of a regular meeting. Senior Alphas, Junior Betas, and Sophomore Sigmas and Deltas attempted to achieve a balance among their activities and strove to develop physically, intellectually, and spiritually. They learned the satisfaction of working for others while they made friends among themselves and discovered where their capabilities and interests lay. Throughout the year, the watchword of Mt. Lebanon's active Y-Teens was "Friendship through service."

SIGMA Y-TEENS

Officers: Marilyn Dupree, Susie Becker, and Paula McFadden

DELTA Y-TEENS

Officers: seated: Dana Smith, Diane Krueger, and Regan Hall.
standing: Rosemary Warner, and Julie Herring.

Toward physical, intellectual, and spiritual growth . . .

SOCIAL

Anne Irwin

Knee-deep in tickets and novel ideas for dances, the social committee was always able to corner the most likely student buyers and to select the most appropriate themes for our proms.

USHERS

Richard Bollinger, Dick Marshall

No curtain calls for these men of the theater! But the ushers efficiently directed our students entering and leaving the auditorium.

HONOR AWARD

Cynthia Price

The efforts of hardworking students were recognized by members of the honor award committee who worked even harder recording their activities points.

LOST AND FOUND

Miriam Kelly

Numerous items lost by harried students were sorted by the members of the squad who found some of them fascinating. New categories were created for an orange and a battered autograph hound.

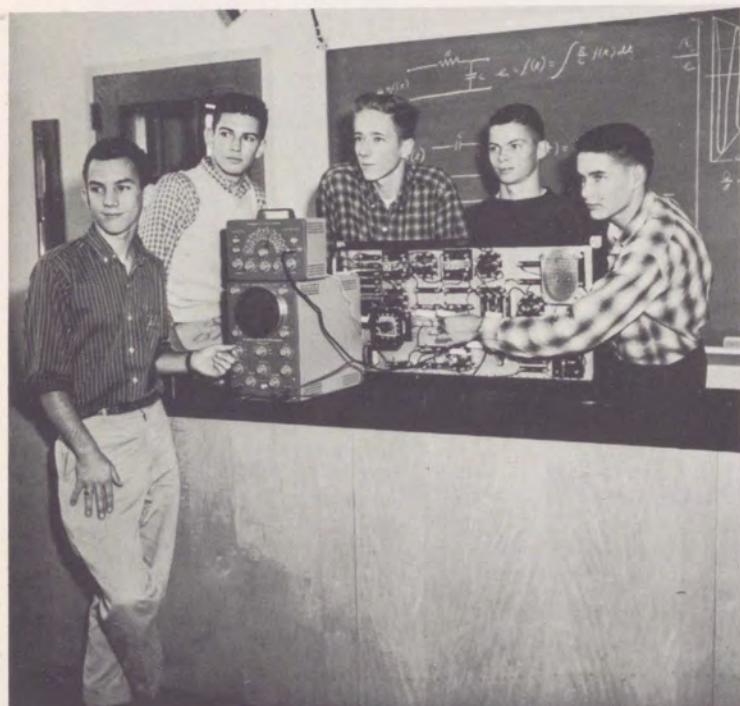

CHEMISTRY

Phil Gottschall, Regie Knapp, Jim Barrick

"Never pour sulfuric acid into water." Or was it, "Never pour water into sulfuric acid?" Happily, the chemistry squad found handy references to assure them that their experiments would be executed with as much efficiency as their cleaning of the lab.

PHYSICS

No one but a member of the physics squad would believe that pipeless faucets could spurt real water. These inquisitive students not only believed in them; they produced them.

BIOLOGY

Madelaine Shaw

The members of the biology squad, constantly reminding themselves that their efforts would be rewarded, faithfully watered our numerous plants each day. By the time this picture was taken, one plant had already grown almost big enough to lure the camera's eye away from them.

HOST AND HOSTESS

Jim Howley

A new cafeteria-traffic plan and the encouraged orderliness of the to-and-from-lunch lines enabled most students to savor their meals instead of gobbling them. The credit belonged to the host and hostess squad.

ATTENDANCE

Joan Stein, Rena McGinnis

Sorting and issuing pink slips, blue slips, and yellow slips occupied much of the time of these squad members who encountered a variety of student excuses as well as several perfect attendance records.

SCHOLASTIC

Mary Weisiger

The scholastic committee earned an "A" for its work in compiling the honor rolls at the end of each semester.

PUBLICITY

Juggling advertising slogans, official announcements, and social reminders so that the whole student body was aware of all of them was no small job. But the members of the publicity squad were experts and managed to keep us well-informed.

TRAFFIC

Bill Mehaffey

Five minutes was never a long enough time in which to walk from a class at one end of the building to another at the other end, but bright corridors are far easier to traverse than dark ones. The traffic squad deserves credit for keeping the halls well-lighted.

WAYS AND MEANS

Dick Reed, Jerry Negele

"Candy!" "Hot Dogs!" "Pepsi!" Keeping the students well-fed and the coffers full was a job this squad performed admirably.

DECORATING

Elaine Schneider

Fascinated by color and form, the decorating squad experimented with both—at our dances and on our Christmas tree. The results were enchanting.

PROPERTIES

Bob Carney

All the accoutrements of a diplomatic tea party, including a silver tea service and souvenir ashtrays were produced by imaginative members of the properties committee.

PARKING

Jim Price

Capacity football crowds taxed the resources of these students, who always managed to find room for one more—whether that "one" was a small truck or a large Triumph.

GIRL'S USHERS

Students, parents, and visitors appreciated the guidance of the girls' ushers squad at lectures and at our Formal Concert.

ART

Herb Short

A safety poster or an abstract portrayal of our main lobby at 3:20 were considered with equal gravity by members of this squad who created both with imagination.

LIBRARY

Carolyn Benn, Beth Schafer

"530.7, 452.8," Some math student copying a column of figures? Not quite—it's a member of the library squad going about her work of placing books back on shelves so that other students may take them off again.

INFORMATION

Barbara Fink

Visitors and new students were able to locate essential parts of the school—such as the cafeteria and the library—with the aid of the information squad.

MEDICAL

Joan Stephens, Ann Lewis, and Diane Krueger

This squad administered the proper remedy for every complaint—rest and soda water for a stomach ache or a yellow back-to-class slip for a difficult Latin test.

ACHIEVEMENT

Mary Head

Keeping ahead of the achievements of Mt. Lebanon High School's graduates was not an easy task, but these students handled the job with efficiency.

DEVOTIONAL

Flo Williams

Inspirational programs were prepared and presented to the students on Thursday mornings and special occasions by members of the devotional squad.

STUDIO

John Conner, Bruce Schein

Announcements turned in at 8:39 were read with proper expression and infinite calm by members of the Lebo Broadcasting System, who also presented weekly sportscasts and newscasts.

HOSPITALITY

The hospitality squad's first customers were our exchange students, who, eager to see everything and meet everybody, reminded the squad of places and people they had forgotten over the summer.

CHECK ROOM

Bonnie Armstrong, Mary Breitenstein

Coats and hats occupied a great deal of space in the check room, but less in the minds of squad members who were much more interested in the kumquats and ukulele strings left with them.

BULLETIN BOARD

Irene Beitler

Mt. Lebanon High School's bulletin boards supplied college information and reminders of special events throughout the year. The bulletin board squad saw that fresh boards were up regularly.

PUBLIC ADDRESS

Bill Plummer

Fascinated by the complex control board of our public address system, these students kept it in top condition. In addition to their regular duties, they were always on hand for special announcements.

Holly Wery and Ronnie Johnsen

"The things you keep, you lose; what you give away, you keep forever." With that motto, the Red Cross squad was able to provide parties for underprivileged children and clothes for needy friends abroad.

COSTUME

Barbara Irwin, Rita Giegerich

Proper tassels for an Arab's cap and convincing female attire for men were everyday occurrences in costume committee members' lives.

MAKEUP

Dot Fitch, Jan Zivic

A dab of rouge and a touch of powder emphasized our actors portrayals of diplomats, clubwomen, and Biblical characters. The makeup was applied with diligence and artistry by members of this squad.

PROJECTION

Harry Fleck

Projection squad members rarely get wrapped up in their work. One reason could be that two thousand feet of film, technicolor or not, is a great deal in which to be entangled.

STAGE CREW

Jim Goldman

Unusual lighting effects and unique sets were specialties of the stage crew. These boys saw the school's productions from an uncommon "angle."

SPIRIT AND SKILL

SELECT BAND

We didn't have 76 trombones, but we did have this impressive section including Jones, A. Hersh, Reichard, Bill Richards, Erdner, Haight, MacIntyre, Dillner, Elliott, Cronk, Barson, Eden-Kilgour, R. Anderson, Dooley, Oelschlager, Ferry, Tillson, Feigenbaum, and White.

In August, before most of our students were beginning to think of school, the 1959 Mt. Lebanon Band was preparing a show for the Annual Shrine Game. Our band consisted of 150 members, each of whom worked hard as an individual to present the polished unit as a whole. The result was one of the most accomplished groups of musicians ever to come from Mt. Lebanon High School. The band forfeited a trip to the Brussels World Fair in order to prepare for their second appearance at the Tournament of Roses Parade.

During the Football season, we were welcomed to the stadium by the "street-beat" of the drums. The band's numerous half-time shows spurred our enthusiasm and team spirit.

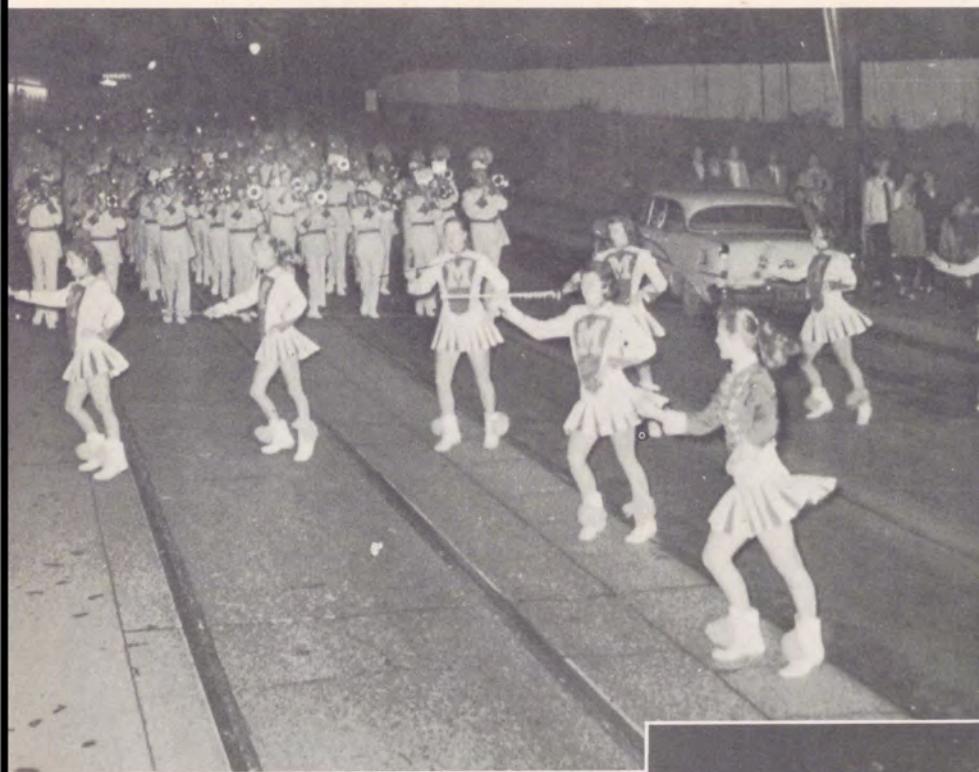

Our concert and select bands performed often and with skill. The concert band, composed of students from the "Marching 200," was privileged to have guest directors from all parts of the country. Forty-five band students of exceptional ability were chosen to play in the Select Band, which performed at the Shriners' Luncheon. Virginia Dau, Al Hammond, and Roger Blair were selected to play in the District Band. Roger earned the additional honor of performing with the State Band.

With unlimited spirit, substantiated by endless drill and practice, our band developed into a highly skilled organization of which we were immensely proud in 1959.

VERSATILITY UNLIMITED

April 17 and 18 found the sixty-eight musicians in Haverford, Pennsylvania where they played in a concert-exchange program. The Haverford orchestra then performed for them, after which members of both musical organizations attended a dance.

Through participation in our orchestra, students were able to learn cooperation and to develop musical appreciation. They knew the individual honor of sensing, of perceiving the mood of a particular, favorite work and the collective honor of their excellent reputation at Mt. Lebanon High School and throughout the state.

Under the sensitive baton of Mr. Arthur Yagello, the versatile Mt. Lebanon High School Orchestra again outdid itself in 1959. Exciting interpretations of Handel's Hallelujah Chorus, Tchaikovsky's March Slav, and Gershwin's Porgy and Bess enriched our assemblies throughout the year.

The orchestra's Monday, Wednesday, and Friday rehearsals were rewarded by perfect performances at the Christmas Show, Senior Play, and Junior Programs. Their Mt. Lebanon programs were climaxed by the Annual Orchestra Concert and the formal Spring Concert.

THE VIOLINETTES

Karen Braddock, Sharon Shoemaker, Debbie Evans, Don Bane, Sue Hoffmann, Judy Bickel, Gayle Van Sant, Richard Peters, Rita Fisher, Jean Kernahan, Leslie Rungar.

ORCHESTRA

Director Yagello with first violinist Alice Mollenauer, first flutist Carolyn Moore, and concert mistress Suzanne Hofmann.

MUSICAL MERIT AND MERRIMENT

The hushed communion of a sad Negro spiritual and the gaiety of a tune from South Pacific were both parts of the musical experience of Mt. Lebanon's chorus members. Students humming in the halls between periods were likely to belong to our mixed chorus, girls' glee club, devotional choir, or triple trio, under the direction of Miss May K. Sneary, or the boys' glee club, led by Mr. Julian Myers.

Members of the five groups were selected from many talented applicants. But unique to the triple trio and devotional choir was their selectivity. Rugged auditions in the fall sifted out the most melodious voices for these organizations. We heard the devotional choir every Thursday morning when they assisted the devotional committee in presenting inspirational programs. The triple trio performed not only for us but also for women's clubs, church groups, and musicales.

In 1959 the PMEA festival, held at Mt. Lebanon, included participants from all of our music groups as well as members of visiting organizations. Several days of musical activity were climaxed by two consecutive concerts.

Another highlight of the choral season was our formal concert. This year, two pianists, a cellist, and three vocalists combined their talents to present an enjoyable evening of music.

Through numerous and pleasant choral activities at Mt. Lebanon High School, we came to realize that choral music had been an integral part of our lives.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

DEVOTIONAL CHOIR

Triple Trio: Pianist Barbara Fulton. ROW 1: Diane Ramsey, Judy Button, Joy Wertz, Anne Witman, Cindi Barrett, Sue Crouch. ROW 2: Alternates Ann Sollenberger and Connie Witt, Sandy Dublin, Judie Hoag, and Beth Miller. MISSING: Alternate Sylvia May.

The cast of our novel Christmas show presented inspirational music, which they illustrated with colorful tableaus.

FORMAL CONCERT

Formal concert artists were Gail Van Sant, Linda Hoffman, Boyce Reid, Ellen Karnofsky, Marcia Service, Bruce Schein, Kurt Johnson, Diane Helm, Cindi Barrett, Miriam Kelly, Judie Hoag, and Beth Miller.

ACCOMPANISTS

Cindi Barrett, Mary Baird, Barbara Fulton, and Linda Brodmerkel.

HIGH LEVEL HI-JINKS

Tea and sandwiches are not the only attractions at diplomatic parties, as this year's Senior Play pointed out. First Lady was a cosmopolitan comedy concerned with top-level tussles between Washington hostesses. Lucy Chase Wayne, granddaughter of a former President and wife of the Secretary of State, rebelled against the idea of her social rival, Irene Hibbard, presiding over the White House. Lucy utilized every means she could think of to prevent Irene's "election"—she even combed the Congressional Records and delved into international divorce laws. Her efforts were sincere, amusing, and finally successful.

Fast-paced, subtle dialogue and several neat twists of irony kept the drama moving quickly. Written at the time of Alice Longworth Roosevelt, First Lady has a universality which made its presentation appropriate.

Scenic design included majestic columns and an invisible wall. The large supporting cast was made up of pseudo Arabs with authentic tassles, Chinese delegates, and French statesmen.

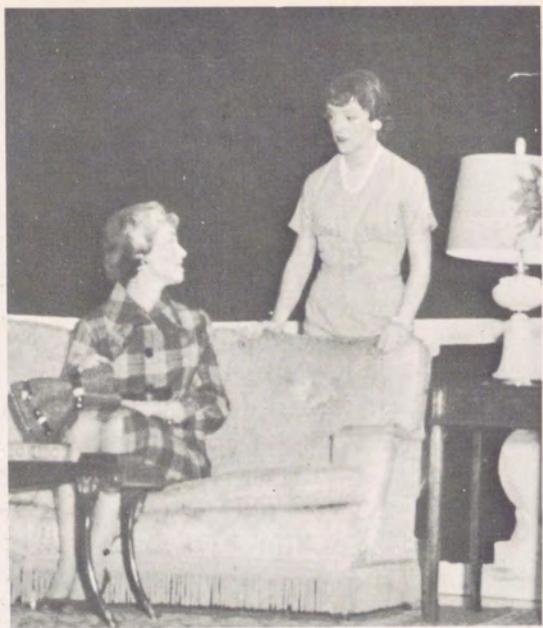

The class of '59 brought vitality and sparkling wit to a skillful satire. The result was a brilliant dramatic production with a professional flair.

We gathered memories...

memories which began as we walked to school on snowy mornings, to football games on crisp evenings, to midnight church services under humming stars; as we ran toward the park in a snake chain, through the halls when we were late for class; as we talked at French club meetings, at social gatherings; as we sang the alma mater at football games, Christmas carols in our classes; as we shouted cheers at pep rallies; as we dreamed of dances, of straight-A report cards, of graduation and college. Significant were all the events which made up the daily round, and each one became part of the memories we gathered in 1959.

HECTIC BEGINNINGS

All they need are hula hoops!

The kickoff!

Schedule changes, new lockers, and adjustment to classes faded as the annual bonfire glowed against the sky. Students who dreaded waking up early in the morning again were shocked out of their summertime drowsiness by a daily march time rendition of "California, Here We Come!" Homework again became a much-complained-about but nevertheless routine part of every day. Publications launched their sales campaigns, rehearsals for the Senior Play began, and a French club was organized. The kickoff dance preceded what was perhaps Mt. Lebanon's best football season. Mt. Lebanon's students sang, danced, and impersonated others in an exceptional variety show. The GAA party and the Halloween Hangover set the mood for holiday parties to come. A large pumpkin face made by our newly-born flash card section appeared at a pep rally and a football game. And Seniors who could not quite absorb the idea of their new position were convinced at the Senior Recognition game. Thanksgiving Day brought satisfying turkey dinners after which students paused to look back, satisfied, at a hectic but happy autumn.

"Peace on earth—good will to men."

Winter descended in full as plans for our Christmas show were made. Rehearsals of the elaborate tableaus and inspiring music were frequently interrupted, however, by the long assignments which we completed in preparation for semester tests and by holiday parties. Tobogganing, carol-singing, and the Stardust and Snowball comprised our social life. Through the rush of Christmas celebrations, our party mood remained, and it grew with the coming of the New Year.

The New Year symbolized many things to many people. For most of us, January 1 meant watching the band march in the Tournament of Roses Parade. To the Seniors, the New Year made graduation a reality instead of a distant hope. And January's activities loomed closer to all of us. Semester tests followed the holidays with amazing rapidity, but we survived them. We had the opportunity to release our energy at the Sadie Hawkins, and when we returned to school, we were full of resolutions to make the spring semester a bright and outstanding one.

Melodies so entrancing!

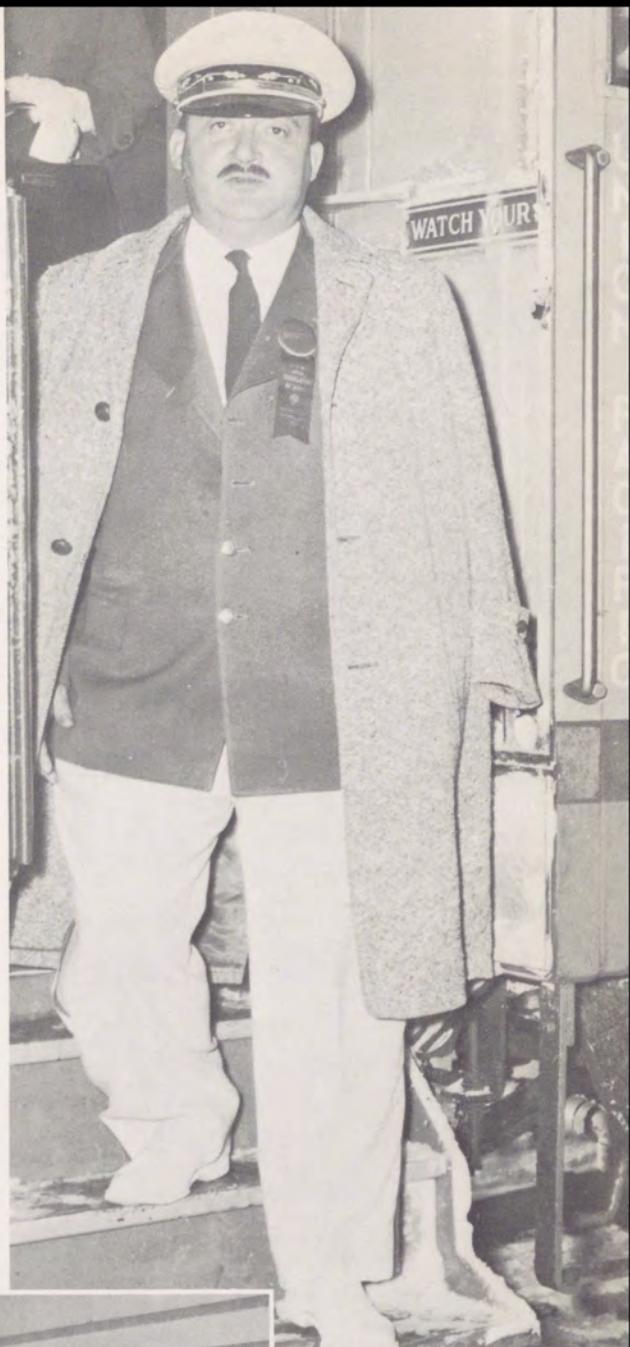

"California, Here We Come!"

"We look sharp—we're from Mt. Lebo!" Our students became familiar with the music which the band practiced endlessly in their constant effort to "look sharp." Hours of precision drill, weeks of selling Christmas trees and working hard at individual jobs prepared band members for their trip. Each autumn performance, climaxed by "California, Here We Come," brought the band a little closer to California. With every beat of the big bass drum, each quarter-turn, our band was developing into the polished unit which marched in the Tournament of Roses Parade. Our band did "look sharp" on New Year's Day, 1959.

The thrill of marching in the Rose Bowl Parade was heightened by a visit to Disneyland and an enthusiastic reception by the city of Cheyenne. When band members, full of anecdotes, impressions, and observations, returned from California on their own special train, they reflected the pride they felt in their performance.

THE ENCHANTMENT OF SPRING

"One, two . . . you goofed!"

"Smile party for the photogry man!"

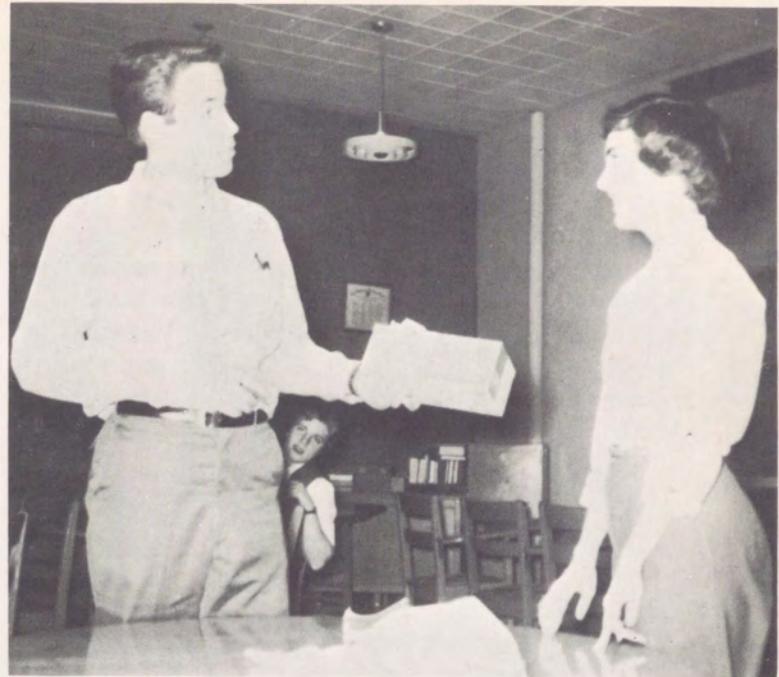

"While them fellows is restin', we can play some good moonshine music!"

"Ma always said we'd make the pictures the hard way!"

A Matchmaker makes her own match.

Confusion in the "big city."

Some people will do anything!

"HAIL TO THE CLASS OF '59!"

Senior Day, 1959, was a constant flashing of green and white, a blaring horn, laughter—the visible proclamation of the culmination of four years of effort. Green and white ribbons became tassels; rings were reversed. Slumber parties, senior breakfasts, the Prom, the Bruno dance, and the picnic—through it all ran the thread of accomplishment, the excitement of beginning. Seniors danced, swam, ate, cheered, and danced again. They attended an assembly at which they and their classmates were honored; they participated in school and community activities planned for them, speaking silently to them, "We're proud of your past; we believe in your future." The solemn moment of graduation arrived: after the sobering effect of speeches and ceremonial honors, the Seniors stood silently, diplomas in their hands . . . Suddenly, they tossed their caps high into the air and cheered!

Senior Council members, under the direction of Mrs. Cargill, planned and organized lively Senior activities. They were—
ROW 1: Delores Gabrenas, Judy Gira, Joan Stein, Kathy Young, sponsor Mrs. Cargill, Jeff Neill, Nancy Barnhart, Ann Jones.
ROW 2: Jeanette Walker, Dodie Chappell, Mary Ann Wiedt, Carol Irwin, Nancy Sherbondy. ROW 3: Bob Peterson, Ron Simon, Bill Carman, Dick Garlitz, and Tom Blackwood.

Senior Party

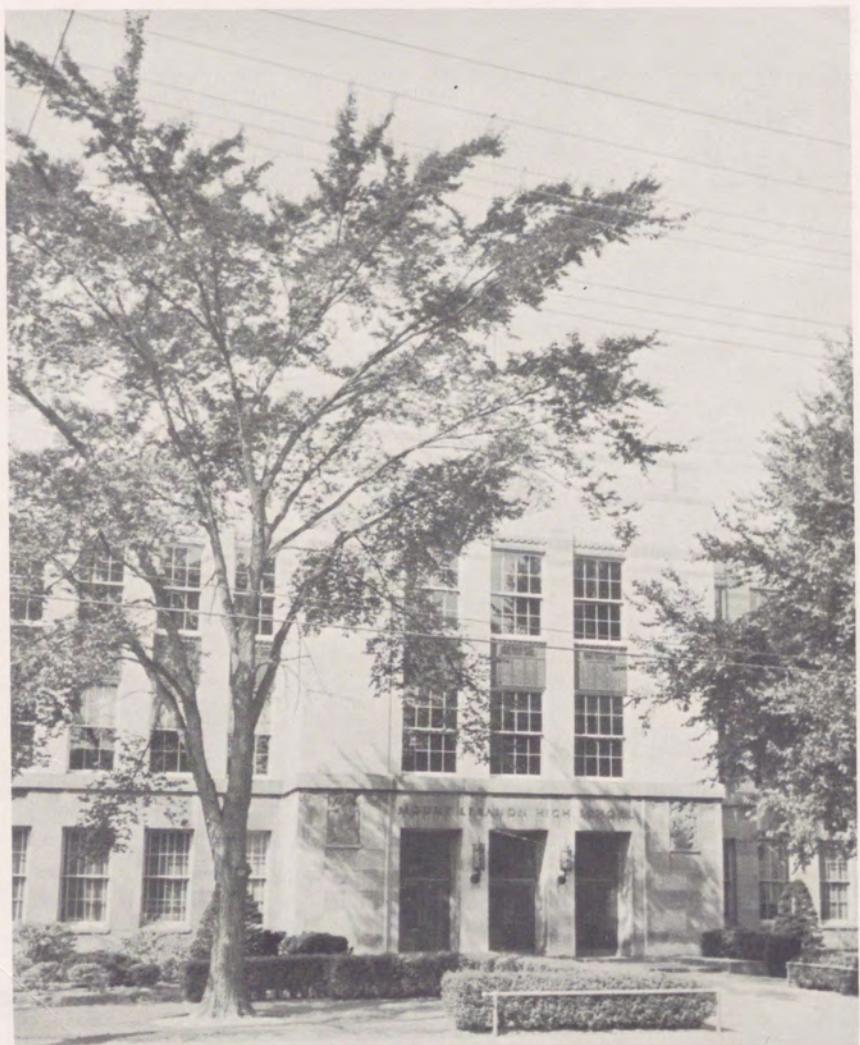

"I do get a kick out of these American celebrations!"

"Hurry up and swallow so we can sing the Senior song!"

Ribbons of anticipation . . . become tassels of proclamation.

ALMA MATER

'Neath cedars stately,
Midst hills so bold,
Stands our Mt. Lebanon,
Realm of Blue and Gold,
Radiant with splendor,
Valor, virtue and truth,
Moulder of our destiny,
Guardian of our youth.
Ever our praises shall ring,
Alma Mater, for thee.
